Portrait Of President Byrd Unveiled At Annual Alumni Reunion

ONE of the largest and most interesting alumni meetings in recent years was held on Alumni Day of this year. First, the annual luncheon was held in the University Dining Hall followed by the meeting.

Portrait Presented

A most eminent gesture was made following the luncheon by two of Maryland's most distinguished alumni —James W. Stevens and James M. Swartz of the class of 1919—when in a modest but most impressive manner they presented to the University a portrait in oil of President H. C. Byrd—their coach, teacher, and friend. Professor Charles S. Richardson, well known to all former students, accepted in his eloquent language, the portrait on behalf of the University. Hon. Henry Holzapfel, '93, senior member of the board of regents, praised the gift in a most gracious manner as the significance of a most friendly thought. President Byrd, after making a few brief remarks about the friendly recognition by two of his most intimate friends, concluded by saying: "I am unable to adequately express my appreciation and will conclude by simply saying, Thank you!"

Following President Byrd's remarks the entire audience stood and sang "Maryland, My Maryland" as a tribute to our great leader, president, alumnus, and friend, who so ably carries out Maryland traditions in leadership.

The annual meeting of the association was called to order by President E. F. Zalesak. A resumé of the minutes of the previous meeting were presented by the secretary, also the treasurer's report which showed more of a balance this year than last year. A report from the secretary-treasurer was brief because of the shortness of time. President Zalesak then gave the president's annual message in which there were worthwhile suggestions for the incoming officers. All past presidents of the association were presented by the president, ending with our first president, Melvin C. Hazen, the honored guest of the day, who was asked to address the meeting. "I think there is no greater asset for a university than a strong alumni association," said Mr. Hazen, class of '88.

President Zalesak introduced several other distinguished visitors, among whom were Dr. R. P. Bay, president of the Medical Alumni; Dr. John Strevig, president of the Pharmacy Alumni, and Mr. E. S. Walker, the oldest alumnus present that day. The reunion classes and group leaders were also introduced.

Nominating Committee

The report of the nominating committee was asked for. This was presented by George O. Weber, '33, chairman, as follows: C. Walter Cole, '21, president; Charles W. Sylvester, '08, vice-president; representative for the College of Agriculture, John Silkman, '35; representative-at-large for women, Esther Hughes Lee, '33; and representative-at-large for men, J. Don Kieffer, '30.

A motion was made that the nominations be accepted and that the secretary cast a ballot for unanimous election. Past President Zalesak then called President Cole to the head table and presented him with the gavel for 1938-39. A few words from President Cole and the meeting was adjourned so all could attend the lacrosse game in Byrd Stadium.

Alumni Supper Dance Success

The concluding event on the Alumni Day program was the supper dance held in the gymnasium. Here more than 150 alumni and their friends assembled to dine and dance. A delightful supper was served in the University dining hall. Music for dancing was furnished by Sam McFarlene and his Maryland Collegians.

Following supper, a special entertainment in the form of a floor show was presented through the cooperation of the University Music Department and the Women's Physical Education Department. It was a delightful performance.

Members of the senior class were the guests of the Alumni Association for dancing until 12, when the curtain fell on the 46th annual alumni reunion.

Frats Have Open House

For the annual alumni reunion all fraternity and sorority houses held open house and receptions for the returning old grads. Several held their spring formals or senior farewell dances the evening before.

The Fifty-Year Class

Outstanding among the reunions was the class of '88, celebrating its fifthieth anniversary. Two members were present—Melvin C. Hazen, first president of the Alumni Association and his old roommate, Dr. L. B. Johnson, of Morganza, Md.

They have established the precedent for the fifty-year class which is to fly their flag on the memorial flag pole for Alumni Day. It was one of the highlights of the day's program, when at noon the class flag of '88 was raised.

Mr. Hazen now is chairman of the Board of Commissioners for the District of Columbia. He has been in the service of the District for more than 40 years. Dr. Johnson is a most prominent physician and surgeon of Southern Maryland. He is also a graduate of the University of Maryland Medical School.

The two members present represented two-thirds of their class, as J. W. Lawson, the only other surviving member, now in Atlanta, Ga., was unable to be present.

'08 Celebrate Thirtieth Anniversary

One of the most active classes in the Association is that of 1908. Each year they hold a regular meeting of the class and they have never missed the five year celebration.

The annual meeting is held in the office of their illustrious member, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of their Alma Mater. Many worth while resolutions or plans have developed out of these meetings, which are usually well attended. Out of the class roster of twenty-five there were sixteen members present for the reunion this year. They were as follows: W. H. Thomas, C. A. Warthen, Chas. W. Sylvester, W. A. S. Somerville, U. W. Long, S. M. Lowry, Reuben Brigham, Norman E. Brice, George G. Becker, H. B. Hoshall, G. C. Day, J. William Firor, Richard L. Silvester, E. I. Oswald, L. B. Broughton.

At the annual meeting of the association, Charles W. Sylvester, on behalf of his class, presented a resolution inaugurating a foundation fund for the erection of a library as a suitable memorial to Captain R. W. Silvester, former president of the College Park Schools, who did so much for the advancement of the institution.

The high point of the day's program for the class was a reception and open house held by their classmate, Pres. H. C. Byrd, at his home in Calvert Hills. It was a reunion long to be remembered!

Past Presidents Attend Reunion

When the annual reunion of the Alumni Association was held this spring in honor of Melvin C. Hazen, '88, its first president, more than half of the living past presidents were on hand. They are named here in order as to their time in office: Dr. T. B. Symons, '02, (1935-36), Director of the University of Maryland Agricultural Extension Service; Honorable Millard E. Tydings, '10, (1931-33), United States Senator from Maryland; Henry C. Whiteford, '01, (1929-31), canning business, Hartford County; J. Hanson Mitchell, '98, (1926-29), oil burner and air-conditioning engineer, Baltimore, Maryland; Honorable Henry Holzapfel, '93, (1913-15), vice-president, Potomac Edison Company, Hagerstown, Maryland, and member of the University Board of Regents; W. D. Groff, '00, (1911-12), feed business, Owings Mills, Maryland; F. W. Besley, '92, (1909-11), state forester; Dr. Frank B. Bomberger, '94, (1898-02), president, Baltimore Bank for Cooperatives. J. P. Mudd, '07, (1933-34), steel engineer, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania telegraphed his greetings.

Interesting Notes

As you mingled among the returning old grads on Alumni Day you heard many interesting stories. There were actually more heard than the writer could possibly remember, but here are a few of interest.

You hear about alumni coming great distances for one-day reunion. Well, here is one for the book! A. Byron Morse, '13, of Chicago, was out in Minneapolis, Minn., on Wednesday, May 18. He had promised his classmates to be with them Saturday, May 21. He drove from Minneapolis to Chicago, got his family together and started by auto for Pittsburg where he picked up a classmate, Sox Trimble and his family, and thence to College Park. Immediately after the reunion he had to retrace his mileage quickly, as business engagements were pressing. The total mileage was something over 2,000 miles for a one-day reunion with those former classmates who make fellowship and friendship what it really is.

Another one from a distance was J. C. Long from Chico, California. He arranged a trip East for this spring with the idea of having it take in the first alumni reunion he had attended in 20 years.

The long-distant traveler was Preston L. Peach, '03, who is on furlough from the Federated Malaya States in the East Indies. He timed his furlough to be here for the alumni reunion. Peach had many interesting tales to tell about the Far Eastern conditions.

The prize of the day for the oldest alumnus present was won by E. S. Walker, '70. Mr. Walker first entered the College Park schools in 1867. He has been a familiar figure at many of the recent alumni gatherings. He is 92 years old and is the father of 16 children. He was the first alumnus to respond to an appeal through the columns of the ALUMNI NEWS, a few years ago, for additional funds in order to carry on the program. He is a shining example of alumni loyalty.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

It was twenty-five years ago when the class of 1913 said goodby to College Park. On Saturday, May 21, fifteen of the twenty-five to graduate returned for their reunion bringing with them their families. In all, there were more than forty persons in the group.

The class meeting was held in the old familiar physics room in the Engineering Building. Under the leadership of Ed Powell, each member of the class was supplied with a jacket upon which the large number, 13, was imprinted. This identification was worn throughout the day.

As a feature of the Alumni Day, Ed Powell, who was instrumental in starting lacrosse at College Park, tossed out the ball which started the annual Hopkins-Maryland game being played that day in Byrd Stadium. Powell was accompanied by his classmates, who were members of the team.

The members of '13 who were present for the reunion were: George Byron Morse, Ed Powell, Samuel W. Blankman, M. E. Davis, Gladden Davis, Henry S. Dearstyne, George P. Trax, Ralph S. Healy, A. E. Irwing, J. Roland Reichardo, Harry W. Townsend, A. Morris Todd, Ernest Trimble, Wm. H. White, C. M. White.

Annual Meeting of New York Group

DINNER
UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Watts, '04, Directs New York Meeting

ON MAY 14 the annual spring dinner of the Maryland Alumni Club of New York was held at the Shelton Hotel. It was the largest assemblage in the history of this group, with the Old Line spirit running high.

Harry Watts, '04, acted as toastmaster for the occasion. Dr. L. B. Broughton, '08, now dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, gave an interesting talk on the progress of his division of the University. He stressed the necessity for improvement in the courses in fine arts and described the efforts being made by the present administration at College Park to meet this need.

"Swede" Eppley spoke in his own inimitable fashion on extra-curricular activities. Frank Dobson, head football coach; Harvey Caskarian, treasurer of the University; Rosy Pollock, '23, secretary of the Alumni, and Emanuel Zalesak, '25, president of the Alumni, gave brief addresses.

President Don Kieffer, '30, reported on the groups activities during the year and urged the Alumni to return to College Park frequently to observe the improvement there. Don was elected to the presidency for the fourth consecutive year. Other officers elected were Sarah Morris, '25, secretary and treasurer; Kenneth Cole, '14, vice-president from Westchester County; Fred Rakeman, '18, vice-president from Long Island; James T. Knotts, '23, vice-president from New Jersey, and Ed Mullen, '33, reporter.

Mr. Eugene Cibelli, tenor at St. Patrick's Cathedral, sang several numbers, among which were two compositions by Dr. Richard Paganelli of the Medical School class of 1904. A new University of Maryland march, also written by Dr. Paganelli, was played for the first time. Mr. Cibelli was accompanied by his daughter.

Dr. McCall Anderson, '08, was chairman of the dinner committee. He was assisted by Grace Laeleger, '28, Dr. Richard Paganelli, William R. Maslin, '09, Edward Mullen, '33, and John Bourke, '35.

All alumni in the metropolitan area are urged to communicate with Sarah Morris at the Beaux Arts apartments, 310 East 44th Street, so they may receive notice of the forthcoming meetings of the group. Several parties at suburban country clubs are planned for the summer months and the luncheons will be continued at Planter's restaurant, 124 Greenwich Street, on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 12.30.

Debaters Win

The Calvert Debate Club carried off state honors in a tournament sponsored by Station WCBM of Baltimore. On April 27, during a broadcast, the cup was presented to Messrs. Brown and Prettyman, the Maryland representatives in the contest.

The tournament was conducted over a period of several weeks and each contest was broadcast. Maryland's opponents were Loyola University, Western Maryland College, and the University of Baltimore. The questions were on National Labor Relations Board, Minimum Wage and Maximum Hour, and War Referendum.

Reunion Of Engineers

On Saturday, March 26, 1938, the Civil Engineering class of June '33 held a reunion at Tilden Gardens Dining Room in Washington, D. C. Nine men out of the 18 in the class attended. Those present were: Norman Belt, Robert Dunning, Charles Kitchen, Harold Norwood, Sam McGlathery, Stanley Shinn, Lewis Phillips, Parvin Starr and Howard M. Biggs. A good meal was enjoyed by all and it was followed by a bull-session in which each man was called upon to give a brief account of his work and experience since leaving the University. Every one of the nine men were in some sort of employment in which his engineering education could be or was being used. The reunion was worked up on the spur of the moment and was given very little publicity. For those men who are away from town they are planning to have another get together in October or November, and they are anxious to get everyone of the 18 to attend. The meeting will be given sufficient publicity and each man will be informed. Please keep it in mind.

Married — Esther Hughes, '33, and James A. Lee, '31, took the big step on June 11. Esther is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and took first honors in the College of Home Economics. Jimmie, the well known Terp lacrosse ace, is a member of Sigma Phi Sigma and a graduate in Mechanical Engineering with honors. He is now employed by the Washington Railway and Electric Company in Washington.

Winners of Citizenship Awards

Adele Stamp, dean of women, presenting woman's citizenship prize, given by Mrs. Albert F. Woods to Ruth Virginia Lowry, of Baltimore.

Over Seven Hundred Recieve Degrees At Commencement

AT the one hundred and twenty-sixth commencement exercises held at College Park on Saturday, June 4, 780 received degrees from Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University. Dr. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, president, National Geographic Society, gave the principal address. Honorary degrees in Doctor of Letters were conferred upon the Honorable Frank B. Noyes and Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor. Doctor of Engineering was conferred upon the Honorable Charles Hunter Locker. Honorary certificates in Agriculture for meritorious contributions to the advancement of Agriculture were presented to Mr. Simond L. Downey, of Williamsport, Md., for livestock and dairying, Mr. Ralph Olin Dulany of Suitland, Md., for canning and fruit growing, and Mr. George I. Gardiner of Bryantown, Md., for tobacco raising.

Law Degrees

During the awarding of the degrees in law, Dr. Byrd interrupted the usual procedure and stepped down from the platform and allowed W. Scott Beck of Chestertown, Md., former state senator, who has been quite ill for more than a year, to present his son, Scott Beck, Jr., his diploma in law. The other law diplomas were presented by the Honorable Herbert R. O'Conor, Attorney General for Maryland.

Following the exercises which were attended by more than 5,000 people, the graduating class, their families, relatives, and friends were guests of the University at a buffet luncheon served on the campus under the oak trees "On the Hill."

Sons and Daughters of Grads

Among those to receive degrees were several sons and daughters of alumni: in the College of Arts and Sciences, David Lewis Brigham, son of Reuben Brigham, '08, received his A.B. degree. Helen Jean Paterson, daughter of Dr. Alex Paterson, D.D.S., '05, received an A.B. degree and teacher's diploma. Mary Maxine White, daughter of F. M. White, '12, also received an A.B. degree and teacher's diploma. In the College of Home Economics, Elinor Courtney Broughton, daughter of Dr. L. B. Broughton, '08, received a B.S. degree. Miss Broughton was also awarded the Service Award, in recognition of the growth and quality of her influence among women students at the University.

Grads Receive Ph. D. Degrees

Among the 17 doctor of philosophy degrees awarded, there were seven former Old Line graduates—John Roberts Adams, '34, a specialist in chemistry and a member of Alpha Chi Sigma, honorary chemical fraternity; William A. Horne, '34, a chemical specialist and member of Alpha Chi Sigma, also a member of Theta Chi, social fraternity; Frank L. Howard, '34, of Hyattsville, another chemistry specialist and member of Alpha Chi Sigma; Robert A. Littleford, '33, a specialist in Agriculture, who hails from Washington, D. C.; and George F. Madigan, '30, one of Maryland's former outstanding athletes in football, basket-ball, who took an active interest in student affairs. He is a member of Alpha Chi Sigma and Alpha Zeta, honorary fraternities, Sigma Nu, social fraternity, and a specialist in geology.

Terps Enjoy Big Year, Winning 67 Per Cent of Events; Lose 24 Stars But Retains Strong Nucleus In Every Pastime

MARYLAND'S VARSITY TEAMS compiled an enviable record during the 1937-38 term, winning 67 per cent of their contests in the seven major sports supported by the University—football, basket-ball, boxing, baseball, track, lacrosse and tennis.

Boxing, which was wrecked by graduations in June, 1937, was the only pastime to finish in the "red." Here are the records of the teams:

| Sport | Won | Lost | Tied |
|---|---|---|---|
| Football | 8 | 2 | 0 |
| Basket-ball | 14 | 8 | 0 |
| Boxing | 1 | 3 | 2 |
| Baseball | 11 | 9 | 0 |
| Tennis | 9 | 1 | 0 |
| Lacrosse | 7 | 2 | 0 |
| *Track | 5 | 2 | 0 |
| Total | 55 | 27 | 2 |

* Dual meets.

Maryland also furnished a Southern Conference and National collegiate champion boxer in Benny Alperstein, 125-pounder, and captured three indoor and six outdoor titles in Southern Conference track.

Twenty-four of the athletes who helped compile this great record for the year will be lost. Among them are Waverley Wheeler, Coleman Headley and Bill Bryant, who won letters in three sports, and several who gained insignia in two. Wheeler and Bryant won their "M" in baseball, football and basket-ball, while Headley got his on the track, gridiron and court.

Some Severe Losses

Mike Surgent and Bill Wolfe, the great grid guards, the former also a diamond ace and the latter a lacrosse star, will be sorely missed, as will John McCarthy, football end and basketer. Frank Cronin, dash man and pole-vaulter, who has scored more points for the Terps in track than any other in the history of the school; Parker Lindsay, lacrosse attack man, and pitcher Lefty George Wood, will be greatest one-man sport losses.

Here are the letter men losses on the various teams:

Basket-ball: Wheeler, McCarthy, and Coleman Headley.

Boxing: William Johnson, 155 or 165; John Egan, 165 or 175; Ralph Pearson, 175; Joe Henderson, heavy.

Baseball: George Wood, Bill Steiner

Medical Alumni Meet In Boston

In Boston on Wednesday, June 1, Dr. Frank S. Lynn, '07, M.D., a prominent surgeon of Baltimore, was the guest speaker at a Medical Alumni meeting. He spoke on the University of Maryland, present and future. More than 50 alumni from various parts of the New England states attended the meeting, which was held in conjunction with the Massachusetts Medical Society.

In his talk Dr. Lynn covered the development of the University since its amalgamation in 1920 and the extensive plans now in progress. This talk was supplemented by lantern slide pictures, a new picture of the proposed development, and a prospectus of the present university and the student activities. As many of the alumni were graduated prior to 1920, they were amazed and greatly pleased with the progress being made by their Alma Mater.

Birth—Mr. and Mrs. John B. West, Jr., announce the birth of a son, John B. III, born April 28. Mrs. West was formerly Gertrude Gilbertson, and a graduate in Home Economics.

Rowe Opens New Veterinary Hospital

On Thursday, May 26, Dr. Taylor P. Rowe, '24, a prominent veterinarian of Richmond, Va., held the formal opening of his new Broad Street Veterinary Hospital.

The hospital has all modern equipment for the treatment and care of small animals. A dog can be cared for in every way from clipping to surgery.

Dr. Rowe was well known by his classmates and teammates as "Massa." In lacrosse, he was a star and won membership in the "M" Club by his meritorious performance.

Grad In Optometry

At the commencement exercises of the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry in Philadelphia, E. Arthur Newman, '35, received the degree of Doctor in Optometry. In completing the prescribed courses, Dr. Newman served as clinical assistant in the College Clinic, where more than 16,000 are treated annually. The Pennsylvania State College of Optometry is one of the outstanding institutions in the field of optometrical education and training.

and Kyle Ruble, pitchers; Wheeler, third base; Surgent and Bryant, outfielders.

Track: Frank Cronin, dashes, relay and pole-vault; Headley, 880, mile and relay; Bill Thies, 440 and relay; Logan Schutz, hurdles.

Lacrosse: Parker Lindsay, Bill Groff and George Watson and Harvey Cooke, attack; Bill Wolfe, defense.

Tennis: Ted Lehmann, No. 3 singles and doubles player.

Many Stars Remain

Despite the heavy losses, Maryland has a lot of good men left in the various sports and should be up to the standard in most all of the pastimes during 1938-39. Here are the letter men who remain and these, of course, will be augmented by some frosh talent of ability:

Football: Nick Budkoff, end; Ralph Albarano and Bob Brown, tackles; Jim Forrester, center; Jim Meade, Charlie Weidinger, John Boyda, Frank Scotnicki, Pershing Mondorff, Rip Hewitt and Bob Brand, backs.

Basket-ball: Eddie Johnson and Francis Beamer, forward or center; Bill Rea and Adam Begoechea, forward; George Knepley, Milton Mulitz and Pershing Mondorff, guards.

Boxing: George Dorr, 115; Martin Rochlin, 115; Benny Alperstein, 125 or 135; Nathan Askin, 135; Bob Bradley, 125 or 135; Jose DePeralta, 145; Newton Cox, 155 or 165.

Baseball: Bill Silverman and Earl Springer, pitchers; Joe Crisafulli and Bob Burns, catchers; George Knepley, first base; Eddie Johnson, second base; Angelos Chumbris, shortstop; Pershing Mondorff, pitcher or infielder; Cleom Chumbris and Hugh Keller, outfielders.

Track: Alan Miller, 220 and 440; Edwin Miller, hurdles and high jump; Halbert Evans, hurdles; James Kehoe, 880, mile and two miles; Mason Chronister, mile; Joe Peaslee, two miles; Francis Kenney, broad jump; Charles Morris, shot and discuss; Francis Morris, high jump and broad jump.

Lacrosse: Haskin Deeley, goal; Bill Grahan, Leo Mueller, George Heil, Jim Meade and Milton Mulitz, defense; Fred Hewitt, Bob Neilson, Oscar Nevares, Bill Bond and Bill Cole, attack.

Tennis: Nathan Askin, Allie Ritzenberg, Mack Dunie, Lawrence Lichliter, Jay Phillips and Harvey Kreuzburg.

ATHLETIC NOTES

Bob Neilson, called the most dangerous attack man of the season, at out home, and Parker Lindsay, second attack, rated just about as highly as a midfielder, were picked for the official first all-America lacrosse ten by the committee from National Association. Milton Mulitz, defense, and George Watson, first attack, were rated aces of the second team.

All four of these were on the all-State first combination.

Blair Smith, end; Bill Wolfe and Mike Surgent, guards, were chosen to play on the college all-star football team that will meet the Philadelphia Eagles in the Quaker City late in August. Only athletes who were in the graduating class were selected, as otherwise it might impair their college athletic status.

George Wood, left-handed pitcher, who was in the 1938 graduating class, had his name inscribed on the Bozie Berger cup for the baseball player who did most for his team during the season.

Navy's 8-7 lacrosse victory over Maryland that edged the Terps out of the national title after two years at the top was the first the Middies had scored in nine years. Maryland had won seven of eight games and one ended in a 6-6 tie after two extra periods.

Maryland now has four straight over Hopkins and three in a row over St. John's.

Maryland's tennis team, with 9 wins in 10 matches, as far as is known, made the greatest record of any net outfit in the history of sport at College Park.

Two track stars who were lost to Maryland hung up school records in their final appearance for the University. Coleman Headley ran the 880 in 1:53.3 and Frank Cronin sped the 440 in 48.3 to win Southern Conference titles at Durham. Headley's time also was a new Conference mark.

Spencer Chase Marries

Spencer Chase, former Maryland baseball and basket-ball star, who was graduated in the class of '34, was married on June 18 to Gertrude Donnella of Washington. Chase now is working in the Horticultural Department of the University. He also has become a basket-ball official of note and is kept busy calling 'em during the season.

Home Economics' Annual Mothers Day

The College of Home Economics observed its annual Mothers Day celebration on Friday, May 20. Over 250 guests were in attendance.

A program on Consumer Education was conducted by Miss Mary E Kirkpatrick, professor of Foods of the College of Home Economics. Three authorities in this field spoke on subjects pertaining to consumer problems. Mrs. Mathilda C. Hader, former instructor and lecturer on education at New York University and who is at present a member of the executive committee of the Washington Consumer Club, spoke on the subject of "Know Your Buying Power." Mr. Kenneth Warner, of the Department of Animal Industry in the Department of Agriculture discussed "Selection of Meat for the Home." Last on this program was a talk by Dr. Polly Bell Kessinger on "Labelling Textile Commodities." Dr. Kessinger is on the Textile and Clothing staff of the College of Home Economics.

Fashion Show

Following this was a fashion show which was in charge of Mrs. Frieda McFarland, head of Textiles, Clothing and Art. The students of the clothing department modeled the latest spring fashions which had been designed and made during the last semester.

Luncheon was served in the College dining hall directly after the review.

The afternoon program continued in the Home Economics building. Special demonstrations were given by all departments of the College.

Demonstrations

Miss Doris Dunnington, of the Textiles and Clothing division, gave a series of three demonstrations in which she demonstrated textile testing, both technical and non-technical; recent finishes in textiles, and discussed interesting innovations in the field of synthetic textile fibers.

Misses Ruth Knight, Elinor Broughton and Bell McGinnis, of the Clothing Department, gave three demonstrations on draping and dress design, illustrating the art of designing dresses without the aid of patterns.

Cooking and Dietetics

The Foods and Nutrition departments gave a number of interesting demonstrations. Under the direction of Miss Mary E. Kirkpatrick, Miss Jane Crow showed the effects of varying amounts of baking powder in plain cakes. Miss Elsie Jones demonstrated the Nesco electric roaster, while the sophomore girls illustrated the correct settings for semi-formal teas and formal luncheons. Under the direction of Mrs. Claribel Welsh and Miss Mary Emma Barnes was a dietary exhibit, prepared by the junior girls of the Food and Nutrition department. The exhibits consisted of dietaries that would be used in an average family group, such as diet for the adolescent boy; the adult man and woman; overweight, underweight, and for the aged.

Cover Picture

Every student who has attended the College Park school from its very beginning nearly a century ago, has at some time approached the "campus on the hill" thru these trees. At one time the approach thru the trees was a vehicular road-way, and now it is a beautiful pedestrian walk. Daily more than 1,200 people traverse this part of the landscape going to and from the campus. This walk begins at the main entrance on the Boulevard at College Avenue.

Degrees On The Wing

Somehow this item unintentionally missed the June issue of the "News."

Degrees on the wing seems to be the new order of the day for President Byrd. Both Dickinson College, at Carlyle, Pa., and Western Maryland College at Westminster, Md., wanted to confer honorary degrees upon our president on the same day, and during the forenoon. To accomplish this it was necessary to use aeroplane travel. Starting from the convenient and well-known airport at College Park with an experienced pilot at the controls, President Byrd flew to Carlyle, where he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Leaving immediately following the exercises he flew to Westminster and received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science. He returned to College Park early enough in the afternoon to take care of several important matters requiring his immediate attention. The progress of travel marches on.

Tydings - Gambrill - Cole Seek Reelection to Congress

Hon. Stephen W. Gambrill

Hon. Millard E. Tydings

THREE OF OUR EMINENT ALUMNI are candidates for reelections to national offices in the United States Government this fall. They have faithfully served the people of Maryland for many years, and have been conscientious public servants.

Senator Tydings

For the senior office, the Hon. Millard E. Tydings, a member of the class of 1910, seeks reelection as the United States Senator from Maryland. He is a native of Maryland, who was born in Harford County and spent his boyhood in the same vicinity. Following his graduation from the College Park schools of the University in 1910, he entered the University Law School in Baltimore and received his LL. D. degree in 1913. He was admitted to the Maryland Bar in the same year and immediately began the practice of law in Havre de Grace. His first political office of note was his election as a member of the House of Delegates in 1916. In 1920 he became speaker of the House, and during his tenure as speaker introduced the bill which amalgamated the two branches of the state institutions and formed the present University of Maryland. Then, during 1922, he became State Senator from Harford County. He entered United States Congress in 1923 as Representative from the Second District of Maryland, and in 1927 his meritorious service and sound thinking won for him election to Uncle Sam's higher legislative body—the United States Senate. He was reelected to the Senate in 1932 by the largest majority any candidate has ever received in Maryland.

Soldier, Scholar, Statesman

Senator Tydings is a scholar, soldier, and statesman. His military record is pointed to with pride. He entered the army as a private in 1916 and served on the Mexican border. He went to France as a lieutenant and returned as a lieutenant-colonel. He was in three major engagements and won several citations, which included the D. S. M. and the D. S. C. He is a member of the American Legion, the Masons and the Elks.

President of Alumni

His fellow alumni familiarly call him "Chief," and his classmates remember him as a leader in student and athletic activities in college. No alumnus takes a keener interest in the "Old School" than does "Chief" Tydings. He is a familiar figure at athletic contests, and has missed but few alumni gatherings. He served his fellow alumni as president of the association on two occasions. Senator Tydings is a Democrat and resides in Harford County.

Congressman Gambrill

The Hon. Stephen W. Gambrill, United States Congressman from the Fifth District of Maryland since 1925 when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Hon. Sydney E. Mudd, seeks reelection this fall. He was born and raised in Maryland, graduating with an A. B. degree in a classical course at the College Park schools of the University in 1892. In 1897 he was admitted to the Maryland Bar after completing a law course at Columbia University in Washington, D. C. He then began the practice of law in Baltimore and developed quite an interest in politics. In 1920 he was elected to the Maryland House of Delegates, and in 1924 was elected to the State Senate.

Aids Tidewater Area

In the United States Congress he has been primarily interested and active on river and harbor improvements in the tidewaters of the Fifth Congressional District, including the Chesapeake Bay, the Potomac River, and their tributaries. His efforts as a member of the River and Harbor Commission have secured the expenditure of nearly $300,000 for the benefit of the public of Maryland, and especially those whose livelihood is derived from the waters of Maryland. He had a part in obtaining an appropriation of $300, 000 for the Maryland Park and Planning Commission for extending the park system of the National Capitol into Prince George County, Md. He has also sponsored and assisted in obtaining government appropriations for many improvements of special benefit to Maryland. Congressman Gambrill is a Democrat and resides at Laurel, Md.

Congressman Cole

Another former president of the University of Maryland Alumni Association, the Hon. William P. Cole, Jr., class of '10, is a Democratic candidate for reelection as United States Congressman from the Second District of Maryland. A product of Baltimore County, Congressman Cole was born and raised in Towson, Md., where the name Cole has been like a pillar in traditions of the county.

Entered Congress 1926

Following his graduation from the College Park schools, he entered the University law school in Baltimore. In 1912 he was admitted to the Maryland Bar; he immediately began the practice of law in his home town and became one of the leading members of the profession. After having served in several public offices in his county, he became a candidate in 1924 for the State Legislature and was elected as Senator. Two years later he was a candidate for the United States Congress, and was elected in 1926. He was, however, defeated in the Republican landslide in 1928. Again he became a candidate in 1930 and was elected by a large majority and has since been consistently reelected.

Veteran of World War

He is a soldier as well as a statesman, having served in the World War as a first lieutenant and later was promoted to captain. Congressman Cole is one of Maryland's distinguished graduates, who is familiarly known to his fellow alumni as "Bill." His interest in the University has been untiring and helpful. In addition to the many prominent offices he has held in his life, the late Hon. Albert C. Ritchie, Governor of Maryland, appointed him to the Board of Regents of his Alma Mater in 1931.

Congressman Cole's service in the interest of the people of Maryland has been laudatory in every way, for he has undertaken only those things in which are embodied the highest ideals, and are for the best interest of the people.

Law Graduates Gubernatorial Candidates

Two alumni of the University's School of Law are in the Gubernatorial race of Maryland. His Excellency Harry W. Nice, '98, Governor of Maryland, is a candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket. He has had many accomplishments during his tenure of office and has taken an active interest in the progress of the University.

Governor Nice is a prominent member of American, Maryland, and Baltimore City Bar. He has served the public in numerous other public offices. He is a member of the Shrine and several other fraternal orders as well as many clubs. He has a great ability for developing friendship and good fellowship.

Attorney General O'Connor

Our Attorney General Herbert R. O'Connor, '20, LL. B., has practiced law in Baltimore ever since he graduated and became one of the outstanding members of the Bar. His first connection with governmental affairs was when he served as Assistant States Attorney for Baltimore City and later as State Attorney. He has served as the Peoples Counsel to the Public Service Commissions. In 1934 he was elected as Attorney General for Maryland.

Mr. O'Connor is a member of the American, State, and City Bar. He has taken active interest in the civic affairs of Baltimore and the Law School of the University. He belongs to several fraternal orders and a number of clubs. He is a Democrat and a resident of Balitmore City.

Electric—From among the "15ers" we have Hedley A. Clark as assistant to the superintendent of Electrical Distribution Department of the Consolidated Gas & Electric Power Company, of Baltimore. He is married and has a boy and a girl. At least another half back in a few years.

Government—Ralph I. Evans, '36, a grad in business administration, entered the Bureau of Internal Revenue as a "claims and correspondence clerk" in the Bituminous Coal and Silver Tax Division.

Dr. Blake, '93, Heads Medical Alumni

The guest speaker at the Annual Medical Alumni Banquet held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on June 2, 1938, was Dr. W. Wayne Babcock, professor of surgery at Temple University, Philadelphia. Doctor Babcock's class of 1893 held its 45th reunion this year.

Another graduate of the class of 1893 is the new president of the Medical Alumni Association, Dr. Charles F. Blake, who is a member of the faculty of the University's School of Medicine.

Among those who traveled quite a distance to attend class reunions were the following: Dr. Joseph G. Evans, '03, San Pedro, Calif.; Dr. Samuel J. King, '03, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Lewis W. Glatzau, '16, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Dr. Frederick W. Mayer, '03, St. Paul, Minn.; Dr. Frank H. Cutler, '03, Salt Lake City, Utah; Dr. M. E. Hagerty, '08, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. A. W. Erskine, '08, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Dr. Rolin Jefferson, '03, Tampa, Fla.

Dr. William H. Marsh of Solomons, Md., a member of the class of 1876, was the oldest alumnus present. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President — Dr. Charles F. Blake, '93; Vice-Presidents —Brig. Gen. Roger Brooke, M. C., U. S. A., '00, Dr. Robert Lee Hall, '01, Dr. Edward W. Sprague, '03; Secretary—Dr. Frank K. Morris, '27; Assistant Secretary, Dr. Francis W. Gillis, '27; Treasurer—Dr. D. J. Pessagno, '20, and the Board of Directors—Dr. Arthur Hebb, '98, Dr. Alfred Gundry, '94, Dr. Edgar Friedenwald, '03, Dr. Kenneth B. Boyd, '24, Dr. Thomas O'Rouke, '21.

Crooks, '23, In Europe

Coincidences are happening every day! Just recently a letter arrived on the desk of the Director of Admissions from a former student whose address has been unknown for some 12 years. The envelope carried a foreign stamp and the letter head, while in English, had several foreign insignias. The letter was from the Belgian headquarters of the General Motors and the signer of the letter was W. S. Crooks, '23, writing for information about a boy who wishes to enter the University of Maryland. Crooks has been in Europe for the past 12 years as an official of considerable prestige for General Motors. His address is 192 Bassin Albert, Anvers, Belgique.

Army Band Leader Receives Maryland March

Nurses Hold Annual Banquet And Dance

The Nurses' Alumnae Banquet and Dance, in honor of the class of 1938, was held on Thursday, June 2, in the Club House of the Maryland Casualty Company in Baltimore. The Club House is ideally located on beautiful landscaped grounds, and has all the advantages of a large country estate.

Miss Nannie J. Lockland, '98, celebrating her 40th anniversary, was an honored guest. She was a member of the committee that composed the original constitution and by-laws of the Nurses' Alumnae organization. Other guests were: Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University; Dr. A. J. Lomas, superintendent of the University Hospital; Miss Annie Crighton, superintendent of Nurses. Mr. C. Delano Ames, president of the Criminal Justice Commission, was the speaker of the evening, and was introduced by Dr. Lomas. A most interesting talk was given on Crime Prevention.

Miss Crighton announced the prize winners in the class of 1938. They were: Miss Ingred Elizabeth Selkamaa, Miss Alice Virginia Garrison, Miss Gwendolyn Haugh, and Miss Sara Jane Mays.

Summer School Large

When Summer School opened it looked like a September registration. More than 1,260 teachers, students, and graduates enrolled for the summer classes on the first day. More came on the second and third days until now the largest summer session in the history of the University is under way with approximately 1,400 registrations.

In addition to the regular summer crowd there are approximately 100 vocational educational advisors from the 3rd Corps of the C. C. C. camps enrolled at College Park for a two week session. This group is under the supervision of Earl Zulick, '28, educational advisor for the area. As a supplement to the session, a special exhibit of vocational accomplishments is on display in the Ritchie Coliseum. This display has quite a variety in art, pottery, mechanics, cabinet making, etc., which is exceedingly attractive and well done.

With the numerous organizations coming to the University campus, plus the regular session, there is only about two weeks out of every year when the campus is not in use.

It is a University of and for the people.

Pharmacy Alumni Elect Getz, '13, President

At the annual banquet and meeting of the Pharmacy School Alumni Association held during the commencement week activities, Dr. David B. Getz, '13, prominent citizen of Bel Air, Md., was elected president for the ensuing year. Retiring President John A. Strevig, '12, presided at the meeting. Dr. Frank L. Black, chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the other nominees for 1938-39.

Honorary President—Dr. Purnell F. Sappington, '84, M.D. '87, a physician at Bel Air.

First Vice-President — Charles S. Austin, Jr., '16.

Second Vice-President—T. Ellsworth Ragland, '11.

Secretary—B. Olive Cole, '13, LL.B., '23.

Treasurer—Mrs. Frank M. Budacz, '26.

Executive Committee (elected members)—Jacob H. Greenfield, '29; Otto W. Meuhlause, '13; John H. Strevig, '12, and John F. Wannenwetsch, '13.

Of particular mention was the presence of Mr. Paul C. E. Hauser of the class of 1888 and Mr. F. W. Dickson of the class of 1889. Graduates of 25 years ago—the class of 1913—were seated at a special table. Dr. Otto W. Muehlhause, spokesman for the group, recounted the many advances made in pharmacy during the last quarter-century. Other members of '13 present included B. Olive Cole, David B. Getz (president-elect), Albert E. Hammel, Herman F. Hansen, John J. O'Hara, Harry M. Rolnick, Harry L. Schrader, Amelia S. Sonnenberg and John F. Wannenwetsch. Three generations of pharmacists in the Wich family, Conrad L. Wich, '82, Henry E. Wich, '09, and J. Carlton Wich, '38, were seated at a special table.

The elder Wich spoke and expressed happiness that his group could attend such a joyful occasion.

Upon the request of the graduates of 1938 Dr. R. L. Swain presented a pen and pencil set to the Honorary President of the class of 1938—Dr. M. R. Thompson, who is resigning to take up his new work in New York. Doctor Thompson acknowledged the gift in appropriate words, and promised to keep in correspondence with the class of 1938.

The new officers, as mentioned above, were installed and President Getz expressed his appreciation of the honor and his willingness to serve.

Resolution Presented By Class Of 1908

The class of 1908 of the University of Maryland continues its wholehearted interest in its Alma Mater and has pledged its support for a greater University through the following resolutions which were unanimously approved by the class and also by the Alumni Association at their annual meeting on May 21, 1938:

Whereas, the class of 1908 of the University of Maryland, assembled this 21st day of May, 1938, in its 30th annual reunion, wishing to indicate its loyalty to its Alma Mater and to express its devotion to the principles imbued in its membership through its association with the former President R. W. Silvester: and further wishing to lay the foundation for a future memorial library building of monumental proportions, and to be in keeping with the dignity and standards of the University and of the State of Maryland, herewith,

Resolves that the approximately $1,200 now held in escrow by the University Treasurer, subject to use on behalf of the University for any project presented by the class of 1908, be immediately expended for a suitable permanent memorial.

And, be it further Resolved, that the class of 1908 herewith subscribes the sum of $2,500 to be used as an initial fund for the eventual construction of the Memorial Library in the location on the campus and of the design as indicated on the reorganized plan for the campus as recently approved by the Board of Regents.

And, be it further Resolved, that the class of 1908 suggests to the other classes and former students of the University and other friends who may so wish to make gifts to augment this endowment fund until such time as sufficient funds may be in hand to construct the building.

And, be it further Resolved, that when sufficient funds are in hand from any sources whatsoever to construct the proposed Memorial Library Building, that the Board of Regents be requested to place in a prominent place in the building a plaque indicating that this building has been erected as a gift of the alumni to the University.

And, be it further Resolved, that the University officials be requested to continue the 1908 class, "Silvester Award," in the form of a certificate in lieu of the type of award which has been given for the past 30 years.

President's Message

C. Walter Cole, '21,
President, Alumni Association

I welcome this opportunity to again express to you my grateful appreciation for your generosity in electing me your president to serve during the year 1938-1939. I trust your expression of confidence will be justified.

As a graduate of the University of Maryland you are automatically eligible to membership in the Alumni Association of your Alma Mater. The only prerequisites are that you signify a willingness to join, and pay the nominal annual sum as dues of $2.00.

Are these prerequisites burdensome or unreasonable? With one accord, all of us will readily answer, "No!" Why, then, have those of the alumni who have not joined the association failed to do so? In some instances, lack of interest—yes. But, I dare say, in the great majority of cases the answer is, neglect.

Think what it would mean to our association and to our Alma Mater should 80 per cent or more of the alumni of the university respond to this brief but earnest appeal to become active members! It would at once offer a stimulus that would carry the association forward to such an extent that our various functions held at the university during the year would be a genuine pleasure to look forward to and to attend. We have many constructive ideas whereby the association might definitely prosper, provided the support we ask from the alumni will only be forthcoming.

Will you help us start off the new year with prompt enlistment on your part in the active ranks of the association? If you will, we will undertake to furnish enthusiastic, inspirational, effectual leadership. We desire and will strive for an active, up-and-doing organization. An organization that otherwise is neither interesting nor attractive.

Cordially and sincerely yours,

C. Walter Cole,
President.

Dr. Hitchcock, '24, Wins Science Award

Dr. Albert Edwin Hitchcock, '24, now of Boyce Thompson Institute, Yorkers, N. Y., in plant physiology, received the 1935 award of the American Association for the Advancement of Science judged on his publication on this subject. The auxins, or growth promoters for plants, are marketed in commercial quantities for amateur gardeners. Doctor Hitchcock will present the latest advances in this field.

Doctor Hitchcock was born in Manhattan, Kansas, January 10, 1898. He received his A. B. degree from Maryland in '24; Fellow, '25; B. S., 25, and his Ph. D. from Columbia in '28. He worked as Field Ass't for the U. S. Department of Agriculture from '22 to '25, also serving as collaborator of Botany collections with the same department in the West Indies, Western States, and in Hawaii. His work has led him to study vegetative propagation, chemical treatment of cut flowers, effect of gases on plants and many other interesting projects in connection with the Botany Society and Torry Botanical Club.

Diversified—This seems to be the desire of Rosalie Carr Grant, '34, who has attended Temple Business College, American Institute of Banking, and the University of Pennsylvania, School of Law. While taking these courses, Rosalie continued to work, first with the Washington Loan and Trust Company, and then in the office of the dean of the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania. Now she is doing secretarial work for the Association of American Railroads in Washington. Rosalie is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and former Women's Editor of the "Diamondback."

Copper—The assistant sales manager of the Seaboard Brass & Copper Company, of Baltimore, is Hollis F. Bennett, '11.

Hot Weather Line on Football Prospects for Next Fall Indicates Team Would Be About On Par With 1937 Eleven

WITH the sports for the 1937-38 term in retrospect, about the only thing to think about now in the Terp ranks is football, always a timely topic even in hot weather.

In fact, about all of the old grads that I run across at any old time always ask about the grid prospects. Although Maryland never did and never will match in material the major teams it meets on the gridiron, Curley Byrd in his day and now Frank Dobson in his gives the assurance that the Terps always will be tough pickings.

Last fall, Maryland won 8 of 10 games and was nosed out only by Penn and Penn State, and the Terps promise to be just about as tough when the next season rolls around.

Mainly Juniors and Sophs

This, of course, is taking it for granted that all the material that was left over from the 1937 team and the freshman talent of note will return to classes in September.

Maryland's 1938 edition will be mainly a junior-soph combination, as only five of the left over will be seniors in the fall. The starting team hardly will be quite as strong as the 1937 eleven, but will possess greater reserve strength.

Eleven out of 19 letter men are left, giving such a grider for every position, except the guards and one end, and there are more than the usual number of promising recruits coming up from the 1937 freshman squad.

Two Great Guards Lost

REPLACING Bill Wolfe and Mike Surgent, the greatest pair of guards Maryland has ever had at one time, will be a big problem, one that doubtless will not be fully solved. End reserves also may bother Coach Frank Dobson considerably, as three fine letter winning wingmen—Blair Smith, Bill Bryant, and John McCarthy—were lost.

Leftover letter men include Nick Budkoff, end; Bob Brown and Ralph Albarano, tackles; Jim Forrester, center; Charlie Weidinger, the field general and ace passer; Jim Meade, great kicker and runner and all-Southern; John Boyda, Frank Skotnicki, Fred Hewitt, Pershing Mondorff and Bob Brand, backs.

His Toe is Big Help

MONDORFF, in addition to other qualifications, is an ace place kicker. He booted one 44 yards to beat Virginia last fall and is handy to get the point after touchdown.

Francis Beamer, end, and John DeArmey, guard, doubtless would have been 1937 letter men had they not been injured. DeArmey was hurt in practice and did not play at all while Beamer was shelved for the rest of the campaign after being hurt early in the Penn tilt on October 2.

All of the six linemen mentioned are husky and sturdy and there is plenty of all-round scoring punch packed in the seven letter men backs. Added to those are eight non-letter leftovers from 1937 and about 35 recruits from the freshman squad, at least a dozen of whom should see some service with the varsity.

Add Speed to Backfield

JOE MURPHY, a fast little fellow coming up from the 1937 frosh; Joe Delvin, ineligible last fall, and Dick Shaffer, another yearling product, will add speed to the backfield.

Bob Smith, a center, and George Gienger, a 205-pounder who never played football until joining the Terp frosh, appear as the leading line rookies, but there are a number of others who should help plug the holes left at guard and end.

This is a familiar building to many, the Infirmary, located between the Dining Hall and Morrill Hall. Soon this building will be revamped and made larger to accomodate the demand by increased enrollment. The front will be changed and this picture will be the only remembrance of how the Infirmary used to look. Oh, yes, the lady on the porch. Why, she is the well known Dorothy Bolton, '30, head nurse for several years. She now is Mrs. Warren Rabitt.

Rossburg Building

The old Rossburg Building, as all students remember it, is rapidly changing form and is being restored to its original architecture when first constructed 140 years ago. A picture of the Rossburg as it looked in those colonial days appeared in the May issue of the "News." Its future use will be as a club for faculty and alumni.

Montgomery County Group

During the month of May, Lawrence R. Smoot, '18, of Kensington, Maryland, got together a group of Old Line Alumni and brought about the organization of an alumni club in Montgomery County. Dr. W. W. Skinner, '95, chairman of the Board of Regents and director for the research bureau of the Department of Chemistry of the U. S. D. A., was unanimously elected honorary president of the club.

Prior to the organization of the group the Hon. Melvin C. Hazen, '88, first president of the Alumni Association who this year is celebrating the 50th anniversary of his class, gave a very inspiring talk before the group.

The regular order of organization was then conducted and Lawrence R. Smoot, '18, was elected president. Miss Mary Fisher, '36, of Rockville, was elected secretary.

Several committees were appointed, following which a resolution was passed that an annual meeting be held in September for perfecting a more permanent organization. The date will be announced later.

Burgee, '27, Heads Charlotte Hall School

The "Fountain of Healing Waters" in St. Mary's County of the Old Line State is the location of one of the country's oldest academy's, Charlotte Hall School, founded in 1774. When this famous old colonial school begins its 1938-39 term, Miels Burgee, '27, will be the head master to succeed the late Col. B. F. Crowson.

"Miels" is a member of the "M" Club and a former participant in football, basket-ball, and baseball, performing with considerable prominence in the latter two. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and a graduate of Education. He went to Charlotte Hall shortly after graduation and has been there ever since, his meritorious service gaining for him many promotions.

Charlotte Hall was the result of a Free Public School act by the Maryland General Assembly in 1723, "for the encouragement of learning, and erecting schools in several counties within the Province." St. Mary's, Charles and Prince George's Counties merged their funds and founded the school, naming it in honor of Queen Charlotte of England.

CANDIDATE

William W. (Bill) Evans

Evans, '31, Enters Political Race

Over in Montgomery County, where the topic of the day is politics from national to local offices, we find in the thick of a local race William Wilder (Bill) Evans, '31, a former athlete of considerable prominence in sport at the Old Line School. In football, "Moon," as his fellow team mates called him, was one of the greatest quarter backs Maryland ever had. He was Lawrence Perry's second All-American choice, other All-American honors came to him in lacrosse. In the latter sport his national recognition was for a superior attack in strategy, accuracy, and precision. He was also captain of the basket-ball team.

Following graduation, "Bill" elected to study law in which he received his LL.B. degree from George Washington University. Shortly afterward he opened offices in Rockville, Md., where he has won considerable recognition as a prominent member of the Bar. He is a life-long resident of Montgomery County, born and raised in Chevy Chase, Md. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur E. Evans of Chevy Chase. "Bill" aspires to be States Attorney for Montgomery County.

Fourteen-Thousand Mile Voyage Home

By PRESTON L. PEACH, '03

Fourteen thousand miles in 45 days, with two Summers, an Autumn and a Spring, was the composition of our journey this time back to Maryland. We left Kuala Lumpor, Federated Malaya States, Malaya, on February 12 and traveled 22 miles to the seaport Swettenham where we took the ship "Cingalese Prince," and then without a change we sailed by way of Penang, Colombo, and then southwest into an Indian Ocean Summer by the island of Madagascar down to the Autumn of South Africa, around the Cape of Good Hope. We turned north and sailed into the South Atlantic Summer to West Africa to the port of Dakar, the extreme west point of Africa near Cape Verde. From there we turned straight to the northwest across the Atlantic to Halifax into the Springtime of the northern hemisphere. Down to Boston and then by train to New York and Washington brought us into Maryland's lovely Spring, and soon we were into Summer again, having experienced this latter season three times in four months. It was a wonderful journey, calm sea and restful. We had one night in the North Atlantic when the trunks rolled across the cabin, but one such night in 45 is quite satisfactory.

There were ten of us traveling, two Wall Street men, a tea expert and his wife from Ceylon, two school teachers and a couple from West Virginia. The main cargo on this ship was not people but rubber, hemp, tin, palm oil, sugar, coconut oil and liquid latex from the rubber tree of Malaya. This journey cost us $210 apiece. This shipping line—the Prince Line—will take you around the world on a three-month tour for $525. It is cheaper to travel than to stay at home, and what a great difference it makes to one's outlook on the world and all the things that are going on now. A trip like the one we have just finished is a wonderful way to get some hard thinking and writing and reading out of the way. Incidentially you can do a lot of sleeping too and if you like to eat you will certainly enjoy five meals a day.

The most interesting experience we had I think was to sail for two hours close up to one of the remaining four

Landing Safely

"Flying around in the air with a busted landing gear was no thrill, but landing with minor damages to your plane was certainly a happy feeling," said Bob Slye, U. S. Naval cadet flyer. Bob, the former hurdle racer of the cinder tracks, entered the profession of jumping bigger hurdles. He entered the U. S. Naval training course and went to Pensacola, Florida. Since then he has practically covered the entire Eastern Seaboard in addition to making several trips across the continent. He now is stationed at Cape May, New Jersey, where he is taking tactical training for sea flying. Bob belongs to the Dive Bombing Squadron of the U. S. S. Enterprise Aeroplane Carrier.

Cross Country

It was on a recent trip across the continent to San Diego, California, that he had the hair-raising episode with the broken landing gear. Recently Bob visited the campus and it was the natural question for every one to ask about his experience. Here are a few of the things some were able to get out of him. He was on a cross country trip to California in a naval scout plane, and they were scheduled to stop at Kansas City. Upon nearing the landing field it is routine to let the landing gear down in place and by instruments check it for position. One of the indicators showed that one wheel was not in place. He went up again and tried to get the wheel in place, but all in vain.

Passenger

With him was a West Point cadet who was hitch-hiking a ride to the coast. Bob sent a note back to him telling him what to do when an attempted landing would be made. He then circled the field and dropped a note asking the ground crew to check the position of the landing and if anything was wrong to wave a red flag, and they did.

In the event of a crackup in landing Bob took the precaution to remain in the air long enough to practically exhaust all of the gas on board in order to prevent a fire. While you may cut the gas off from the motor there is plenty of friction to set it off when landing. While he was circling the field the airport summoned doctors, nurses, fire engines, ambulances, etc. How the crowd did gather to see a

Your Cooperation Solicited

C. Walter Cole

Fellow Alumni:

Upon checking the alumni files I was not discouraged but amazed to find some alumni whom I personally know among the inactive members of our association. Does it not seem that those of us who spent some of our best years on the campus, "On the Hill", would evidence at least sufficient interest to annually contribute the nominal sum of two dollars for active membership in the Alumni Association? There are others whom I do not know personally, but believe that they conscientiously feel as I do toward the old school and their fellow alumni.

It is my hope and ambition that our association will eventually, and at an early date, establish an adequately subsidized permanent headquarters at the university that will be of such an attraction that all alumni will want to frequently return to the campus. A one hundred percent active membership is the goal of our association for the ensuing year to accomplish our desires. This is not impossible and with your individual support it will be obtained. Again, as president, I am personally asking your cooperative help in furthering the progressive work of our association.

Cordially yours,

C. Walter Cole, '21,
President.

In Alaska On The Yukon

On the banks of the Yukon in far off Alaska, a graduate of the University School of Nursing is the Public Health Nurse for the U. S. Indian Reservation—Miss Bernice E. Brittian, '30, a native of Eastern Shore.

Miss Brittian was formerly with the University Hospital from which she resigned and made the trip to Alaska early last spring. The trip she writes about was quite interesting, as part was by steamer, part by aeroplane and some by dog sled.

The reservation hospital is located on the banks of the Yukon at a place called Tanana. A letter to a friend was written the latter part of May and it was necessary to get it off before the break up of the ice, as no mail would be in or out while the ice was moving out. At that time they were planting flower seeds indoors to get them started for outdoor planting after the middle of June.

Already several rather interesting incidents have occurred in the Hospital. She is delighted with the work and it has been her ambition.

Prominent Pathologist

In Long Island City, N. Y., there is Dr. W. W. Hala, M.D., '05, a prominent pathologist and former athlete of the Baltimore Schools. He is an associate professor of Pathology at the Long Island College of Medicine and director of the Pathological Department of King's County Hospital of Brooklyn, New York. He also is attending pathologist to the Caledonian and the Carson County Pack Hospital in Brooklyn. Dr. Hala is co-author of "The Textbook of Pathology". He belongs to several fraternity and professional organizations, which include the New York Pathologists, a diplomate of the American Board of Pathology, and the American Medical Association.

Married—Formerly Miss Lois Steinwedel, '34, a graduate of the Nursing School in 1934, now is Mrs. Edward L. Kaiserski, of Baltimore. Upon graduation from the Nurses' School, Lois won a fellowship to Columbia University in Nursing Education. This was an award in recognition of her outstanding work as a student nurse.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND LIBRARY

Public Funds For Education

With a great pride the National Government can point to the University where public funds have been used with lasting potential values.

In the past few years the legislative appropriations have been supplemented with PWA or WPA funds on a number of the physical improvements of the University. One of the leading and most modern hospitals in the country is the University Hospital in Baltimore which was constructed at a cost of $2,000,000. In addition many private citizens as well as organizations made contributions toward the equipment in the hospital.

At College Park a new up-to-date experiment station in the department of Animal Husbandry has been built, the College of Arts and Sciences building, and the new girls' dorm. All of the forementioned buildings have been completed.

The new program calls for the erection of several buildings both in Baltimore and at College Park. The nurses' home, a much-needed expansion, is in the program. Two more floors are to be added to the already over-taxed hospital. A new medical building where many new research problems will be carried on. The Dental School will be expanded.

The increasing enrollment at College Park calls for more classroom and dormitory space. First probably on the program will be a new men's dormitory and an addition to the dining hall. The present infirmary will be renovated and enlarged. An addition will be added to the Engineering building, as well as more space for Home Economics. With the rapidly increasing Library the administration office, now located on the first floor of the Library, will be moved to new quarters which will be in rear of the Agriculture building facing the north, when completed.

All of the improvements will give greater opportunities to the future generations of the Old Line State for a higher education. It is something with which you endow yourself that no man can take from you. Marylanders continue to lead Maryland on!

College Of Commerce Established

The young men and women of Maryland who wish to take up commercial, industrial, and agricultural vocations will have additional means of preparation with the establishment of a College of Commerce at the University. Professional training in economics and business administration will be provided for those who plan to become executives, teachers, or investigators in commercial, industrial, agricultural, and governmental economic enterprises. Beginning with this fall, a wide selection of courses will be made available in each of seven fields of general and applied economics, namely: marketing, finance, foreign trade and transportation, organization and management, accountancy, agricultural economics, and general economics.

The association of agricultural economics with business administration departments, like marketing, finance, accounting, and transportation gives the University an unusual opportunity to train men who will be useful in farmers' business and cooperative organizations, because effective marketing, financing, and transportation are exceedingly important to Maryland farmers. Close association with technical departments of the College of Agriculture will be emphasized.

A four-year curriculum in general business is offered for students who wish to prepare for a career in business administration. Additional curricula are also available for those who wish to specialize in accounting, marketing and sales administration, agricultural economics, or finance. A combination curriculum with the School of Law at Baltimore will permit a student to graduate in both subjects in as short a time as six years.

Maryland is the first university to offer a four-year training program in cooperative organization and administration. Special provision is made for courses suitable to those who wish to prepare themselves to become leaders or executives of agricultural cooperatives, consumer cooperatives, or in trade associations among business men. An important part of the training consists of practical work with these associations.

A strong faculty has been brought to Maryland for the new college. The dean, Dr. W. Mackenzie Stevent, in addition to considerable experience as an executive in private business, has been an economist with the United State Department of Agriculture and principal organization expert with the former Federal Farm Board. For two years prior to present hostilities in the Far East, he was Technical Adviser to the Chinese National Government at Nanking on marketing, finance, and cooperative organization. Dr. Allan G. Gruchy, author of a well-known book on bank supervision, has been brought here as professor of finance. Dr. Alpheus R. Marshall, formerly of the University of Virginia, teaches economic theory, and John C. Mullin from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, advertising. In addition to the new men, the entire staff of the departments of economics, business administration, and agricultural economics have been brought into the new college. S. M. Wedeberg, certified public accountant, heads accounting, and Dr. S. H. DeVault continues under the new set-up as chairman of the Department of Agricultural Economics. Other appointments are expected to be announced shortly.

square-rigged sailing ships as we turned around Cape of Good Hope. It was a beautiful sight. The captain of our ship said that he had been sailing for 30 years and had never seen one under sail before. And to add to the interest of such a sight as we came near to it, there, out over the water, was the great albatross sailing around. This sea bird can only be seen in southern waters. It brought to all of us the great lines of the "Ancient Mariner." Another interesting thing of this journey was the fact that when we sailed up toward West Africa we came within 60 miles of that spot on the globe where the navigator records Zero Lat. and Zero Long. That point is not far from the mouth of the great Congo River.

It was wonderful to get home again. Maryland and particularly the University of Maryland makes my Maryland heart very glad. It does not seem like we have been away four and a half years. Time flies when one lives in the country where there is nothing but summer.

[Note—Preston L. Peach, '03, has been on missionary duty in the Federated Malaya States as principal of a high school at Kaula Lumpor. He was on a furlough this summer after four and a half years and will return to Malaya this winter. His talks about the Far Eastern conditions are very interesting and we will endeavor to have him send us more items about his travels.]

Richmond Is Tough Early Foe For Terp Gridders

By W. H. (Bill) HOTTEL

With the opening game with the University of Richmond, a formidable foe, listed on September 24, Maryland will have to step on the gas in the grid practice sessions that start on Thursday, September 1.

Frank Dobson, who will again handle the reins, and Jack Faber and Al Heagy, his assistants, are not singing the blues, but they have some problems to overcome. As said before, finding a pair of guards to fill the shoes left vacant by Mike Surgent and Bill Wolfe is the big task. A duo like them is not found very often on any man's football team.

However, the sophomore line talent appears to be better than usual and the men needed to complete a team capable of battling a nine game schedule should be found among them. All of last year's leading backs are available again with some speedy ball carrying sophs to augment their efforts. If a forward wall anywhere near equaling that of last season can be melded, the offense should be better than that of 1937.

Dobby Has New Stuff

Dobson, who showed a varied attack and a tight defense to set such a fine record last year, has been mapping out some new stuff this summer and he will have his repertoire all ready for the Terps when they gather to begin the workouts.

While the loss of the St. John's game and the shifting of the Western Maryland tilt from November 5 to October 15 left the former date open, the gap comes at an opportune time. The vacancy follows the tough V. M. I. homecoming game at College Park on October 29 and precedes the long jaunt to play Florida at Gainesville on November 12. As the team has to leave for Gainesville on a Thursday, it will have only a little over the average time to prepare for the game with the Gators.

With the St. John's game off, the Maryland schedule contains nothing but major battles, with the tilts with Penn State, Syracuse, V. M. I. and Florida about the toughest. And the V. M. I. game easily may be the toughest of them all. In fact, the Terps rated the 1937 V. M. I. team they beat, 9 to 7, as superior to Penn and Penn State, to which they lost by slim margins.

Mack Unable to Scout

Heagy and Al Woods, the freshman coach, doubtless will have to do a lot of double duty this fall, with plenty of scouting added to their tutoring duties. Roy Mackert, the head of the Physical Education Department, and former

Richmond Is Tough For Terp Gridders

Terp grid great who did a good deal of the scouting, is just recovering from a serious operation and will not be available during the 1938 campaign. Mack was an ace at the job and more experienced than the other two who also are highly capable in the art of deciphering the other fellow's stuff.

Maryland's first two foes cannot be scouted. Richmond, like Maryland, will play its opener on its visit to College Park on September 24 and Penn State will be staging its inaugural when the Terps travel to State College on October 1.

Maryland will have a junior varsity this year which will play several games, one of which already has been arranged with the Penn "B" squad.

The final note to his passenger and then get set. He signaled the ground crew and then he set his ship down with a minimum damage. "It was a happy landing," said Bob.

His commanding officer was in another plane accompanying him on the trip, and had a vacant seat. Bob crawled in with him and went on to San Diego. Bob says he still likes it.

His passenger then had to hitch hike the rest of the way by auto. Tough on him.

Alumni Accord

BY PRESIDENT C. WALTER COLE, '21

ONE of the indispensible agencies of a university should be its alumni group. In the first place, this group, naturally, is fundamentally interested in its Alma Mater. In the second place, particularly in the instance of a university of long standing, its graduates have become widespread and consist of men and women prominent in their respective communities. The graduate group is the life-blood of many universities, and when any program or objective of serious concern and consequence to the university has been undertaken, this group has been one of the potent factors supporting it. We have many instances of this in well-known educational institutions throughout the nation.

It seems inconceivable that any act by the university or its staff officers, vitally affecting it, should be undertaken without the Board of Regents and the Alumni, through its officers, first approving it. This is true if it is to be expected that the alumni, as a group, will fully cooperate in promoting and boosting the university.

We have prided ourselves in recent years that our alumni, as a group,

Homecoming Saturday, October 29

Even before school opens plans were being formulated for another gala Homecoming. Last year it was the greatest in history, brought about by alumni, faculty and student cooperation. Fraternity and Sorority joined in spreading hospitality to returning graduates and visitors. Each house was decorated in a very hospitable fashion. Prizes were given for the most attractive as well as humorous decoration.

Between the halves of the football game a grand competitive parade of floats was presented by various student organizations. More than 15 organizations participated in a most colorful spectacle.

All of this is expected to be repeated this year with even greater success than last.

In addition the usual popular Alumni Mixer following the game will be held in the girls' field house for alumni, faculty and their friends. Fraternity and Sorority houses will have open house for their returning alumni. Last year the mixer and each fraternity and sorority was filled to capacity. Here is where friendships and fellowship had its biggest boost.

The climax of the day was the Prize Homecoming Ball in the spacious Ritchie Coliseum. The only dance held there during the year. Those who do not attend Homecoming are the losers. As one alumnus who attended his first Homecoming in ten years said, "It is my first but I shall never miss another." The date is October 29, 1938. Maryland vs Virginia Military Institute, the West Point of the South.

Samoa Bound

When you marry into the military circles you look for foreign travel and this is what former Rosalie Goodhart is now doing. She married Lieutenant James F. Dietz, U. S. Navy and he has been ordered to Tutuila, Samoa. With them they have their young daughter, Rosalie Johanna, born December 7.

Mrs. Dietz is a member of A. O. Pi and graduated in 1932. For several years the Dietz family lived in Arlington, Virginia.

Traveling—A graduate nurse goes traveling. Miss Ira Seipts, '34, is traveling in South America.

General Riggs, Regent Died Recently

General Clinton L. Riggs, member of a family that has been prominent in Maryland affairs for many years, died September 12 in Baltimore, one day before his seventy-third birthday. He had been a very active member of the Board of Regents for several years and intensely interested in the agriculture developments of the State. His Foxhall Farm, at Wilkens Avenue and Rolling Road, was a beautiful colonial estate. Here he carried out his theories of modern agriculture.

General Riggs was a soldier and a statesman. He served in the Maryland National Guard during the Spanish American War, was later appointed Adjutant General of Maryland, during which time the great fire of Baltimore occurred. He has served as one of the commissioners of the Philippine Islands. For many years he was active in the real estate business in Baltimore.

He was a graduate of Princeton University in civil engineering in the class of 1887, but took graduate work in political economy. At the time of his death he was president of the Maryland Historical Society.

Alumni Accord

have manifested a keener interest in the university. It was and is our ambition that the establishment of an alumni headquarters on the campus at College Park will further stimulate this interest, and that all alumni will look forward to frequent returns to the campus with a spirit of ready cooperation and assistance, if needed. Recently, an occurrence has taken place in connection with the university which has caused a deluge of communications to come to me. These were, and are, of one accord. They show the keen interest of the alumni in their university, and when the occasion arises, that they are a positive and firm group toward promoting its best interests. It is our belief and hope for the good of the university that such occurrences are in the past, and I appeal earnestly to all alumni to rally to the support of the association in a greater effort than ever to make the University of Maryland the high type of institution we desire.

President Byrd has done much to develop the university in every way which, strictly as president, he is well capable of carrying on to greater heights. I am sure that every alumnus wishes him well as our distinguished president and at all times will come to his support in the interest of the university. Again I urge your active cooperation, with the assurance that with your support the Alumni Association will become one of the most dependable forces for good of the university.

Dr. Homer C. House Succumbs

While on a vacation trip through the west Dr. Homer C. House, well-known Professor of English, died suddenly in Pasadena, California.

Doctor House was a student, teacher, poet and scholar. He was a husband, father and friend in no uncertain terms. His philosophy radiated throughout the student body. His love for music was inspiring and during the years at the University, since 1920, he did much to help spread the enthusiasm for music. His philosophy of life was to develop the contacts and appreciations of the best in life and thus to grow spiritually.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillian Chase House, and four sons, all of whom are alumni of the University of Maryland. Dr. Hugh Osgood, '24, Kinsley, '26, Bolton, '31, and Arthur Browning, '33.

Interment was made in Peru, Nebr.

Marries—Another union between A. O. Pi and Sigma Nu took place when Muriel James, '37, and Carleton W. (Bud) Wahl, '37, were married September 1, in Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Pipe Organs—In the pipe organ business with headquarters in Washington is Edgar B. Newcomer, '34, a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He is a partner in the Newcomer Organ Company.

A Football Message to Maryland Men

It gives The Atlantic Refining Company great pleasure to announce that it will broadcast most of Maryland's 1938 football games.

These broadcasts will be dignified, accurate and entertaining. Commentators have been chosen both for their knowledge of football and for their recognized ability in radio broadcasting. Advertising commercials will be used sparingly and in good taste — never while a game is in progress.

We sincerely hope that those of you who cannot go to the games will tune in one of the stations listed below. We feel sure that some exciting football afternoons are in store for you.

Terps With Record Squad Have Power

MARYLAND'S varsity grid squad, having toiled since September 1, is in pretty good trim for its opening game with the University of Richmond at College Park on the 24th.

More than 50 aspirants, the largest array in the history of the school, is under the wing of Head Coach Frank Dobson and his two Maryland aides, Jack Faber and Al Heagy. From the standpoint of general strength the aggregation doubtless is the best the Terps ever have had.

However, graduation of Bill Wolfe and Mike Surgent, a great pair of guards, Blair Smith, an exceptional end, and a number of others left gaps that are not easily filled, especially in a short space of time. But the material is on hand and it will be developed in due time.

Two Main Problems

It is particularly difficult to get a running guard of the caliber of Surgent and a pass-snagging end to match Smith. These are the main problems that occupy the coaches.

As the opening of the campaign neared it appeared as if John DeArmey, a junior who was injured before the season began last fall, and George Gienger, a soph who played his first football as a Maryland freshman, would fill the first eleven guard jobs. Francis Beamer, who broke a finger in the Penn game last October 1 and was out for the rest of the 1937 campaign, is holding down Smith's old job on the wing. All have the physical attributes.

Otherwise there are letter men in all of the other positions, with the starting backfield being filled with "M" men.

Dobson feels that his starting eleven will not be quite as strong as in 1937 but that the general strength of the squad is much greater and that he will not have to make "iron men" out of his linemen or backs as he had to do with some of them last fall.

Sophs Are Prominent

Sophomores will provide most of the reserve strength, with Joe Murphy, Dick Shaffer and Joe Devlin, all track men, adding a great deal of speed to the backfield that was not possessed last year. All are clever. This trio with Pershing Mondorff, a letter man, provide a great relief set of backs.

Rip Hewitt, another letter man back, will be chief utility man, a highly important role, as he must know the requirements of three positions both on the offense and defense. Bob Brand, still another "M" back, also will be valuable for all-around duty.

Here is the way the first two teams were lining-up when this was written:

| First | Pos. | Second |
|---|---|---|
| Beamer | L. E. | xBlazek |
| *Brown | L. T. | xBright |
| DeArmey | L. G. | Lloyd |
| *Forrester | Center | xSmith |
| xGienger | R. G. | Lawrence |
| *Albarano | R. T. | xCochrane |
| *Budkoff | R. E. | xDwyer |
| *Weidinger | Q. B. | xMurphy |
| *Meade | L. H. | xShaffer |
| *Skotnicki | R. H. | xDevlin |
| *Boyda | F. B. | *Mondorff |

* Letter men. x Sophomores.

Four of the men in these two line-ups never played football before coming to Maryland—Forrester, Gienger, Rudy, Cochrane and Mondorff.

Riggs Made Coach Of Junior Varsity

Maurice Talbott (Todie) Riggs, who was graduated from Maryland in the class of 1920, will coach the Terp junior varsity squad, something new in football at College Park.

Todie, who played four years of baseball for Maryland, was an all-State and all-South Atlantic end in football on the 1919 eleven. He also was on the track team for one season.

Riggs started his coaching at Suffolk, Va., High School and was there for a number of years before going to St. John's College of Annapolis in 1927 as football coach and athletic director. He remained at St. John's until the end of the 1935 campaign. While there he also coached basket-ball for a couple of seasons.

He was in business for a time after leaving St. John's and this fall is taking up the position as physical director at Kensington, Md., High School, which is only a short drive from College Park.

Todie and Geary Eppley, Maryland's athletic director, were teammates on the wings for the 1919 Terp eleven.

Riggs also played professional ball after gruadating, being an outstanding performer for Norfolk in the old Virginia League.

The junior varsity will play a schedule of three games, two of which have been arranged. Potomac State will be engaged at Cumberland on October 22 and the Penn junior varsity will invade College Park on October 28.

Richmond Tough For Opening Clash

When this was written, Richmond U.'s football team, the Terp's foe in their opening game on September 24, appeared to be a tough nut to crack.

The Spiders, tutored by Glenn Thistlewaite, who has been coaching football for 31 years, have a veteran for nearly every position, both in the line and backfield, and has some sophs who add much strength. Andy Fronczek, a big tackle from Chicago, is the only soph sure of a starting berth.

Their only complaint thus far is that they need a little more reserve strength in the tackle and guard jobs.

Thistlewaite is particularly pleased over the outlook for a strong and versatile attack, as he has seven veteran backs, and some newcomers who combine to give him a powerful running and passing offense. In fact, he will bank a great deal on throwing the ball to upset the Terps and other rivals. He also has plenty of good booters among the backs.

Capt. A. B. Marchant, who plays end, is one of the best men in this position in the Southern Conference.

The team, which is using the single wingback type of offense, will have unusual speed and will be moderately heavy, with some real big boys in several of the places.

Baseball—Eddie Johnson, president of the Student government for 1938-39, played baseball this summer for his "Dad" the well known Walter Johnson. Eddie was short stop for Dr. Pepper's amateur nine of the District of Columbia.

Applications Indicate Big Enrollment

When the News went to press several days before registration, the applications for new admission were fifty per cent ahead of last year. All indications were that the freshman class would exceed the 1,000 mark for the first time in history.

Going back a couple of years the applications were seventy-five per cent ahead of 1936 and still coming in.

Each department is making hasty plans to accommodate the increase in the normal schedule of classes. "What if the registration is so large that we will have to schedule night classes?" said a faculty member. If they want the education it is our duty to give them every opportunity even at a sacrifice to ourselves.

There is also another very important indication in the increased enrollment. Under the new system only those students having satisfactory high school records are granted immediate admission. Many others have had to take entrance exams, in which the success has been about fifty per cent. All of this is for the improvement of the educational system and adds much to the prestige of the University.

This system has had its effect back in the high schools where students who plan to attend college are doing better work. With this the interest in college has increased and there are greater demands today for a higher education.

Alumni are concentrating their attention on the outstanding students in the various high schools. Thus keeping pace with the rapid developments of their Alma Mater.

Lacrosse Star Marries

A former lacrosse star for the Terrapins, Frederick W. Invernizzi, '32, and Miss Virginia Budd Taylor of Baltimore, were married September 2. Fred's prominence as a goalie for Jack Faber's stick wielders is well remembered. Since his athletic days, Fred has graduated from the University Law School in '35, and two years later became a member of the faculty. The newlyweds will be at home after October 1 at 4327 Marble Hall Road, Baltimore.

Campus Developments

When the 1938-39 term opened at College Park, returning students viewed many changes and new students looked upon an improved campus.

The ragged edges of the campus roads have received a manicuring and now an eight-inch curbing will protect the green velvet grass. The curbings are complete about the Library and as far as the main gateway, adding much to the campus dignity. As you approach the Dining Hall the barren slope on the left has received a new dressing of sod and grading, adding to the friendly approach among the stately oaks.

As the roadway improvements progressed the Gym approach was given a revamping with a wide concrete spread, broken up by brick rectangles, between the steps and the road. Inside the Gym, the wavy floor has been made level and dressed so that it now looks like a ball room.

New Infirmary

Among the most outstanding developments was the breaking of ground on the new million-dollar building program. The renovation and addition to the infirmary was started by Pres. H. C. Byrd as he turned the first shovel full of sod. Many other buildings will follow just as soon as plans are completed.

Down near the boulevard the well-known Rossburg Inn is undergoing a restoration to eventually be the campus club for alumni and faculty. This building is the oldest landmark on the campus. Its history goes back to the days of the stage coach and George Washington.

Alumni Representatives

In making plans for a gala Homecoming, more than 75 alumni representatives from all counties in the State were invited to College Park for a meeting on September 24. The representatives were the presidents of the various organized groups, and County Chairman in those sections where groups are to be organized.

The alumni program for the year calls for three outstanding gatherings: Homecoming, Saturday, October 29, at College Park, Charter Day Celebration, January 20, in Baltimore, the 132 birthday of the University, then Alumni Day in the spring of the year.

Each alumnus is a committee of one to see that the enthusiasm for these gatherings will attract a large return of old graduates.

Reverend Plumley Accepts Call

Rev. Walter P. Plumley, '29, for the past six years Vicar of St. John's, Mt. Ranier, Maryland, left in September for Haddon Heights, New Jersey, where he will become Rector of St. Mary's Church.

The following excerpts are taken from the Washington Diocese:

"Mr. and Mrs. Plumley have endeared themselves to the people of the Diocese and they will be greatly missed. During Mr. Plumley's ministry at St. John's the Church has made remarkable progress and his influence for good and the advancement of Christian living has been distinctly felt in the entire community.

"Mr. Plumley was also active in Diocesan affairs being a member of the Executive Council, the Department of Religious Education and the Department of Publicity. He was also closely identified with the Young Peoples' Fellowship.

"St. Mary's Church, Haddon Heights, located in Camden County, New Jersey, is in a large community of homes where we are sure Mr. and Mrs. Plumley will find a hearty welcome and sincere appreciation for their work there."

Walter is a former track man, a Lieutenant in the R. O. T. C., a member of the Debate Club and Theta Chi. His able leadership as a student will be long remembered. The best of wishes to you, Walter.

Marylanders Meet In North Carolina

Mr. and Mrs. J. Alfred Kay, '35 and '31, are now in North Carolina, where Al was transferred as southern representative for the Mercer Textile Mills. He was formerly in Trenton, N. J. His southern territory includes Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Florida. The Kays will reside in Greensboro, North Carolina. Mrs. Kay, formerly Eleanor Baumel, '31, says there's welcome on the mat for all Marylanders.

Eleanor writes that a coincident occurred recently when they took Al, Jr., to a doctor in Greensboro and there in his office they found his University of Maryland diploma adorning the wall. He is Dr. Marion Yates Keith, a well-known pediatrician. There was much to talk about from then on.

Marylanders Marching On

When the final figures were compiled at the summer R. O. T. C. camp at Fort Geo. Meade, it was found that the Maryland boys figure quite prominently in the awards. President Byrd visited the camp and presented the honors.

Here are the Maryland honors: For rifle marksmanship, Lewis A. Jones and Charles Weidinger, for pistol marksmanship; W. P. Davis, F. T. Bishop and R. W. Adams.

Boxing honors went to Benjamin Alperstein in the 145-pound class and Frank Cronin, 155-pound class. Horseshoe pitching battalion honor to Ned Oakley single and the double team honors, Ned Oakley and Van S. Ashmun. Swimming—220 yard free sytle and 100 yard back stroke, John W. Stevens. Diving was won by Lewis A. Jones. Volley-ball team honors, U. of Md. with Henry Essex, Robert W. Adams, Fred "Rip" Hewit and Fred Bishop making up the team. Benjamin Alperstein wins another bout but this time it is wrestling. Maryland boys won just about one-third of all the honors awarded.

Homecoming

As the autumn shadows creep across the campus and the brilliant colors of nature acknowledge the turning of the season, alumni also change their thoughts from vacation to the great collegiate past-time, football. The plunk of the pigskin and the coordinating team which is the outgrowth of fellowship and friendship has its stimulating effect upon alumnus and spectator as well.

Each year thousands of former students trek back to the campus to see old friends and make new ones. At the same time he glories in seeing youth perform with a love for the game which places a premium on physical power and skill.

After the fray, with the rah of the crowd singing in his ear and he himself hoarse from his vocal demonstration, he mingles among his pals and gals, living again for a day the best days of his life.

It is the collegiate call to those fellows of the educational crusade to join again on the one unforgetable spot. The Campus. "On the Hill." Homecoming—Saturday, October 29, 1938.

Rev. Lawrence Plumley In Texas

In a previous issue, the item about Lawrence Plumley, '33, was not clearly stated, so his brother, Walter, sets the NEWS straight.

Rev. Lawrence Plumley has transferred from the Trinity Church in Freeport, Texas, where he was Rector, to become Assistant Director at the Trinity Church in Houston, Texas. Lawrence is a graduate of the University of the South at Swanee and while there met his bride whom he married last year. His brother, Walter, performing the ceremony. The newlyweds visited Washington this summer and the home of the Plumleys in Takoma Park. During July, Lawrence took the services in Christ Church in Washington. While on this visit, he did not miss an opportunity to see the campus.

Alumni Funds

Many other institutions have found the Alumni Fund slogan of tremendous appeal to many alumni and interested citizens who wish to make direct contributions toward education projects.

Shortly a great medical research and instructional building will be erected by the University in Baltimore which was made possible by a direct bequest. This gift to the University was not made because the donor wanted his name remembered, but because he wanted to do something toward giving the future generation a more efficient education.

The great field of human relations is an unexplored field waiting for the pioneers of education to explore. There is no better place to organize their minds and character than on a college campus. Thus the formation of a Alumni-Student Association.

Several years ago the University of Maryland Alumni Fund was founded as a perpetual organization to secure voluntary contributions from loyal alumni, such contributions as they wished to make to be used for the University's physical improvement as the Board of Regents deemed necessary. While this fund has not received, during the so-called depression years, a great deal of publicity or urge there have been many alumni who have made contributions. Today there is a fair nucleus upon which to build a fund of worth-while service to the University. Contributions to this fund will be used by the University for those monetary things which are of lasting value and of potential use by succeeding generations, and to better coordinate the march of Maryland can best be organized by having on the University campus an Alumni-Student union building for the coordinating of Human Relations.

Old Liners In Colonial Village

In Colonial Village, Arlington, Virginia, a suburb of Washington, several Old Liner newlyweds are making their homes. As you call the roll we find Alton Rabbitt and Estelle Remley, then Betty Howard and Irwin Owens. Probably the first among the invaders were Mary Keller and Buddy Goodhart. The only ones to boast of an addition is Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Galliher who have a girl, Barbara Joan, born in January. Mrs. Galliher was formerly Christine Cook.

One night a week, we hear, there are two card games, bridge in one place for the ladies and poker in another home for the masculine gender. Before the evening is over the usual campus topics get a going over. Well that's the way to keep the Terp spirit alive, says Buddy Goodhart.

Development On Fraternity Row

Prominent among the Greek Society developments is the new home of Alpha Xi Delta. A beautiful colonial structure containing accommodations for 30 girls. The general plan is a large living-room and dining-room on the first floor with study rooms on the second and dormitory space on the third. The house is located diagonally across the street from Theta Chi and faces north.

Over on College Avenue the home of A. T. O. has received a revamping in the form of a brick covering. Colonial pillars have been added to the front and a large sunparlor on the east side. The floor plan remains somewhat the same but the large living-room is being renovated and enlarged.

Going further down in the Park, Phi Sigma Kappa has received a complete inside overhauling. When school opens the boys will feel as if they are entering a new home.

When Homecoming comes around there will be much to see about the Park for returning graduates.

Old Timers Visit Campus

During the summer two of Maryland's distingiushed alumni among the old timers visited the campus. Mr. T. Elgie Riggs, '82, of Montgomery County, and Mrs. W. C. Hammond, '81, of Howard County. It was the first time the two had visited the campus together since they were students. Another classmate of Mr. Riggs, Mr. John T. Braddock, visited with him about three years ago.

Mr. Riggs and Mr. Hammond marveled at the great progress made by the University today as they remember only one building back in 1882, which was destroyed by fire in 1912.

For some little time the two reminisced over the alumni list of those who were students with them. Both were very much interested in the progress and welfare of the Alumni Association.

SCIENCE SAVES RADIO BUYERS
$700,000,000 IN 1937
1929—4½ Million People
Paid $592,000,000
1937—7½ Million People
Paid $404,000,000

More Goods for More People at Less Cost

HAD the 7½ million people who bought new radio sets in 1937 been obliged to pay 1929 prices for them, the total cost to the public would have been $700,000,000 greater than it actually was. In fact, the 7½ million sets of 1937 cost the public $188,000,000 less than the 4½ million sets of 1929. And because radios cost less, more people could buy them, and the purchasers had more money to buy additional comforts and conveniences.

This is but one of many cases where industry has found ways to make better products at less cost. For instance, the 1½ million electric washers bought in 1937 cost the purchasers 2 million dollars less than the million bought in 1929. The 1,200,000 electric fans bought in 1937 cost the purchasers $700,000 less than about half that number bought in 1929. And in this same period hundreds of other manufactured products, because of improved manufacturing methods, have been reduced in cost so that more people can have more of the good things of life.

This process of creating real wealth has brought to America the highest standard of living ever known, and it is this process which must continue if even higher standards are to be attained. General Electric scientists, engineers, and workmen are contributing to this progress. By developing new and better ways to use electricity for the benefit of the public, they are constantly providing More Goods for More People at Less Cost.

G-E research and engineering have saved the public from ten to one hundred dollars for every dollar they have earned for General Electric

The President's Message

OUR ANNUAL HOMECOMING, as you have been advised by personal letter, takes place Friday and Saturday, October 28th and 29th, beginning Friday at 3 P. M. and continuing through Saturday afternoon. You should have received a copy of the itemized program which indicates the many interesting features of entertainment provided for our pleasure.

This event is the forerunner of the four important dates celebrated by our association annually. The others to follow are Charter Day, held each year on January 20th, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore City, Maryland Day on March 25th at College Park and Alumni Day, held during the month of May at College Park, the exact date to be yet determined. All of these are especially designed and arranged for the attraction of the alumni. We believe your manifestation of interest in them will largely determine the success of the objectives of our association this year. We confidently believe that your attendance at these functions and your enthusiastic support of them will do much to further the progress of our association.

October 28th and 29th are sufficiently far hence for a large majority of our members to arrange to be present with their family and friends. We urge you to do so and look forward to your presence on the campus that day and the other Alumni days to follow as mentioned.

Sincerely yours,

C. WALTER COLE, '21,
President.

Fifteenth Annual Homecoming » »

ONE OF THE HIGH POINTS in the fall program of the 1938-39 season will be the 15th annual Alumni Homecoming on Saturday, October 29, at College Park.

Each Fall as the pigskin conversation holds the spotlight in all College gatherings those Alumni of the higher educational institutions begin to think of the many friends and the opportunity to join with them in seeing the Alma Mater perform on the gridiron. Naturally they look forward to seeing their team win but above all they want to see a real football game. And then, in back of it all, what inspires them to attend these functions but the opportunity to see their old friends again.

Besley, '23, General Chairman

The responsibilities of those who undertake to organize the annual homecoming in any University are very great. They are acting not only for the present reunion but for subsequent gatherings of fellow alumni. Therefore, in picking a general chairman for this occasion they chose one who has a great deal of interest and enthusiasm for perpetuating the Old Line spirit. He is no other than A. Kirkland Besley, graduate in class of '23, a former gridiron and diamond star. "Kirk," as he is more familiarly known, has a Doctor's degree in Bacteriology and is employed at the Beltsville Agricultural center of the U. S. D. A.

Program Begins Friday

The program for homecoming actually involves two days, beginning on Friday afternoon at 3 P. M. with a football game between the Varsity B squads of the University of Pennsylvania and Maryland. At 7 P. M. the annual homecoming bonfire and pep rally will be staged on the campus. Those who were present last year will remember the seemingly endless snake dance that reached practically from Margaret Brent Hall almost to the campus entrance. The parade was accompanied by the University Band and ended on the parade field near the campus gate. Following the pep rally the annual homecoming dance will be held in the University Gymnasium with a well-known orchestra providing the music. Many new innovations will be a part of the dance this year. Prizes for several contests will be awarded. The first prize will be for the tacky dance where one will be given to the funniest dressed couple and another to the most original dressed couple. There will be another prize dance for the best couple in a jitterbug dance contest. There will be Fraternity competitions in a big apple team dance, which will have from eight to ten couples in each. Another prize dance will be a balloon dance and the girl who keeps the balloon on her ankle the longest will win the first award. As usual the homecoming dance will be held in the Ritchie Coliseum and the price will be but $1.50 per couple or stag for nearly four hours of dancing. The chairman of the dance committee is H. Burton Shipley, '14, the varsity basket-ball and baseball coach and himself a former football, basket-ball and baseball star.

Maryland vs. V. M. I.

The following day, Saturday, October 29, the Alumni Homecoming registration will begin. At 9 o'clock in the morning registration will be held in the Ritchie Coliseum; during the forenoon the returning old grads will be entertained by the Freshmen football teams from V. M. I. and Maryland. Here is a splendid opportunity to see just what potential opportunities are in store for the Old Liners next year. At 12 noon the traditional tug-o-war between the two famous classes of Sophomores and Freshmen, will be staged on the banks of the historic Paint Branch. Following the tug-o-war those Alumni who wish to visit and remain in the vicinity of the stadium, will have an opportunity to participate in a buffet luncheon served by an Alumni Committee at a nominal cost. Following the buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock there will be a tour of inspection and judging of the Fraternity and Sorority House decorations for which first and second prizes will be presented at half time of the football game. By 1:30 the strains of the Old Line band will be heard coming across the campus leading the annual parade of Freshmen before the reviewing eyes of Alumni. At 2:30 the Cadets from V. M. I. and Terps of Maryland will begin their annual classic on the gridiron. Needless to recall to the attention of enthusiastic followers of football that V. M. I. and Maryland played one of the most thrilling games of the year last fall when Maryland won the game in the last two minutes of play by the accurate toe of Pershing Mondorff. former soccer star of Frederick County, when he kicked a field goal. Repeating somewhat the performance at the homecoming game at College Park last year, another colorful float parade will be presented by the various student organizations. This parade attracted a great deal of attention and was well praised last year.

"M" Club Meeting

Following the game the annual meeting of the "M" Club will be held in the University Gymnasium, where the election of officers for the ensuing year will take place and many interesting subjects in connection with athletics will be discussed. At 5:15 in the same building but in the main room the annual Alumni Mixer Supper and Dance will get under way. Here many Alumni, faculty members, their sweethearts, wives and friends will renew old acquaintances and many new ones will be made. Each year this function has had a splendid turn-out and there is every indication that it will be even larger this year than it was last.

In addition to the Alumni Mixer on the hill, each fraternity and sorority in the University will have open house and each will have some sort of a function for their Alumni that evening, including a tea, buffet supper, dinner, banquet and dance. Last year each fraternity and sorority registered a large number of their Alumni. No one who attended the reunion last year will easily forget the great gestures of welcome and hospitality accorded them by the student body of the Campus on the Hill.

Don't forget the date, which is Saturday, October 29, at College Park.

Barn Dance

Friday, November 11, the second annual costume Barn Dance sponsored by the Student Agriculture Council will be held in the University Gymnasium. The Agriculture Council is composed of members of the Grange, the student chapter of the F. F. A., Alpha Zeta, Agriculture Economics Club, Live Stock Club, and the Bacteriology Society, with Mr. Elmer Heubeck as president. The dance is under the auspices of the College of Agriculture for Agriculture faculty, students and alumni.

Nurses To Be Guests

A new part of the Homecoming program is the gesture of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. They will be host to the Nursing School students at the fifteenth annual homecoming on October 29. The sorority house will be decorative and will have a buffet supper and entertainment in the evening for alumni and guests.

Alumni Play Important Part In Politics

Maryland Alumni hold the spotlight in the fall elections—a well known sport.

Gubernatorial opponents are, His Excellency Harry W. Nice, '95, canidate for reelection on the Republican ticket. His opposition is the Hon.Herbert R. O'Conor, '12, Attorney General of Maryland, candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket. Both men have eminent records in their services to the people of Maryland and they will conscientiously do their utmost to direct good government for the "Old Line" state. For many years they have been prominent men in the legal profession. But while they may have differences of opinion in government, they are always loyal to their Alma Mater, the University of Maryland.

In the national limelight we find the Hon. Millard E. Tydings, '10, candidate for reelection to the United States Senate. Senator Tydings was the victor in a hard fought primary contest, but characteristic of his school day determination, he exemplified the "Old Line" spirit, "fight until the last whistle and you will win."

For reelections to Congress we have the Hon. Stephen W. Gambrill, '92, of the fifth district. In the second district the Hon. W. P. Cole, Jr., '10, is also a primary winner and candidate for reelection to the House of Representatives of the U. S. Congress. Both are running on the Democratic ticket.

Many other Alumni throughout the state are candidates for state and county offices. Each year more Alumni of the University are entering this field of public service to the people of Maryland. It is a tradition of the University to send its sons and daughters as leaders in the communities of the state.

Suggestions

An Alumnus recently sent the editor a suggestion about personal items. "Why not include, when possible, the addresses of an alumnus when publishing news items. Frequently alumni would like to drop a line to a fellow alumnus whom they read about." [Editor—In the future this will be done to the best of our ability. Thank you, Gertrude]!

Dr. Lynn, '07, Prominent Surgeon, Succumbs

Maryland has lost one of its most eminent Medical Alumni in the death of Dr. Frank S. Lynn, '07. Dr. Lynn was a man of outstanding character and a lovable personality. He was generous, considerate and kindly in his contacts with people. His fellow men regarded and respected him as one of the most outstanding men in the medical profession.

Ever since his graduation he has been connected with his Alma Mater and has given untiringly of his loyalty and concerted efforts in helping the University attain its high rank in the educational world. He was well known by Alumni in all branches of the professional school.

His poise and character exerted a tremendous influence among the personel of the University Hospital. On behalf of the Alumni of the College Park School of the University The News takes this opportunity to express sincere condolence to his bereaved family.

Montgomery County Group Organized

On Monday, October 3, the permanent organization of the University of Maryland Alumni Group of Montgomery County was perfected. Lawrence R. Smoots, '18, of Kensington was elected president. Miss Mary Fisher, '36, of Rockville, secretary, and Morrison M. Clark, '20, Silver Springs, treasurer.

Following the regular business meeting a special program was presented which included group singing and an address by Dr. W. W. Skinner, '95, on the facts leading up to the signing of the Charter of the University. Other Alumni who spoke at the meeting were A. K. Besley, '23, Chairman of the Homecoming Committee, also Edie Johnson, President of the Student Government, on the active interest on the part of the students in plans for Homecoming.

More than fifty Alumni were present for the meeting. It is planned to have four meetings a year, each being held in a different part of the county.

Class Of 1923—For the benefit of other Alumni here is a bit of information about Gladys Crothers, '23. She is Mrs. Joe Virden of Baltimore City. Dr. Virden is a grad of Johns Hopkins University. They live at 1120 St. Paul St., Baltimore, Maryland.

Sgt. McManus Transferred; Given Regimental Review

"Mr. Mac," who steered fledgling Reserve Officer Training Corps students for 19 years through the intricacies of drills and parades at the University of Maryland, was given a surprise regimental review.

Warrant Officer William H. McManus is the name "Mr. Mac" has signed to countless numbers of Army forms which followed thousands of his students from buck privates until they were graduated four years later as second lieutenants.

But the form-signing and drilling is over at the university for "Mr. Mac." He was transferred to the 3rd Corps Area headquarters in Baltimore to start his 40th year in the Army.

While university officials and students looked on, "Mr. Mac" was presented with a gold watch and chain by Cadet Col. Ralph Bishop as a farewell gift from the regiment.

Married—On October 1, Andrew Laurie, class of 1934, was married to Miss Helen M. Allen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alarik Allen of East Orange, New Jersey. The ceremony was performed at The First Reformed Church of East Orange.

The Alumni Purpose

Looking through the columns of literature we find the general purpose of each Alumni Association in the University as follows: "We are all united in one common unified purpose, the University of Maryland, it's welfare and prestige. To promote the interest of the University, to cultivate and foster intimate relations and feeling of fellowship among the graduates and matriculates of all departments. To support and advance the cause of higher education and to cooperate with the University authorities in carrying out proposals for its further progress."

As one Alumni President said, "The best alumni service is a living illustration of the cultural power of a center of learning. Such an alumni member may not sell as many goods as the one who took the other plan of life. He may not be able to make a handsome personal contribution to alumni funds, but his type of alumni representative will attract respect for the institution that produced it, and respect will attract the benefits of those with wealth who wish to invest it wisely and productively. In the long run that college will profit whose alumni naturally, sincerely and eloquently show the results of deep cultural experience."

It is not necessary to remind our alumni of the tremendous, yes, unparalleled influence which your speech, your hearing, your look and gesture, and your attitude can exert in making the alumni association reflect credit upon our University. You are leaders of the fine life which has been built in your University and you can best serve your University by seeking every opportunity to encourage every alumnus to give his best for his Alma Mater.

A Football Message to Maryland Men

It gives The Atlantic Refining Company great pleasure to announce that it will broadcast most of Maryland's 1938 football games.

These broadcasts will be dignified, accurate and entertaining. Commentators have been chosen both for their knowledge of football and for their recognized ability in radio broadcasting. Advertising commercials will be used sparingly and in good taste — never while a game is in progress.

We sincerely hope that those of you who cannot go to the games will tune in one of the stations listed below. We feel sure that some exciting football afternoons are in store for you.

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Old Grads Will View Plenty Of Football

THERE IS PLENTY IN STORE for Maryland old grads who like their football when they hike back to College Park on October 28 and 29 for the annual homecoming festivities.

Of course the big affair of the two days will be the battle between the V. M. I. Varsity and the Terps on Saturday afternoon at 2:30, but there will be two prelude games of more than ordinary interest.

As an appetizer, on the 28th the Penn Junior Varsity will journey from Philadelphia to College Park to play the Maryland Junior Varsity at 2:15, while Saturday morning at 10, the V. M. I. Frosh and Terps yearlings will have it out.

Penn's junior squad may be expected to prove too classy for the Maryland juniors, but the battle of the baby Cadets and Terps should be a 50-50 affair.

V. M. I. and Maryland Varsities have staged some stirring battles, and while the Cadets will come to College Park as the favorites, that means little. In 1936 the Cadets upset the favored Terps at College Park, and last fall Maryland traveled to Lexington and returned the compliment.

But regardless of which wins it should be a game well worth seeing and a fitting climax to the annual celebration.

Keller Sure To Be Yank

Charlie Keller, former Maryland athlete, who led the International League in batting and other phases of run-getting for the second successive year, is sure to go up with the New York Yankees next spring. A Yankee scout is reported to have said that the only outfielder on the Yankee team that Charlie could not beat out was Joe DiMaggio.

Junior Varsity Is Beaten

Todie Riggs' Junior Varsity lost its first game of football when it journeyed to Keyser, West Va., on October 15 and was defeated by Potomac State, 19 to 0. However, the Terps put up an interesting game and gratified the fabs at the contest.

Maryland Has Edge In Play With V. M. I.

V. M. I. and Maryland will be playing their 17th game of a series begun back in 1906, in the October 29 clash at College Park. However, the teams met only intermittently until 1927, but they have been battling it out annually ever since as fellow members of the Southern Conference.

Maryland holds the edge in the series, with nine wins to five for V. M. I., and two of the contests have been ties.

In the last two years they have taken turns in spoiling each others homecoming, V. M. I. winning, 13 to 7, in 1936, and Maryland getting revenge, 9 to 7, at Lexington last fall. Both games were thrillers, and it will take a beauty this year to match them.

Here is the complete record of the Cadet-Terp rivalry:

1906—V. M. I., 33; M. A. C., 5.
1910—V. M. I., 8; M. A. C., 0.
1916—Maryland State, 15; V. M. I., 9.
1917—Maryland State, 14; V. M. I., 14.
1918—Maryland State, 7; V. M. I., 6.
1927—U. of M., 10; V. M. I., 7.
1928—U. of M., 0; V. M. I., 0.
1929—V. M. I., 7; U. of M., 6.
1930—U. of M., 20; V. M. I., 0.
1931—U. of M., 41; V. M. I., 20.
1932—U. of M., 12; V. M. I., 7.
1933—V. M. I., 19; U. of M., 13.
1934—U. of M., 23; V. M. I., 0.
1935—U. of M., 6; V. M. I., 0.
1936—V. M. I., 13; U. of M., 7.
1937—U. of M., 9; V. M. I., 7.

Terps, Injury-Jinxed, Get A Dismal Start

When it went into the battle with Western Maryland on October 15, Maryland's football team, riddled by injuries, had dropped its three previous games to Richmond, Penn State and Syracuse.

Some of the injuries came in the opening game with Richmond, lost by a 19 to 6 score, notably that which kept Charlie Weidinger, ace passer and quarterback, on the bench until the Terrors were met, but the biggest blows came later.

Meade and Mondorff Lost

Jim Meade, all-Southern Conference back of 1937, and a power in every department of the game, broke his ankle in the Penn State contest, October 1, and, of course, was lost for the season. Then on the day before the squad was to leave to play Syracuse October 8, Pershing Mondorff, who was to have taken Meade's place, was operated on for appendicitis and also was shelved for the year.

Weidinger, Rip Hewitt, chief utility back, and Francis Beamer, rangy end, did not make the Penn State trip and these three, along with Bob Smith, soph center, Frank Skotnicki and Joe Murphy, backfield stars, who were hurt in the clash with the Nittany Lions, were left home when Syracuse was tackled.

Then in the Syracuse tilt, Bob Brown, big tackle; Jim Forrester, senior center, and Nick Budkoff, No. 1 end, joined the hospital list, and were not available when Western Maryland was battled, while Hewitt made only a brief stay in that contest.

Foes Have Powerful Teams

Penn State, winning 33-0, and Syracuse, running up a record score of 53 to 0 against the Terps, were just too powerful for the depleted Maryland team to hold in check. Both have unusually strong teams, having a super-abundance of real gridders for every position, as is illustrated by the fact that Syracuse used 53 players, 30 more than the Terps had to take with them.

However, Coach Frank Dobson and all connected with the team are fighting their way out of the dismal picture and the Terps are sure to make the going difficult for every remaining opponent.

Syracuse Got Its Revenge

Maryland did not play Richmond in 1937, but defeated the Old Dominion team in 1936 in the Virginia Capital, 12 to 0.

Penn State was met last fall and the Terps succumbed after a brilliant battle, 21 to 14.

But it was Syracuse which was looking for the sweet revenge that it got, for the Orange had not scored on Maryland for three years. They battled scoreless in 1935, then the Terps marched to 20 to 0 and 13 to 0 victories in 1936 and 1937, respectively, last year's triumph coming after the Orange had upset Cornell.

Rival Squads are Superior

While Maryland doubtless would have been beaten by both Penn State

Defeat Of Terrors Is Tonic For Terps

Maryland's crippled football team got a tonic in a stirring 14 to 8 victory over Western Maryland in the game in the Baltimore Stadium on October 15.

The triumph was all the more encouraging in that the Terps overcame a 8 to 0 deficit with two touchdowns in the last 20 minutes of play.

Charley Weidinger, back in the game after two weeks on the hospital list, sparked the drives that won. He made three great passes that carried to the two yard line in the third period, from where he scored, and he joined with the other ball toters, particularly Frank Skotnicki, in a running attack that brought the second counter.

However, there was a downcasting angle to the victory, as George Gienger, soph guard, suffered a broken bone in his jaw and joined Jim Meade and Pershing Mondorff in being out for the rest of the season.

Unless the injury jinx continues to work overtime, the Terps should be able to have all the other men back by the time V. M. I. is met at homecoming.

and Syracuse regardless of blows struck the Terps by the unusual series of injuries, the Nittany Lions and Orange certainly would have been held to low scores had Maryland been able to present all its assets.

However, as conditions existed, Maryland, with its limited material, was utterly hopeless before such grid powerhouses.

Every team Maryland will meet from now to the end of the campaign will have more and better material, but the Terps are not so outclassed as to be routed or even prevented from ringing up a victory in any of the contests.

Medical Alumnus, at 90, Has Practiced 68 Years

SIX DECADES AGO a young doctor spurred his weary horse along the muddy roads of Arlington and Fairfax Counties in Virginia. In his saddlebags were materials for the pills he rolled according to his own prescriptions; there were instruments for the crude surgery of the day, for pulling teeth, for all the many tasks a general practitioner of more than a half-century ago had to perform for his patients.

Celebrating his ninetieth birthday yesterday, that doctor was still active in his profession, though the horse and the saddlebags and the long rides in sun and snow and mud and dust are far behind him. In his office in Falls Church, Va., Dr. Thomas Melville Talbott receives his patients, administers to their needs and lifts the curtains of the past sometimes with those who knew him many years ago.

He is not so well himself, suffering from an injury of 30 years ago when a frightened horse wrecked his buggy, and much of his present practice is from his bed.

Dr. Talbott was born October 17, 1848, in Montgomery County (Md.), near Whites Ferry. His early education was gathered in the grade schools of Poolesville, Md., and his first taste of higher learning in Columbia College (now George Washington University), where he was graduated. He received his degree in medicine at the University of Maryland March 1, 1870.

He began practice May 10, 1870.

Even in the horse and buggy days, Dr. Talbott was progressive beyond most of his contemporaries. In 1880 he caused somewhat more than a flurry of excitement when he installed the first telephone in Falls Church. It was a single-line affair, extending from his home to the village two miles away.

One of the earliest subscribers to The Washington Post, Dr. Talbott has been reading the paper regularly since a few weeks after its establishment in 1877.—(The Washington Post.)

Candidate—Harold E. Naughton, '34, was nominated by the democratic party of Allegany County for State Senator at the recent primary election, defeating his opponents by a majority of nearly 2,000 votes.

Harold is now practicing law in Cumberland. While attending the university he was outstanding in cross country and track. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and Delta Sigma Phi. He was president of his Junior class and also president of the Intrafraternity Council.

Politics—Out in Ohio, Robert C. Oberlin, '32, won membership on the County Central Committee for Cuyahoga County. This political activity is a sideline to "Bob" as his real business is that of a lawyer with offices in downtown Cleveland and considers studying another subject, Mechanotherapy, a special branch of medicine.

Statistician—Emily E. Klingel, '34, of New York, now is secretary and statistician for the Lehman Company in New York. Emily attended New York University where she took a course in psychology.

Traveling—A former member of the Diamondback staff travels with the Navy. Donnie May Godwin, '37. Her father is commander of the U. S. S. Mississippi now in European waters. "Donnie" is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and was an active worker in the Riding Club.

Photograph—In the promotion department of Harris & Ewing, photographers, Washington, D. C., we find Dorothy May Cutler, '37.

Birth—Dr. and Mrs. Reginal T. Truitt announce the arrival of a baby girl, born August 25, last. Mrs. Truitt was formerly Miss Mary Virginia Harrington of Eastern Shore. Dr. Truitt, '14, is Director of the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons Island and Professor of Aquiculture at the University. The Truitts reside in College Park.

Married—Another Kappa Delta, Joan (Kitty) Wells, '37, and Mr. Charles Bowie Rose, were married December 31, 1937 in Baltimore.

Coach—Coaching athletics and teaching is the occupation of James F. Zimmerman, '37, at Thurmont High School, Maryland.

Tin—The well-known football and lacrosse star, Charles Ellinger, '37, is in the sales department of the Lyon Conklin and Co. in Baltimore.

Celanese—In the Celanese corporation of America, is Wayne D. Irwin, '34, as chemical analyist and now plant chemist. He is a member of Alpha Chi Sigma.

Law—A former baseball star and football manager, Pete Chumbris, '35, has received his LL. B. degree from Georgetown University. Pete is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. He is assistant librarian at Georgetown Law School.

Hotel—Asistant manager for the Dupont Circle Apartment Hotel is Tommy Robertson, former business manager for the Diamondback. Tommy is a member of Sigma Phi Sigma and Omicron Delta Kappa.

Kansas—A recent card was received about Robert M. Wick, who is now located at Wichita, Kansas. Here, Bob is connected with a building material concern. He would like very much to meet any Marylanders who happen to pass that way.

Fellow Alumni:

OUR football team has just completed another gridiron season. While it may not have been a brilliant season no one can say that the Old Liner did not present the best team available from the material at hand. A number of the boys were new at the varsity competition and when several of the regulars were sent to the side lines with injuries they lost some of the sustaining moral so vital in this great game.

Regardless of the record the boys closed the season with a spectacular performance to win from the Generals of Washington and Lee. They seemed to find themselves when Rip Hewitt, a senior and playing his last game seemed to supply the needed spark and they were off. My congratulations to the boys and as one Alumnus said, "we with our heads up to carry on."

In spite of the miserable weather on Thanksgiving Day I was glad to see quite a few of the old boys come out in the snow and rain to cheer the Terps on. Win, lose or draw if the Alumni will always give the true display of Old Line spirit I am sure there will be no concern as to what will be the achievements of the Terps. Let's have a banner year for the Alumni Association as the first step toward success for one and all, our Alma Mater.

Sincerely yours,

C. WALTER COLE, '21,
President.

Homecoming Colorful » » «

In spite of the efforts of the old man weather, the spirit and color at Homecoming, October 29, was up to top form. A splendid return of old grads was recorded by the Alumni Office and the fraternities and sororities. As one Alumnus who returned to the campus on Friday said before he left Sunday, "I had a grand and glorious time and never a dull moment. It seemed as if something was going on every minute." True enough, there was something going on Friday afternoon until Saturday night.

Tied Penn Jayvees

On Friday, Maryland's Jayvees played the University of Pennsylvania Jayvees a tie football game. That night the Annual Homecoming Dance was held in the Ritchie Coliseum. The dance was held Friday, which was a change from the past, for the purpose of giving the Fraternities and Sororities an opportunity for their functions on Saturday night. At the Homecoming Dance several contests for prizes were held. The first, a Jitterbug Dance, followed by a Tacky Costume Parade with prizes being awarded for the most unique and most humorous costumes for both girls and boys. The winners were: Elaine Danforth, George Meeks, Margaret Meiser and David Sheridan. The Coliseum was decorated in Halloween fashion with cider in the fodder shocks and ginger snaps for refreshments.

Registration

Saturday morning a splendid group of Faculty, Alumni and Student representation assembled at the Coliseum to serve as a reception committee, headed by Dr. L. B. Broughton, '08. The Freshmen Footballers started the Saturday program at 10 A. M. in a game with the V. M. I. Freshmen. At noon the traditional Soph-Frosh Tug-o-war over the banks of Paint Branch left the Sophs supreme. On the drill field the extramural soccerites engaged a team from Frostburg Teacher's College. Maryland won. Between 12 and 1 o'clock, the Alumni gathered at the Ritchie Coliseum and had a buffet lunch, but it was not long before the band appeared and the parade was on.

House Decorations

Before the game a special committee toured College Park and judged the house decorations of all fraternities and sororities. The general theme was an expression of hospitality and welcome to our visitors and returning old grads.

At 2 P. M. the kick off started the annual clash between the Virginia Military Institute and the Maryland Terrapins. Many exciting moments entertained the old grads. During half time, the student organizations took part in a competitive float parade. Coming out on top was the Terrapins Trailer Club to be followed close by Alpha Xi Delta. Winners of the House Decorating competition was the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

"M" Club Meeting

Immediately following the game, the annual "M" Club meeting was held in the University Gymnasium. During the meeting the wives and friends of the "M" Club and many other Alumni assembled for an Alumni Mixer, buffet supper and dance. Entertainment at this affair was generously presented by the student Glee Club, Girls' Chorus and Orchestra. Following the entertainment, the Alumni danced and hobnobbed until the curtain fell at midnight.

Practically every Fraternity and Sorority had a capacity return of old grads. Each had a function immedidiately following the game and later had dancing.

Homecoming this year, despite the inclement weather, was probably the greatest ever held at College Park. For the benefit of those who were not here, the news is printing the following list of those who were here. Fellow Alumni, when you are not here, many friends miss you, and you miss a real big time. Among those present were: 1888, H. B. McDonnell; 1892, F. W. Besley; 1894, F. B. Bomberger; 1895, R. L. Harrison, P. C. Prough, W. W. Skinner; 1897, Lewis Lake; 1900, Harvey Kefauver; 1902, T. B. Symons; 1903, Preston Peach, E. Walls, J. L. Devon; 1904, A. W. Valentine; 1905, W. White; 1906, Henry Harrison, 1907, J. W. Bird; 1908, F. Mackall, L. B. Broughton, U. Long, G. C. Day, E. Oswald; 1909, C. M. Bishop, E. N. Cory. W. R. Maslin, A. Claude Turner.

Medical Library First Of Its Kind

The University of Maryland, founded 1807, was the first medical college in the country to establish a library. Formed in November, 1813, by the purchase of Dr. John Crawford's personal collection, the library is now observing its 125th anniversary of service.

During the early years of its existence the small collection of books was housed in the Provost's office in the Medical College building. As the number of volumes increased more commodious quarters were sought and in 1905 an old church building was purchased for the library. Renamed Davidge Hall, in honor of Dr. John Beale Davidge, this structure still houses the library. Extensive remodeling in the fall of 1937 has converted it into an attractive and serviceable building.

One of the outstanding features of the library is the Crawford Collection of historical medical books. Many of them offer fine examples of the bookbinding during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Some are bound in vellum and parchment, others in calf and deerskin, with designs in gold and blind tooling. Another interesting and important set are the 189 volumes containing the thesis submitted for the degree of Doctor of Medicine from 1817 to 1868. Many of them are written in Latin; others have unique embellishments of ribbons, fancy pictures, or pen-and-ink sketches, according to the taste of the writer.

From a small beginning 125 years ago the library has grown until it now numbers some 19,000 volumes. No reference to the library would be complete without mention of a few of the men who have worked in its behalf. Professor Randolph Winslow, Professor John R. Winslow, and Dr. Winslow proved their love by generous gifts and unceasing interest. Under the able guidance of Dr. Carroll Lockard, for the past decade chairman of the Library Committee, the library has witnessed its greatest growth.

With a fresh realization of our needs and the will to succeed may the next period of our history be even more fruitful than the past.

Haines Celebrates 33rd Anniversary

Founders Week Celebration was a great jubilee for Mahlon N. Haines, '96, the Shoe Wizard of York, Pennsylvania. It was the 33rd anniversary of a man who has become an eminent citizen of the community. His philanthropic disposition has won for him a place in the hearts of many of his fellowmen.

Colonel Haines was born and raised in Washington, D. C., came to the Maryland Agriculture College in 1892 and while a student won the individual cadet honors in the manual of arms, also gold medal in track. Following his departure from college he entered the shoe business in Washington. In 1905 he went to York, Pennsylvania, and began what has since become the greatest chain of shoe stores owned by one man in the country.

Colonel Haines' ancestry includes: the hearty Norseman, daring Englishmen, canny Scotchmen and wild Irishmen, so when you think of Haines, remember the stock he came from—strong physical, athletic, hardy, brave, fearless—with deep convictions—when word is given it is carried out. One who loves and hates to the end; who will never take unfair advantage of one, but at the same time expects the one on the other side to live up to his bargain. When he believes he is right nothing on earth will change him, no threats, no argument, no pressure—he stands like a rock—perhaps alone—what matters to him—so remember these things—you can see Haines in action. Going to York 33 years ago, single, penniless and alone in a strange land and new people to contact, new difficulties to overcome, and he did.

Colonel Haines has a great love for the outdoors. His palatial farm called Haines Acres is his favorite retreat where he can don the overalls and join in the manual work. He also enjoys fun and play, often taking part in games with the children. Practically every person in York, Pennsylvania, has been the beneficiary in some way or another of the generosity of Mahlon Haines. Colonel Haines has a family of three boys, all interested in the shoe business.

On behalf of the Alumni Association the NEWS takes this occasion to extend congratulations and best wishes to Mahlon N. Haines, a member of the class of 1896.

Old Line Spirit In The Family

When preparations were being made for the fifteenth annual Homecoming this fall, it was learned that Katherine Jean Shea, '40, a member of Alpha Xi Delta, is the daughter of Dr. John J. Shea, '12, D. D. S. Another member of the family, Miss Katherine V. Shea, '13, is a graduate in Nursing.

When the time arrived for Jean to go to college, even with her high school associates going elsewhere, the pull of the Old Line spirit of her dad and aunt was so impressing that to Maryland came Jean. Her description is, "I enjoy it more and more every day."

Her father is a practicing dentist in Holyoke, Massachusetts, and her aunt is Hospital Administrator in Annapolis, Maryland.

Terrapin Trailers Win Twice

When the parade of floats stopped at the north end of Byrd Stadium on the fifteenth annual Homecoming, the winning float was the Terrapin Trailor presented by the Terrapin Trail Club. This float was a replica of the Diamondback Terrapin followed by a trailer. Perched atop the Terrapin was Georgianna Calver, the guidinng light for Bill Voying who was driving the car.

The following Monday the enthusiasm over their victory urged them to enter the Terp in the Washington Halloween Parade with the thought of only fun. But so original and unique was the float that another prize was brought to the campus. It was the Fred Buckholz trophy, for the most uniquely decorated vehicle in the Halloween Parade on Constitution Avenue. Those who deserve a lot of praise for the success of the float were Dick Bridge, Henry Lemmon, Janet Wyvill, Bill Yoying and manager J. P. Secrest. The president of the club is Ned Hepburn and secretary is Georgianna Calver.

Arboretum Receives Gift » » »

The Federated Garden Clubs recently presented the University a beautiful hand forged, wrought iron marker (see cut) for the Nature Trail of the University Arboretum, located at the northeast corner of the campus. Presentation was made to Professor A. S. Thurston by Mrs. Charles Peace, chairman of the Conservation Committee of the Federated Garden Clubs. In April, 1937, the Federated Garden Clubs formally dedicated the Nature Trail, which has been developed since 1935 by Professor Thurston. The Nature Trail extends through the wooded area of the Arboretum and has been planted with nearly 6,000 plants of about 100 species of native flowers and shrubs.

Strange Malady Cured, Woman Dentist Weds

A week prior to her wedding Dr. Carlotta Augusta Hawley, an attractive 24-year-old Washington dentist, was stricken with a strange malady which sent her temperature at times as high as 106 degrees.

The day preceding the wedding, Dr. Hawley's illness was gone as suddenly and mysteriously as it appeared, and she became the bride of a Maryland University classmate, Dr. William Mitten, Jr., also a dentist, a resident of Balboa, Canal Zone.

Today, she was on her honeymoon. Through an agonizing week of uncertainty while she lay critically ill, Dr. Hawley declined to postpone her wedding. She remained in bed until a few hours before the ceremony at All Souls' Unitarian Church. Afterwards she attended a reception at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Augustus Hawley of 2609 Woodley Place N. W., and then she and Doctor Mitten left on their wedding trip.

After traveling in this country, Doctor Mitten and his bride will go to Balboa, where they will practice together.

Doctor Hawley, who passed the District of Columbia dental examination in 1936, and Doctor Mitten first met six years ago when they were students at Maryland.

Youngest Instructor

The youngest instructor in the University is William Howard "Billy" Nalley, aged nine months, who will teach "Advance Principles of Child Study, to a group of eight Practice House coeds.

"Billy" will take his place in the six weeks' practice house curriculum along with cooking, marketing, housecleaning, entertaining, and the other home arts taught to the girls. He will give a comprehensive and practical five day short course to each girl during which time she will act as nurse for his various needs.

"Billy" is the son of Mrs. Paula Nalley, 22, who is one of the group of eight coeds taking the course. Mrs. Nalley left school to marry during her junior year and this fall decided to return to complete work for her degree.

Mrs. Nalley is majoring in "Foods" in the Home Economics College, and had to take her six weeks' turn in practical housekeeping along with the other seniors. This brought up the question of what to do with Billy during the six weeks' work. So Billy teaches while mother studies.

"M" Club Elects Adams, 28, President

At the annual meeting of the "M" Club held on Homecoming Day, Donald H. Adams, '28, former gridiron and basket-ball star for the Old Liners, was elected president for the ensuing year. Don succeeds Dr. A. A. Parker, '04, of Pocomoke City.

"Don," as we call him, is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and was president of his class for three years. He was very active in student affairs for which gained him membership in the national honorary leadership fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa. Since becoming an alumnus Don's interest in the school and its affairs has carried on. He has taken an active part in the Old Line Club in Washington, served on the Alumni Board and was a member of the Old Line bowling team of the District of Columbia which won the collegiate championship three consecutive seasons.

The hotel and restaurant equipment business occupies Don's main time. He married Miss Eleanor Freeney, '27, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and they reside in Chevy Chase, Md.

Other officers to be elected were A. K. Besley, '23, a football and baseball star in his college days. Kirk is the son of an alumnus, Fred W. Besley, '92, State Forester for Maryland. Kirk has a doctor's degree in bacteriology and is connected with the Beltsville Station of the U. S. D. A.

Representatives elected to the Board for the coming year were: Boxing, Stewart McCaw, '35, now an instructor in physical education, football, W. C. Supplee, '26, and historian, W. R. Maslin, '09.

Gertrude Chestnut, '26, Captures Air Derby

Beating her closest rival by 25 minutes, Gertrude Chestnut, '26, attractive young Hyattsville aviatrix and Capital newspaperwoman, won the Washington Air Derby Association's aerial landmark hunt in record time at the College Park (Md.) Airport.

Gertrude, flying with Earl Steinhauer of 2901 Sixteenth Street as her observer, spotted six landmarks and set her plane down on the runway at College Park Airport at College Park just 18 minutes after the hunt began.

Her performance was the fastest ever turned in for a contest of that type sponsored by the local association.

Some Good Talent On Freshman Team

Maryland's freshman squad, ably coached by Al Woods, who was assisted by Bill Bryant, 1937, end, won three out of five games, a fine record considering the opposition.

While there is quite a jump from yearling football to the caliber needed for success on the varsity, there apparently is quite a bit of talent that will be handy to have on the big team next year. Some of them, of course, will fall by the wayside scholastically, so it is not good policy to count too heavily on any of them so far in advance.

However, Mearle Duvall, Jim Dunn, Elmer Rigby, Bernie Ulman, John Cordyack and Donald Shockey, backs, Charlie Bowers and Ashton Garrett, ends; Ralph Burlin, tackle; Larry MacKenzie and Charles Pottoroff, guards, and Edwin Bader and Jim Wharton, centers, displayed ability that marked them as good prospects.

Others, too, may develop and at least 20 of the 27 who stayed out all year should come up to the varsity squad.

The young Terps lost to Washington and Lee, 0-6, but greatly outgained their rivals; they battled a much more powerful Georgetown team to a standstill before bowing, 13-21, and defeated a fine V. M. I. outfit, 13 to 6; George Washington, 25-0, and Western Maryland, 39-0.

For those who like names and statistics of players we are printing the roster of the yearlings. It will be noticed that most of the boys are home talent.

Large Ring Squad Is Hard At Work

Lieut. Col. Harvey Miller and his associate coach, Capt. William H. Maglin, have the varsity boxers hard at work but not enough has been done to give a real line on the team that does not open its season until the middle of January.

Benny Alperstein, national 125-pound champion, and Nathan Askin, 135-pounder, and George Dorr, 115, are leftovers who give a good nucleus. Newton Cox, 165, and Jose de Perralta, 145, are others from last year who should deliver this season, and there appears to be other potential talent among the large number of candidates.

Things will have shaped up by another month so a better line may be given on the outlook. However, Miller doesn't hesitate to say he'll have a better team than last winter.

Terps Have Worst Gridiron Season

Maryland, with grid aces lost completely through injuries or illness and constantly retarded by hurts to others, wound up its worst season in modern football when it defeated Washington and Lee in the Baltimore Stadium Thanksgiving Day, 19 to 13.

Prior to playing the Generals, the Terps had dropped all but one of their previous eight tilts, their lone triumph being over Western Maryland, 14-8, in one of the best games the team played all year.

Maryland's finest fight, though, was a losing one. It performed a great feat in holding Georgetown's powerful and undefeated outfit to a 7-14 score at College Park on November 19 and came within a hair's breadth of scoring one of the biggest upsets of the campaign.

A fuller review of the season will be given in the next issue, but here are the scores of the games up to the turkey day affair:

Maryland, 6; Richmond, 19.
Maryland, 0; Penn State, 33.
Maryland, 0; Syracuse, 53.
Maryland, 14; West. Maryland, 8.
Maryland, 17; Virginia, 29.
Maryland, 14; V. M. I., 47.
Maryland, 7; Florida, 21.
Maryland, 7; Georgetown, 14.

The Terps outgained Florida and doubtless would have won had it not been for costly fumbling. Outside of Penn State and Syracuse, Georgetown was the strongest team Maryland met.

Maryland's previous worst record since football was put on a sound basis at College Park was in 1925 when two games were won, five lost and one tied. The total scoring this year against the Terps was the heaviest on record.

Basket-ball Team Offers Problem

Starting early and facing a 23-game schedule with very limited talent, coach Burton Shipley has a big job on his hands in varsity basket-ball this season.

He will have only 12 candidates, most of them inexperienced, and under the fast pace that has been created by the changed rules, two complete teams of ability are almost essential to a successful campaign.

George Knepley, all-Southern Conference guard; Eddie Johnson, center or forward; Pershing Mondorff, guard; Francis Beamer, Adam Bengoechea and Bill Rea are the leftovers from last fall, but only the first two, who are seniors, were regulars.

He gets a fine forward in George Dewitt, a sophomore, but he is the only rookie who may be of great value to him this season. Other sophs added to the roster are Frank Dwyer, Dick Shaffer and Gene Ochsenreiter.

With Penn State being played in an exhibition game on December 3 at State College and three other clashes carded before Christmas, Shipley was handicapped by the fact that Beamer, Dwyer and Shaffer were with the football squad until the season closed with the Washington and Lee game Thanksgiving.

All have been toiling for sometime except these three but every man was badly needed to whip a team in shape for such an early beginning.

Knepley, Johnson, Mondorff and Dewitt loom as four of the regulars but the fifth man and reserve strength present a tremendous problem.

"Ship" has a winning average in basket-ball of more than 65 per cent but he'll be hard put to keep up to that ratio this season.

Big Meet On March 11

Maryland and the Fifth Regiment have decided upon Saturday night, March 11 as the date for their annual big indoor track meet in the latter's huge armory in Baltimore. They are hopeful of matching last year's show which drew a capacity crowd.

The date was shifted from the first to the second week in March on account of the West Point boxing team visiting College Park at the former time.

Former "M" Club President Marries

Lewis W. (Knocky) Thomas, '28, former gridiron and cinder track star for the Old Liners, married Miss Louise Carol Meads of Washington on November 23, in Washington.

Knocky, as his familiar associates call him, is a former "M" Club president, having held this position for two terms. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. Knocky now is associated with the C & P Telephone Co. The newlyweds will reside in Washington.

Women's Groups Honor Margaret Brent

In honor of the first woman district attorney in the United States, a patriotic celebration marking the Margaret Brent Tercentenary, provided for in a proclamation issued by Governor Nice at the request of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, was held in the University Auditorium Nov. 22.

The principal address was to be given by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs. Dr. H. C. Byrd and Mrs. Henry L. Naylor, president of the Prince George's County Federation of Women's Clubs, were to deliver addresses of welcome. A synopsis of Margaret Brent's life was presented by Rudolph Allen who arranged and presided over the patriotic program.

The University band provided music for the occasion and Girl Scouts of the county gave a salute to the Flag. Officials of the State and county federations, together with those who appeared on the program, were guests at a luncheon given in honor of Brig. Gen. Hines preceding the exercises.

1938 Enrollment

From the total of 2,851 students matriculated at the University, 1,892 are residents of the State, 654 hail from the District of Columbia and 314 are from out of state.

Baltimore City leads the State enrollment with 485 students. Prince George's County follows with 402, while Montgomery County comes in third with 347.

Grapevine News About Those We Know

Birth—This is a tardy announcement but for those who haven't heard, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Gingell, now residents of College Park, have a fine boy born last spring. He is called Robert Loring, a future halfback. Mrs. Gingell was formerly Betty Ehle. Loring will be remembered for his cheerleading ability in his college days.

Real Estate—First assistant to Robert M. Watkins, '23, president of the College Park Building Corporation, is Ellwood Nicholas, '28. Nick, as his associates call him, has charge of the sales, advertising and rentals for the corporation. This corporation has the picturesque Calvert Hills development just south of College Park which now has more than 100 homes. Nick lives in the community. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, and got his M. A. degree from his Alma Mater in 1929.

Building and Loan—Out of the hills of Western Maryland came Ed Tenney, '28, former gridiron star for the Terps in former years. "Ed" went to China following graduation and was there for eight years. Now he is in Baltimore, as representative for the Druid Hill Federal Savings and Loan Association. Ed is a member of Kappa Alpha and the "M" Club.

Married—Evelyn Brumbaugh, '35, and Frederick H. Green were married October 26 in Washington. Evelyn is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, Mortar Board and won first honors in the College of Arts and Science.

Married—A member of the class of 1937, waits for a lady in the class of '38, Dick Maurer, '37, and Dotty Hobbs, '38, were married on October 1st past. Dotty is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, Mortar Board and several honorary groups. She was secretary-treasurer of Student Government Association, women's editor of the Terrapin. Dick is located in Philadelphia with the Burroughs Adding Machine Company. The newlyweds are residing in Philadelphia.

Politics—Down on Eastern Sho', one of Maryland's prominent Alumni wins in the political fight the past fall. J. Ben Barnes, '23, has been elected Clerk of the Court, Somerset County, Maryland. Ben has been assistant clerk for several years. He is a Sigma Nu and resides in Princess Anne, Maryland.

Married—A Tri Delt, Ruth Knight, '38, graduate of the College of Home Economics, married Milton Peper, '35, a member of Alpha Gamma Rho. They are living in Silver Spring, Md.

Married—Frances Kercher, '31, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and a former beauty queen runner up, married the prominent Coleman Headley, '38. Coleman now is teaching physical education and coaching at Bladensburg High School. The newlyweds are residing in Washington, D. C.

Birth—On November 16, Mr. and Mrs. N. Meyer Baker announced the arrival of Bette Lynn at the Garfield Hospital in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Baker was formerly Sarah Sugar, '33, who graduated with high honors in the College of Education.

General Motors—Elizabeth Taylor, '27, a member of Alpha Omicron Pi and Phi Kappa Phi, is with the General Motors Corporation in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Aycock, '24, Promoted

Recent promotion in the staff of the University Hospital, Dr. Thomas B. Aycock, '24, M. D., former assistant professor of Surgery, now becomes Professor of Clinical Surgery to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Frank S. Lynn. Dr. Aycock has been a teacher of anatomy for some eight or ten years following graduation. He later became staff surgeon of the University Hospital and the Baltimore City Hospitals.

He is regarded by many in his profession as among the most prominent doctors in surgery today.

Dr. Aycock was born in North Carolina but he has become so imbued with the Maryland spirit that he is now an Old Liner through and through.

He is very active in the Alumni affairs of the Medical School and was at one time secretary of the Medical Alumni Association. At present he is the representative of the General Alumni Council for the University.

New York Alumni Group Hold Party

All alumni in the Metropolitan area are cordially invited to attend the annual cocktail party of the New York Alumni Group, on Saturday, December 3, from 4:30 o'clock on. As in the past, the party will be held in the Lounge Restaurant of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. The Lounge Restaurant is located on the north side of the main lobby of the Waldorf.

There will be no cover or minimum charge; drinks will be ordered on an a la carte basis. There will be dancing.

This party is always a means of renewing old friendships among the alumni. Alumni are urged to bring their wives, husbands, friends and sweethearts, or what have you.

Jim Dinghman, Jim Knotts, Bill Maslin, and Ed Mullen are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

● The College of Engineering has advanced in recent years to a point of prominence among engineering schools. Directed by Dean S. S. Steinberg, there have been added to the College during the past two years twenty instructors, all of whom have advanced degrees together with wide practical experience. With this added personnel, it has been possible to strengthen the courses in the three branches of engineering already established and add to the College the newly formed department of Chemical Engineering. Last fall the curricula in civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering were accredited by the Engineers' Council for Professional Development. This ranks the College of Engineering among the very best in the country.

Cover Picture

The most appropriate picture at night is the Library where much reference study is done. The Library is probably used more in the evening than any other time of the day. A Reference Librarian is constantly on hand for the aid of students. More than 50,000 books are housed here. Some Alumni have contributed to the Library collection; also several graduating classes.

Fellow Alumni

We are nearing the beginning of a new year. Many of our mistakes are to be forgotten but we look forward to another year with new resolutions. For my fellow Alumni I suggest the folowing: "During the new year I will become a more active member in the Alumni Association."

Elsewhere in this publication you have noticed the announcement of the Charter Day Celebration of the beginning of our great University. This will be January 20, 1939, in Baltimore. It is an occasion when Alumni, faculty, and friends of the University join in the one common unified purpose, a greater University of Maryland.

I personally attended the Celebration last year and can truthfully say I never attended a more enjoyable function. I saw many faculty members and fellow alumni and had friendly conversations.

A good resolution suggestion is: "I will begin the new year by first attending the Charter Day Celebration and all other Alumni functions during the ensuing year.

My best wishes to all.

Sincerely yours,

C. Walter Cole, '21,
President.

Charter Day Celebration, January 20th

ANNUALLY the Alumni, faculty, and friends of our Alma Mater assemble on January 20 to commemorate the beginning of our great University with a banquet at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore. A most interesting program has been arranged by the committee which, in addition to the banquet, will have a brief after-dinner program with special entertainment, to be followed by dancing. The well-known Townsmen Orchestra of Baltimore will furnish music for the evening.

Our eminent alumnus, the Hon. William P. Cole, '10, will serve as toastmaster, and a nationally-known speaker will deliver the address.

The faculty are usually present in great numbers which will give every alumnus a splendid opportunity to meet and chat with them. The Baltimore Sun very appropriately called the celebration following the dinner program last year an "Old Pal Party." Several classes had reunions at this time.

Those desiring reservations are requested to write the ALUMNI office as far in advance as possible. There are eight places to a table, and should you desire to make up a party for one table, please make your reservations together.

There has been arranged some pre-banquet broadcasts in an endeavor to bring to the Alumni and people of the state some interesting historical notes on the beginning of the various units in the University as well as something about those men who were active in its early development. Tune in on Station WCAO, Baltimore, about 5.30 to 5.45 on Friday, December 30th, Tuesdays, January 3rd, 10th and 17th. Then attend the banquet on January 20th to celebrate what they did for us. Those serving on the committee of arrangements are as follows:

Sturgis and Dubel Become Marine Colonels

Recently promotions in the U. S. Marine Corps involved two members of the Old Line Class of 1917. Bernard Dubel and Galen M. Sturgis were raised in rank from major to that of lieutenant-colonel. Both were Marines during the World War. Colonel Sturgis was in the Philippines when the China Clipper made its first flight to America, upon which he sent a letter to his mother in Hyattsville. Colonel Dubel has been in the Virgin Islands and Nicaragua and many other foreign ports. While in Nicaragua he married Miss R. Ginn of Iowa. The Dubels have a nine-year-old daughter. He is also a graduate of the Army Signal School. Colonel Sturgis is stationed in Philadelphia and Colonel Dubel is at Quantico, Va.

Former Gridiron Men Attend Football Banquet

Among the old timers were C. T. Bailey, '22, Captain, U. S. M. C., a star center in his college days; Joe Berger, '25, Captain, U. S. M. C., one of Maryland's most stellar tackles; Lewis W. "Knocky" Thomas, '28, former halfback; Kirk Besley, '24, former quarterback; Don Adams, '28, among the immortals at tackle; George Madigan, '31, a center of prominence; Johnny Mitchell, '33, a star utility man; Buddy Yeager, '37, a backfield mainstay of creditable performance; Al Woods, '33, among the immortal blocking backs; Toddy Riggs, '20, the other end of a great pair, his cohort was Geary Eppley; Julie Radice, '30, a standout as a backer-up; Burton Shipley, '14, the local boy who was a shining star at signal calling; Charles Leroy Mackert, '21, a two-position star, first at tackle then at fullback and sometimes it seemed like he was doing both at the same time; Bill Kemp, '12, an end who became a great fullback in one week; Zeke Supplee, '26, a towering end with All-American honorable mention; Sy Symons, '02, a player among the pioneers of the collegiate games.

American Pharmacists Elect DuMez

Dr. Andrew J. DuMez, Dean of the School of Pharmacy, was recently elected president of the American Pharmaceutical Association. His tenure of office will be for the year 1939-40, which begins in August. Dean DuMez is a widely known man in the pharmacy profession. He came to the University as head of the Pharmacy School in 1926 with much experience as a very competent and efficient administrator in pharmacy. He is a graduate of pharmacy from the University of Wisconsin. Has spent four years in the Philippines, where he organized a school of pharmacy, and has taught at the Oklahoma A. and M. College. For eight years prior to his association with the University he was in the United States Public Health Service. His attainments in the field of pharmacy have won for him a place among the American Men of Science, also membership in several honorary fraternal orders. Dr. DuMez is an ardent Old Line fan. He takes an active interest in Alumni affairs and is frequently in the rooting section of athletic contests.

Congratulations and best wishes to you, Dean, for a most successful tenure of office.

Engineers of '33 Have Reunion

The Civil Engineers of '33 have held their annual fall dinner and bull session, writes Howard M. Biggs, generalissimo of the order. A year ago these Engineers decided to meet November 19, 1938, and they did as per schedule, with nine being present. Now they have scheduled a spring meeting and want all the C. E.'s of '33 to be on hand about April 1, 1939. Further details to follow.

Howard, an employee of the Spidel Concrete Construction Company of Washington, got some interesting information from his fellow classmates in the session.

Samuel McGlathery, Jr., a single man (girls) has been with the Greenbelt Construction Project for the past three years.

Robert E. Dunning married Elizabeth Kiser. Has one son, three and one-half years old. Named William E. Mr. Dunning is employed in the United States National Park Service.

Leuri G. Phillips is with the C. C. C. project at the National Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville.

William P. Starr is with the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia.

Harold B. Norwood married Mildred Hobbs of Laurel. Has one son, Jon Earl, four years old. Harold is an engineer in the office of the Quartermaster General in the War Department. He resides near Laurel.

Norman Belt, single, resides in Hyattsville and is a computor for the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

Walter F. Burdick is married to Miss Ariel E. Farley of Washington. They have two sons, George E. and Walter F., Jr. Burdick is an inspector with the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia.

Stanley D. Shinn, of Riverdale, is employed by the county surveyor of Prince George's County.

News About Others

The following information came forth about those not present:

Charles E. Kitchin is with the Farm Security Administration as assistant engineer. He is stationed in Amarillo, Texas. Not married and lives at the Palo Dure Apartments.

Edward S. Holland is with the A. A. A. of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, married and has one youngster.

Old Line Spirit

Here's one for Old Liners to applaud and then follow suit. A letter came into the Alumni office recently with a check enclosed, saying, "Here are my dues. It seems to me I have neglected this for several years and as today is my birthday I take great pleasure in observing it by making a contribution to my Alma Mater. While I did not graduate, I did spend the happiest days of my life on the campus at College Park. I wish to contribute something toward perpetuating that memory."

This was received from A. Dixon Garey of Baltimore, an ardent supporter and loyal alumnus. Follow suit, fellow Alumni.

NEW DINING HALL

We—the Alumni—take a tour . . .

CONTRIBUTED BY ALUMNUS

WORK has been started here at College Park on what is perhaps the greatest job of face-lifting in the history of any State University in the country.

From morning to night architects, contractors, and workmen are busy applying a $2,500,000 beauty treatment to the College Park, Baltimore, and Princess Anne campuses, turning them into up-to-the-minute educational plants.

To give an accurate verbal picture of all this to you Alumni would be nearly impossible, but in attempting to show what is to be, a word tour of the College Park campus as of January 6, 1940, is in order.

January 6, 1940—Alumni Tour of Campus. Starts at Main Gate. Location—just below Zalesak's Grill for you younger Alumni, and across from what used to be Charley White's establishment for you old timers.

We enter and pass the Gym-Armory, and to the right, facing the Agriculture Building, we notice a new dormitory group capable of housing over 200 men.

Continuing, we go by Sylvester and Calvert Halls, and travel up the well-known path to the Dining Hall. Here we see double—no, not double—just an addition to the old Dining Hall, making it over twice as large, capable of seating over 1,000 students at a time. (See picture above.)

Walking toward Morrill Hall we glance over toward the Coed Field House and notice immediately a new structure back where the old Infirmary used to be. Wrong again, that's the newly renovated and enlarged Infirmary Building.

Going down the walk toward Margaret Brent Hall (you fellows should know the way) we cross University Lane, or the Back Road (for the benefit of Daydodger Alumni) and turn to the right, down the lane, and find that we are back of the Engineering Building, or are we, as the rear looks like the front and the front looks like the rear. But don't get alarmed the building hasn't been turned around; it's just another addition making the Engineering Building face toward Baltimore as well as Washington.

Gazing to the left—gosh!—not one, but two new buildings with one of them on the location of the Horticulture Building. Fooled again. That is the Horticulture Building with a few columns added so that it will blend in with the Georgian-Colonial architectural beauty of the rest of the campus. However, that building right next to the Horticulture Building is the new Poultry Building, one of the finest of its type in the country.

Several hundred feet on down the lane on the same side as the Engineering Building, we stop in front of another one of those turned around buildings. Nope it isn't the Chemistry Building doing a right-about face, but a brand new Home Economics Building attached to the rear of Chemistry.

Say, what is that out in the center of this new campus, to the rear of the present Dairy Building and facing the new Coed Dormitory? That, Mr. Alumni, is the new Administration Building, eventually to be the front of a huge Auditorium.

Now down to the boulevard, where we find the old Rossbourg Inn,* restored to the year 1798, catering to tired, weary Alumni rather than to travelers on the old Washington-Baltimore, and New York Post Road.

From out the front window of the parlor of the Inn, we can see diagonally across to the General Service Buildings—built so as to shield the Power Plant, and its coal piles from persons passing by on the boulevard.

Well, that's the end of the tour, and THE ALUMNI NEWS hopes you didn't get too mixed up. Come down and we will show you around the campus personally . . . It's much easier that way.

* Restored Rossbourg is to be used for a Faculty-Alumni Club.

Maryland Grad Creates Sissy Bull In Story For Walt Disney Feature

by Sugar Langford, Diamondback Staff

Do you know that Ferdinand, the flower-smelling bull of Spain, now a current attraction at the RKO-Keith's theater in Washington, is a product of the University?

Munro Leaf, a Maryland alumnus, class of '27, created the languid, lazy bull in "The Story of Ferdinand." This book, which has been one of the year's best sellers, was penned by Leaf in less than forty minutes one rainy Sunday afternoon.

Although the tale of the sissy bull was originally written for children's entertainment, rumors have it that the production is a satire on the existing political situation in Europe. The audience, which watched the antics of the peace-loving bull in a Washington theater, while laughing uproariously, kept their tongues in their cheeks as they compared Ferdinand and his companions to our European neighbors.

Leaf's unique publication has been made into a Walt Disney short, which has received nation-wide acclaim. Ferdinand, who prefers to sit "just quietly" under the cork tree and smell the pretty flowers, is probably the most highly publicized animal in America.

The individualistic author has not confined his writing to Ferdinand, but has composed other children's publications such as "Manners Can Be Fun," "Robert Francis Weatherbee," "Grammar Can Be Fun," and "Noodle."

Fruit Judging Team Wins

The University of Maryland Fruit Judging Team won the silver cup and high individual gold medal after weeks of training for the Annual Eastern States Fruit Judging Contest held at the University of West Virginia at Morgantown, December 10th.

Frank McFarland, Julian Crane, and George Davis made up the three-man team for Maryland, coached by Professors Spencer Chase, '34, and Irving C. Haut of the Horticulture Department. Frank McFarland, senior in Agricultural Education and son of a fruit grower, Frank McFarland, Senior, near Cumberland, won the gold medal for the highest individual score, and other members of the team finished high to win the cup.

Impromptu Gathering

Prior to the Thanksgiving Day game in Baltimore several old grads gathered at the home of C. Walter Cole, '21, in Towson, Md. The weather outside was a disagreeable winter day but the Old Line spirit, with Hap Carrol, Jenks Brown, Russ Allen, Sid Gadd, Hobby Derrick, Geary Eppley, and "Rosey" Pollock, was up to top form. Many an old time was rehashed and several unsolved mysteries of school days were supposedly cleared up at last.

In due course of time, "King" Cole, the merry old soul, led in the turkey and all its trimmings for the hungry ones. Having satisfied their thirst and hunger the troop marched to the Baltimore Stadium and watched the Old Line gridiron boys conquer the Generals of Washington and Lee in admirable fashion, finishing the season in a blaze of glory.

Yes indeed, their wives were present, but off in another huddle, as they did not know the signals of this clan. All were very charming and holding their youth much better than their Old Line hubbies.

23 Get "M" As Grid Squad Is Feted

WITH Prof. Charles S. Richardson as toastmaster, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University, and Henry Holzapfel, member of the Board of Regents, as the leading speakers, Maryland honored its football team at a banquet at Beaver Dam Country Club on December 12.

Letters for work during the 1938 campaign went to 23, and 19 of them are due to be back for the 1939 season.

Those to get "M's" were Ends—Frank Dwyer, Frank Blazek, Francis Beamer and Leo Mueller.

Tackles—Ralph Albarano, Bob Brown, Bill Krouse and Bob Cochrane.

Guards—George Lawrence, John DeArmey, Ed Lloyd and Elmer Bright.

Centers—Bob Smith and Jim Forrester.

Backs—Charlie Weidinger, Frank Skotnicki, John Boyda, Joe Murphy, Fred Hewitt, Bob Brand, Dick Shaffer, Fred Widener and Joe Devlin.

Manager—George Knepley.

Gold awards for three years of service went to Weidinger, Forrester, DeArmey, Hewitt, Jim Meade and Nick Budkoff.

Paid Annual Tribute

The Terps received one of the finest testimonials ever accorded a Maryland team when about 200 faculty members, alumni and athletic officials from neighboring schools turned out to the dinner. This was almost twice the number that feted the winning team of last year.

Head Coach Frank Dobson said in presenting the letters that if such a crowd turned out at the end of a season when the team won only two games, he wondered where a banquet hall could be found large enough to hold the crowd if it were to lose every game. However, the coach quickly allayed any fears that such a season might

Letters Are Given To Six Harriers

Cross country team letter winners shared in the football banquet this year when half a dozen of the runners and Manager W. I. Miller received their insignia at the grid fete.

Led by Jim Kehoe, the harriers had a good season, beating Virginia, running second in the Southern Conference title meet and losing to North Carolina and Navy in close, interesting meets.

Those in addition to Kehoe to get the "M" were Joe Peaslee, Tom Fields, Robert Condon, Roy Skipton and Hermie Evans.

1939 Grid Outlook Appears Rosy

OLD grads may look forward to the 1939 football season with a great deal of confidence, as the outlook is exceptionally bright. The Terps will lose only one gridder who started in the late games, Charlie Weidinger, ace quarterback, and will regain "Persh" Mondorff, husky back, kept out by an appendectomy, and George Gienger, big and fast guard, shelved early by an injury, in addition to a lot of fine talent from the freshmen.

Maryland also loses Jim Meade, great back, and Nick Budkoff, clever end, but they were out practically all of the 1938 season; Rip Hewitt, all-around utility back; Jim Forrester, center, and John DeArmey, guard. However, it has ample material from the other leftovers and sophs-to-be to more than make up for their losses.

Heagy Deserves Credit

Then, too, Maryland played fine football in its last three games, although it won only one of them, that with Washington and Lee. The Terps dropped the Florida game on fumbling and gave the unbeaten Georgetown eleven the hardest scrap it had faced all season in the two clashes that preceded the finale with the Generals.

Great improvement in the work of the line, for which Al Heagy, Frank Dobson's able assistant, deserves a slap on the back, had much to do with the excellent showing of the team in the last three battles. Al was a great end for the Terps only a few years back and he knows how to impart his knowledge on the finesse of line play.

Comeback is Pleasing

The final triumph over Washington and Lee and the earlier victory over Western Maryland, along with the comeback of the team in the last three tilts, kept the season from being barren. Loss of such key men as Jim Meade, Mondorff, Budkoff and Gienger so early in the campaign and constant injuries to others, threw Maryland off balance and gave the coaches a tremendous task and brought a bleak season where a rosy one was anticipated.

Maryland, though, should come back strong in 1939 unless it runs into another series of ill luck, for it certainly appears as if the talent—that is for the Terps—will be as good, if not better, than any before assembled at College Park.

Tossers Annex Two Of First Three

MARYLAND'S basketball players, after a holiday visit to their homes, are back on the job preparing for the game with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on January 4th and the other sixteen contests that follow.

Previous to the recess, the Terps won two of three Southern Conference clashes, to get off to a good start. They played good basketball in losing to Richmond U., 34-41, and defeating Clemson, 45-35 and Davidson, 44-27, but they bore out the pre-season statement of Coach Burton Shipley that he would have one good team but that reserves would be a tremendous problem. Shipley was too right where he would rather have been wrong.

Maryland registered 123 points in the three games and the regulars Adam Bengoechea and George DeWitt, forwards, Eddie Johnson, center, and George Knepley and Pershing Mondorff, guards, scored all but two of them. Shipley used three reserves in each the Richmond and Clemson games and five in the Davidson tilt and only Bill Rea, who got a basket in the latter stages of the third clash, counted.

Knepley, a running guard, sets the pace in point-getting with 34, DeWitt has 28, Johnson 26, Bengoechea 24, and Mondorff, back guard, 9.

However, it appears that Gene Ochsenreiter, a lanky forward, needs only to overcome over-eagerness to develop into a valuable tosser.

Maryland's next home game is with Duke on January 13, with Army and Navy being visited on January 4 and 7, respectively, to join with Penn in giving the Terps a severe test on foreign courts.

Boxing Team Should Be One Of Best

Maryland appears due to have the best boxing team this season it ever has had outside of the 1937 aggregation that was unbeaten in the regular campaign and carried off the Southern Conference crown. With lettermen for five of the eight weights and only the heavy class offering a real problem, Lieut. Col. Harvey L. (Heinie) Miller, head coach, does not hesitate to predict that he will have a tough outfit to lick. His ace, Benny Alperstein, who has won the 125-pound national title for two years in a row, will fight this season at 135, his normal weight. Other lettermen available are George Dorr, 120; Bob Bradley, 127; Nathan Askin, who battled at 135 in 1938, and Jose de Peralta, both good 145 pounders, and Newton Cox, 165. With the exception of the heavyweight division, Maryland is two deep in each class and there are only four seniors in the unusually large squad of thirty. One Terp who promises to be a sensation in the 155 pound class is Frank Cronin, who is good in track as the 440-yard indoor and outdoor Southern Conference champion. He appears to be just as good a fighter as he is a runner.

Engineers of '33 Have Reunion

George Hockensmith is in business in Buffalo, N. Y. Married Miss Louise Bruckner of College Park. They have one child.

Loren Adams is an engineer on the Grand Coulee Dam.

So the C. E.'s of '33 sound off until April, 1939, when another Old Line session will be called to order.

Grapevine News About Those We Know

Visitors—A former diamond star for the Old Liners, Kenneth Karow, '35, recently visited the campus. Following his studies at College Park, Kenneth attended law school from which he graduated in '37. At present he is with the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore. He is now located in Philadelphia as an adjuster on auto claims, public liabilities compensation, and accident and health. He resides at 8008 Lenox Road, Upper Darby, Pennsylvania.

o

Married—Marjorie Ruth Mowatt, '36, of College Park, was married to Dr. Harold George Shirk on November 21st last. Mrs. Shirk is secretary for the College of Commerce.

o

Sales Manager—F. F. Johnston, we have learned, is the District Sales Manager for the Stromberg Electric Company, with headquarters in Washington.

o

Married—Marvin Peach, '00, gave in marriage his daughter, Ann Tyler Peach, to Thomas Gorsuch Young, Jr., '35, LL.B., on December 6th at the Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church in Baltimore. Mr. Peach is a prominent lawyer of Prince George's County and has served as president of the County Bar Association. Mr. Young is a promising young attorney of Baltimore. The newlyweds will reside in Cockeysville, Md.

o

Law—John L. Bischoff, '31, formerly Attorney for the District Unemployment Compensation Board, announces the opening of offices for the general practice of law in the Investment Building in Washington. John is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and was active in tennis and R. O. T. C. while a student.

o

Born on Homecoming Day — Barbara Anne Goodhart, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond (Buddy) Goodhart, came into the world on a traditional Alumni day —Homecoming. That makes Barbara definitely an Old Liner about 1955 and, no doubt, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, the same as mother, who was formerly Mary Keller. The Goodharts reside in Colonial Village, Va.

o

Tydings-for-President—Alumnus R. M. Watkins, '23, heads probably the first Tydings-for-President Club in the country. Orator "Bunt" of the class of '23, took the stump for his fellow alumnus in the recent primary fight. Samuel Harvey, well-known former faculty member at the University, is secretary of the club. It is understood more clubs have been formed in several other states.

o

Married—Daniel Fahey, '28, formerly of Hyattsville, Md., and Miss Virginia McBlair Garesche of Missouri were married this fall. "Dan" had taken part in twenty-six wedding ceremonies before his own. He said his practice was evident as he was very cool, calm, and collected. As a part of their honeymoon the newlyweds came east and the campus was numbered among their many places to visit. "Dan" is the landscape architect for the new million-and-a-half-dollar Jefferson Memorial being built in St. Louis.

Married—On July 9th Bowen S. Crandall, '32, and Miss Katherine Louise Turner of Nashville, Tenn., were married in that city. It was a double ring ceremony. Mrs. Crandall is a graduate of Mississippi State College and for the past year has held a position as home economist with the Tennessee Valley Authority. Bowen is a forest pathologist for the U. S. D. A. and is located at Labannon, Tenn., where the newlyweds reside.

o

Note—While J. Herbert Snyder, '22, and his bride were honeymooning in the West, Maryland was climaxing the gridiron season with a glorious triumph. Herbert picked up a note about the game in the San Diego Union: "Substitute Halfback Fred Hewitt played his last game for the University of Maryland today, leading the oft-beaten Terrapins to a 19-13 aerial victory over Washington and Lee. Handicapped by sleet and snow, Hewitt completed six passes in a row, good for two scores through the air and setting up a third touchdown which Hewitt made personally with a 39-yard dash through center." Snyder married Miss Mary Louise Hoons of Hagerstown on November 9th and as a part of their honeymoon they attended the National Grange Convention in Portland, Oregon. When they heard about the Old Liners they were heading east by the southern route.

o

Lecture—Dr. Reginald Truitt will deliver the Founder's Day address to the Pittsburgh Chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary chemical fraternity, next month at the University of Pittsburgh Cathedral of Learning.

o

Engaged—For some time they have been engaged, but I believe we will be ahead of their marriage. Ann Carver, '37, and Ernest Lundell, '38, have decided to take the step sometime, possibly this June, if not before.

o

Married—Frank "Pat" Duggan, '36, a Phi Delta Theta, and Miss Beatrice Phillips of Sudlersville, Md., were married October 22nd, at Sudlersville.

o

Married—Alvin O. Kuhn, '37, and Miss Elizabeth Cissel were married November 23rd at West Friendship, Md.

o

Married—In York, Pa., on the second of December, Leonard G. Mathias, '23, and Miss Mildred Marie Jenkins took the matrimonial step. "Matty" is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity and now is in partnership with his brother in Hagerstown. He is active in Alumni affairs, serving as secretary of the Washington County group. The newlyweds will reside at 42 Broadway, Hagerstown, Md.

o

Married—The News was somewhat tardy in announcing the engagement of "Dink" Doeller and Mary Beggs in a recent issue. They were married by the time the notice of their engagement was reported. Now they are Mr. and Mrs. "Dink" Doeller.

ATHLETIC CONTRIBUTIONS

be in the offing.

Professor Richardson, member of the Athletic Board, who has attended every grid banquet since 1909, as usual, was a fascinating conductor of the ceremonies.

Victories Not Main Point

Dr. Byrd said that Maryland enjoyed winning games as much as any other school, yet they did not overlook the fact that one of the greatest lessons that a football player could learn from the game was to get up after every defeat on the field or in life and keep plugging.

Dr. Byrd went back to his former role as coach of the Terrapins and introduced some of his old boys from days gone by with stories illustrating their gridiron abilities.

Mr. Holzapfel expressed the same sentiments as Dr. Byrd in a short and interesting talk that was spiked by some timely anecdotes.

Gus Welch, of Carlisle Indian fame and lately coach at American University, entertained the crowd with football stories of the days of Pop Warner's great Indian teams.

Zalesak Acts as Santa

In a clever and amusing finale, Emile Zalesak, one-time ace Terp lacrosse goalie, played Santa Claus and presented each of the gridders with some token that brought hilarity from their fellow players. Zal had to put on a Santa wig but he needed to do no imitating as to his tummy.

Biggest Moments in Football

Garry Schumacher of the New York Journal has assembled a series of articles from various coaches on "My Biggest Moment in Football." "Mal" Stevens, one of the greatest and certainly the most charming among all of Yale's old Blues, has spent many a wearing Saturday afternoon since he's been coach at N. Y. U., but he avers that the most strenuous and nerve wracking experience of his football career was a game in New Haven in 1923 that pitted the Elis against Maryland. "I think all of us Yales aged ten years during that afternoon," he said. "Not only was it the toughest game in which any of us had ever played but it all happened unexpectedly and without the slightest warning. That was the year we had the good team at New Haven—the only all-winning Yale team since the war—and Maryland was supposed to be the 'breather' on the schedule the week before the Princeton game. 'Tad' Jones thought so little of it that he took Captain Bill Mallory and 'Century' Milstead, our best lineman, up to Princeton to watch the Tigers play Harvard. That's what scared us most, I think, when Maryland scored two touchdowns in the first five minutes of the game—the thought of what would happen when 'Tad' came back to New Haven. Anyway, that's the way it stood after five minutes, 14 to 0 in favor of Maryland. After that it was plain mayhem. We simply had to win that one, and the Marylanders, with that start, didn't intend to yield. I didn't start the game, but got in after that second touchdown, and circumstances gave me a break right away. I got loose for forty yards after taking a kick, and a couple of plays later slipped a tackle to break away for a touchdown. 'Why, those guys are easy,' I crowed in the huddle. 'I can't understand how they could give you trouble.' Somebody must have heard me, because they were the last yards I gained that afternoon. And I still carry the scars of the pounding I took in the ensuing action. All the Princeton and Harvard games in which I ever played were pink teas in comparison. Happily Billy Neale got away on a touchdown run in the third period, and even later field goal finally gave us a 16-to-14 victory."

SPICKNALL HONORED

A former Maryland rifleman, Lieut. William Spicknall of Company F of Hyattsville, of the First Regiment, Maryland National Guard, was one of the members of the team that won the Hilton trophy at Camp Perry to be honored recently by his organization. He and the others were feted at a dinner and each was given a medal,

Cover Picture

While the University is celebrating its founding one hundred and thirty-two years ago, here stands a sentinel which began its growth before the University. This tree stands as the oldest relic on the University campus in Baltimore.

In practically every picture made of the "Oldest Medical Building" in America devoted to teaching, this tree is the shining factor. A gift of nature, standing watch over man's handiwork.

Fellow Alumni

On January 20th we celebrate the founding of our Alma Mater upon the occasion of our annual Charter Day Dinner and Dance, to be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore. This prompts within us the spirit to renew our allegiance to our Alma Mater. It is our hope that this year's affair will be the largest and most enthusiastic of the several interesting gatherings heretofore held.

We are working earnestly to improve our association in every respect. We call your attention to the attractive appearance of the Alumni News and the many worthwhile items therein. We are planning a proposed reorganization of the association, looking toward the establishment of the Alumni Fund on a permanent basis under the direction of capable trustees. This fund can and will be augmented, whereby the association will have a means of offering scholarships and loan funds to worthy students, which is a pressing need of the University at this time..

The next issue of the Alumni News will contain an announcement about the establishment of an Alumni headquarters, which we believe will be pleasing and appealing to all Alumni. This has been one of our main objectives this year, which now appears possible of realization.

Will see you on the 20th!

Sincerely yours,

C. Walter Cole, '21,
President.

University To Present Opera Star

On Thursday, February 2nd, in the Ritchie Coliseum, at College Park, the University Public Functions Committee will present Nino Martini, tenor star of the Metropolitan Opera. Dr. T. B. Symons, chairman of the committee, has appointed Professor Harlan Randall, director of music at the University, in charge of the concert. Tickets are on sale and all seats are reserved. Prices are $2.00, $1.50, $1.00 and 75 cents. The 75-cent tickets are for any seat in the south stands, the same as those used for boxing and basketball, sections A, B, and C. The north side stands are for the student body.

Nino Martini

In the short span of years since his meteoric rise, the magnificent voice and dynamic personality of Nino Martini have earned him such tremendous success and international recognition, that today he stands at the very pinnacle of achievement—the song artist supreme—in the four fields of vocal art—opera, concert, radio, and motion pictures.

His brilliant achievements on the great stage of the Metropolitan Opera House, on the concert platforms of two continents, and in radio are now equalled by his sensational starring successes in motion pictures.

Martini's voice on the air is an irresistible magnet that holds millions of listeners spellbound. He is the only singer ever to have received that coveted broadcasting honor, the Columbia medal for distinguished contribution to radio art, awarded also to Leopold Stokowski, Colonel Lindbergh and Admiral Byrd, and to Martini as "the man, who more clearly than any other individual, symbolizes that artistic perfection whereby radio lives and grows."

Come, hear Martini, February 2nd at College Park, Ritchie Coliseum.

Engaged—Miss Jane Wilson, '39, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, has announced her engagement to Mr. Charles C. Heaton, '38, a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity. Charles is stationed at Fort Meade at the present. No date has been set for the wedding.

Found—A Maryland ring was found in the vicinity of New York. Anyone who lost a ring should write the ALUMNI office, giving ring number and class.

HARRY D. WATTS, '04

Watts, '04, Constructs Buildings On Campus

Back to the campus comes Harry D. Watts, '04, to take part in the two million dollars building program. This time he is vice-president of the James Stewart Construction Company of New York, who has been awarded the contract for construction of the addition to the Engineering Building, the Dining Hall, Poultry and Home Economics Buildings. This addition will be made on the north side of the present building and will face the north. It will be the first major building in the new campus layout.

Watts is a graduate of the College of Engineering and now has a hand in the construction for its development. His first construction on the campus was the west stands of the Byrd Stadium built and dedicated at the first Homecoming Football Game in the fall of 1923. On that day the dedicatory ceremonies took place at half time and they had a tough time catching Curly's coat-tail long enough to inform him of the fact that the Stadium would be dedicated in his honor and for his great contribution to athletics.

A few years later Watts went to New York and his rise in the engineering profession has been rapid. Last winter he was the master of ceremonies at the annual mid-winter banquet of the Old Line Alumni Group in New York. Harry has always been one to take a keen interest in activities of the Alumni in behalf of the University.

Bachelor's Benefit Ball Held On Campus

Here was a break. A "Bachelor's Benefit Ball," sponsored by the Women's League, of which Miss Helen Reindollar is president. The general purpose of the dance was to have everything reversed, the girls ask the boys. At the dance the girls did the breaking and asking for dances.

Consideration, however, was given the uninvited bachelor. He could attend, provided he was accompanied by a campus date.

Photographers from Life were on hand to get a few pictures of Maryland's initial Bachelor's Benefit Ball.

Inter-Fraternal Sing

Under the auspices of Tri Delt an inter-fraternity-sorority sing was recently conducted on the campus. The general theme was to have competition between the fraternities and sororities in singing. Each group had the privilege of presenting a song skit. There were several very attractive numbers presented. The popular number "Ferdinand" was outstanding, also the story of "Little Red Riding Hood" in music. The affair has possibilities of being one of the leading events of the campus. The winner of the contest and trophy was Kappa Delta Sorority.

R. B. Criswell Dies Suddenly

Students and members of the faculty were shocked by the sudden death of Professor Robert B. Criswell Tuesday.

His death came as a result of a heart attack at his home in Hyattsville.

Professor Criswell's work in fire prevention throughout the State makes his death a great loss not only to the students and faculty members here, but to the State at large.

The Diamondback and the ALUMNI NEWS join the students and members of the local staff in extending sympathy to Professor Criswell's family.

Teaching—Ethel Enderlee, '38, a grad in the College of Education, is teaching Biology, Chemistry, Business Arithmetic, and Civics at Southern High School at Lothian, Md. Ethel says "some of her students are just out of their 'teens."

Alumni Help Celebrate Charter Day

His Excellency, Herbert R. O'Conor, Governor of Maryland and graduate of the University Law School in 1912, will be the guest of honor at the annual University Charter Day Celebration, January 20th, in Baltimore. The Honorable Wm. P. Cole, U. S. Congressman from Maryland and a graduate from the College Park Schools in 1910 and the Law School in 1912, will be the toastmaster. Honorary Chairman for the celebration will be Col. Frank W. Weed, a graduate of the Medical School in 1903. Colonel Weed now is senior medical officer at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Directing Chairman for the occasion is Dr. Frank L. Black, '04, a grad of Pharmacy, who is assisted by Mrs. Page Edmunds, a graduate of Nursing in 1905.

Nurses Celebrate

In addition to the University celebration, the Nursing School will be celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its beginning. Mrs. John Paul Troy will give a brief resumé of those important facts affecting the beginning of Nursing at Maryland.

As this is written reservations for tables are being received at a rapid rate. Each school and college in this University has been assigned a number of tables, giving each an equal number of desirable ones. The various county organizations have taken an active interest in seeing that each county is well represented. Following this article the names of those in the various counties who are cooperating in making the celebration a success appear. Faculty members are also giving a lot of emphasis to this affair and their names are included as members of the contact committees for the various schools and colleges.

"Old Pal Party" Last Year

Last year the Celebration was such a success that several tables have been reserved for nearly a year. There were some classes and organization groups which made up tables and held a real reunion. As previously stated, the Baltimore Sun said the affair culminated into an "Old Pal Party" with faculty and Alumni becoming well acquainted.

For reservations, wire or phone W. N. Hillegeist, Plaza 1100, Lombard and Greene Streets, Baltimore, Md. The date is Friday, January 20th, the time 7 P. M., the place the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING CELEBRATES FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

by MRS. PAGE EDMUNDS, '05, R.N.

(Note — The following is an article of historical facts which were a part of the origin of the University of Maryland School of Nursing, founded in 1889. Mrs. Edmunds, a graduate of Nursing in 1905, is a prominent civic leader of Baltimore and has always had considerable interest in the welfare of the School of Nursing. She is vice-chairman of the 132nd Charter Day Celebration of the University, being held January 20, 1939, in Baltimore.)

MORE than a century ago there was born into this world an individual who, by the native instinct of woman, became the pioneer in raising the art of nursing from a menial occupation to that of an honorable vocation. Well known to every nurse and to many who have received the benefits of her teaching is the name of Florence Nightingale of England. Her fame became international as a result of her great work during the Crimean War of 1854.

The only public recognition of her services she would sanction was the raising of a fund to establish a training school for nurses. Thus in 1860 the Nightingale Nursing School at the St. Thomas Hospital in London came into being. From this school some twenty years later was graduated Miss Louisa Parsons, the founder and first superintendent of nurses of the University of Maryland School of Nursing. This beginning was in 1889—fifty years ago. Miss Parsons was a good organizer and under her administration the school was established on a firm foundation. At the first commencement in 1892 eight young women were graduated, and through the courtesy of St. Thomas Hospital in London, the privilege of wearing the Florence Nightingale cap was granted, a distinction not permitted to graduates of any other training school in the United States. Even after Miss Parsons' resignation as superintendent of the school she did not lose interest, which is attested by the fact that at her death, a substantial bequest was left for the benefit of the nurses at the Nurses' Club, along with her decorations and medals.

The Code of Ethics and Fundamental Teaching of Nursing, a book compiled by Miss Nightingale, is used today in the teaching of the finer arts of nursing.

From that day to this the graduates of the University of Maryland School of Nursing have eagerly given a helping hand in national distress. Many rendered conspicuous services during the World War. Probably outstanding among them were Miss Barbara Stouffer, who received the Royal Red Cross at the hands of the Prince of Wales.

Today the nurses of the School of Nursing carry on the spirit of Florence Nightingale for the comfort and benefits of mankind.

Eddy Duchin Playing For Junior Prom

The Junior Prom, top ranking social event of the season, will have a top-notch orchestra to provide the music. Eddy Duchin, popular magic fingers of radio, will be at the piano.

It is expected that several movie stars, who are expected to be in Washington for the President's Birthday Party, will attend the Prom. Last year, Eleanor Powell and Ray Bolger, prominent Hollywood artists, were present and gave a brief exhibition dance.

The Prom will be held January 26th at the Willard Hotel in Washington.

Gambrill, '92, Eminent Alumnus Succumbs

Our eminent alumnus and citizen, the Honorable Stephen W. Gambrill, a member of the class of '92, succumbs. He was the U. S. Congressman from the Fifth District of Maryland and had served in Congress since 1925, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Honorable Sydney Mudd.

Congressman Gambrill was born and raised in Maryland, graduating with an A.B. degree in a classical course at the College Park schools of the University in 1892. His classmates were the late Honorable J. Enos Ray, Fred. W. Besley, George H. Calvert, Frank Chew, John D. Brooks, and the Rev. Edward D. Johnson.

Graduate In Law

In 1897 he was admitted to the Maryland Bar after completing a law course at Columbia University in Washington, D. C. He then began the practice of law in Baltimore and developed quite an interest in politics. In 1920 he was elected to the Maryland House of Delegates, and in 1924 was elected to the State Senate.

In the United States Congress he has been primarily interested and active on river and harbor improvements in the tidewaters of the Fifth Congressional District, including the Chesapeake Bay, the Potomac River, and their tributaries.

Congressman Gambrill was a Democrat and resided at Laurel, Md.

On behalf of the Alumni of the University the News takes this occasion to express sincere condolence to his bereaved family.

Stephen W. Gambrill, '92

Glee Club Concert Attended By Old Grads

With the first Glee Club and Chorus Concert there was presented a very interesting and new idea. From the Alumni files the addresses of those former Glee Club members were compiled. Each was sent an invitation and, to the enjoyment and delight of a capacity crowd, a large representation of old grads were on hand. They were invited to the stage and participated in several numbers with the present Club.

Among the many young men present was Preston L. Peach, '03, now on leave from the Federated Malay States, where his duties are those of directing educational work.

The entire performance of the Club and Chorus was well received and highly commended. Harlan Randall, director, deserves a great deal of praise for the splendid accomplishments of the music group.

Each year on Alumni Day the Orchestra Club and Chorus generously give their services in an entertainment program for returning old grads.

Terp Quint Feeling Lack of Reserves

Maryland's basketball team, having won only two of its first five games, was going into the Navy battle at Annapolis on January 11 when this was written.

The Terps had beaten Clemson and Davidson and lost to Richmond in Southern Conference games and also bowed to Penn and Army in their last two tilts, both away.

Following the Navy clash at Annapolis, the Terps were to resume their Southern Conference competition with Duke, one of their hottest rivals, at College Park, January 13. Then, with mid-year exams coming up, North Carolina, invading on Jan-

Eight Are Striving For Relay Team

Maryland's tracksters, under Coach Swede Eppley, are denting the board track at College Park daily, with the main thought right now of developing a mile relay team for Millrose games in New York on February 4 and other indoor affairs.

Competition for a berth on the quartet is keen, with eight anxious to make places. Jim Kehoe, Alan Miller, Joe Peaslee and Mason Chronister are letter men who are striving for positions with Joe Murphy, Tom Fields, Bob Condon and Joe Devlin, all sophs, trying to break into the line-up.

Murphy, who is a ten-second sprinter,

Freshmen Basketers Tall and Husky

Maryland has a tall and husky freshman basketball squad with the five starters averaging better than 6 feet 1 inch in height. They are Merle DuVall of Baltimore and Leon Vannais of Chevy Chase, Md., forwards; Charley Bowers of Corning, N. Y., center; and Ashton Garrett and John Woodward, both of Rockville, Md., guards.

This quint also averages more than 175 pounds to the man, with Bowers at 202 being the huskiest.

Jim Wharton and Bernie Ulman of Baltimore, Ed Wolfe of Smithsburg, Md., Phil Buddington of Hyattsville, Md., Carol Hayden of Chevy Chase, Md., and Dick

Fistic Squad Shows Power In Trials

Maryland's boxing team, which easily is the best the school has had with the possible exception of the Southern Conference title suad of 1937, was to make its debut against Duke at Durham on January 14th.

For the first time in history of the sport at College Park, which is now in its ninth year, the Terps have two good men for each weight, with the exception of the heavy class.

Maryland was the favorite for the match with Duke and then will have plenty of time to prepare for one it really is anxious to win, with Catholic University at College Park on January 28th.

While the Cards have a good team, and won from Maryland last year, 4½ to 3½, the Terps are likely to be the choice in this match also.

Trials for the Terp team were held in public bouts in Ritchie Coliseum on January 6th and the outlook was that the following would be used in the opener with Duke:

120—George Dorr, senior letter man, who was a regular last year.

127—Bob Bradley, another senior letter man, who is much improved over his previous form.

135—Benny Alperstein, Southern Conference and National Collegiate 135-pound champion, fighting at his normal weight, which should make him even better. Voted outstanding boxer in 1938 Conference tourney.

145—Nathan Askin, junior letter man, who also is excelling his 1938 form by a good margin.

155—Frank Cronin, Southern Conference 440-yard dash man, who is making his debut as a boxer in sensational fashion. Promises to be co-star with Alperstein as team's topliners.

165—Newton Cox, another junior letter man, who has made outstanding progress. He was the ace of last Friday's tryouts.

175—Morton Steinbach, a junior making his varsity debut, but showing much promise.

Heavy — Herman Raisin (195), senior fighting on varsity for first time, and still short of development.

John Harn, 120; Charley Dorr, 127, and Kenneth Evans, 135, all sophs; Bob Lodge, 165, and Israel Leites, 175, all made good showings in the tests. To the surprise of everyone, the long-armed Evans got in a couple solid blows to Alperstein's face.

Terp Quint Feeling Lack of Reserves

uary 20, will offer the only opposition until Virginia visits on the 28th.

Maryland's great trouble this year, as was anticipated, is that it has no reserve strength to speak of. The team is okay when Adam Bengoechea, George DeWitt, Eddie Johnson, George Knepley and Pershing Mondorff, the regulars, are in the game, but they just can't go at full pace for sixty minutes and combat the array of good basketers the rivals use.

Just how bad off for reserve strength the Terps are is shown in the fact that in the first five games played the regulars have scored all but two of the points Maryland has made. Bill Rea got a basket in the Davidson contest, the third on the schedule.

Freshmen Basketers Tall and Husky

Greer and Bob Porter, both of Washington, also are fine prospects.

These six also average 6 feet, 1 inch, with Hayden, who is 5 feet, 11 inches, being the shortest. This half-dozen is lighter, averaging 160 pounds.

The squad doubtless gives Maryland the best freshman talent it ever has boasted.

ATHLETE IS PROM LEADER

George Lawrence, Maryland ace football guard and lacrosse defense man, is chairman of the 1938 Junior Prom Committee. The event will be held at the Willard Hotel on January 26th.

RING COACH A GRANDDAD

Lieut.-Col. Harvey (Heinie) Miller, head coach of the Terp boxers, is a grandpa and his little granddaughter, Clay Keen Bernard, is the mascot of the ring team. The Terp mittmen call her "Butterwinkle."

DeWITT LEADING SCORER

George DeWitt, sophomore forward, led the scoring for the first five varsity basketball games with 46 points; George Knepley, senior guard, was next with 42. Eddie Johnson, center, had 38; Adam Bengoechea, forward, 31, and Pershing Mondorff, guard, 13.

DOBSON LIKED AS SPEAKER

Frank Dobson, Maryland's head football coach, is in great demand as a speaker.

Program Changed For Indoor Meet

A couple of changes have been made by the University of Maryland and the Fifth Regiment of Maryland for their big joint meet in the latter's spacious armory in Baltimore on March 11.

It has been decided to have only open events in the high hurdles and the pole vault, dropping them from the collegiate list and adding a half-mile event for the latter.

It was found that they practically were duplications of entries in the events and that their consolidation also would shorten the program to its desired length.

Special events which will again feature the program are the Governor's Mile, the Oriole 660 and Interscholastic Invitation 660. Other events will be:

INTERSCHOLASTIC — 70-yard sprint, 1,000-yard run, high jump, mile relay races for high and prep schools, mile relay for Maryland Interscholastic Association title and a half-mile county high school championship race.

INTERCOLLEGIATE — 70-yard sprint, 440-yard dash, half-mile run, one-mile run, one-mile relays and sprint medley relay for Mason-Dixon Conference title.

A. A. U. INVITATION—70-yard sprint handicap, 70-yard high hurdles, 1,000-yard run handicap, high jump, shot-put, two-mile miss-and-out, one-mile relays and pole vault starting with bar at 11 feet.

FIFTH REGIMENT — 70-yard sprint, 660-yard run, equipment race, half-mile inter-company relay and half-mile inter-regiment championship relay.

Eight Are Striving For Relay Team

and Devlin, who runs both the high and low hurdles, are the only ones among the eight whose regular distance does not range from the quarter-mile up.

Outside of the relay, Miller runs the quarter, Kehoe and Condon the half, Fields and Chronister the mile, and Peaslee the two miles. Dick Barnes will help Murphy with the sprints and Ed Miller, Southern Conference high-jump champ, and others also will be seen in the indoor meets.

In all, more than twenty Terps are toiling, looking to squad representation in the Southern Conference games at Chapel Hill on February 26, the Catholic U. meet in Washington on March 4 and their own Maryland-Fifth Regiment Carnival in the latter's big armory in Baltimore on March 11th.

NEW INFIRMARY

The addition to the Infirmary makes practically a new Infirmary. More beds have been provided and a newly equipped dispensary service. It is the first building to be completed under the new building program.

C. T. Bailey, '22, Becomes Marine Major

Among the recent names recommended for promotion in the United States Marine Corps was that of C. T. "Zeke" Bailey, '22, former gridiron star for the Old Liners. Bailey was a captain in the Marines and was recommended for promotion to the rank of major. The recommendation was approved by President Roosevelt.

"Zeke" is a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity and his home is in Bladensburg.

Wins Dental Fellowship

A coveted honor was recently won by Dr. Eugene Lyons, '38, a gold medal graduate of the Dental School. In an examination comprising the entire United States, the Mayo Clinic gives one dental fellowship every six months. He is the son of a Maryland graduate, Dr. Eugene O. Lyons, '15. His sister, Elnora Lyons, now is a senior in the College of Home Economics.

Grapevine News About Those We Know

Army—Former Cadet Major Ben. Shewbridge, '38, a graduate in Arts and Sciences, now is taking the one-year army training course under the Thompson Act. Ben is stationed at Fort Washington.

o

Quaker Oats — Washington representative is Norwood Sothoron, '34, a member of Kappa Alpha and former Old Line gridiron star. Norwood won the Silvester Athletic Medal and the Citizenship Medal in his senior year. He was also president of his class. Norwood hails from Charlotte Hall, Maryland.

o

Teaching—Miss Edith Bell is teaching Home Economics at the Williamsport High School.

o

Radio—"Every Woman's Hour" over Station WFBR of Baltimore is conducted by Martha Ross Temple, '33.

o

Radio Singer — Wednesdays, at 2:30 P. M., a sustaining program of N. B. C. over station WJZ, you can hear Bill Johnson, '36, baritone, former University Glee Club star. Bill directs this program.

He is a member of Sigma Phi Sigma and was quite active in student affairs.

o

Football—When the Old Line Terrapins journeyed to Syracuse early in the season, who should appear at the dressing-room door but G. W. Pinck, a fullback in the days of '04. Pinck is now located in Syracuse. We certainly were delighted to see some of the old-timers again. Fortunately, Dr. E. N. Cory, a former football player just a few years after Pinck was with the team, was present, and the two of them had a big time reminiscing over old times of early football.

o

Birth—In the previous issue the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Troth was noted. At that time we missed entering the name of the new arrival, which is Robert Symons Troth. We are looking forward to his matriculation at the University about 1956 and hope he will uphold the football prowess of his grandfather, Dr. T. B. Symons, '02, who was a member of the football team in those days.

o

Married—Laurence Ray Bower, '34, and Miss Fern Royall of Silver Spring, Md., were married on August 3, 1938. Mrs. Bower is a graduate of Elmira College and Laurence is a junior in the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. They reside at 130 North 50th Street.

o

Poultry—At Brunswick, Maryland, Victor Wingate, '33, has started a chicken farm. His main production will be broilers. Victor is a well-known former member of the Terp lacrosse aces and boxing squad.

o

Birth—Mr. and Mrs. Warren Tydings are the proud parents of a baby girl born September 8th, 1938. Mrs. Tydings was formerly Anna Marie Quirk, '36, a member of Alpha Omicron Pi. Warren, '35, was former president of the Student Government Association and a member of Alpha Gamma Rho. The Tydings are residing in Washington, D. C.

o

Sulphur—P. M. Ambrose, '31, is now with the Bureau of Mines doing research work in Chemistry and Metallurgy. One of his principal problems is with the recovery of sulphur from smelter smoke. It seems that in the West large smelters give off smoke which kills a lot of surrounding vegetation. It has been his research problem to find a process to extract sulphur from this smoke and make it into a marketable product.

Ambrose married Mary Koons, '31, a member of Tri-Delta, and on October 22 their young son, Robert Edwin, celebrated his first birthday. They now live in College Park.

o

Telephone—Bob Newman, '37, is in the Traffic department of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. In addition, Bob is studying for a Master's degree in Business Administration.

—and JOBS
FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

What Is TELEVISION?

JUST another gadget—another form of entertainment? No. It represents another step forward in man's mastery of time and space. It will enable us, for the first time, to see beyond the horizon. And, in addition, it will create new jobs for today and tomorrow.

New products make new jobs. That's been the history of radio, of the automobile, of electric refrigerators and movie cameras and air conditioning. It's been the history of hundreds of other devices and services that have come from the research laboratories of industry. That's why, in the last 50 years, the number of factory jobs in this country has doubled. And why, in addition, millions of other jobs have been created—selling, servicing, and obtaining raw materials for the new products.

It often takes years of costly, painstaking research to develop a laboratory experiment into a useful product ready for the public to enjoy. This has been the case with television. As long ago as 1930, Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson and other General Electric engineers demonstrated television to a theatre audience in Schenectady, N. Y. When, after years of labor, television is ready for the public, it will bring to the people of America a new product that will add to their comfort and enjoyment, raise their living standards, and create new employment for today and tomorrow.

Cover Picture

Is of the front doorway to Margaret Brent Hall, the first girls' dormitory built on the University of Maryland Campus. Here more than one hundred girls can be accommodated. The dorm was filled beyond capacity the first year it was opened. Many will reminisce about the moving days from the Old Y Hut up the hill to their new abode. The building faces south with a wide terrace in front. Soon this will be a popular place for basking in the warm spring sunshine.

Fellow Alumni

Last Fall the Alumni Board appointed a committee to wait upon President Byrd relative to the dedication of the Rossburg Inn as an Alumni headquarters. As you are probably aware, this building is now being restored to its original colonial state. It is the one historical landmark on the campus and, from all appearances, will be most attractive and interesting when completed. All graduates of the institution, when they recall their college days, associate themselves with this building. It is traditional with respect to the Alumni, and it is only natural and, it seems, proper that it should be dedicated to the traditions of the University as associated with its graduates.

I am pleased to announce that as a result of the aforementioned conference, President Byrd has approved the idea of dedicating the Rossburg Inn to the traditions of the University as associated with the Alumni, which will be exemplified by the erection of a suitable plaque at a prominent place in or on the building. Also, one room of the building will be set aside exclusively for Alumni purposes.

I could state the general plans of the building as related by President Byrd, but a statement by him, together with a picture of the proposed building as finished, will appear as a special item of the March issue of the NEWS.

In furtherance of this plan, it was agreed that Alumni Day, to be held in May, shall be the occasion of dedicating the Rossburg Inn as above outlined. The next issue of the NEWS will announce the exact date, and as this will be an important event in the life of our Association and of its members, we hope you will now make your arrangements to be present with your family and friends.

Very truly yours,

C. WALTER COLE, '21,
President.

Snapshots From Charter Day Celebratio

Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, Guest Of Honor At Charter Day Celebration

On Friday, January 20th, the Alumni, faculty and friends of the University, in a genuine spirit of fellowship, assembled at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore and commemorated another year in the one hundred and thirty-two years of educational service to the people of Maryland. His Excellency, Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, Governor of Maryland, was the guest of honor. In his remarks he praised his Alma Mater and said he had confidence that the University would continue its efficient and useful service to the people of the State. The Honorable William P. Cole, '10, Maryland Representative in Congress, performed the honors of Toastmaster. Col. Frank W. Weed, '03, M.D., was the honorary chairman.

Nurses Celebrate

The guest speaker of the occasion was Mr. Charles P. McCormick, president of the internationally known McCormick & Co. of Baltimore. Mrs. John Paul Troy, '17, past president of the Nurses Alumnae Association, presented a brief history in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the School of Nursing.

Nice Among Guests

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, president of the University, in his usual friendly way presented the distinguished guests and extended a word of greeting. Among the many distinguished guests were, former Governor of Maryland, the Honorable Harry W. Nice, '98; Senator Radcliffe, '03; Congressmen Goldsborough, '01, D'Alesandro, Byron and Kennedy. Presidents of many of the affiliated organizations were among the guests.

Dancing

Entertainment was provided by Miss Jeanette Bittner and Professor Harlan Randall. Mr. Albert K. Rowsell, a noted humorist, gave a very entertaining talk. At the conclusion of the dinner group singing aroused the crowd to the spirit of the occasion. Following the program the ballroom was quickly cleared and dancing continued until 1.30 A. M.

Old Pals Meet

It was another evening of old pals meeting again to celebrate the progress of their Alma Mater. Annually this celebration will be carried on where the Alumni, faculty and friends of the University are united into one common unified purpose, the development of the University of Maryland as a progressive aid to the people of Maryland.

Dr. Black Chairman

This year we are indebted to Dr. Frank L. Black, '04, a grad of the School of Pharmacy, and Mrs. Page Edmunds, '05, a graduate of the School of Nursing, for their genuine service as chairman and vice-chairman of the general committee in making the celebration a success. To these two Alumni and their corp of fellow workers we owe an expression of thanks for their concerted efforts.

Oldest Alumnus Present

Among the distinguished people present was Dr. W. H. Marsh, '76, M.D., now in his eighty-eighth year. Dr. Marsh has been present for each of the last three celebrations. He is a native of Calvert County and for more than a half century was a practicing physician in that county.

Retired now and living in Baltimore, Dr. Marsh seldom misses a meeting of the Medical Alumni. When the oyster roasts are held he is always on hand.

Dr. Marsh was at the table with Dean Rowland at the banquet, a picture of which is on the opposite page.

Alumni Presidents Among Leaders

Among those people who are leaders in the affairs of the University we find the Alumni presidents taking an active interest. They gave untiringly their efforts in making the Charter Day a most successful celebration. Dr. Charles F. Blake, '93, president of the Medical School; Miss Bessie L. Maston, '20, president of the Nurses; John E. Magers, '14, president of the Lawyers; Dr. David B. Getz, '13, president of the Pharmacists, and C. Walter Cole, '21, president of the College Park Alumni, were present for the celebration.

Dr. Byrd, in his presentation of distinguished guests, did not fail to present the presidents of the Alumni Associations who are his ardent supporters in the program for a greater University.

Married—Mary B. Crisp, '37, married Mr. William C. Ward of Baltimore on December 27, last. Mary is a member of Kappa Delta and Mortar Board, was active in the Women's Athletic Association and Student Government. The newlyweds reside at 4026 Belle Avenue, Baltimore.

Accident Kept Dr. Bell, '19, Away

Because of an accident Dr. Arthur I. Bell, '19, president of the Dental Alumni Association, was unable to attend the Charter Day Banquet. Dr. Bell is an earnest leader of Alumni interest and enthusiasm in the University. For two years he has been elected president of the Dental Group.

We are glad to report that he has recovered from the accident and has returned to his office in the Medical Arts Building.

Dancing

The grand ball following the banquet was the inviting feature for many of the younger graduates. This was quite evident by the number who were present for the final dance. The Townsmen of Baltimore were in good form for the occasion.

Part of the program to arouse the interest of the seniors and to acquaint them with the activities of the Alumni, each Association president invited the president of the Senior Class as a guest to the banquet. The idea met with much favor among the presidents of the Association and seems to be helping stimulate more Alumni interest.

Congressman Goldsborough, '01, To Become Associate Justice

For the fourth time in history a Marylander has been nominated to become Associate Justice of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. The Honorable T. Alan Goldsborough, '01, LL.B., received the recommendation of President Roosevelt for this honor and has been confirmed.

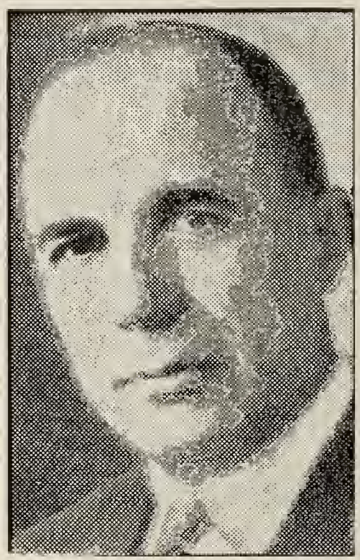
Judge Goldsborough is a native of the Eastern Shore and has been a public servant for more than forty years. He was first State's Attorney for Caroline County. Then through the regular channels of political progress, he became a Maryland Representative in Congress, the position he has held for eighteen years.

He was an ardent supporter of the New Deal and considered one of the President's closest friends.

The name Goldsborough has been prominent on the shore of Maryland for more than two hundred years. His ancestors served in the First Continental Congress.

Judge Goldsborough was admitted to the Bar soon after graduation and began practicing law immediately with considerable earnestness. He is a member of the Maryland Bar Association and has been a member of the United States Supreme Court Bar since 1914.

In Congress he became the ranking member of the Banking and Currency Commission. Congratulations, Judge!



Judge T. Alan Goldsborough

Richard Sliger, '95, Dies

At his home in Grantsville, Md., the Honorable Richard Sliger, '95, died as a result of paralysis and pneumonia. He was a well-known banker and insurance man of Garrett County. Mr. Sliger got his start as a bookkeeper in a bank and rose to the position of cashier. After banking for twenty-five years, he resigned and became State manager for the Sun Life Insurance Company. His civic services have been numerous, among them he was president of the Board of Education. He was a member of the Episcopal Church, the Masonic Lodge and was a Shriner for many years. Mr. Sliger is survived by his widow, a son, one sister and two brothers.

On this occasion the News takes this opportunity to extend condolence to the family.

Marylanders With Gulf Research

In the Keystone State several Maryland Alumni can be found with the Gulf Research and Development Corporation. Dr. W. A. Horne, Ph.D., '38, chemist; B. A. (Reds) O'Neill, '36, now in the Engineering Division; and Oscar Spencer, '32, a member of the Tennis Squad in '31 and '30. To get in touch with any of these fellows write care Dr. Horne, 359 California Avenue, Oakmont, Pennsylvania.

"Tiger" Flowers Among The Fishes

Traveling about the northern section of the Eastern Seaboard is the occupation of Dick Flowers, a former dining hall mogul. He is with the Bureau of Fisheries on a research fellowship for the Aquacide Company of Washington. His assignments have taken him to Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, St. Pierre, Coffin Island and many other well-known fishing ports. Dick was recently on the campus, where he spent several days in the Bureau of Fisheries laboratories. He now is on his way back to the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. Dick is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity and a former member of the boxing squad.

Dr. R. A. Pearson Succumbs

As a result of a heart attack, Dr. R. A. Pearson, former President of the University of Maryland, died at his home in Hyattsville, February 5, 1939. He served the University as President from 1926 to 1935, during which time he was chairman of the executive committee of the Land Grant Colleges. Following his resignation from the University, he became a specialist in the Farm Security Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Pearson is a graduate of Cornell and earned for himself quite a reputation as a specialist in agriculture sciences. He has served as a teacher in agriculture, as an administrator wrote several bulletins, and was special assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture during the World War.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter.

The News takes this opportunity to extend sincere condolence to the bereaved family.

New Jersey—Just got a card from Rev. Walter P. Plumley, '29, who now is living at 501 Green Street, Haddon Heights, New Jersey. He reminds his fellow Alumni that he is just three miles off the New York-Atlantic City Route Number 30. "When visting the New York Fair, to Plumley's you must repair," writes friend Walter.

Radio—When listening to the radio station WJSV in the morning about 8 or 8.30, you will hear Robert Baker, '38, former editor of the Diamondback. He is assisting Arch MacDonald on the Magic Carpet. Hold 'em, Bob.

Housemother—The Dean of College Park housemothers is Mrs. Mary Cassard, of Kappa Alpha. In January Mrs. Cassard completed the tenth year milestone. A dinner was held in her honor at which time she was presented with an appropriate gift.

Aviation—John Simpson, '35, has entered the United States Aviation School. It was John's first love and it is reasonably certain he will make a good pilot, judging from the way he drove his car about the campus. He was also that reckless guard on the Terp's football eleven and caused many a fleet back a downfall.

CONGRATULATIONS

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08

To Dr. H. C. Byrd:

Upon the occasion of your birthday, it is my privilege and pleasure to extend to you the greetings of the Alumni. We wish for you many more years of fine health to enable you to carry on the able leadership brought to the University through your elevation to the Presidency.

As graduates of the University, we are vitally interested in its welfare and progress. So much so, in fact, that we hope the administrative body of the University will see fit to call upon us as a group for assistance and cooperation.

Elsewhere in the News, we announce the encouraging result of the conference held with you relative to the dedication of the Rossburg Inn to the traditions and use of the Alumni. As then discussed and agreed, our next Alumni Day, to be held in May, will be an auspicious occasion upon which formal dedicatory exercises might be held, which will cause an unprecedented number of Alumni to return to the campus at that time.

Again reassuring you of our earnest desire to aid you in your worthy efforts, and with every wish for your continued good health and happiness, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

C. Walter Cole,
President of the Alumni Association of the University of Maryland.

Charles Linhardt, '12, Elected Commodore

As a result of the election of the Baltimore Yacht Club, Charles Linhardt, '12, has been elected Commodore for 1939. So it is Commodore Linhardt for 1939 and maybe for evermore.

Charley is a grad in Engineering and has been head of the Automatic Light Company of Baltimore for many years. He takes an active interest in civic affairs. He has served as Lieutenant Governor of the Sixth District for Kiwanis International. His interest in the Alumni and athletic affairs at the University is dear to his heart and each year Charley presents a Maryland ring to the boy from Maryland who has been an outstanding athlete and representative of the University.

Charley resides in Baltimore.

National Association Honors Dr. Byrd

"It is our pleasure to honor one of our most eminent members, Dr. H. C. Byrd of the University of Maryland, the only one of this Association to attain the high honor of becoming president of a major educational institution," said Harry A. Stuhldreher, president of the National Collegiate Football Coaches' Association, at the annual meeting in December. Dr. Byrd was presented with a bronze trophy, an exact replica of an official football, emblematic of life-time membership in the Association

Mayo, '04, Makes Trophy

The trophy was casted and made by the Gorham Company of Providence, R. I., of which Edmund C. Mayo, '04, is president and personal friend of Dr. Byrd's. The trophy is so realistic that several remarked they felt like giving it a kick.

Player To President

In presenting the award Mr. Stuhldreher pictured Dr. Byrd as a man who probably had more to do with the athletic development in one institution than any other member of the association. He rose from a player, through the field of Professor of English, Athletic Commentator, Football Coach, Director of Athletics, Assistant to the President, Vice-President, and now is President of his Alma Mater.

Dr. Byrd, in his remarks, praised the splendid work and teachings of the foot ball coaches today. Men who probably have more to do with shaping the character of young men than any other profession.

To My Fellow Alumni

University of Maryland
College Park, Maryland.

Dear Fellow Alumni:

I have always attended, whenever possible, and have looked forward to the meetings of the Alumni Association, of which group I am happy to be an active member.

Mrs. Tydings and I accepted with pleasure the invitation of the Association to be its guests at the Charter Day Banquet held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, January 20th, and it was a source of real regret that, at the last moment, circumstances arose making it impossible for us to go to Baltimore that evening. When we found we could not go, we sent a wire of regret and appreciated Dr. Byrd announcing the reason for our absence.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10

These dinners are always very enjoyable and I look forward to the opportunity of meeting all the fellows. I am sorry that we could not be with you this year, but hope that when another year rolls around we will be able to join with you in that year's celebration.

With kindest regards to all the members, I am

Sincerely and cordially,
M. E. Tydings.

MARYLAND'S UNDEFEATED BOXING SQUAD

Ring Team In Three Ties And One Win

Maryland's boxing team had an odd record as it prepared for the fifth match of the season with Rutgers on "All-University Night" in Ritchie Coliseum.

Rutgers was defeated by 6½ to 1½.

The Terps started out by taking Duke in the opener, 5 to 3, and then fought four successive 4-all draws with Catholic University, Virginia and North Carolina, the last two mentioned in a foreign ring.

Benny Alperstein, national collegiate champ, battling in the 135-pound division, and Frank Cronin, the track ace who has proved the sensation of the fistic team in the 155-pound class, have been the stars of the Terp aggregation.

However, Alperstein lost a close and questionable decision in the Duke match, while Cronin has gone through his five bouts beating the aces of two rival teams, Joe Bunsa of Catholic U. and Truman Southall of Virginia.

George Dorr, 120; Bob Bradley, 127; Nathan Askin, 145; Newton Cox, 165; Morty Steinbach, 175, and Herman Raisin, heavy, have been the other Maryland regulars.

All are entered in the Southern Conference tourney at Columbia, S. C., February 24-25, except Raisin.

The Basketers Earn Place In Tourney

The Terp basketball team, hitting at a faster pace than was expected at the outset of the season, has assured itself a place in the Southern Conference title tourney to be held at Raleigh, N. C., March 2, 3 and 4.

With only one Conference game remaining, with V. M. I. "All-University Night," the Terps have won seven of ten games played in the loop and are holding down second place in the standing, with a powerful Wake Forest team as the leader. V. M. I. was trimmed, 53 to 35.

Maryland has played in eighteen games

Nine Terps Are Sent To Title Games

Maryland was to send fourteen men to compete in nine events in the Southern Conference indoor track meet, scheduled for Woollen Gym at the University of North Carolina on February 25 and was expected to figure prominently in the point-gathering.

Eddie Miller, who won the high jump last year with a leap of 6 feet ¾ inch, was to defend, as was the relay quartet in the mile race. Miller did 6 feet 1½ inches in the recent Penn A. C. games in Philly, but did not place.

Jim Kehoe, who won the half-mile in the Penn A. C. meet in 1:58.1 over a poor track, and Tom Fields, who scored at two miles in Philly, were to race in these events at Chapel Hill. Fields also won in the mile.

Joe Peaslee, the outdoor two-mile Conference champ, was to try to add the indoor honors to his list.

A Thrill of 1938 — Here is Glenn Cunningham winning the Governor's Mile in the 1938 Maryland-Fifth Regiment Games, with Archie San Romani second, Mason Chronister of Maryland third, and Gene Venzke fourth. Cunningham and his rivals were cheered by a capacity crowd that thoroughly enjoyed the meet.

"BIG NAMES" TO BE ARMORY GAMES FEATURE

U. of M.-5th Regt. Tourney Plans Announced

MANY of the nation's leading track aces, including Don Lash, king of two-milers, are expected to compete in the Maryland-Fifth Regiment Games in the big Baltimore Armory on the night of March 11.

While the names of the topliners who definitely will compete were not available when this was written, it is safe to say that there will be enough to please the fans.

Northern and southern colleges, including Penn, Penn State, Navy, Duke, North Carolina, Virginia, Washington and Lee, Georgetown, Catholic U. and others have announced their intention of sending their best athletes.

Terps Will Seek Laurels

Maryland, of course, will make its bid and will have fifteen or more varsity men and a number of freshman tracksters in action.

Last year Glenn Cunningham, the world's greatest miler, packed them in and the meet officials are determined to have a "name" this year that will be as attractive.

That the meet definitely has been placed on the track "map" is illustrated by the inquiries from high-ranking athletes, some who have competed and are anxious to return, and others who are eager to show their wares for the first time.

Four Special Events

The Governor's Mile and the Oriole 660 again will be featured and the two-mile A. A. U. invitation is expected to present a field in which national notables will be conspicuous. The Scholastic 660 also is sure to add a high spot.

The card, in addition to features mentioned, is:

Scholastic Events—1,000-yard run, high jump, high school open mile, one-mile relay, prep school mile relay, Maryland Interscholastic Association mile relay, Maryland county high school half-mile relay.

Intercollegiate Events — 70-yard sprint, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, mile run, mile relays to be classified by committee, freshman half-mile relay, Mason-Dixon Conference half-mile relay.

A. A. U. Invitation Events—70-yard sprint, handicap; 70-yard high hurdles, 1,000-yard run, handicap; mile relay, 16-pound shotput, high jump, pole vault starting at 10 feet 6 inches.

Fifth Regiment Events—70-yard sprint, 600-yard run, equipment race, half-mile intercompany relay.

National Guard Event — Half-mile relay, interregimental championship.

Col. Hancock Is Chairman

Col. Frank A. Hancock of the Fifth Regiment again is chairman of the Games Committee, with Geary Eppley, University of Maryland athletic director, as vice-chairman.

Other members of the committee are: Fifth Regiment—Lieut. Col. Harry C. Ruhl, Capt. William T. Terry, treasurer; Capt. Edward J. Heng, Lieut. Roger S. Whiteford, secretary; Lieut. Hiram D. Ives and Lieut. Allan L. Feldman.

University of Maryland—Dr. William B. Kemp, Dr. Ernest N. Cory, Dr. William C. Supplee, Frank M. Dobson, Geo. F. Pollock and William H. Hottel.

Leaders of the meet are determined that the affair shall be run off with speed and without confusion and are making very definite plans to see that this is done.

Mantilla, '32, Visits Campus

From Ecuador by way of New York to San Francisco was the route of Jorge Mantilla, '32, so he could visit the University. He was on his way to the World's Fair in San Francisco, where he will be in charge of the Ecuador exhibit. Jorge extends a welcome to all Maryland grads to visit the exhibit of Ecuador and to look him up.

After leaving the University in 1932, Mantilla returned to Ecuador and became a member of the staff of his father's paper, El Comercio. In addition he became a theater manager. Not long after his return to Ecuador he married Senorita Aiva Mosquera, the niece of the President of Ecuador.

Mantilla was a delegate from Ecuador to the Lima Conference. On his return from Lima he met the wife of Luis Ganoza, '31, who is located in Trujillo, Peru, as a plantation owner. Mantilla is a member of Delta Sigma Phi and his address is Quito, Ecuador.

Ecuador

Another former Maryland student from Ecuador is Galo Plaza, '31, who now is Minister of War in that country. He was promoted from the rank of Major of Quito.

South America

In Colombia the De la Torre brothers, '31, Carlos and Mario, can be found doing engineering work for the Gulf Oil Company.

Peru

as this is written and has captured eleven of them.

The Terps will wind up their home season by entertaining Washington College on February 24 and thus will have plenty of time to prepare for the Conference tourney.

Maryland's record is remarkable when its talent is assayed. George Knepley, all-Southern guard, and George DeWitt, soph forward, are outstanding: Eddie Johnson, the center, is a good basketer, but little Adam Bengoechea and Pershing Mondorff, the other two regulars, are only average and the reserve strength is almost nil, with the exception of Bill Rea.

DeWitt was setting the pace in scoring for the first eighteen games with 191 points, with Knepley next with 174.

Nine Terps Are Sent To Title Games

(Concluded from Page 8)

Joe Murphy, a soph sprinter, and Alan Miller, quarter-miler, were others on the Terp team who appeared hard to beat.

Francis Kenney, third in the outdoor broad jump last spring, was a likely point-getter in his specialty.

Those entered:

70-Yard Dash—Joe Murphy, Alan Miller and Francis Kenney.
440-Yard Dash—Alan Miller, Vernon Miller.
Half Mile—James Kehoe, Robert Condon.
Mile—Thomas Fields, Mason Chronister.
Two Miles—Thomas Fields, Joe Peaslee and Roy Skipton.
Hurdles, Low and High—Logan Schutz.
High Jump—Eddie Miller, Francis Morris.
Broad Jump—Miller, Morris and John Beers.
Relay to be chosen from—Alan Miller, James Kehoe, Joe Murphy, Bob Condon, Thomas Fields, Mason Chronister, Vernon Miller, Joe Peaslee and Eddie Miller.

Plans Announced For Tourney

Even the meet officials will be kept off the floor, an inset space in the stands being arranged for them at the finish line for the running events. Press arrangements call for the writer to be in the balcony on the west end of the armory, where they may look into the finish lines of both the sprint and distance races.

Track Is Moved Southward

The quarter-mile track also will be moved farther toward the south side of the armory so that occupants of all seats in the north and south balconies may be able to clearly watch the competition.

There will be seats for approximately 4,000 under the present arrangements, and chairs may be added to take care of several hundred more.

There will be 1,656 seats on the floor on the North street side, 864 of which will be choice locations at or near the finish line, which will be at the top price of $1.65. There will be 1,854 seats on the floor on the north and south stands and 600 seats on the north balcony, at $1.10 each. The 75-cent general admission seats will be in the south balcony, where the extra chairs will be placed if needed.

THE COLLEGE OF Home Economics

The College of Home Economics is the newest college in the University, having been organized in 1918 with one division and an enrollment of five students. Progressing through the years under Dean M. Marie Mount, the College now has three divisions and an enrollment of more than two hundred students. The objective of the College is to provide training for those interested in becoming teachers, dietitians, restaurant and café managers, demonstrators, homemakers, textile specialists, designers, and buyers of clothing in department stores.

Several new instructors were added to the staff this year, making possible the introduction of courses which have broadened and strengthened the curricula. One innovation was a new curriculum of practical arts which is designed for students interested in creative, selective and promotional positions in the fields of clothing and art. A phase of the work provides opportunity for professional experience in retail stores. Other new courses are advanced food preparation and interior decoration, crafts, merchandise display, and textile microscopy.

Cover Picture

Picture is a typical daily scene between classes. The students are going to and from the Arts and Science Building, frequently referred to as Shoemaker Hall. More than 1,000 students go to over 300 classes in this building in a single day. For the benefit of those who graduated before the completion of this building, it is located on the hill north of the Engineering Building and directly in front of Gearneaux Hall and faces east.

Employment Opportunities

Occasionally inquiries come into the Alumni Office for those Alumni who have put a few years of experience behind them. Any Alumnus who thinks he might be interested in some of these offers should keep in touch with the Alumni Office.

There are at present, some inquiries from the New York World's Fair for those who have graduated in the last four or five years. Any interested Alumnus get in touch with the Alumni Office at once.

There is also an opening with a dairy company for a field man and a laboratory technician.

A gas company recently made inquiries about locating two engineers for openings in the company.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary For The Class Of '14

When the classes assemble June 2 at College Park for Alumni Day, the boys of '14 are going to put on a special Twenty-fifth Year Reunion. They boast that they will show the others how it is done.

Frank S. Hoffecker, the class president, was a real leader in his day. He was captain of the football and baseball team in his senior year, also winning the star for excellence in those sports. Under such leadership the class should have a real reunion.

Mark the day, Friday, June 2, at College Park.

Maryland Day Observed; Governor O'Conor Speaks

Governor H. R. O'Conor, '20

His Excellency Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, Governor of Maryland, was the principal speaker at the Maryland Day exercises commemorating the founding of Maryland, held in the Ritchie Coliseum at College Park. More than 5,000 people jammed the coliseum for most colorful exercises.

The Governor urged that the principles of the Free State founders, a government to serve the people, not a people to serve the government, should be emphasized today.

"The only justifiable reason for the existence of government," he told the students, "is to put into effect the reasoned wishes of the governed."

Honorable Lansdale G. Sasscer, Maryland Representative in Congress, also made a brief talk on Southern Maryland history.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, President of the University, presided, and the Very Reverend Leonard Walsh, O.F.M., gave the invocation.

Special episodes depicting the founding of Maryland were presented by the Montgomery Blair High School and the Annapolis High School. The former presented the planting of the Cross at St. Mary's City, and the latter, Proclaiming the Establishment of the Province of Maryland at St. Mary's City. Misses May Louise Wood, '28, and Mrs. Verna Metcalf directed the Montgomery Blair presentation, and Misses Marian Gardner, Elizabeth Davis and Mary Wilgard the Annapolis High School episode.

A solo by Miss Dorothy Seeger, a distinguished singer, was an outstanding feature of the program.

Following the Governor's speech, the orchestra played "There's a Girl in the Heart of Maryland" as Miss Elaine McClayton, senior coed, from Baltimore, presented Mrs. O'Conor with a beautiful bouquet of yellow roses on behalf of the student body of the University. Immediately following this presentation the entire audience joined in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The day's program began with a regimental review of the R. O. T. C. before His Excellency Governor O'Conor and General Parsons.

Rev. Henry Whiting, '31, Accomplishes Aim

Probably one of the most accomplished young clergymen in the vicinity of Washington is Rev. Henry Whiting, '31, former president of the Student Government. Starting from scratch more than four years ago he has developed and established the Christ Lutheran Church in Bethesda. Through his tenacious efforts and with the help of his loyal followers, they have bought and remodeled a Victorian home in Bethesda into an attractive church and parsonage.

Mr. Walter Snapp, a member of the congregation, was the donor of the house and ground and the congregation in one month's time raised the necessary remodeling fund. All of which was the result of Henry's active leadership and organization.

In college Henry was a student leader, having attained the high honor of president of the Student Government, head of the R. O. T. C. unit and many other student activities. He was awarded the H. C. Byrd Medal for typifying the model citizen and active student leadership. His leadership in college has been carried on in his civic life, where he has taken an active interest in youth and community movement. His accomplishment speaks highly of his ability. He is married and with his family resides in the church parsonage.

Re-elected Head Of Kappa Kappa Gamma

At the recent Province Convention of Kappa Kappa Gamma, which was held in College Park, Frances Wolfe, '25, one of the early members of the local Kappa group, was re-elected Province president.

Frances was an honor graduate and has always been an active Alumnae in the Sorority. This is the second term as head of this Province of Kappa for her.

Frances resides in Forrest Glen, Md.

Carr And Don Orchestra

A boyhood desire has finally culminated in the orchestra combination of Carr Van Sickler, '27, and Donald Shook, '28. They now are to be known as Carr and Don of the Madrillon Cafe of Washington. Both are piano artists and a two-piano combination is the feature of their orchestra. Back in high school and on through their college days, they looked forward to this opportunity. They hope their old friends will come to see them and are also anxious to meet many new Maryland Alumni.

Modern Language Plans For Spring Social

Under the leadership of Dr. A. E. Zucker, head of the Modern Language Department, plans for a Spring Social, to be held April 26, are under way. The program calls for a play to be presented by the students in the department, which will be followed by a social get-together.

All Alumni of the Department are cordially invited to attend. Please write Dr. Zucker in advance, if possible.

Pharmacy Alumni Held Midwinter Reunion

The Alumni Association of the Pharmacy School, headed by Dr. David Getz, '13, of Bel Air, Maryland, held their midwinter supper and dance February 16 at the Maryland Casualty Club in Baltimore.

Cooperating with the association was the Traveler Auxiliary of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association. A delightful occasion, as usual, was held and a delicious supper served. It was one of the biggest Alumni reunions of the year.

Alumni Board Held Interesting Meeting

A meeting of the Alumni Board was recently held at College Park, at which time several matters of interest and importance to the Alumni were discussed. Alumni Day was the first to receive the thoughts of your representatives. In a desire to have Alumni Day associated with the Commencement Week program, which seems to be the traditional time for an Alumni reunion, the Board decided on Friday, June 2. It was felt that the Alumni wanted one day in the year when they could return to the campus and actually see what the University is doing in the various departments. An athletic contest is not the sole attraction, but the opportunity to visit with old friends and reminisce about old times. Added to this desire the members of your Board asked President Byrd, who attended the meeting, if it was possible to provide overnight accommodations in the dormitories for returning Old Grads. "Gladly," said Mr. Byrd.

Rossbourg Inn

On this day an unusual program will be provided, including the next subject of concern to all former students, the dedication of the Rossbourg Inn. Following the dedication ceremonies an Alumni Banquet will be held in the University Dining Hall and all those attending the banquet will be invited guests of the University to the June Ball. The invitations will be limited to seniors, faculty and those attending the banquet.

At the annual meeting President Walter Cole will present to the Association his appointments of five trustees to handle the Alumni Fund. The fund is his proposal and he wishes to see it get a good start.

Amendments

At the annual meeting of the Association the Board will present an amendment to the Constitution for more representation on the Alumni Board. It is expected that the following will be asked for: another vice-president, two more members-at-large (one more for men and one for women), and a representative of the College of Commerce. In the case of the additional vice-president it was felt, that inasmuch as the vice-president by tradition becomes president, would give him a better knowledge of the working Association. The Board voted also to have the immediate retiring president remain a member of the Board, ex-officio, for the next year so that the Association can profit by his experiences.

Practically the entire Board was present, with Dr. Byrd, Prof. Eppley and past president Zalesak as guests of the Board. Your representative felt that a very profitable meeting was held.

Dave Brigham, '37 Doing Radio Work In Iowa

Dave Brigham, '37, went West following his graduation and is now doing the publicity work for the State Triple-A Committee in Iowa. The work includes preparing and presenting radio broadcasts and issuing news releases about the Agricultural Conservation Committee program. Most important part of the program is, naturally, "corn." However, some wheat, vegetables and dairy farming come in for their share of publicity.

It seems from Dave's title, Informational Assistant, that he is giving out to the West information on the Eastern way of success. But Dave says, "I am certainly learning a lot and like my job."

Another thing has happened in his life. On December 28 he married Miss Gladys Beall and they are living in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mayo, '04, Visits Campus On Way South

Edmund C. Mayo, '04, of Providence, R. I., visited the campus a few weeks ago, enroute to North Carolina on a vacation. On his sight-seeing tour he was particularly interested in looking over the Engineering plant, of which he is a graduate. One of the old engines with which he used to work caught his attention and he commented about his college days.

Mr. Mayo is president of the Gorham Silver Manufacturing Company of Rhode Island.

Ann Matthews, '29, In New York

Extension officials tell us that while attending the Northeastern States Extension Conference in New York last week they met Ann Matthews of the Class of '29. Ann is the Cornell University Nutrition Specialist in Junior Extension 4-H Club work. From all accounts she not only enjoys her work but is making good. She says that her brother "Gump" of Class of '28 is now located in Rochester and is employed by the Household Finance Corporation. Ann is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Medical Graduate Promoted To Rear Admiral

Benjamin Henry Dorsey, born in Ellicott City, Maryland, September 13, 1878; graduated in June, 1897, with A.B. degree from Rose Hill College, Maryland, and from the University of Maryland Medical School in 1901 as president of his class. Interned in the University Hospital, Baltimore, from graduation until shortly before entering the Medical Corps of the Navy, March 3, 1903, as assistant surgeon (Lieutenant, Junior Grade). Passing through the various grades he was made Captain in the Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, in June, 1924; was recently approved by the President of the United States for promotion to Rear Admiral Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, and will move his number April 1, 1939.

With Marines

He has been on duty aboard various ships of the Navy in the Atlantic, South Amerca, European, Pacific, and Asiatic waters; served with the U. S. Marines for over two years in Panama during the construction of the Canal; served with the Marines in Nicaragua's Revolution of 1912; landed with the Marines at Vera Cruz, Mexico, April, 1914; served with the Marines in Santo Domingo. (His service with the Marines, was that of a Medical officer.) Attended course of instruction at Naval Medical School, Washington, D. C., 1903-1904. Has also served at the following U. S. Naval Hospitals: Puget Sound, Washington; Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Mass., and Newport, R. I.

World War

At the beginning of the World War Admiral Dorsey was on duty in the office of the Surgeon General of the Navy; later was executive Medical Officer of the U. S. Naval Hospital Ship "Mercy". Prior to his promotion he was commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Dispensary, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. Before coming to Washington was Commanding Officer of the U. S. Naval Hospital, Newport, Rhode Island.

He is a member of the Association of Military Surgeons and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Admiral Dorsey has the congratulations of his fellow Alumni and their best wishes for continued success.

Major Harry, King Cole and Ferdinand Leaf Will Head New York Group Meeting

Munroe Leaf, '28, creator of "Ferdinand, the Bull," and C. Walter (King) Cole, '21, president of the Maryland Alumni Association, will be the guests and speakers at the Fifth Annual Spring Dinner of the Maryland Alumni Club of New York on April 15, at the Shelton Hotel. Every Marylander is well aware of the outstanding success of Munroe Leaf in his chosen field and cognizant of Walter Cole's able administration of the Alumni Association during the past year. With King Cole and Ferdinand the Bull on the same program, Marylanders and their guests may look forward to an evening that will be unique as well as enjoyable.

Harry (Major Harry) D. Watts, '04, prominent construction executive, will be the toastmaster; and those who have been fortunate enough to have previously heard Harry will be looking forward to some great stories. Dr. H. C. Byrd, Dean Geary Eppley and G. Findlay Pollock have been invited to represent the University and it is expected that they will make the trek from College Park to New York to be the Metropolitan Alumni at the cocktail party and dinner.

Election Of Officers

The only business to be conducted will be the election of officers for the ensuing year. The Nominating Committee is headed by Fred L. Rakeman and includes Lyman D. Oberlin and Edward Mullen.

Dr. Lewis V. Hayes will be Chairman of the Reception Committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Patricia Wolfe Casselman, Mrs. Pat Brossman Parrish, James E. Dingman, Dr. Allen W. Thornton, Hamilton Howard, Gordon Kessler and William J. Kinnamon.

A cocktail party at 6:30 will precede the dinner at 7:30. Both affairs will be held in the Pompeiian Room of the Shelton Hotel, which is located on Lexington Avenue at 49th Street. Dress, of course, is optional. Reservations at $1.50 per person should be sent by Alumni for themselves and their guests to Sarah E. Morris, Secretary, at 310 East 44th Street, New York City.

Engaged—Kitty Pollard, Alpha Omicron Pi, senior, has the ring from Brady Smith, '36, now attending Medical School. Both are from Baltimore.

For a Worthy Cause

On April 16, at 8:30 P. M., the annual Card Party and Dance, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary Board of the University Hospital, will be held at the Alcazar, in Baltimore. The party is a philanthropic endeavor for the benefit of the Free Clinics in the University Hospital.

The Auxiliary Board deserves a great deal of credit for the splendid work they are doing and should have the support of every loyal Alumnus. Any contributions will be gladly received and The Alumni Office will see they are properly delivered.

Come to the party if you possibly can, as every one has a good time. Prizes of many kinds are awarded.

Old Line Riflers Continue to Win

With the Old Liners' tradition always as their guiding spirit, the Rifle Team has about finished another season in a blaze of glory. Out of nine shoulder matches they won eight, losing only to the Navy. In Postal matches the team won thirty and lost four.

They are defending champions of the R. O. T. C. Corps Area Championship, a distinction they have held for the past three years. The Hearst R. O. T. C. trophy has been at Maryland for two years and another win means permanent possession. Another two-year championship held by the team has been the National N. R. A. Intercollegiate.

Even though they are defending in those mentioned they have one championship under their belt—the District of Columbia Intercollegiate. Team Captain Warren Davis has been high man so far but is closely pressed by George Meeks, last year's top man and second All-American.

This year a new school record has been set by the team, with a score of 1412 out of a possible 1500.

President Byrd Hears From Puerto Rico Group

The University of Maryland Alumni Group of Puerto Rico sent Dr. H. C. Byrd greetings and best wishes for the success of the Alma Mater. Dr. Cofta Mandry, a graduate of the Medical School, is president of the group. Several meetings are held each year and the boys in Puerto Rico never fail to let someone in the University hear from them.

Dr. Boucher, '96 Succumbs

Dr. Richard P. Boucher, M.D., '96, died at his home in Providence, Rhode Island, on Christmas morning. He was a native of Connecticut. He had practiced medicine for forty-two years. He was a member of the Providence Medical Association and the Rhode Island Medical Society, and the American Medical Society. He held the rank of Major in the Old Second Regiment of Rhode Island.

He is survived by his widow, a son and three daughters.

Former Tracksters Present For Big Meet

When the Maryland-Fifth Regiment Annual Indoor Track Meet was held at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore on March 11, many former Old Line tracksters were present.

Probably the outstanding event was the winning of the "M" Club Trophy by the relay team of Frederick High School, coached by Warren Evans, '37, a former Old Line relay star and quarter-miler. This was Warren's first exhibition of his track coaching.

Evans' teammates in the sprint medley relay, Earl Widmyer, Bob Archer, and Coleman Headley, helped to cheer his high school boys on to victory.

Other well-known Terp cinder track stars were present: Milo Sonen, '37; Cornelius Cronin, '35; Ken Belt, '37; Knocky Thomas, '28; Earl Zulick, '27; Bill Supplee, '25; E. N. Cory, '09, and Bill Kemp, '12.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, a former holder of several track records at the Old Line school, was an honorary referee.

Professor Geary Eppley, '18, a former trackman, was vice general chairman of the meet and his first assistant was the well-known Roger Whiteford, '28, who was secretary of the meet; in fact, Roger was just about the "Mogul."

The meet was quite a success and should be bigger and better each year.

Old Line All Stars for 1939 Indoor Season

BOXERS GAIN CONFERENCE CROWN; TOSSERS, TRACKSTERS RUNNERS-UP

Winning the Southern Conference boxing championship and finishing as runners-up in both the basketball tourney and the track meet, Maryland athletes had an indoor season of which they justly may be proud.

With small and none too experienced squads in all three of the sports, a lot of credit must go to Heinie Miller, Burton Shipley and Geary Eppley, who handled the boxers, basketers and tracksters, respectively. Capt. Bill Maglin and Jack Faber gave Miller and Shipley a lot of valuable help.

Maryland placed only three men in the finals of the Southern Conference boxing: Benny Alperstein, 135; Frank Cronin, 155, and Newton Cox, 165, and all of them had to win to give the Terps the needed 15 points to nose out North Carolina, which scored 14.

Two Go To Nationals

Alperstein, who has won two national collegiate titles, and Cronin, have entered title tourney at Madison on March 31 in an attempt to add to their laurels.

George Dorr, 120; Bob Bradley, 127; Nathan Askin, 145; Morton Steinbach, 175, and Herman Raisin were the other letter winners who helped the Terps to an unbeaten season in six dual meets, the climax of which was a victory over Army, 1938 and 1939 Eastern Intercollegiate champion.

Cronin was the season's collegiate marvel. Track star and holder of the Southern Conference outdoor record of 48.3 for the quarter, he laced on boxing gloves for the first time last November. He proved a fistic natural, winning all six of his dual meet bouts and taking the three needed to earn the Conference crown. He never even was close to defeat.

Basketers Deserve Credit

Maryland's basketball squad probably made a more remarkable fight than the boxers, considering that five men had to carry the brunt during a tough regular season and in the tourney. George Knepley, a great senior guard and one of the best ever to play for the Terps; George De Witt, a soph, who topped the scoring with 227 points for the regular season; Eddie Johnson, outstanding senior center, all of whom were chosen for the first all-Conference quint after the tourney; Pershing Mondorff and Little Adam Bengoechea did the bulk of the work, with Bill Rea as the only experienced reserve. Francis Beamer, Dick Shaffer and Gene Ochsenreiter, who completed the squad, played enough to get their letters.

Going into the tourney with 13 wins in 21 starts, the Terps trimmed Richmond, 47 to 32, and North Carolina State, 53 to 29, to reach the final. They were battling Clemson, which they had defeated in the regular season, on even terms in the final until De Witt was lost through the personal foul route after four minutes of the second half. Losing one of its big cogs, a tired Maryland team was unable to hold up and lost out, 27 to 39.

Tracksters Gain Laurels

Maryland's tracksters won honors in the Penn A. C. meet in Philadelphia, in which Jim Kehoe took the 880 and Tom Fields the two miles, captured the Collegiate point trophy in the Catholic U. game, in Washington and did well in their own meet, the Maryland-Fifth Regiment games in Baltimore, but their outstanding and exceptional performance was registered in the Southern Conference title affair at Chapel Hill.

The Terps won all six of the running events at Chapel Hill to sweep half the card of 12 contests, but took second place to a powerful and well-balanced North Carolina squad that captured only three individual titles.

Joe Murphy in the 60-yard dash, Alan Miller in the quarter, Kehoe in the half, Mason Chronister in the mile, Fields in the two miles, and the mile relay team, on which the first three mentioned and Eddie

Old Line Athletic Contributions

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

SPRING SPORTS OUTLOOK BRIGHT; SCHEDULES UNUSUALLY DIFFICULT

Maryland's athletic teams in varsity baseball, lacrosse, track and tennis are busily preparing for much action and difficult competition in spring sports.

These four squads are slated to take part in 55 events, 34 of which are carded at home with several big contests at nearby points. Baseball leads with 15 games at home and 9 abroad; lacrosse has 6 tilts at College Park and 3 away; the track team travels for only 3 of 8 meets, and the tennis players entertain in 8 of 14 matches.

Hard Record To Match

Baseball, winning 12 of 20 tests; lacrosse, taking 7 of 9; tennis, capturing 9 of 10, and track, taking 5 of 7 dual meets, turned in a total of 33 triumphs against 13 defeats last spring, but the odds are greatly against such a fine record this year.

Baseball, which had the honor of prying off the lid in spring sports in a game with Ohio State on March 27, has Rutgers, Dartmouth, Michigan and Georgetown, in addition to its Southern Conference rivals, as high spots on its attractive list; Dartmouth also graces a tough track card; the lacrosse team plays practically all of the big guns of the game, and the tennis crowd has a "suicide" schedule.

While Waverly Wheeler, third sacker; Mike Surgent and Bill Bryant, outfielders, and Bill Wood and Bill Steiner, pitchers, left big gaps in the diamond outfit, the nine again should be capable and well balanced.

Many Diamond Veterans

George Knepley, at first; Shorty Chumbris, at second or third; Eddie Johnson, at short; Hugh Keller, brother of the noted Charley, and Lefty Chumbris, outfielders; Bob Burns and Joe Crisafull, catchers, and Charlie Weidinger and Lefty Earl Springer, pitchers, are veterans on hand.

Adam Bengoechea, another leftover, is a versatile infielder, while Pershing Mondorff, who played in the infield last year, has turned pitcher and appears sure to make good.

Fritz Maisel, outfielder; Sherry Robertson, infielder; Frank Dwyer, pitcher, and Pat Mudd, catcher, appear to be best of the rookies, both the first two named being banked upon to play regularly. Jack Gordon, infielder, and Bill England and Burton Culver, outfielder, also show promise.

Lacrosse Has Big Job

Lacrosse has only three regulars from 1939 with which to start the season: Fred Hewitt, center; Jim Meade and Milton Mulitz, second and first defense, respectively, and the two first named have been shifted. Hewitt now is stationed at a home and Meade is playing second attack.

Leo Mueller, 1938 letter man; Bob Brown, big football tackle, and Gary Todd, a soph, may round out the defense. George Lawrence, 1938 reserve defense man, who has been shifted to center; Oscar Nevares, an "M" man last spring, and Jordan Sexton, a soph, are the leaders in the race to fill out the attack.

Bill Cole, Bill Bond and Jim Heil, letter men; Bob Brand, a leftover, and Jack Mueller, a soph, are the outstanding contenders for jobs some place.

Goalie Offers Problem

Goal is by far the most unsettled spot, with John Muncks, who played in 1937; Jack Grier, last year's reserve, and Fred Widener, a soph, having a merry race for the top assignment.

Maryland was severely jolted by losses that included Haskin Deeley, last year's goal tender; Fred Neilson and Parker Lindsay, two all-America attack players; George Watson, second all-America team member; Bill Groff, another regular on the attack, and Bill Wolfe, defense ace. Neilson, No. 1 rated player of the country, and Deeley left school, while the others completed their careers.

Track Has Weak Spots

Having already demonstrated by fine work indoors that it is pretty well fixed with runners, jumpers and hurdlers, the track team has a big problem in most of the field events.

Joe Murphy, Alan Miller, Jim Kehoe, Tom Fields and Mason Chronister lead the running array; Eddie Miller, aided by Francis Morris, can take care of the high jumping; Hermie Evans and Joe Devin should do a good job in the hurdles, while Francis Kenney, John Beers and John Holloway are broad jumpers of ability.

However, getting points in the shot, discus, javelin and pole vault is a different matter.

Some Clever Netmen

Allie Ritzenberg and Nathan Askin, among the ranking young netmen in this section, lead a capable tennis squad that is made up of six racketers from last year and a like number of newcomers, but the opposition is such that a fifty-fifty season would be an accomplishment.

A siege of 5 hard matches in 6 days presents a tremendous barrier.

World mile mark set in Baltimore meet

Running the fastest mile ever stepped on a flat track, John Munski of the University of Missouri, spiced the third annual Maryland-Fifth Regiment meet in the latter's armory in Baltimore on the night of March 11 with a world record in winning the featured Governor's Mile. His time was 4:13.5, supplanting the mark of 4:15, set on the same track by Glenn Cunningham, the noted Kansan, a year previous.

Mason Chronister and Jim Kehoe of Maryland were second and third, respectively, to the fleet little Munski, but they were not close enough to really be in the race.

It was a fine meet, one in which eleven records were broken and five tied, but the attendance was greatly reduced on account of a freezing rain that began falling late in the afternoon and made travel extremely hazardous.

Outside of the running of Chronister and Kehoe in the mile, Alan Miller's victory in the 440 to retain his title, Tom Fields' seconds in the Collegiate mile and the two-mile A. A. U. race, and Eddie Miller's second in the high jump were the Terps' main accomplishments.

Maryland also was second to Navy in the fight for the Collegiate team trophy, getting 9 points to the Middies' 16. Passon A. A. of Philadelphia took the open A. A. U. cup with 15 points, and Mercersburg captured the Scholastic award with 13.

Approximately 425 athletes from colleges, clubs, schools and the Fifth Regiment took part in the thirty events.

Plans already are afoot for the 1940 games and it is hoped that the weather man will be kinder.

Miller ran, were the Maryland winners. Chronister's 4:16.1 mile, Alan Millers' 51-second quarter, Kehoe's 1:56.8 in the 880 and the relay team's 3:29.3 were meet records.

Kehoe won the Rector's 1,000, feature of the Catholic U. games, in which Maryland also took the relay honors. Chronister won the 660 special, Eddie Miller took the high jump and Fields stepped to the front in the mile.

The Baltimore meet is discussed elsewhere.

Is of Gerneaux Hall, former home of Capt. R. W. Silvester, President of the College Park Schools of the University from 1892 to 1916. No former student really needs to be told about the location of Gerneaux Hall. Those who attended during the tenure of office of Captain Silvester well remember the home of this dynamic leader.

Following Captain Silvester's resignation, Gerneaux Hall became the girls' dormitory with the coming of the coed after the World War. It continued in this capacity until the completion of a new girls' dormitory and since then it has been the home of the Kappa Delta Sorority.

Fellow Alumni

On Saturday evening, April 15th, the New York Alumni Group held a delightful party in New York City. Harry Watts performed in his usual masterful manner as toastmaster. Among the speakers were President "Curly" Byrd and Munroe Leaf, "Father" of "Ferdinand, the Bull." Many prominent oldtimers were there, including such outstanding athletes as Lyman Oberlin and Mack Rich.

It gave me an opportunity first-hand to impart to the group some of the accomplishments and plans of our Association under the caption of "Notes on the Margin." The announcement of the appointment of our Board of Trustees to administer and build up the Alumni Fund, and the dedication of the Rossbourg Inn to the traditions of the University as associated with the Alumni, to be held on Alumni Day, and the plans for Alumni Day to be held Friday, June 2nd, were enthusiastically received. When the names of Dr. Bomberger, Harry Watts, Bill Groff, Austin Diggs and Dizzy Matthias were mentioned as the Trustees a big applause went up. This fund can mean much to stabilize and inspire the Association through the granting of student loans and scholarships and enabling other worthwhile endeavors by the Association in connection with the University.

Careful plans are being made to make Alumni Day this year one of the most attractive that we have had. We hope that it will be the beginning of a permanent plan whereby it will begin on the day before Commencement with an outstanding dinner and program preceding the June Ball on Friday night and extending through Commencement Day, with the Commencement services being held Saturday evening at twilight instead of in the morning as held in recent years. # Industrial Education Program Improves In Aims And Scope

University of Maryland Alumni will be interested to know that the College of Education began the academic year of 1938-39 with a reorganized curriculum in Industrial Education. The revised program of studies provides: (1) a four-year curriculum leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Industrial Education, administered both at College Park and in Baltimore, with limited variations in order to meet certification requirements of the State and Baltimore Departments of Education; (2) a program of courses for the improvement of vocational teachers in service; (3) graduate courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts in Industrial Education; and (4) summer session courses for advanced undergraduate and graduate students in vocational education.

There is sufficient latitude of electives in the reorganized curriculum to enable students to meet certification requirements in some other high school subject, and to secure supplementary knowledge in related fields such as vocational guidance, placement and occupational information.

While the Department of Industrial Education centers in the College of Education, its activities are shared with other Colleges of the University in effecting purposes to maintain high standards in developing broad-minded, skillful industrial arts and vocational-industrial teachers for Maryland schools.

The College of Arts and Sciences contributes a basic liberal foundation upon which the general and specific professional training of vocational teachers is built. The Department of Industrial Education is fortunate also in having the cooperation of the College of Engineering, which makes possible a bilateral arrangement that provides shop facilities for effective instruction in methods and practice of teaching shop subjects.

The State of Maryland has not been sufficiently served in accordance with its needs for more and better prepared industrial arts and vocational-industrial teachers. Over ninety per cent. of such teachers in the State schools have had to be imported from other States. There is a great opportunity, therefore, for promising young men to major in Industrial Education at the University of Maryland, and to find ready employment in State high schools upon successful completion of degree requirements. In fact, enrollments at College Park increased more than seventy per cent. during 1938-39 in the Department of Industrial Education, while the Baltimore Vocational Teacher-Training Center showed a fifty per cent. increase in registrations.

Alumni will appreciate the knowledge that seventy-five persons have been granted the B.S. degree in Industrial Education since 1933, and are successfully teaching in their major field. Many of these graduates have been promoted to responsible supervisory or administrative positions. Over thirty of them are doing resident graduate work either in the Baltimore Center or at College Park during summer sessions.

Professor Glen D. Brown has been head of the Department since September, 1937, and Assistant Professor Ralph Gallington began his services at College Park in the fall of 1938.

De Marr, '30, In Panama

Marriage news about James De Marr, '30, has just arrived, even though the ceremony was August 24, 1938, in the Republic of Panama. The bride is the former Miss Ferne H. Morgan of Pedro Miguel, Canal Zone. The newlyweds are living in Panama City.

Jim, a member of the Signal Corps, now is radio engineer for the Army in the Panama Canal Department. He was formerly with the Third Corps Area in Baltimore, but as he was a good student in Spanish, the probable reason for the transfer is apparent.

is cooperating to the fullest extent and is generously offering rooms to all who desire to remain on the campus Friday night at the nominal cost of 50 cents per room.

We believe the dedication of the Rossbourg Inn by the Alumni as a feature of Alumni Day should be an appealing item of the program. Plan now to attend with your family and friends and we will try to do our part to entertain you.

Sincerely yours,

C. Walter Cole,

June Week Events Conclude 132nd Year In University History

First of the final events of the year will be the baccalaureate exercises held at the College Park Schools on Sunday, May 28. The following week will be a series of events both in Baltimore and College Park.

The various schools in Baltimore will have Alumni meetings, banquets and dances for the graduating classes. Special awards will be presented to students who have attained outstanding success during their four years in college. Clinics will be held by the Medical and Dental Schools for returning grads.

College Park

A special award assembly of all students will be held following the final exam at which time honors will be conferred upon outstanding students. Reserve Officers' Commissions will be awarded.

The Senior Banquet—the final get-together of the class before receiving the sheep skin. This banquet is followed by the final dance sponsored by the Rossbourg Club. The following evening the seniors return the junior class's gesture to them at the Junior Prom by the traditional Junior-Senior German; then the June Ball, preceded during the day with a round of Alumni events.

Commencement

On Saturday morning, June 3, the Commencement Exercises for Baltimore and College Park classes are held in the Ritchie Coliseum. Here more than 4,000 people assemble to see the final event of the year. Following the exercises all those attending the Commencement are invited to a buffet luncheon on the campus as guests of the University. Alumni are urged to return for the week and remain for the Commencement Exercises and luncheon. The latter is a very informal and enjoyable affair.

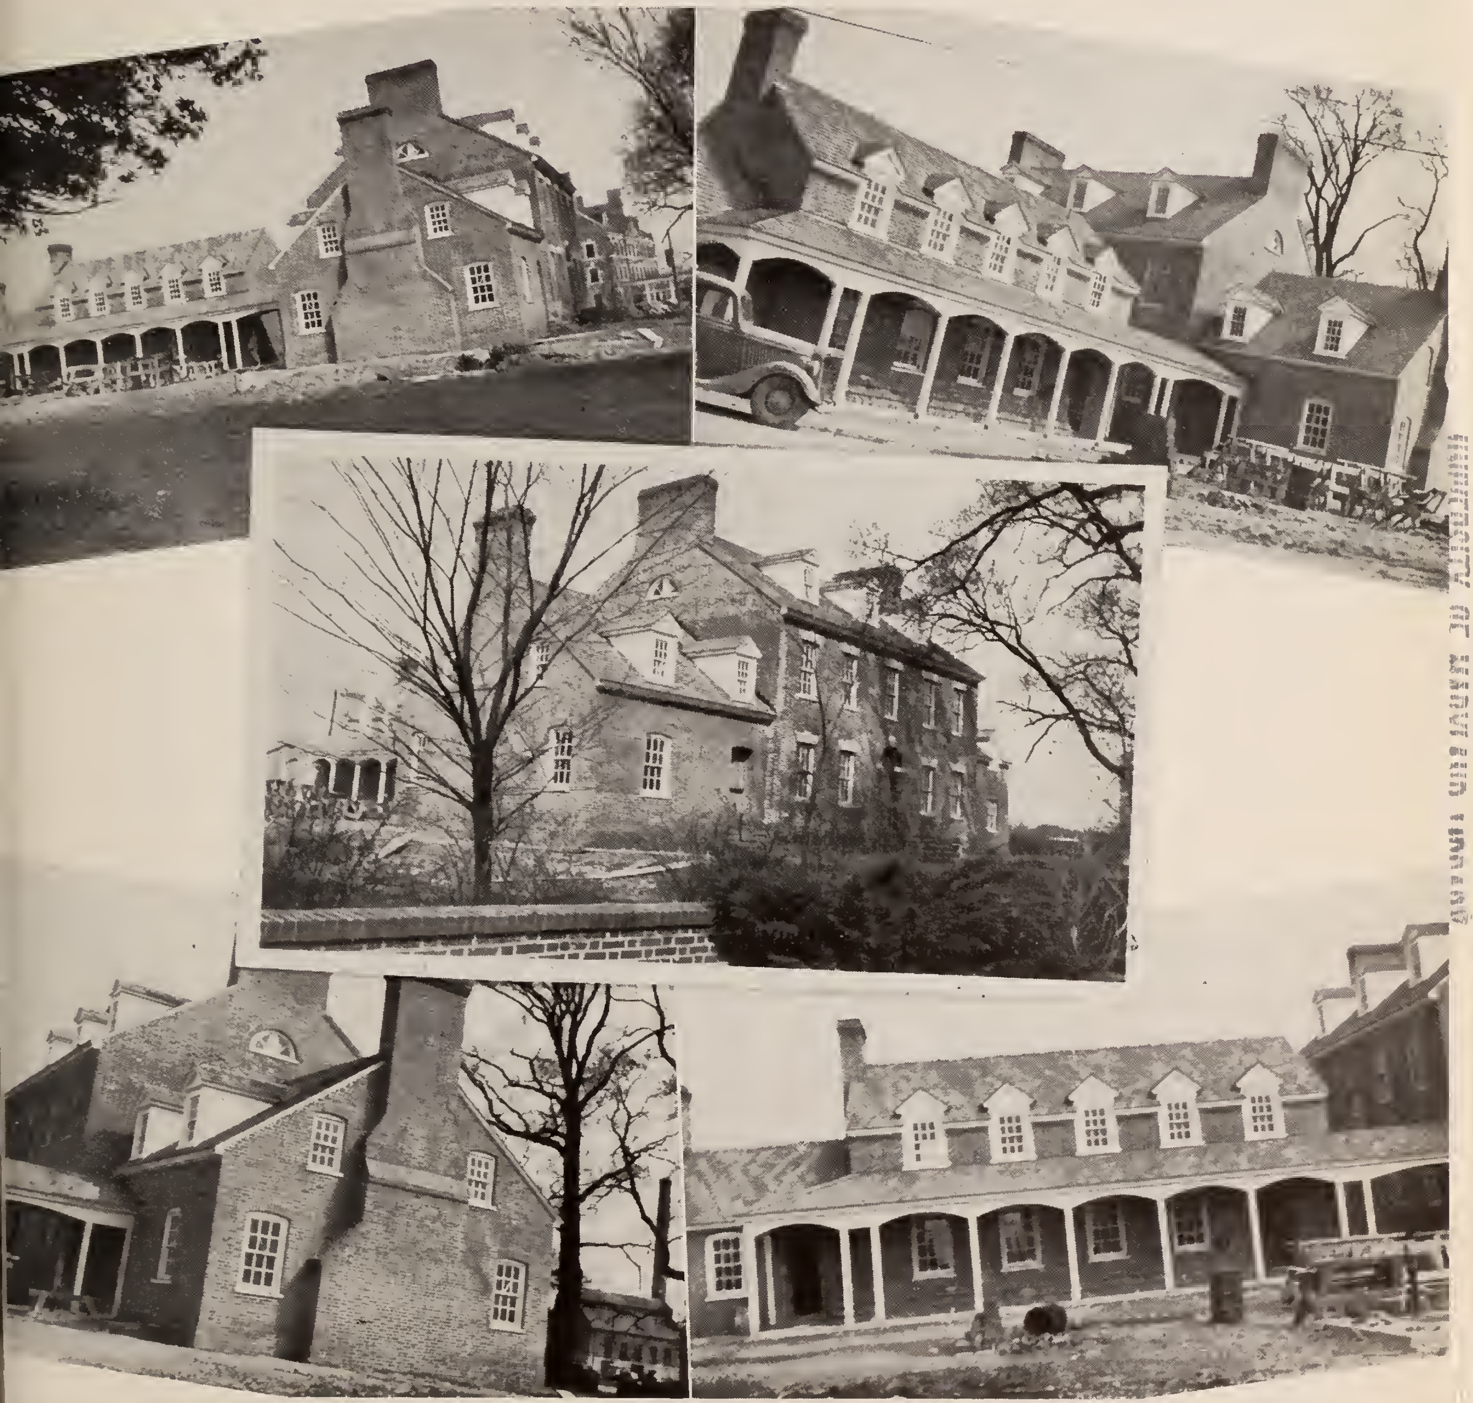
Restored Rossbourg Inn To Be Dedicated To The Spirit And Traditions Of Alumni



UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND LIBRARY

As a feature of the Alumni Day program this year, the University plans to turn over to the Alumni Association the program for dedicating the old Rossbourg Inn, now being restored to its original condition. At least, this is the recommendation that will be placed before the Board of Regents at the next meeting of the Board, and it is expected that the Board will approve the arrangement.

The Alumni Association plans to dedicate the building to the spirit and traditions of University of Maryland graduates. Especially is the dedication of this building in keeping with this objective for the simple reason that it is the oldest building on the campus and perhaps the building best known to all graduates.

As A Museum

The uses to which the building is to be put have not been determined. Considerable sentiment, though, exists for making the building something of a museum, to be furnished appropriately in the style of the period in which it was constructed. This would preclude any utilitarian uses for the building, although plans are being made to devote part of it to a club room for luncheons and other meals and for

Class Reunions Planned For Alumni Day

Special five-year reunions of classes will be one of the outstanding features of Alumni Day. The Class of 1914, celebrating their twenty-fifth reunion, report they will show the way for a real class reunion. It has been proposed that special dress in the nature of canes, hats, coats, or other suitable emblems, be worn for designating the classes. Also that a parade by classes before the movie camera be an event of the day. For entertainment during the afternoon a soft ball game between classes would be staged. Competition among the ladies in archery or other suitable contests operated by the Women's Physical Education Department. Prizes will be awarded in all contests.

Tentative plans call for a band concert and the presentation of a play by the Footlight Club. All in all, there is every indication this will be the greatest Alumni Day ever held at College Park. Set the date on your calendar and do not disappoint your fellow Alumnus. Meet him at College Park on Friday, June 2.

Presidents of the classes are as follows: 1934, Norwood Sothoron; 1929, Gordon Kessler; 1924, Charles E. Prince; 1919, Erston V. Miller; 1914, Frank S. Hoffecher; 1909, C. F. Mayer; 1904, Walter R. Mitchell; 1899, John W. Chambers; 1894, Frank B. Bomberger; 1889, T. D. Criffith.

Alumni Student Union

Recently the Diamondback presented an editorial on behalf of the students' desire for a Union Building. In such a building many of the traditions of Maryland could be more adequately fostered. Here the students and the Alumni would be united in a common unified purpose, the traditions of the Old Line School.

What more fitting project could the Alumni venture upon than assisting their future fellow Alumni in a cause destined to be one of the strongest traditions at Maryland? A philanthropic Alumnus who would take the lead in starting such a project would be designating himself to a cause for the development of youth in those character building activities. Here the extra-curricular activities of students would be under closer supervision, more students' endeavors would have suitable environments; the faculty could be brought closer to the students and, above all, the interests of the students in the traditions of Maryland would be so emphatically cultivated that his interest as an Alumnus would never wane.

It would be a social meeting place where students meet on common ground, where the ideals of fellowship are fostered in service to their fellow man. Little do they realize the value of all this until they have become Alumni and reminisce about their college days. Fellow Alumnus, they await your leadership.

Alumni Help For Fellow Alumnus

Recently a report came to the Alumni Office which has aroused the interest of the Alumni Secretary. The report was a survey for the past eight years of the economic status of College Alumni. In this report replies to one question was quite surprising: "How was your first job obtained?" The surprising part was that the assistance rendered by fellow Alumni to members of the graduating class was rated the lowest of all assistance received.

Naturally, those Alumni who are in a position to help graduates are not acquainted with them, but they could notify the Alumni Office where openings are thereby giving those students who are interested an opportunity to establish a contact. This would be giving the young graduate a better feeling of confidence in himself and the education of selling of himself. What a senior needs is the opportunity to meet people in the business and industrial world but he nor anyone else who has not had the experience does not know where to start unless he is given a lead.

It is all a part of his education and here is a way the Alumni can help. Send to the Alumni Secretary the name of the firm and the person to see where a senior might have a chance to present himself. There will be probably more than one interested, so the potential employer will be the judge.

Fellow Alumni, here is your opportunity to render a service.

Restored Rossbourg Inn

gatherings of various kinds.

The building, when completed, will have in it twenty-one bedrooms, a tap room constructed in the style of the period, and a modernly-equipped kitchen. The work of restoration has embodied many changes and completely alters the appearance of the building from that familiar to graduates of the last thirty-five or forty years. The central part of the building, which has stood with its mansard roof for the last seventy-five years, remains the same, with the exception that the mansard roof has been torn off and a roof similar to the one originally on the building has replaced it. A north wing and a south wing have been added to this central building. These wings were not known to have existed until an old survey of the property came to light on which was printed the plan for each floor of the building. After finding the prints on this survey, men were put to work digging to ascertain whether or not the old foundations existed. It was found that these foundations existed on the very places shown on the plan, and the present wings have been constructed on the same ground on which these old foundations rested.

Built In 1798

The door to the front center portion of the building is probably different from any other in the country. Over it is a keystone which bears the inscription "T. Coe, London" and the date "1798," and also a figure which represents Silenus, teacher and trainer of Bacchus, the God of Wine. In addition to the keystone, the bricks which form the arch over the doorway undoubtedly were made in England, ground there and brought to this country, because they exactly fit the archway and apparently were made for it.

The front of the house probably was built around the proposed archway for the front door.

Legend has it that the bricks for this building were brought from England, but this is unlikely, just as it is unlikely that the bricks were brought from England for any of the old buildings for which this is claimed. Bricks for the old inn probably were made in the field almost directly in front of where the building is constructed, now a part of the athletic plant. There is evidence that there was at one time an old brick kiln at that spot.

Original Name Rossborough Inn

A good deal of general interest is being shown in the restoration of the old inn, which, incidentally, instead of being spelled Rossbourg, originally had the spelling of Rossborough Inn.

The inn was the first stopping place for stage coaches on the old turnpike in the days when stage coaches were the only means of travel between Washington, Bal-

Presenting Our New Members Of The Board Of Regents

Both Are Men Of Outstanding Accomplishments In Their Chosen Profession

From the ranks of illustrious citizens of Maryland, Governor O'Conor, '20, has appointed to the Board of Regents two outstanding men: Hon. John E. Semmes, LL.B., '05, a prominent attorney of Baltimore, and Judge Rowland K. Adams, LL.B., '14, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore.

Few men have met opportunity with the initiative and ability characterized by the Hon. John E. Semmes. His consistent record of achievements places him among the brilliant leaders of the State. He is a native of Baltimore, born April 15, 1881. He attended the Boys' Latin School and Princeton University, from which he graduated in 1902. He became a student assistant in forestry and later Assistant Forestry Expert, Bureau of Foresty, United States Department of Agriculture.

He got his law training in the offices of Steele, Semmes, and Carey.

With special interest in law, he was admitted to the Bar of Maryland in 1904.

After his admission to the Bar, he practiced law with Francis K. Carey, James Piper, and Bannister Hall.

In December, 1905, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps, and for three years served on various ships and in Cuba. Resigning from the Marines in 1908, he returned to Baltimore and resumed the practice of law with his father, the late John E. Semmes. A year later with his father and the late Hon. Jesse N. Bowen, formed the present firm of Semmes, Bowen, and Semmes, of which he is now the senior partner.

Government Service

In addition to his legal profession, Mr. Semmes has been on the Board of Directors, at various times, of several nationally-known industries and banks of Baltimore. Also his legal ability has been used by numerous Federal agencies during the present Administration.

At present he is a member of the Board of Directors of the A. S. Abell Company, publishers of the Sun paper.. Mr. Semmes is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity at Princeton and the Alpha Delta Phi at Johns Hopkins. He belongs to the Maryland Club of Baltimore and the Army and Navy Club of Washington. He is a member of the Episcopal Church, and takes an active interest in various organizations of Baltimore.

Hon. John E. Semmes, '05

Mr. Semmes' appointment fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Delmar. On behalf of the Alumni Association the News takes this opportunity to express its pleasure in having Mr. Semmes as a member of the Board of Regents of our Alma Mater.

Judge Rowland K. Adams

Judge Roland K. Adams is a man distinguished by his many accomplishments of note in the legal profession, or he would not hold the esteemed position as he does today on the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City.

A Pennsylvanian by birth, but a Marylander raised and educated. Went to the Washington County High School, attended St. John's College at Annapolis, and graduated from the University of Maryland Law School in the class of 1914. Became a member of the Bar of the Court of Appeals of Maryland the same year. Began the practice of law as an associate in the firm of Hanaan, Cook, Chesnut, and Markell.

Veteran Of World War

In 1917 he entered the United States service for the duration of the World War, as a member of the First Officer Training Camp at Fort Myer, Virginia. During his tenure of service held the commissions of second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and captain in the infantry, leaving the service in 1918 to resume the practice of law.

Became Deputy States Attorney of Baltimore City in 1924 in which capacity he served for three years. March 1, 1934, was appointed as Associate Judge of Supreme Bench of Baltimore City and was elected in November, 1934. His present assignment is the Circuit Court No. 2 of Baltimore City.

During his life Judge Adams has been associated with some of the outstanding law firms of Baltimore City. He is a member of the Baltimore City Bar, the Maryland State Bar, and the American Bar Association. He is also a member of the Board of Visitors and Governors of St. John's College. Civic problems have had benefit of his wise counsel.

Class To Celebrate 25th Reunion

BALL GAME WITH WASHINGTON COLLEGE AND LACROSSE TILT WITH BALTIMORE A. C. ARE FEATURES OF FIELD DAY CARD

Two strong State rivals are certain to add a lot of zest and scrap to the annual Field Day program at College Park on May 6.

Washington College, in baseball, and Baltimore Athletic Club, in lacrosse, boast just about as powerful opposition as you will find in their realms and the Terps are sure to have their hands full in these pastimes.

They should prove the top supporting attractions to the Interscholastic Meet of thirteen open events and eight closed to county high schools, which heads the program, and for which the affair principally is held.

Maryland also opposes Washington and Lee in track, this meet to be run concurrently with the Interscholastic competition, and engages Catholic University in tennis. These events, though, will find the Terps in more favored roles than in the diamond and stick battles, with victories just about assured.

Lefties Due To Pitch

Washington College and Maryland were rained out in their game last year, but in 1937 they staged a hot fight with the Terps ekeing out a 4-to-3 decision over Lefty Copple, the Eastern Shoremen's ace pitcher, who is slated to again be on the mound in the game this year.

In fact, it is likely to be a southpaw duel, as Lefty Earl Springer, Maryland's top-notch junior hurler from Hagerstown, doubtless will be assigned to mound duty by Coach Burton Shipley of the Terps. Both are about as good as you will view in collegiate ranks.

Both teams also are good in general strength and, unless the unforeseen happens, the game should provide a sterling duel for the fans.

Two Powerful Stick Teams

The lacrosse game, which will be the nightcap, brings what may prove to be the best club stick team of the year to College Park and offers a big barrier to Maryland's high aspirations. Made up of former college stars, a number of them being former Terps, the Clubmen have a powerful outfit that plays a polished game.

It will be the third meeting of the teams and will be the rubber battle of the series. They did not clash last year but Maryland won by a 9-to-6 count in 1936 and Baltimore A. C. evened matters by gaining an 8-to-6 edge in 1937. Both were just as keen struggles as the scores indicate and it should be no different this time.

TERP LACROSSE TEAM THAT HAS PROVED SURPRISINGLY STRONG

LACROSSE AND TRACKSTERS FLASHY; NINE AND NETMEN ALSO DOING WELL

With the lacrosse and track teams unbeaten in their early battles and the baseball and tennis squads showing usual strength, Maryland is well on its way to a fine Spring sports season.

The Terp stickmen began the campaign with a surprising 11-to-1 win over Mount Washington and kept up the hot pace in the next three games by routing Harvard, 11 to 3; Penn State, 18 to 2, and St. John's, 20 to 6, for the largest total ever run up by a Maryland stick combination. This is an average of 15 goals a game.

It is balance, not great power in two or three positions, that has made the team more potent than was expected at the outset of the campaign, with Rip Hewitt and Jim Meade being the only "old heads" on the outfit. With continued hard games to the end of the season, the task of keeping the squad on edge physically is a big problem. Navy, to be met at Annapolis May 13, looms as the biggest obstacle to overcome. Annapolis experts claim the Middy ten is better than in 1938.

The track team also began the season with an upset 63-63 tie with Dartmouth and followed with rather easy wins over Virginia Poly and V. M. I.

With runners that would grace any track team, the Terps are striving to bolster up the field events and improvement along this line has been made evident. Only in the pole vault is Maryland now likely to be shutout.

Springer Ace Of Ball Team

Earl Springer's pitching featured the Terps' early ball games. He won 3 out of 4 in Maryland's record of 5 wins in 9 starts and has allowed only a total of 3 runs in 26 innings. He was charged with the defeat in the 4-3 loss to Ohio State as the Buckeyes were leading, 1 to 0, when he went out at the end of the third inning and the Terps never got on even terms. It was the first game and it had been decided in advance to use three hurlers.

He followed with a hitless 3-to-0 shutout of Rutgers, in a game halted by rain after five innings, and beat Dartmouth, 10 to 0, and Michigan, 4 to 2.

Maryland lost the services of Sherry Robertson, its hard-hitting third sacker, for half a dozen games because of a back injured in an impromptu wrestling match, and then Adam Bengoechea, the only high-class reserve infielder on the squad, sprained his wrist sliding to a base.

Net Team Has Balance

The tennis team, which is well balanced, broke even in its first two matches, losing, 3 to 6, to Michigan by dropping all the doubles, but beating Richmond U., 8 to 1. The schedule is such that it will be difficult to maintain more than a 50-50 pace.

But any old grad who takes a peek at any of the four outfits this Spring will view a bunch that will make it extremely interesting for him.

Maryland's lacrosse team is helped by height. Jack Mueller and Leo Mueller, who are cousins, and Milton Mulitz and Gary Todd, on defense, and Jime Meade and Jordan Sexton, on attack, all are 6 feet or better. Rip Hewitt, vet attack star, also is 5 feet 11.

---

Pershing Mondorff, Emmitsburg's contribution to Maryland athletics, is the only three-letter man on the campus. He has won the "M" in football, basketball and baseball.

Maryland has four chips off the old blocks on its ball team. Shortstop Eddie Johnson is a son of the famous Walter; Outfielder Fritz Maisel's dad of the same name used to adorn third base for the New York Yankees; Hugh Keller, another guardian of the pastures, is a brother of Charlie, the world champs' great rookie, while Sherry Robertson, third sacker, is a nephew of Prexy Clark Griffith of the Washington club and brother-in-law of Joe Cronin, Red Sox manager.

Hermie Evans, hurdler, and Joe Peaslee, who runs the mile and two miles, are the only outstanding Maryland tracksters who are in their final year.

timore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Lafayette, in his memoirs, tells of spending a night there, and there is hardly the slightest doubt that most of the historical characters of the early days of the Republic visited the inn.

Social Center

It was at this spot that a detachment of General Jubal Early's cavalry camped for the purpose of cutting off reinforcements for the Union Army from the North during the War Between the States. Also, the inn was a gathering place for fox hunters in the early days. It was, like all other taverns of its kind, a social center for this part of the country.

From 1889 until four or five years ago, the inn was used as the Agricultural Experiment Station offices, and to some extent for laboratory work.

Presenting New Members Of Board Of Regents

Adams to the Board of Regents of our Alma Mater and looks forward to having him join in many Alumni affairs.

His class will be celebrating their twenty-fifth reunion this year. Plans are going forward for this event, to be held in June.

Terps Tracksters Feature Field Day Card

Maryland's track team lacks strength in some of the field events, but has runners who travel in high society in Joe Murphy, Alan Miller, Jim Kehoe, Tom Fields, Mason Chronister, Joe Peaslee, Bob Condon and Gene Ochsenreiter, an ace high jumper in Eddie Miller, an improved javelin thrower in Gordon Kluge, a fair shot putter in Charlie Morris, and three capable broad jumpers in Murphy, Francis Kenney and John Holloway.

Allie Ritzenberg, Nathan Askin, who now is swinging his racket instead of his fists, and Laurence Lichliter are the leaders of a good tennis team that is made up mainly of experienced players.

Flock Of Schoolboy Athletes

More than forty schools sent nearly 450 schoolboy athletes to the meet last May and there is no reason to expect that the entry list will be any smaller this year.

Bethesda-Chevy Chase won the team trophy for the closed county competition last year with twenty-two points, while Washington-Lee High, of nearby Virginia, gained the open Interscholastic award with fifty. Thirty-one schools figured in the scoring, sixteen in the county division and fifteen in the open Interscholastics.

Close to 600 athletes will share in the day's activities, which start at 1 o'clock with the track meet, and wind up with the stick battle that gets under way at 4 P. M. One dollar pays for the whole show.

Cover Picture

There are probably few Alumni who need to be told that this is the main entrance to the campus "On the Hill." However, the entrance was revamped about nine years ago, changing from the former gray stone pillars to the brick. The entire wall in front of the campus now is constructed of brick, to be in harmony with the campus buildings.

On behalf of the University officers the News extends a welcome to returning old grads for the Forty-seventh Annual Alumni Reunion, Friday, June 2.

Fellow Alumni

We have undertaken to give you early notice of Alumni Day, to be held at College Park on Friday, June 2nd, beginning about noon and ending after midnight. The program is being carefully arranged, which I believe will be worthwhile and enjoyable. There is nothing I can add except to assure you that every effort is being made to make this day outstanding in the annals of our Association. We hope you will lend your support by being present with your family and friends.

Sincerely yours,

C. Walter Cole,
President.

Let's All Get Together Friday, June 2, At College Park

WITH the rising of the sun on Friday, June 2nd, the Forty-seventh Annual Reunion of the Alumni will be on. Alumni from every direction will be heading for the campus "On the Hill" at College Park, where old friends will get together; also new ones will be made.

It is a reunion of all classes, with special emphasis being placed on the five-year reunion classes, beginning with the honored class of the day—the boys of 1889. As a feature of the day this class will raise their flag to fly over the campus for a day. The other distinguished classes are '94, '99, '04, '09, '14, '19, '24, '29, and '34.

University Open House

All Alumni will assemble in the University Library, where registration and the Alumni meeting will be held. The Library is on top of the hill, facing east and the flag pole. Here ample rest-room facilities are available for both men and women.

The University on this day will have open house to the Alumni with Faculty representatives remaining in each department to receive and greet the Alumni during the forenoon. That night the University has made available accommodations in the Dormitory for those Alumni desiring to stay over night. The cost to be 50 cents per person. Reservations must be made in advance with Alumni Office.

Class Reunion

At 12 noon the flag raising will take place at the flag pole when Mr. T. D. Griffith will pull up the flag of '89. At 1 o'clock the General Alumni and Class Reunion Luncheon will be held in the University Dining Hall; the cost of which will be 50 cents per person.

In the afternoon, campus tours, special class reunions, and entertainment will keep the old grads busy.

Rossbourg Inn

At 3:30 the flashy University band will present a concert on the lawn of the Rossbourg Inn. Following the concert, special dedicatory ceremonies of the Rossbourg Inn will be held. This is the oldest and most historical building on the University campus. It is being restored to its original state of more than 150 years ago, and on this day it will be dedicated to the spirit and tradition of the Alumni. The building will be open for inspection, although not completed.

Those who visit the Rossbourg Inn will see the old-fashioned Innkeeper, who will be attired in Colonial dress. Other attendants and hostesses will also be in Colonial dress to greet returning grads and show them about the building. An old-fashioned registration book will be on hand in which those Alumni who return for the dedicatory exercises can register.

Immediately following the dedicatory exercises, the annual Alumni Meeting will be called to order in the University Library by President C. Walter Cole, '21. Here the special business of the Association will be disposed of and the officers for the ensuing year elected.

The Dormitory accommodations spoken of previously are available for Alumni desiring to remain over night for the cost of 50 cents per person. Bed clothing provided. There will be a few rooms in certain sections of Calvert Hall to take care of an Alumnus and his family. Single Alumni will be cared for—the women in Margaret Brent and the men in Silvester Hall. Reservation for over-night accommodations must be made in advance by writing the Alumni Office.

'Twill be a great day. Will you be there?

Alumni Dinner

At 6 P. M. the Annual Alumni Dinner will be held in the University Dining Hall. The cost will be $1 per person. A special program will be presented with two interesting talks. The principal speaker will be the Honorable Millard E. Tydings, '10, United States Senator from Maryland. The author of "Ferdinand," better known as "The Sissy Bull," Munro Leaf, '27, will also be a speaker on the program. A high class entertainment will be presented by Miss Louise Baer, a talented soloist from New York. Toastmaster will be C. Walter Cole, '21, retiring President of the Association. Reservations should be made in advance. Write now for your Alumni Ticket.

Commencement Ball

That evening all Alumni who attended the Alumni dinner will be guests of the University at the Seventy-seventh Commencement Ball, to be held in the University Gymnasium. Music will be rendered by the well-known Ted Brownagle and his Orchestra. The Ball will be from 9 to 1, with dress optional.

Safety Education—The National Education Association has practically put the safety education program in the hands of Maryland grads. The research assistant in this work is Pyke Johnson, Jr., '37, a member of Phi Delta Theta. He now is assisted by Christine Kempton, '36, former editor of the Old Line. Christine takes Marjorie Grinstead's, '36, place, who resigned to marry Gerald Krohn of Succasunna, New Jersey. A bulletin entitled "Safety Education Through Schools" is the result of the department's work.

Birth—Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cissel of Lisbon, Maryland, announce the arrival of Mary Alice, born March 18th. Chester is a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, and is a graduate of the class of '36. His present duties are agriculture teaching and athletic instructor in the Lisbon High School.

Copper—A member of the class of 1911, Hollis F. Bennett is Vice-President of the Seaboard Brass and Copper Company of Baltimore.

President Of Nicaragua Visits Campus

The itinerary of General Anastasio Somoza, President of Nicaragua, while on his visit to the United States included a day at the University for the purpose of discussing new developments in agricultural research. President Somoza, seeking to modernize farm methods in the Latin-American country, had a conference with President Byrd and the heads of various agricultural units. A tour of the campus, the experimental farm, and the Government Station at Beltsville were included in the program.

When General Somoza arrived on the campus, he was met by the Pershing Rifles, honorary cadet group, and escorted to the President's office. Following lunch he reviewed a parade by the entire R. O. T. C. cadet corps in his honor.

Presenting The Trustees For The Alumni Fund

WITH the thought of furthering the progress of the Alumni Association, President C. Walter Cole, '21, has appointed during his tenure of administration a board of five trustees to make plans for increasing and properly handling of the Alumni Fund. This was an idea of President Cole several years ago and when he became President he immediately set upon the task of finding five Alumni to entrust with this task. After considerable study, the following were chosen and presented to the Alumni Board for confirmation.

The tenure of service of each member is for five years, thus adding one new member to the Board each year. The present appointments were made for 5-4-3-2-1, in the order named.

Dr. Bomberger

Chairman of the Board was selected for his many years of service to the Alumni Association and his vital interest in its welfare. Dr. Frank B. Bomberger, '94, a past President of the Alumni Association and for many years a member of the Faculty, was asked to act in this capacity. He actually does not need any introduction to those Alumni who attended the University prior to his resignation to become President of the Baltimore Bank of Cooperatives. To those who are recent graduates, you will find it a pleasure to return on Alumni Day to meet Dr. Bomberger, a man who amplifies a real interest in the Alumni Association and his Alma Mater. Dr. Bomberger will serve for five years on the Board.

W. D. Groff

The next appointment, William D. Groff, '00, is an Alumnus with, as far as we know, an unchallenged record of attendance at Alumni reunions. He has not missed an Alumni reunion since he graduated and he also states he will never miss any as long as he has anything to say about it. "Billy" Groff, as he is more familiarly known, lives at Owings Mills, Maryland, where he has developed an outstanding farm service business. A few years ago his interest doubled when his son, "Billy, Jr.," entered the University and became a lacrosse star.

H. D. Watts

Four years later there graduated a man destined to become a successful engineer, Harry D. Watts, '04, better known to his classmates as Major Harry. Today he is vice-president of the James Stewart Construction Company, one of the leading companies in the field. At the present his company has the construction of four buildings in the University building program. He resides in New York City and maintains a very active interest in the Alumni group there.

A. C. Diggs

We go into Baltimore for the next member and find him associated with a financial concern in charge of investments, Austin C. Diggs, '20. Ever since graduation Austin has been a financier and his success in the field has established his prestige as one who is very capable to serve on this Board. Those Alumni prior to his graduation who ever attended an athletic contest remember this young man, who could get a crowd to give an athletic team more support than probably any other person. It was his personality and as he has not lost those youthful attributes, President Cole is expecting his leadership to add a lot of support to this project.

L. G. Mathias

The youngest member of this illustrious Board is Leonard G. Mathias, '23, of Hagerstown, Maryland. "Matty," as he is called by familiar friends, has proven his ability as a successful business man by the way he has conducted a flourishing business in Hagerstown. He is one of the most influential young business men of that city. It is his native town and immediately following graduation he returned home to enter business with his brother. When the Alumni needed organizing in Washington County it was "Matty" who put his shoulder to the wheel and gave the organization a boost. He was elected Secretary and has managed several successful gatherings. His business ability along with his experience lends much to the prestige of this Board.

As one reviews the personnel of this Board they will see that President Cole was conscious of several needed attributes. However, the two most outstanding are probably personality and popularity of these men among their fellow Alumni, as well as their real ability in handling finances in a most creditable way. This Board will have full charge of this fund and a statement as to their proposed policies will be forthcoming as soon as a meeting is held.

General Washington Visits Rossbourg Inn

In more ways than one, the Rossbourg Inn has been attracting wide attention. The Alumni will be interested to know that General Washington has now actually stopped at the Inn. It was during the re-enactment of his trip to New York for his inauguration as the first President of his country that stopping at the Rossbourg Inn was part of his itinerary. The Inn in the early days was the first stage coach stop out of Washington enroute to Baltimore. This is what the recent trip of "General Washington" included. His coach pulled up at the Inn for a brief rest and a change of horses. Here the "General" was met by several officers of his Continental Army and a few charming ladies of the vicinity. All were appropriately dressed in Colonial costumes. The General was received and escorted to the Inn, where he was served ale by the innkeeper. After a brief pause and a few chats, the "General" was on his way.

All of this was a part of "General Washington's" trip to New York to re-enact his inauguration as a part of the opening ceremonies of the World's Fair. The pictures above show "General Washington" arriving at the Inn, then being entertained, and as he left. It was a colorful pageant and in addition to a few still pictures being taken, a movie of his visit was made.

Improving—Dean Adele Stamp, '24, has been for sometime under the doctor's care, but we are glad to report that she is improving nicely. She was in Florida but has returned to the campus for the final events of the year.

New York's World Fair Academy Of Sports

When the Academy of Sports held their dedicatory ceremonies at the World's Fair in New York on Monday, May 1, Maryland was reperesented by Lyman Oberlin, '17, one of the Old Line all-time tackles. Colleges from thirteen of the original States were represented for the formal opening, conducted by Christy Walsh and his associates. The World's Fair Golden Laurel, awarded to the outstanding athlete of 1938, was presented to Don Budge. Short talks were made by Babe Ruth, Jim Crowley, and Captain Eddie Rickenbacker.

Each college represented raised their flag with proper and dignified ceremony. Among the colleges represented were: Yale, Harvard, Army, Fordham, New York U., Columbia, Manhattan, Princeton, Virginia, Brown, North Carolina, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Delaware and Maryland.

Married—The well-known John Walter Street, III, '33, Engineer, has taken unto himself a wife, Miss Beatrice Dohrman, of Ridgewood, N. J. This all happened February 18. John is with the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, Paterson, N. J. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Cumberland—Janet T. Anderson, '37, a graduate in the College of Education with first honors and membership in Phi Kappa Phi, now is an English teacher in the Allegany High School in Cumberland, Md.

Soils—A recent visitor to the campus was one George Cole, '33, now with the Soil Conservation program of West Virginia, with headquarters at Moundsville. George, a member of Sigma Nu and a former lacrosse star, married Miss Betty Story of Washington. They are doing very good for the gridiron machine about 1957 as there are two boys in the family—George, Jr., and John Joseph. The latter arrived February 14 last.

o

"X" Ray—Mary Harbaugh Campbell, '25, a member of Kappa Delta, now is located at the Emergency Hospital in Washington, D. C. Mary is a specialist in the "X" Ray department.

o

Birth—On January 14th, 1939, there arrived in the home of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Savage a baby boy named John E., Jr. Mrs. Savage is the former Miss Louise Townsend, '30, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and former Women's Editor of The Diamondback in her junior and senior years. Jack, '28, as his brothers in Phi Sigma Kappa call him, is a former Student Government president. Dr. Savage is now a practicing physician in Baltimore City. The Savages reside at 4904 Woodside Road, Baltimore, Md.

o

Parker Lindsay, Maryland's all-America midfield attack star last year, is a member of the Baltimore A. C. squad, but did not play against the Terps at College Park May 6. He's still taking work at Maryland and also helping to coach the frosh stick team.

New York Group Have Annual Get-Together

A splendid meeting of the New York Alumni Group was held April 15, at which time Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08; C Walter Cole, '21, President of the Alumni, and Honorable Munro Leaf, '27, were the guests of honor and made splendid talks. Dr. Byrd gave an inside story on what the University was doing and planned to do. President Cole spoke about the Alumni Association, and Munro Leaf told about the origin of the sissy bull, "Ferdinand," of which he was the author.

Toastmaster for the occasion was Harry D. Watts, '04, vice-president of the James Stewart Construction Company. As usual, Major Harry was at top form as master of ceremonies. A very enjoyable evening was had by all.

Dingman, '21, Elected

A short business meeting of the group was held for the election of officers for the ensuing year. Fred B. Rakeman, '18, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate, which was unanimously elected. James E. Dingman, '21, now with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was elected President. He succeeds J. Donald Kieffer, '30, who revived and reorganized the Group into a successful organization.

Not enough in the way of praise can be said about Don for the way he has given generously of his time in keeping the Group such an active organization. Shortly after going to New York following graduation, Don became interested in the Alumni Group. Even though some trying times have arisen, his enthusiasm has never waned and by his tenacious efforts, with the help of several cooperative fellow-workers, the Group has remained the most active in the Association. In recognition of his enthusiasm and adaptability in organizing he was elected as a member of the Alumni Board last year.

Another member elected to office in the Group was Sarah Morris, '24, Secretary-Treasurer.

Other officers were: Vice-President, from West Chester, Pa., Dr. Norwood Thornton, '27; Vice-President, from New Jersey, Malcolm Rich, '21; Vice-President, from Long Island, Gordon Kessler, '29; Reporter, James T. Knotts, '24; Executive Committee—Lyman D. Oberlin, '17; Dr. Louis V. Hayes, '18; Fred B. Rakeman, '18, and J. Don Kieffer, '30.

Grapevine News About Those We Know

Class Of 1914 To Hold Quarter Century Reunion

All Five-Year Classes Convening

A quarter of a century is not a long time if you say it quick, nor does it seem like long ago when you begin to reminisce, but many things can happen in twenty-five years. The latter is what the members of the Class of 1914 propose to find out about on Friday, June 2, 1939.

They are going to get together at this time and have a real class reunion, talk over old times, find out what each has been doing, and make plans for the next twenty years.

All those former students who were members of that class, whether they attended one, two, or three years, are invited to attend.

Register

First they are going to assemble at the registration headquarters, then they will have lunch and a good old-fashioned gab fest. J. B. Gray, President, assisted by R. V. Truitt and E. P. Williams, are making plans to keep every 'fourteener busy from morning until night. They have circularized the class and a possible one hundred per cent. return is indicated.

Now other classes are making great plans also. The class of '89 will reign supreme as the fiftieth anniversary flag flies over the campus. Then '94 will be next followed by the boys of '99. The young men of '04 say that their reunion will top them all, as they are making a two-day affair, possibly three. And maybe four.

'29 And '34

Those of '09 will be on hand with their usual spirit and gentlemen of '19 indicate a rip-roaring time, recalling old days. Now '24, with Sarah Morris at the top and Charlie Prince helping, are making strides. Next in line are those of '29, who are rearing to go. It looks like a real contest between '29 and '34, "Dinty" Koons of the former and "South" Sothoron of the latter. Both are on the ball and have large committees at work. Maybe a tug-of-war will be necessary to settle the issue. However, they are going to show the younger classes how to have a get-together. This should be a real reunion. Do not miss it!

Engaged—Members of '37 to carry on together. Janet Weideman, a Kappa Kappa Gamma and former Women's Editor of The Diamondback, and William G. Crampton, a Sigma Nu, plan to wed this fall.

o

Accountant—Ernest Eaton, '36, Kappa Alpha, is an accountant with the General Motors Corporation in Baltimore, Maryland.

---

Birth—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gifford, '31, have a young daughter, Elizabeth Ann, born November, 1938. Mrs. Gifford is the former Miss Elizabeth Mims, a member of Kappa Alpha Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, and the Women's Senior Honor Society. "Bill" Gifford is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, and is now employed by the American Radiator Company in Washington, D. C.

o

Cooperatives — A promotion has elevated Paul Mullinix, '36, formerly store manager for the Southern States Cooperatives, to that of District Manager, with headquarters at 211 East Main Street, Elkton, Md.

---

To Wed—News is out that June Barnesley, '36, and John Simpson, '35, will be married May 27 in San Antonio, Texas. June, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and a former May Queen, will soon be heading West. John has been taking a course in the Army Flying School in Texas and will graduate on May 26. It is understood that his first detail will be in Honolulu. John, a member of Kappa Alpha, is well remembered for his football prowess. Norwood Sothoron is expected to be the best man at the wedding—second best, says "John."

o

Engagement—Recently announced was the engagement of E. Robert Kent, '34, to Miss Marian Mueller of Baltimore, who is a graduate of Goucher College. Plans are for a wedding in the fall. Bob is in the air-conditioning business in Baltimore, a division of Carrier Corporation.

SMASHES RECORD IN HURDLES

Halbert Evans

Terps' senior timber-topper, who stepped the 220-yard highs in 23.8 in a meet with William and Mary on April 22. This lowered by 8/10ths of a second the mark of 24.6 made by Bob Slye in 1934. Incidentally, Slye's mark was set in a meet with William and Mary. Evans also is a consistent winner in the 120-yard highs.

Terp Teams Making Great Record

BULLETIN NOTE:

Maryland loses to Hopkins in lacrosse, 6 to 3. Wins baseball game from Georgetown, 4-0.

WITH the schedules in their last stages, Maryland's Spring sports teams were well on their way to one of the best seasons ever enjoyed by the College Park outdoor combinations.

Pacing the teams are the tracksters, who have gone undefeated in dual meets, a 63-63 tie with Dartmouth in the opener being followed by triumphs over four Southern Conference rivals and Georgetown.

The Terps made a remarkable record in the 48 running events in the dual meets, losing only four races, two in the Dartmouth meet and one each in the games with Washington and Lee and Georgetown, Halbert Evans, senior hurdler, set the only University record when he negotiated the 220-yard highs in 23.8.

Eddie Miller, senior high jumper, led in the field events with a clean slate, but there were plenty of fine performances all down the line.

Ball Team Formidable

The Terp ball team, with a record of 14 wins in 18 starts, and 5 out of 6 in the Southern Conference fight, probably is the top team in the section and one that has played interesting ball from the start.

Earl Springer, lefthander from Hagerstown, and Pershing Mondorff, big righthander from Emmitsburg, have done the bulk of pitching and have shown to be in the class with the best college hurlers.

Hugh Keller, brother of the now well noted Charley, has been leading hitter of a well-balanced team.

Their Conference record gives the Terps a good chance to carry off championship honors, with Duke and Richmond as the other top contenders. Maryland beat both of these teams to give them their first Conference defeats of the season. It was Duke's first defeat in 26 games and the Blue Devils since then have gone on another streak.

Lacrosse Ten Balanced

The lacrosse team, despite heavy losses of 1938 stars, has proved one of the most powerful ever to wear the Old Gold and Black, the ten being well balanced, though not studded with outstanding performers. Rip Hewitt, in home, and Jim Meade, second attack, who have acted as joint captains in all the games, are the only seniors who are regulars.

Hewitt, incidentally, is the leading scor-

Field Day Probably Best Ever Held

Maryland's Twenty-second Annual Field Day, held May 6, was one of the best and maybe the best ever staged in the long series, for the trophy and individual competition was keener and closer than in any previous set of games.

Washington--Lee High of Ballston, Va., won the open interscholastic trophy with

Another Dorm For The Boys; Several Other Buildings Under Way

You have here a picture of the latest additions to the Men's Dormitories. This is just one of the several new buildings now being constructed on the campus—a real treat for every Alumnus to come back and see a progressing Alma Mater.

This new dorm is located on the south side of the campus, facing north and extends from Silvester Hall toward the Gymnasium. The dormitory increase called for the Dining Hall expansion which is keeping pace and will be ready for use in the fall. Other new buildings to see will be an addition to the Engineering, a new Home Economics, Administration, Poultry, and General Service Buildings. The Rossbourg Inn has been renovated and will be open and dedicated on Alumni Day.

Arboretum

In addition to the buildings we want to call your attention to the Arboretum, located on Paint Branch at the far north side of the campus. Many new sights can be seen in a trip through the campus addition.

Any Alumnus will have a full day of sight-seeing, meeting old friends, and participating in the many events planned. Don't forget the day, Friday, June 2, at College Park.

. . Grapevine News . .

Iowa—Good news has been received about Bob Straka, '24, who is in Ames, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Straka announce the arrival of a baby boy weighing 7 pounds, 11 ounces (a halfback in the making). Mrs. Straka was formerly Miss Ruth Cowfare of Ames, Iowa.

Bob is with the United States Department of Agriculture and second in command at the By-Products Laboratory in Ames. In addition to his work, Bob earned his Ph.D. at Iowa State last year.

o

Married—He tumbled at last! On April 22, Robert Forrest, '18, married Miss Irene Sargeant Harwood in Miami, Florida. Bob is a leader in the Southern Maryland American Legion and a Prince George County Delegate in the State Legislature.

er with a total of 26 goals, which puts him far ahead, but 11 others have scored, illustrating the attacking balance of the team.

Navy was among the teams beaten, as the only loss in the first eight games was a 6-5 defeat by Baltimore A. C.

With 5 wins in 8 matches, the tennis team has done fully as well, if not better than was expected. In fact, it was pointed out at the start of the season, that a 50-50 record was about all that could be hoped for, in view of the toughness of the schedule.

Making Great Showing

When this was written, the four varsity teams had scored a total of 31 victories and a tie out of 39 contests, a better than 75 per cent. pace.

The yearling baseball, track, lacrosse and tennis squads also had won 13 of 15 contests.

24 points, with Wally Legg their ace athlete, getting 18 of them. Sixteen other teams figured in the scoring.

Bel Air Is Leader

Bel Air, by virtue of a relay race victory, earned the trophy in the section closed to county high schools of the State with 23 points, but Allegany and Hagerstown, with 15 and 14, respectively, were in the running until the last event.

In all, eight records were either broken or tied. J. Gaffney of Allegany was one of the outstanding performers. He won the county shot put with a record heave of 47 feet, 1 inch, was third in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes and took the open interscholastic javelin throw with a heave of 174 feet, 4 inches. L. Shaner, a teammate, nosed out Gaffney for the individual county trophy by one point with a win in the 440-yard dash and a second in the broad jump.

Varsity Teams Shine

Maryland's varsity teams made the day a big one by taking 3 of 4 events in which they took part. The nine beat Washington College, 5-3; the track team downed a strong Washington and Lee squad, 77-49; the tennis outfit blanked Catholic U., 9 to 0, but the lacrosse combination lost a 6-5 verdict to Baltimore A. C., though generally outplaying the Clubmen.

Uncanny stops by Frank Christhilf, former Terp, playing goalie for B. A. C., was the main reason for the reverse. Maryland actually had 39 shots to B. A. C.'s 24.

Alumni Day Attracts Many; Sylvester, '08, Elected President, Friday, June 2

It was dark and damp as far as the weather was concerned on Friday, June 2, but not for the returning grads. All were set for a grand and glorious reunion—and they had it!

The honored guest of the day was the Honorable Robert M. Pindell, Jr., who celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his class of 1889. Carrying on the tradition of raising the flag of half-century classes, originated by the Honorable Melvin C. Hazen, '88, first President of the Alumni Association, was the first act of Mr. Pindell. He was assisted by Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, Miss Sarah Morris, '24, and the youngest graduate, Miss Peggy Maslin, '39, a daughter of W. B. Maslin of '09.

Registration for the returning Alumni was held in the University Library. Here the other reunion classes chalked up their list of members as they arrived.

Pindell Luncheon Speaker

At 1 P. M. they all met at the University Dining Hall for lunch. Here the spirit of the day began with the singing of school songs, led by Harlan Randall, Director of Music. C. Walter Cole, '21, President of the Association, presided and called on the past presidents and the classes who were holding special five-year reunions terminating with the honor class of the day, 1889. The representative of the class, Mr. Pindell, Jr., was asked to give a few remarks, which were very inspiring and indicative of the great Alumni loyalty and enthusiasm which remains in one's heart for their Alma Mater for half a century.

Dr. Byrd, '08, followed with greetings for the returning grads and praised Mr. Pindell for his great spirit and admiration for his Alma Mater.

Class Reunions

In the afternoon various class reunions were held and many swapped yarns about their campus days. The class of '94 had a very good return for their forty-fifth reunion, with the boys of '99 joining them in making it a get-together for the boys of the nineties.

Not to be outdone by any class, the boys of '04 began their thirty-fifth reunion the night before with a banquet. Those of '09 returned in goodly numbers for their thirtieth anniversary.

Those to turn on the heat were the lads of '14, who were just passing the quarter-century point. Close on their heels for a real return were those of 1919. These boys said this reunion was just a forerunner to a real twenty-fifth reunion.

Not until the president of '24 arrived did they feel like a reunion, but when Sarah Morris, president of the class appeared, the reunion was on. Those younger lads in '29 and '34 seemed to be having a race for numbers. It was thought at one time a tug-of-war would be necessary to decide the issue.

All reunion classes gave fair warning that other classes had better start now for their reunion as they are making big plans for the next episode in their history.

Rossbourg Inn

At 3:30 o'clock the University Band began a concert at the Rossbourg Inn and the doors of this historical structure opened for visitors. Several hundred Alumni and friends of the University inspected the renovation now in progress.

Because of the rain the Dedicatory Exercises of the old structure as associated with thousands of Alumni who have known it as the landmark of years gone by, were held in the old dining room in the rear of the main building. A more detailed description of the exercises appears elsewhere in this issue.

Following the exercises the annual meeting of the Association convened in the main reading room of the library. In addition to the general order of business, President Cole presented the five trustees appointed by him for the Alumni Fund. The elections of officers for the ensuing year were held. Charles W. Sylvester, '08, Vice-President last year, was elected President for 1939-40. Immediately following the election, past President Cole turned the meeting over to President Sylvester, who asked for a motion of adjournment so they could be on time for the Alumni Dinner.

Alumni Dinner

At 6:30 the annual Alumni Dinner began in the Dining Hall with a splendid return of old grads and a large attendance of faculty and friends. Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10, and Munro Leaf, '27, were the guest speakers for the occasion. An account appears elsewhere.

After the dinner all Alumni attending the dinner were guests of the University at the Seventy-Seventh Annual Commencement Ball.

Among those present for the day:

Cave Man Visits Campus

This past spring, George Chapman, '20, of Shenandoah Caverns, Va., visited the campus. With him was his son, who might attend Maryland.

George operates the Shenandoah Caverns and welcome is on the mat for all Old Liners to stop by and see him. On several occasions, athletic teams enroute to Lexington, Va., have stopped to see George and were very much pleased with his caverns.

POSITION OPEN

There is a position open for a Directing Engineer with the Boy Scouts of America. An engineering graduate who is interested should write the Alumni Office at once. Must have had considerable Scout experience.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Fellow Alumni of Maryland:

I am deeply grateful to you for the confidence placed in me by electing me your President for 1939-40. While I appreciate the honor and privilege of serving as your leader I fully recognize the duties and responsibilities of the office. I trust that I shall be able to plan wisely, to proceed with good judgment and to work effectively in the interest of our Association. I have great confidence in our strong and capable Alumni Board. With your assistance, this year should be a banner one.

The University owes us little, if anything, but we owe everything to the University. Many of our Alumni, fully appreciating that fact, have continued to serve their Alma Mater year in and year out since graduation. No university in the world has a finer group of Alumni, but there is not enough genuine interest on the part of the Alumni generally. We need the University—the University needs us. Let us, each and every one, extend our efforts, renew our interests, if lost, and actually dedicate our lives to the welfare, growth and spirit of the Institution.

The many features of Alumni Day this year, including class reunions; the preliminary dedication of the Rossbourg Inn; the Annual Reunion, Dinner and Commencement Ball, demonstrated beyond doubt the true spirit of Maryland and its traditions. Loyalty supreme, friendship renewed, and true interest were all in evidence.

It was all thrilling and satisfying. Did you attend? Are you a member? If not, why? No Alumnus of Maryland can have a good reason. Help us to build a bigger Association. It can be better. Alumni, we are depending on you. Write me and give me that assurance of loyalty, interest, and support.

On behalf of the Alumni Board it is my great honor and privilege, as your President, to extend to you most hearty greetings. We pledge you our continued interest, loyalty and genuine desire to work for the welfare of our Association and the University. In return we solicit and expect the loyalty, active support, and interest of every Alumnus of the University.

Most sincerely yours,

Charles W. Sylvester,
President.

Robert M. Pindell Celebrates His Fiftieth Anniversary

After raising his class flag in celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of his class, the Honorable Robert M. Pindell, '89, was the principal speaker at the Alumni Luncheon. In his remarks, Mr. Pindell said: "That fifty years have passed since I walked down this winding road is hard to believe, and I am struck with this fact: Fifty years in anticipation is a long time, but fifty years in retrospect is a very short time; and if you would but remember that, I think you would get a great deal more happiness out of life than if you take the attitude that with the passing years you are just so many men and women. As I walked up from the pike this morning along the winding road, I was conscious of the fact that when I got to the Library steps that the walk was an easy walk, and I walked it as I had fifty years ago. It took a very short time in retrospect.

R. M. Pindell, '89

"President Cole has referred to the fact that I was President of the Association in the years 1915 to 1917. That is a fact. And perhaps there are some of you here who do not realize that those were quite important years in the life and history of the old M. A. C., and I am very proud of the fact that I was able to be among those present at that time. It was during that time that they traded ownership in the Old

Rossbourg Inn Needs Antiques

Any Alumnus who has, in his or her family, any antique glassware, pottery, pewter or furniture which was in use prior to 1800 and desires to give or loan for use in the Rossbourg Inn, will be gratefully appreciated.

Gestures in this way would tend to greatly increase the tradition of the Inn as associated with the Alumni. Those who have anything of interest, please write the Alumni Office.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report showed a yearly income of $3,134.72 with an expenditure of $3,098.29, leaving a balance of $36.43. The expenses included the printing of the Alumni News, group organization mailing, Homecoming, Alumni Day, and various costs in the Alumni Office. The auditors' report, by Mr. Cissel of the College of Commerce, found the books to be in order.

Fund Trustees

President Cole then gave a resume of his tenure of office, touching on the high spots of the year—Homecoming, Charter Day Celebration, the Rossbourg Inn and the appointment of the five trustees for the Alumni Fund. His appointments were as follows: Dr. F. B. Bomberger, '94, Mr. W. D. Groff, '00, Mr. H. D. Watts, '04, Mr. A. C. Diggs, '20 and Mr. L. G. Mathias, '23. A motion was passed by the Association confirming the appointments.

The secretary was asked to present an amendment to the Constitution as recommended by the Alumni Board, providing for an increase in personnel of the Board. The amendment provided for another vice-president, a representative of the College of Commerce and two more members-at-large. The amendment reads as follows:

Amendment to Article IV, Section 2

"The Alumni Board shall be composed as follows: The President, immediate past President, First and Second Vice-Presidents, Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association, one graduate from each of the Schools of the University, which is presided over by a Dean and four members-at-large, two to be elected from the women and two from the men Alumni."

Amendment to Article VII, Section 3

"At each annual meeting, there shall be elected members of the Alumni Board from the Schools of the University, as provided for in Article IV, Section 2. The terms of the members of the Alumni Board (except the President, First and Second Vice-Presidents and Secretary-Treasurer) shall be for three years, one-third, or approximately one-third, of the members being elected each year, except the members-at-large, who shall be elected annually."

Carried June 1, 1939.

Dr. Arthur Hebb, Heads Medical Alumni; Dr. Harry E. Kelsey, Elected President of Dentists; Dr. Charles Austin To Lead Pharmacy

WHEN the Professional Alumni Associations held their annual meetings during June Week they elected new Presidents. For the ensuing year Dr. Arthur Hebb, '98, B. M. C., will lead the Medical Alumni. Dr. Hebb has been a practicing physician in Baltimore City ever since his graduation. He is a member of the American Medical Association and a specialist in proctology.

The Dental boys chose Dr. Harry E. Kelsey, '96, B. C. D. S., a specialist in orthodontia and one who has always had an active interest in the Dental School. Prior to the merger of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the oldest dental school in the world, with the University of Maryland, Dr. Kelsey was professor of orthodontia. He is also a past President of the Maryland State Dental Association.

In the Pharmacy Association they have elected probably one of the most enthusiastic, loyal and hardest working Alumnus in the University, Charles S. Austin, '16. He has been on practically every committee, a member of the Board of Directors, and Vice-President. If any one knows how to keep the Alumni active, Charles Austin should.

The NEWS takes this occasion to congratulate the newly elected Presidents and wish for each a most successful tenure of office

Haines, '96, Entertains Faculty And Alumni

On a week-end last month, Mahlon N. Haines, '96, of York, Pa., entertained some twenty faculty members and Alumni from College Park.

Haines is the "Shoe Wizard" and, in addition to his business, has quite an interesting array of hobbies. Probably the most outstanding are his 18 to 20 trotting horses which have won several hundred blue ribbons. His saddle horses have captured many a horse show throughout the Eastern States.

Then you go out to his "Wizard Ranch" where is located a collection of curios for many years and from many foreign countries. Most of these are his own collection. At the ranch he has a team of oxen, several burros and many prize chickens of rare breeds. Also ducks, peacocks, pheasants and monkeys.

From the ranch he led the party to his hotel on the banks of the Susquehanna, for a fried chicken and waffle dinner.

Haines has a beautiful home located on the outskirts of York called "Haines Acres."

Those making the trip were Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Skinner, '95, Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, Dr. T. H. Taliaferro, Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Broughton, '08, Dr. W. T. L. Taliaferro, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Bomberger, '94, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Mitchell, '96, of Perryville, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Randall, Miss Francis Ide, and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Pollock, '23.

Gov. O'Conor Among Alumni Who Receive Honorary Degrees

Among those to receive honorary degrees at the one hundred and thirty-second Commencement Exercises were three distinguished Alumni. His Excellency Herbert R. O'Conor, Governor of Maryland, a graduate of the Law School in 1920, received the degree of Doctor of Laws. Another was the Honorable Melvin C. Hazen, chairman of the District of Columbia Commissioners, first President of our Alumni Association, and a graduate in the class of 1888. He also received the degree of Doctor of Laws.

From the mid-West came Dr. Fred Wharton Rankin, noted surgeon and outstanding graduate of the School of Medicine in the class of '09, who received the degree of Doctor of Science.

Glenn Martin Also Honored

Other men outstanding in their field to receive honorary degrees were the Honorable Glenn F. Martin, president of the Martin Aeroplane Company of Baltimore, who received the degree of Doctor of Engineering. The Honorable Cecil Willis Creel, director of extension at the University of Nevada, received the degree of Doctor of Agriculture.

Alumni Dinner A Success; Sen. Tydings And Munro Leaf Speak

The innovation of having the Alumni Dinner on Friday night met with considerable success. A very attractive and entertaining program pleased the returning old grads and many faculty members.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10, who was a principal speaker along with Munro Leaf, '27, author of Ferdinand, gave the old grads some of his good, sound thoughts. "Many things make a great University," said Senator Tydings. "First is a good student body, second is a good faculty and third, an up-and-coming and spirited Alumni Association. And although you might have a good student body, good teachers and a good Alumni Association, somehow it might not click—it might not be the fine success that such material should make it. There is a deeper thing, it seems to me, that makes a school good and that thing is, for want of a better word, 'spirit.' If 'spirit' is in any way diminishing, then it is more important to build than any dormitories or laboratories.

"For somehow or other it does not seem to me that the Alumni are attached closely enough to the school to which they owe so much. I do not know how that can be increased."

Come Back Often

"Alumni should go back, not once but two or three times a year and familiarize themselves with the progress and development that is taking place. We should support the President, the faculty and the Board of Regents in every way we can where sound measures are before the Legislature. When we have a real need we ought to unite and lend our support to the fight. We will be building monuments to ourselves while we are living which is a rare thing to do. This University will be a monument to every Alumnus. It is the greatest thing we can do for the State University and for our future generation."

Munro Leaf told what inspired him to write Ferdinand the Bull. This he did in an interesting and humorous way.

Cole Toastmaster

Mr. C. Walter Cole, '21, past President of the Association, who was toastmaster, called on Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, for a word of greeting to the Alumni. Dr. Byrd responded in his usual enthusiastic and attractive way.

At the dinner one of our outstanding faculty members was appropriately honored for his many years of devoted and loyal service to our Alma Mater—Professor Charles S. Richardson, retiring head of the Public Speaking Department. Professor Richardson has served the University in many capacities for a forty-year period and in recognition of his services, our illustrious Alumnus, the Honorable William P. Cole, Jr., '10, made the presentation of a gift on behalf of the University. Even the veteran in public speaking was so deeply touched that his words failed him in response of grateful appreciation.

Dedicatory Exercises At Rossbourg Inn

One of the outstanding events on the Alumni Day Program was the Dedicatory Exercises of the traditions of the Rossbourg Inn as associated with the Alumni. The Inn was open for inspection and many Alumni and friends visited the historic structure, now in progress of renovation. A visitor's book was on hand and the first to register was the Honorable Robert M. Pindell, '89, past President of the Alumni and the only returning member of the fifty-year class.

Under the auspices of the Alumni As-

64 Athletes And 5 Managers Awarded Letters In Spring Sports

Sixty-four Maryland athletes and five managers in as many sports received letters at an Assembly on the campus on May 31, the awards being made in baseball, lacrosse, track, tennis and rifle.

Only baseball will be hard hit by graduation, the nine losing six men, including Eddie Johnson, George Knepley, and Shorty Chumbris, three regular infielders.

Jim Meade and Rip Hewitt, two great lacrosse players, will be lost, as will Eddie Miller, high jumper, and Hermie Evans, hurdler, the best men Maryland ever has had in these events.

All of the tennis players will return and only three will be lost from an outstanding rifle team.

Those to receive the awards were:

Baseball — *Joe Crisafulli, *Angelo Chumbris and *Cleom Chumbris, Washington, D. C.; Adam Bengoechea, Chevy Chase, Md.; *Charlie Weidinger and Frank Dwyer, Baltimore; Earl Springer, Hagerstown, Md.; Pershing Mondorff, Emmitsburg, Md.; *George Knepley, Altoona, Pa.; Fritz Maisel, Catonsville, Md.; *Eddie Johnson, Germantown, Md.; Robert Burns, Havre de Grace, Md.; Hugh Keller, Middletown, Md.; Burton Culver, Hyattsville, Md.; *Manager George Seeley, Baltimore.

Lost — Crisafulli, A. Chumbris, C. Chumbris, Weidinger, Knepley, and Johnson.

Lost — Hewitt, Meade, Muncks and Badenhoop.

Lost — Evans, E. Miller, Peaslee and Howard.

Tennis — Nathan Askin, Jack Phillips and Phil Burkom, Baltimore; Albert Ritzenberg, Lawrence Lichliter, James Burnside and James Hardy, Washington, D. C., and Manager Joseph Morris, Port Deposit, Md.

---

Rifle — *Warren Davis, George Meeks, Willard Jensen, *Floyd Soule, Enos Ray, Raymond Hodges, Jack C. Marzolf and Joseph M. Marzolf, Washington, D. C.; Thomas Riley, Germantown, Md.; F. Dean Evans, Chevy Chase, Md.; A. E. Imus, Mount Rainier, Md.; Robert Laughhead, Bethesda, Md.; *Manager Richard Kern, Braddock Heights, Md.

Lost — Evans, Soule and Davis.

* Gold awards for those who were on Varsity squads for three years and won the "M" at least once.

KELLER BEST BATTER

Hugh Keller, brother of Charlie Keller, who is making a name for himself with the New York Yankees, led the Maryland nine in batting during the past season with an average of .468. He hit in all of the 19 games, except the first, getting an average of 2 hits a game.

PITCHERS STAGE DUEL

Lefty Earl Springer of Hagerstown and Pershing Mondorff of Emmitsburg, staged a hot duel for slab honors on the Terp nine. Each lost his first game, then Springer won 7 straight and Mondorff took 6 in a row. Both will be seniors next year and big league scouts are looking them over.

Pair Of Terp Stickmen Are All-America

Jim Meade, at second defense, and Milton Mulitz, at cover point, were named to the all-America team by the Committee of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, headed by Laurie Cox of Syracuse.

Fred Hewitt, at first attack, was placed on the third team, while Jack Grier, goalie, was given honorable mention. It was expected that Hewitt would at least make the second team.

Meade, Mulitz and Hewitt previously had been chosen on the all-Maryland first team by Craig Taylor of the Baltimore Sun.

Meade was rated the best midfielder of the year and Mulitz was termed the second best close-in defense player in the all-America selections.

Johnson, Meade Named For Highest Honors

Eddie Johnson, who received the Silvester gold watch, given by the class of 1908 for typifying the best in athletics, and Jim Meade, who got the Linhardt ring as the best Maryland athlete, gained the highest awards for the year in Terp sports.

Johnson was outstanding in basketball and baseball, while Meade was brilliant in football and lacrosse. Each was on his respective teams for three seasons. Both will be sorely missed.

George Knepley got the Berger award as being the most valuable baseball player of the year.

Incidentally, it was an athlete, Joe Peaslee, a trackman, who got the citizenship award as the one who has done the most for the advancement of the University during his four years as a student.

TRACKMEN BOOST LAURELS

Maryland's track team added to its laurels at the close of the college season by easily winning the District A. A. U. meet, held in Byrd Stadium, although not having its full strength in the games. The Terps scored 57 points and took about half the 14 individual titles.

Maryland Has Great Year In Sports

Enjoying outstanding success in its spring program of baseball, lacrosse, track and tennis, Maryland had one of the best sports years in its history during the 1938-39 term.

With the track team setting the pace with 5 wins and a tie in 6 dual meets, the spring sports teams captured 34 of 43 events in addition to the deadlock on the cinders, which was with Dartmouth.

In fact, except for the football team, there was no Terp aggregation of the year that did not finish well on the right side of the ledger. Here is the complete records of the seven Varsity teams:

| Sport | W. | L. | Tied |
|---|---|---|---|
| Football | 2 | 7 | 0 |
| Boxing | 3 | 0 | 3 |
| Basketball | 15 | 9 | 0 |
| Track | 5 | 0 | 1 |
| Lacrosse | 7 | 2 | 0 |
| Baseball | 15 | 4 | 0 |
| Tennis | 7 | 3 | 0 |
| | — | — | — |
| Totals | 54 | 25 | 4 |

This is an average of better than 68 per cent. victories for the year.

Included in the feats were the winning of the Southern Conference boxing crown, the runner-up position in the loop basketball tourney, second in indoor track and third in the outdoor meet. Maryland took 6 individual indoor track titles in 12 events and gained 4 in the outdoor competition.

Maryland's tennis duo of Allie Ritzenberg and Nathan Askin won the Conference doubles title and the Terp lacrosse team has the best claim to the national collegiate championship. Maryland and Navy are the only leading stick teams that lost only one collegiate game and the Terps beat the Middies. They also routed Mount Washington Club, 11 to 1, which later beat Navy, 8 to 7.

Joe Murphy, who won the 100 in :09.8 and the 220 in 21.4 in the outdoor meet, tied two University records, the latter set in 1926 by Henry (Gump) Matthews. Hermie Evans smashed a Maryland record with his 23.8 for the 220-yard low hurdles.

While the Varsity teams were compiling such a fine record the freshman outfits were keeping pace, taking 34 out of 44 tests in 7 pastimes, as follows:

| Sport | W. | L. |
|---|---|---|
| Football | 3 | 2 |
| Basketball | 13 | 3 |
| Boxing | 0 | 2 |
| Lacrosse | 5 | 0 |
| Tennis | 2 | 0 |
| Track | 4 | 1 |
| Baseball | 7 | 2 |
| | — | — |
| Totals | 34 | 10 |

Grapevine News About Those We Know

Married—Sam Berman and Miss Ida Gultinas were married May 7, 1939. Mrs. Berman is a grad of Goucher and Sam is a member of the Old Liner Class of '37.

o

Music—Mrs. Slaby, formerly Miss Lillian Drake, '35, of the Old Line Rifle team, is secretary for Mrs. Dorsey, director of the Metropolitan Opera program, in Washington, D. C. Mr. Slaby is a member of the Remington-Rand firm in Washington and knows Ray Schmidt, '33, and Ham Fook, '35, also members of the firm. Lillian "says" they frequently have a real Maryland get-together.

o

Bank—In the Riggs National Bank in Washington you will find Thomas Corwin, '35, who is a member of Sigma Phi Sigma and a former major in the R. O. T. C. Tom recently came to the campus looking for applicants who wished to enter the banking field. This is the way to help fellow Alumni.

o

Wedding—On Saturday, June 17, at the Howard Chapel Church near Long Corner, Md., Miss Laura Burdette, '38, and Mr. William Browning were married. The honeymoon was spent in West Virginia, and they are now residing in College Park.

Laura is a graduate in Home Economics. Mr. Browning is a former Marine, and now is employed at U. S. Soldiers' Home.

o

Poets—Nancy Allen Finch, who is now attending the University of Maryland, and Dorothy Grey Smith, who received her degrees of B.A. and M.A. from the U. of Md. in 1936 and 1938, are represented in the major anthologies which Henry Harrison, New York poetry publisher, is issuing this summer. These books are Eros, Sonnets, Music Unheard, and The North America Book of Verse.

o

The Annual Meeting

Following the adoption of the amendment by the Association, the chairman of the Nominating Committee was asked for a report. Mr. Reuben Brigham, '08, chairman of the Committee, presented the following nominations:

For President — Charles W. Sylvester, '08
For First Vice-President—Peter W. Chichester, '20
For Second Vice-President—Harold W. Burnside, '04
For Representative of Arts and Sciences—J. Donald Kieffer, '30
For Representative of Education—R. Ransom Lewis, '19
For Representative of College of Commerce—Norwood Sothoron, '34
For Representatives-at-Large:
  Women—Mrs. Mary York Gadd, '28
    Miss Gertrude Chesnut, '26
  Men—Phillip Wertheimer, '29
    Edward E. Powell, '13.

A motion made and passed that the presentation of the Nomination Committee be unanimously elected. The secretary was requested to cast the ballot.

President Cole then asked Mr. Chichester and Mr. Lewis to escort President Sylvester to the chair to receive the gavel as President for the ensuing year. After a few remarks, and no further business, President Sylvester asked for a motion of adjournment.

Alumni Dinner A Success

Entertainment for the dinner was provided by Miss Louise Baer, an opera star from New York, and Mr. A. B. Pearce of the Gridiron Club of Washington.

Following the dinner all were invited to attend the Commencement Ball in the University Gymnasium as guests of the University, which concluded the forty-seventh annual Alumni Reunion.

Whiteford, '01, Sends Greetings

A telegram was received from past President Henry C. Whiteford, '01, expressing his regret for his inability to be present.

The telegram, read by President C. Walter Cole, said: "Sorry it will be impossible for me to have the pleasure of being with my fellow Alumni today. Please convey my best regards to all the boys. Signed, Henry C. Whiteford, '01."

Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Maryland Agricultural College with the consent of the stockholders by the present form of charter, and I hope I may be permitted to take some little credit for having been active along that line — the change is marvelous and almost unbelievable and I must offer my congratulations to President Byrd and the members of the Faculty and the Alumni Association for accomplishing it. I am very, very glad I came here today and I am coming again," concluded Mr. Pindell.

President Cole called on President Byrd for a few remarks. He also introduced each of the past Presidents of the Alumni Association present:

Dr. F. B. Bomberger, '94
Dr. Fletcher P. Veith, '95
Dr. T. B. Symons, '02
Mr. W. D. Groff, '00
Mr. E. F. Zalesak, '25.

Those classes holding special reunions were requested to stand, and the class of '04 had eight out of ten present, reported W. R. Mitchell, president of the class.

Following the luncheon the class reunions were held at various spots on the campus.

Plaque Presented

sociation, special dedicatory exercises were held at the Inn at which time a bronze tablet was unveiled to commemorate the traditions of the Inn as exemplified in its Alumni.

Cole Presents Plaque

Dr. F. B. Bomberger, '94, past President of the Alumni Association, presided in the absence of the Honorable Melvin C. Hazen, '88, first President of the Association. Remarks were made by Dr. H. J. Patterson, former director of the University Experiment Station, and one who occupied this building as an office for more than fifty years. President C. Walter Cole, '21, of the Association, made the presentation of the plaque on behalf of the Alumni Association, and Dr. W. W. Skinner, '95, chairman of the Board of Regents, accepted on behalf of the University. The plaque was unveiled by Miss Fredericka Waldman, '39, and Miss Loraine Jackson, '40, who were dressed in Colonial costumes.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, made the concluding remarks about the historical traditions of the building and how it is planned to perpetuate these traditions.

The inscription on the plaque is as follows:

> THE ROSSBOURG INN
> Erected in 1798, in the infancy of the nation and a few years before the founding of the University of Maryland, the Rossbourg Inn stands as one of the landmarks of the nation's and the University's growth. This historic structure has been restored by the University of Maryland with the aid of the Federal Government and is dedicated to the spirit of loyalty and the the traditions of democracy as exemplified in its Alumni and students.

R. O. T. C.

Recipient of the highest War Department rating since the year 1926, the University of Maryland is justly proud of its record and especially desirous of maintaining its high standard.

To the capable army officers stationed at the University goes a great deal of credit, for their policy of developing campus leaders as cadet officers and permitting them to use individual initiative has borne fruit. "It is a conceded fact," says Col. J. D. Patch, head of the Maryland contingent, "that our officers compile the finest records at summer training camp, both from point of conduct and leadership."

Attesting to the capacities of the army and cadet officers and also to the fine spirit of a cooperative regiment during the 1938-39 school year are Col. Frank T. Kellond, officer in charge of R. O. T. C. affairs for The Third Corps Area, whose stamp of approval leaves the way clear for a War Department inspection, and Genl. F. T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Administration at Washington, D. C., both of whom were greatly impressed by regimental reviews.

At a similar review the regiment honored Warrant Officer William McManus who, after twenty years at the University, was transferred to Third Corps Area headquarters at Baltimore. It was fitting that a gold watch be presented at this time to the man who, says Colonel Patch, "has done more for the Military Department than any other man."

With the passing of Military Day on May 9th, with its competitions and final inspection, this year by Genl. Frank Parker, commander of the famous First Division, the regiment may look back with satisfaction, yet forward with anticipation for greater years to come.

Lieut.-Colonel J. D. Patch

(From the 1939 Terrapin)

Few men in the brief span of four years have exerted as lasting an influence upon the students of the University of Maryland as the present professor of Military Science and Tactics. By his words, actions, and manner, he has won the respect and admiration of all with whom he has come in contact. A gentleman at all times, he has shown himself a man worthy not only of his calling but also of the confidence of the student body. In recognition of the many services he has rendered the University and the inspiring example he has set for all, the editors dedicate this volume of the Terrapin to Lieut.-Col. Joseph D. Patch, Commandant of Cadets.

Three Officers Leave

Lieutenant-Colonel Patch, Major Hervey and Captain Maglin have been transferred to other military posts this summer.

All have rendered invaluable services to the University in many capacities other than military during their tenure of service. They have won the admiration of the entire University and The News takes this occasion to wish for each an abundance of success in all future endeavors.

President's Column

As President Charles W. Sylvester, '08, is in Fort Collins, Colo., for this month, we do not have a particular message from him except a card which says, "As soon as I return, we will have an Alumni Board meeting and get after the membership list."

Charley Sylvester is a leader among men. He is head of the vocational education for Baltimore City, has been President of the Scimiter Club of the Shrine, and was chairman of the ticket sales committee for the recent Shrine convention held in Baltimore. In 1938 he was vice-chairman of the Charter Day Celebration of the University.

The Association is fortunate in having an enthusiastic and capable leader like Charley to carry on the good work of his predecessor, C. Walter Cole. Such a leader warrants the support of loyal Old Liners to carry on the program of our Alumni Association.

Citizens Of Washington Honor Melvin C. Hazen, '88

More than a thousand citizens of Washington and vicinity tendered the Hon. Melvin C. Hazen, '88, a testimonial dinner on June 26 in honor of his fifty years of service to the District of Columbia. In addition, a handsome silver service was presented him as a token of appreciation for his many years of unselfish devotion to the inhabitants of the Nation's Capital. Mrs. Hazen was by his side and shared in the limelight of tributes paid our eminent Alumnus. Mr. Hazen, first President of your Alumni Association, entered the engineer's office of the District of Columbia in 1889, one year after his graduation. From then on by the fruits of his own efforts he has today attained the honor of Chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the seat of the Nation's Capital.

His hobby during his span of life has been and still is horses. He was the organizer and first president of the National Capital Horse Show, which is a feature of the Capital's social calendar. His farm is located in Virginia, where he keeps many head of his pride and joy.

Press, '28, Secretary

The dinner was sponsored by the Washington Board of Trade, of which William Press, '28, is the executive secretary.

The Alumni Association can feel quite proud of their eminent Alumnus, who was the first President of our Association and number one man of the Nation's Capital, who has been accorded an unprecedented honor. The editor of The News is confident that he expresses the feeling of every Alumnus when he conveys

"Congratulations and admirations for the honors Mr. Hazen has attained."

Nineteen Nineteen Had Great Reunion

By remote control Erston V. Miller, president of the class of '19, started off the reunion of his class even though he was in Florida. He wrote a letter to Doug Wallop, chairman of the reunion, and suggested that each member give a brief account of his activities in the past twenty years. Erston started it off by writing his out. He taught in China, took grad work at Michigan State College, managed father's business and is now doing research in biochemical studies of the coloring of citrus fruits in Florida. He married Miss Elinor Case of Michigan and has three children.

Douglas Wallop has four boys and is in the insurance business.

Pete Chichester is salesmanager for Dietrich & Gambrill in Frederick, and has one girl.

J. W. Bolgiano, farming and insurance, has three boys and one girl.

Chester F. Bletch, field man for the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers Association, has one girl.

George W. Clendaniel, County Agent in Caroline County, has three boys and one girl.

Ranson R. Lewis, farming, has no children.

C. E. Payne, lawyer in Washington, has no children.

R. Lee Sullivan, insurance business, one boy.

J. W. Stevens, produce business in Baltimore, has one girl and one boy.

J. W. Swartz, fur and distillery business in Baltimore, has one boy and one girl.

D. L. McLean, lumber and ship ceiling business, has three children.

M. C. Brown, salesmanager for Wayne Gasoline Pumps, has no children.

Walter R. Hardesty and H. O. Coster got in late—no report.

It was a grand reunion and they plan big things for the twenty-fifth celebration.

R. M. Watkins, '23, On Park Commission

Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, recently approved the appointment of R. M. Watkins, '23, as a member of the Park and Planning Commission of the Metropolitan Area. "Bunt" is also president of the Calvert Hills subdivision, a modern residential section near College Park.

Class Of '08 Holds Annual Reunion

While some of the classes are holding special five-year reunions, the class of 1908 never missed a single year. Each year there is a reunion and they have a big return every year.

Reuben Brigham, secretary, sends quite a document to each member, including a roster, letters from fellow classmates and a personal letter. There were three rather interesting letters received from those far away. Barny Cooper, in Miami, Florida; C. Solari Y. Sevoredo, in Lima, Peru, and Mrs. Flora Darling Frey, in California. The letters were all very interesting and the following excerpts will emphasize their spirit:

From the Letter of Barny C. Cooper:

"I would like to look over the records and see how I stand on the list of grandfathers for my class. I had a grandson born February 1, '39, in Miami. I do not remember whether you ever mentioned any of the other boys having a grandson or not. Well, send Richard Reginald Cooper a card telling him who I am and what he is.

From the Letter of Sevoredo in Lima, Peru

"I received today a nice letter from Charles Sylvester inviting me and family to the reunion. As I am not able to be with you, I wish to tell everyone how happy I would be if I could be with them."

From the Letter Mrs. Frey writes from California:

"As I picture you in my mind renewing old friendships and recalling old times, it doesn't really seem possible that thirty years have passed away since we rallied 'round one bright June morning on the campus at M. A. C. for the last time before going our separate ways. What worlds we were going to conquer, and what deep niches we were going to carve in the halls of fame! What many of you have accomplished is a lasting tribute to the training and guidance of that patient group of teachers who worked long and steadfastly with us and in my memory lingers very gratefully the name of Prof. Novik. I learned from him tolerance and tactfulness, for how else could he have managed a class of exuberant young men and a solitary young woman and how admirably and wisely he rose to every emergency when the occasion demanded.

ALUMNI PRESIDENT

C. W. Sylvester, '08

"I wish I might see the University as it stands today, but I am afraid I should be rather overwhelmed with the size of the student body and the many new buildings which have replaced the old ones of our period. It is a wonderful advancement for the young people who are coming from all parts of the State and I am especially happy that so many girls have found their places in the school. I am glad if in a very small way I helped a little in opening the door of opportunity to them.

"With deepest regret that I cannot be with you and a hope that today will bring back many of the class for a renewal of friendship and delightful recollections of our own days at school, I am, as ever."

The class of '08 are exhibiting real class spirit.

Maryland State Society Reelects Col. Calvert, '92

When the annual meeting of the Maryland State Society was held this spring Col. George H. Calvert, Jr., '92, was reelected president for the sixteenth consecutive year. Colonel Calvert is a prominent attorney of Maryland and Washington, D. C. He is a direct descendant of the late Hon. Charles B. Calvert, founder of the College Park Schools of the University in 1856.

Bureau Of Fisheries Building $100,000 Lab

A new $100,000 building to house experimental and research laboratories is to be erected by the United States Bureau of Fisheries at the University of Maryland in College Park.

The new building will house laboratory units which two years ago were moved to the University from Gloucester, Mass. With the completion of the structure more than two-thirds of all the fisheries laboratory work centered in College Park, Dr. H. C. Byrd, President of the University, declared.

Bill Warfield Experiments With Beans

"We don't know enough about beans," was the comment which started Bill Warfield, '36, now the head vegetable breeder at Fordhook Farms in Pennsylvania, property of the Burpee Seed Company. He was requested by M. David Burpee to grow in their trial gardens, every known garden bean in the world. "Why, we have the best beans on earth," said Bill, "but we will try them and see for ourselves."

"Garden beans are natives of this continent, having been discovered here by Columbus. Also the American Gardneners have been consistently ahead of the procession in beans ever since N. B. Keeney discovered the world's first stringless bean in New York," says Bill Warfield.

But to prove his statement he rounded up beans from every continent in the world. He wrangled beans from Uncle Sam's wandering seed hunters in many lands. All together, he gathered 66 individual varieties and grow them at the Fordhook Farms. At the end of the season Bill told his boss, "we've been eating beans a dozen times a day and there isn't a bean among them that an American housewife would have on a bet, except a few of our own varieties that foreign growers have renamed." But he did discover some good characteristics among the foreign beans which he plans to breed into our American bean.

The last sentence tells another story. It used to be that seed people would travel thousands of miles to find plants or vegetables already made by nature. But today, vegetable originators build the plants to order by cross breeding.

Far Eastern Alumni Group Holds Meeting In Manila; Peach, '03, and Saunders, '10

When Preston L. Peach, '03, returned to Kaula Lumpur, in the Federated Malaya States, he stopped in Manila long enough to have lunch and hold an Alumni Meeting with Lt. Col. O. H. Saunders, '10, Inspector General of the Philippines.

Colonel Saunders had previously visited the home of Mr. Peach, who was away in the States at the time. This was in December, 1938. Then Peach and Saunders met in Manila in February and the account of the meeting arrived at College Park in June.

According to Saunders, Peach is a very modest man, because he really found out about him while he was away. Peach is a three-hat man besides managing and directing about 120 schools and 800 teachers for about 20,000 pupils.

Alumni Meeting

The Alumni Meeting was held at Saunders' home on February 13, in Manila. The accompanying picture shows the two families standing in the shadow of Old Fort Santiago, the original fort built by the Spaniards in 1593—and is the oldest fort over which flies the American flag.

Mr. and Mrs. Peach
Col. and Mrs. Saunders

The visit and Alumni Meeting came to a very quick close when Peach went to the phone to check on the sailing time of his ship which, he had been told, would be the following Wednesday. The steamship company called back and said the boat was sailing at that moment from a pier about 30 blocks away. Peach said, "But my dear fellow, I'm a passenger on that boat and you can't sail without me." Saunders thought him very mild. However, the company agreed to hold the boat twenty minutes and there was some fast gathering of baggage and wild auto riding to get the boat, but as the gang plank went up so did Peach on his way to Singapore. "Quite an unceremonious way to usher a guest from a lunch and an Alumni Meeting," said Saunders.

Saunders Returning

Colonel Saunders is returning to the States in September and will be stationed at Fort Howard in Baltimore. He will receive another promotion at the same time, becoming a full Colonel.

While in the Orient he has been in China, Japan, Indo-China, Siam and the Federated Malaya States. A welcome awaits Colonel Saunders in Baltimore.

Summer School Well Attended

Keeping up with the regular University trend, the Summer School for 1939 was well attended. Approximately 1,400 students, including teachers in public and private schools, as well as many seeking graduate degrees, were enrolled.

Aviator-Ensign Bob Slye, '36, of the United States Navy Flying Squadron, visited the campus near Alumni Day. Bob will be remembered as one of Geary Eppley's timber-toppers of the Terp tracksters. Bob has been transferred to the Pacific coast, where he will do more maneuvering with the dive bombing squadron.

R.O.T.C. Boys Win Rifle Honors

When the rifle competition was held at the annual R. O. T. C. summer encampment at Camp Meade, Maryland boys corralled their share of honors. Out of eleven boys selected to go to the National competition, five were Terps.

Willard C. Jensen, a junior engineer, was high man and has been chosen team captain. Others to qualify were Bob Laughead, Merle Preble, George Meeks, and Tom Coleman. All made expert riflemen over a course requiring the firing of 70 rounds.

The procedure is as follows: The entire battalion fires the range; from this, thirty-five men were chosen. Then the thirty-five competed, out of which eleven were selected, according to their score, to go to Camp Perry, Ohio, for the National Rifle Matches.

Poultry Building Dedicated; Gov. O'Conor Present

More than one hundred and thirty-five delegates from thirty-nine nations took part in the Poultry Building dedicatory exercises at College Park, on July 26. His Excellency, Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, LL.B., Governor of Maryland, was the guest of honor and officially extended greetings to the assembled delegates of the World Poultry Congress. The Governor was introduced by Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, who first welcomed the delegates and poultrymen to the University campus. The occasion was Maryland's Poultry Day, held prior to the opening of the World's Poultry Congress to be held in Cleveland, Ohio. The exercises were held in the Agriculture Auditorium which was decorated with flags of many nations.

Buffet Luncheon

Following the exercises the delegates and almost a thousand poultry men of Maryland were guests of the University at a buffet luncheon held on the campus.

In the afternoon a tour of inspection was conducted through the new poultry plant of brooder houses, laying pens, etc., now under construction. The new poultry building is located east of the Horticulture Building and is expected to be completed in the fall.

The formal dedication was conducted by Mr. Harry H. Reick, president of the Maryland Poultrymen's Association, and Mr. Charles E. Pynchon, executive assistant of the Public Works Administration of the Federal Government.

Dr. Jull Presides

Dr. James E. Rice, Professor Emeritus of the Poultry Department of Cornell University, was the principal speaker. Mr. Karl Vetter of Germany, president of the World's Poultry Science Association, and Mr. Vezzani of Italy and Mr. Kock of Denmark, past presidents, gave brief responses to the Governor's words of greeting. Dr. T. B. Symons, '02, Director of Extension Service, gave a talk on the Poultry Industry of Maryland. Dr. Morley Jull, Head of the University's Poultry Department, was the presiding officer at the exercises. He is also secretary for the World's Poultry Congress being held in Cleveland, Ohio.

Terp Stickmen Gain National Crown

Maryland's lacrosse team has been acclaimed the 1939 national collegiate champion by the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association in an announcement made by Royce N. Flippin, president of the ruling organization.

The Terps earned the title over Navy by beating the Middies in a battle at Annapolis, 5 to 3, although the Sailors, like Maryland, lost only one collegiate game during the season.

Maryland's lone defeat was at the hands of Johns Hopkins, 6 to 3, in the final game of the campaign and came the Saturday following the grueling contest with the Navy. Hopkins, a mighty fine team, was at its peak that day while the Terps were below the standard they had shown in previous games. Several players were pretty well battered, Rip Hewitt, in particular, having a bandaged hand that was of little use to him.

Maryland has been to the forefront in lacrosse three times in the past four years, gaining the title outright in 1936, sharing it with Princeton in 1937 and losing it in 1938 by bowing to Navy, 8 to 7, after having a 7-to-3 lead.

Maryland will suffer only two great losses from the squad, Jim Meade, all-America second defense, and Hewitt, in home, who led the Terps in scoring with 26 goals.

Maryland's surprising 11-to-1 defeat of Mount Washington, which eventually won the national club honors, may have had some bearing on its selection for the top post, as the Mounts later scored over Navy by a one-point margin.

Jack Faber, head coach, and Al Heagy, defense mentor, turned out a polished Maryland outfit that at the outset did not figure to hang up such a fine record.

Dobson Recovering From Illness

Frank M. Dobson, Maryland's popular head football coach, is recovering from a sudden and serious illness that attacked him early in June while he was at West Point seeing his son, Jack, graduated from the Military Academy.

Dobson was in a hospital for quite a while after returning from West Point but now is at his home in the Westchester Apartments in Washington and gradually returning to normal.

It is hoped and expected that he will be ready to take full charge of the Terp gridders when they report for practice at College Park on September 1.

He again will have Jack Faber and Al Heagy as his aides and they have melded into a smooth trio in the several years they have worked together.

Lacrosse Coaches — HEAGY, '30, FABER, '26, and Manager, O'NEILL, '39

Jim Meade To Play With Redskins

Jim Meade, who starred on the grid and lacrosse field for Maryland over a stretch of three years, will try his hand at pro football this fall with the Washington Redskins.

Meade, who was an outstanding back for Maryland for two seasons, saw little action last fall, as he suffered a broken ankle in the game with Penn State on October 1 and never returned to the line-up.

He had shown enough in the two previous seasons, however, to convince George Marshall, owner of the Capital City team, that he had enough of what it takes to make good in the exacting pro game.

Meade, who is 6 feet 1 inch tall, and scales above 190, is sturdy, a fast starter, an excellent kicker, and able on defense.

It would be surprising if he failed to make the grade.

Places For Two Grid Games Shifted

Maryland has adjusted the sites of some of its 1939 football games so that it will have two "home" contests in Baltimore and three at College Park. Five others will be played on its hosts' fields.

It has been decided to play the Western Maryland game of October 7 in the Baltimore Stadium and to entertain Syracuse at College Park on November 25. This is just the reverse of the original listings. It was done primarily because Washington and Lee will be played in the Baltimore Stadium on Thanksgiving, just five days after Syracuse is met.

Hampden-Sydney in the opener on September 20 and Florida for homecoming on October 28 provide the other games at College Park.

Georgetown, to be played in Washington on November 11, also may be counted as a "home" tilt.

Here is the revised list:

Sept. 30—Hampden-Sydney at College Park.
Oct. 7—Western Maryland at Baltimore Stadium.
Oct. 14—Virginia at Charlottesville.
Oct. 21—Rutgers at New Brunswick.
Oct. 28—Florida at College Park (Homecoming).
Nov. 4—Penn State at State College.
Nov. 11—Georgetown at Washington.
Nov. 18—Virginia Military Institute at Norfolk Stadium.
Nov. 25—Syracuse at College Park.
Nov. 30—(Thanksgiving) — Washington and Lee at Baltimore Stadium.

Graduate Employment

An editorial in the Baltimore Sun gives encouraging news to College graduates. Employment opportunities for graduates look good. The following is a reprint of the editorial, by permission of the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Jobs For Graduates — College graduates of the current vintage, greeting. From a source which we regard as unimpeachable, comes good news. (Well, fairly good news.) Mr. King Merritt, vice-president of Investors Syndicate, in an interview with Consolidated News Features, has announced that "job prospects of college graduates this year are brighter than for several years."

You may recall that when 155,000 of you were getting ready for commencement on June 1, we delivered a baccalaureate sermon in which we pointed out a few facts obtained from the United States Department of the Interior. A study made by the Department's Office of Education showed that 98 per cent. of college men and 99 per cent. of college women have never been on relief, and that out of 46,000 alumni of 31 major universities and colleges, only 4 per cent. of the men and 7 per cent. of the women are now unemployed. The information furnished by Mr. Merritt is still more specific. He has compiled divisions of the country, showing the percentages of this year's graduation crop who will land jobs this summer. Here it is:

| Division | Per Cent. |
|---|---|
| West South Central | 91½ |
| Mountain States | 88 |
| West North Central | 78¾ |
| East South Central | 78¾ |
| Pacific States | 76½ |
| New England | 75½ |
| South Atlantic | 71 |
| East North Central | 68½ |
| Middle Atlantic | 62½ |

If this surprises you, it surprises us no less. The West South Central division, which tops the list, includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas—and we hadn't heard anything about a business boom down that way. The Middle Atlantic States (New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, in Mr. Merritt's table) are right on the bottom—for which there is no ready explanation, either. This year's graduates most in demand "are those qualified for teaching, engineering, business administration, salesmanship, medicine, law, accounting, agriculture, insurance, home economics, journalism, secretarial work and the ministry, in the order named." Due to rapid industrialization, the South Atlantic States offer a good field for engineers. Salesmanship ranks high in the Middle Atlantic States. According to Mr. Merritt, employers in all sections rate character first, scholarship second and adaptability third. Personality takes fourth place, so you had better not rely too strongly on that winning smile.

Pooling the information furnished by Mr. Merritt and the Department of the Interior, we reach the conclusion that though 8½ per cent. of you who live in the West South Central Division and 37½ per cent. of you who inhabit the Middle Atlantic States will still be looking for jobs at the end of the summer, all but a very small percentage of you will have found something to do before the next graduation crop comes on the market in June, 1940.

Note — The information so presented seems to bring back the yesteryear advice of "Go West, Young Man, Go West." However, it is our belief that business conditions will soon take another upturn and the 29 per cent. in the South Atlantic States (including Maryland) will diminish to a one-figure percentage. Keep in touch with the Alumni Office as you never know when your opportunity will appear.

RETIRES THIS YEAR

Dr. W. S. Small
Retiring Dean of the College of Education

Dr. W. S. Small Retires; Successor Appointed

Educator and author, Dr. Harold Benjamin has been appointed Dean of the College of Education, to succeed Dr. W. S. Small, who retires this year after fifteen years of service in the University.

Dr. Small can be commended for much of the development and advancement of the College of Education. He will be remembered by many Alumni whom he helped on the road of education.

Dr. Benjamin, formerly Dean of the College of Education, and Director of Summer School at the University of Colorado, brings quite a background in the development of secondary education. He is a graduate of Oregon in '21 and three years later got his Master's degree. In 1937 he got his Doctor's degree from Stanford. He served at the University of Minnesota as Assistant Dean of Education before going to Colorado.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and has been a delegate at numerous national and international educational conventions.

He belongs to many educational societies, including the National Society of College Teachers of Education.

During the World War he served with the 17th U. S. Artillery and the Army of Occupation. He was on the Mexican Border in 1916 with the Oregon Militia. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

Dr. Benjamin will assume his duties at College Park in September.

McAboy's home is in Washington, D. C., and his first assignment in the Navy is San Diego, Calif.

Pres. Magers, '14, LL.B., Visits College Park

The College Park Alumni Association had the honor of welcoming very distinguished guests on Alumni Day in the persons of the Hon. John F. Magers, '14, President of the Law Alumni Association, and Mrs. Magers.

The first event Mr. and Mrs. Magers attended was the Dedicatory Exercises at the Rossbourg Inn and was John pleased when he was met by the Colonial Dames and escorted through the building! It was hard to tell which interested John the most, the building or the dames. We wonder.

It was a pleasure to have Mr. and Mrs. Magers with us for the Alumni Dinner following the exercises.

Mary Harbaugh Campbell, Air Derby Winner

In an aerial fox hunt, taking off from the College Park Airport, Mary Harbaugh Campbell, '27, won second place in a competition with more experienced fliers. Mary had her first solo flight just three weeks prior to the meet, but observers praised her for handling the plane like a veteran.

The fox was George C. Brinkerhoff, proprietor of the airport. With a 45-minute headstart, he landed four times in a 30-mile square area, divided into quadrants, and pinned down a 6-foot marker. The hunters, knowing only that there was a marker in each quadrant, were required to locate them on the maps they carried.

Appointed To Faculty At Vassar

Mildred Hearn, '37, M.S. '38, has been appointed to the faculty at Vassar College as director of the cooperative house and assistant director of the halls. Mildred will also do some teaching in nutritions, her major subject in study for her Master's degree.

Cover Picture

It will be easier from now on to tell the time of day on the "Campus on the Hill." From the tower of the Arts and Science Building will come the well-known musical tones of the Westminster Chimes striking the hour of day. The chimes are a gift of several classes, but were inspired by the class of 1938.

Chairman of the committee to formulate ways and means of procuring the chimes was Miss Eleanor Quirk, '38. President of her class was Robert Walton of Baltimore. President of the class of 1939 was Joe Pitzer and with the help of many co-workers the project now becomes a reality.

The chimes will add much to the traditions of the old campus, establishing a desire in the hearts of the former students to return to the campus and hear that which makes college days pleasant memories.

Alumni of Maryland

The opening of the new school year is near at hand. While many of us cherish the traditions of Old Maryland we now have a new Maryland, modern in every respect. It has grown larger each year, its standards are of the best and with its constantly expanding program of education it ranks high among the finest Universities of America.

As an Alumnus of this great institution, what are your plans for the year? We are counting on you to become one of the loyal workers and supporters if you are not already in that group. Take more interest in the affairs of the University. Attend its athletic events regularly. Become acquainted with the members of the Faculty. Your presence on the campus a few times during

Won Women's Citizenship Award

Helen Reindollar, '39

Miss Helen Reindollar, '39, one of the outstanding members of the senior class, received the Citizenship Award which goes to the woman who, during her four years, typifies the model citizen and has done most for the University.

Helen was the women's editor of The Diamondback and was active in many extra-curricular activities. She was President of the Women's League and a member of the Calvert Debate Club. Helen is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Delta Epsilon, an honorary journalistic fraternity. She is a resident of Baltimore.

Married—Miss Virginia Long, '40, of Selbyville, Delaware, and a prominent member of the University Student Band, has married Mr. William A. Law, a grad of Temple University. They are now living at West Lawn, Pennsylvania.

J. G. O'Connor, '12, Knows Foreign Service

Manager of the foreign service department of the Standard Oil of New Jersey is J. G. O'Conor, '12. He is the older brother of His Excellency Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, who is Governor of Maryland. Mr. O'Conor's travels have carried him to many parts of the world, but he found time this spring to stop by and watch his Alma Mater in a game of lacrosse.

His duties have kept him away so much in the fall that he has missed the football games but he hopes for better luck this year. His New York address is 26 Broadway.

Senator Tydings, '10, Receives Boom For Presidency

Sponsored by the Calvert Club of Baltimore, Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10, is being boomed for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1940. Senator Tydings was consulted by the officers of the Club before the campaign was formally launched and gave his consent. The Senator expressed gratification and appreciation for the interest of the Club in his behalf.

The Calvert Club took an active part in the Senator's recent campaign for re-election to the Senate, which was won by an overwhelming majority.

The Calvert Club is composed of Baltimore Democrats, many of whom are Maryland graduates, which makes it all the more evident that we all have particular interest in the progress of our eminent Alumnus.

Senator Tydings began his political career in Harford County and by leaps and bounds went through the State Legislature. He was Speaker of the House, then entered the United States Congress and in 1927 he was elected United States Senator from Maryland.

The Senator had his toughest political struggle in the 1938 primary when he was opposed by Mr. David J. Lewis, a Presidential sponsored candidate, but Senator Tydings came through with colors flying for the Free State of Maryland. To the best of our records, he is the second Alumnus to be sponsored for the Presidential nomination. The late Albert C. Ritchie, former Governor of Maryland, was the other Alumnus.

Senator Tydings is classed among the conservatives and one who has openly opposed some New Deal projects. He is a World War veteran and has several decorations for gallantry in the line of duty. He is a native of Maryland, born and raised in Harford County and continues to reside there. He finished at the College Park Schools of the University in 1910, and then took a Law course, receiving his degree and admission to the Bar in 1913.

Chester W. Tawney, a member of the Calvert Club should be contacted if any Alumnus desires posters, stickers, etc. His address is Northwood Apartments, Baltimore, Maryland.

Editor's Note — I am sure THE NEWS expresses the thoughts of every Alumnus when we say the "Best of Success, Fellow Alumnus. We are for you."

Woolford, '89, Builder Of Large Public Service

Just before the turn of the present century, Messrs. Cator and Guy Woolford, brothers, started a credit reporting agency (for retail merchants and department stores) now known as the Retail Credit Company of Atlanta, Georgia. They were—as the passing years have clearly demonstrated—young men of integrity, ability, enthusiasm and vision. They were hard workers, too, and the business grew. One day, while soliciting a life insurance agency for credit reports on life insurance applicants who wanted to give notes for premiums, they learned that one life insurance company was making its own "inspection reports" (data regarding character, habits, and health history) on life insurance applicants. Inquiry then showed that other companies were endeavoring to obtain such reports, and that many companies felt the need for that type of information. Although the information required in such instances was considerably different from that necessary in strictly retail credit reporting, the young and small organization began serving in this field. At first, the service was limited to Atlanta and its vicinity, but very soon, largely at the request of the life insurance companies who were using the service, the company began extending its facilities. Thus was born what is now an international reporting agency serving many kinds of insurance and commercial organizations.

Mr. Cator Woolford proved to be quite gifted in matters of organization, sales, and personnel—selecting, training, and developing men. Mr. Woolford's ability with men goes back to his college days when he was top sergeant of a cadet company which won second place in the National Encampment and Drill held in Washington, D. C., in 1887. In this company was the Honorable Melvin C. Hazen, now Commissioner of the District of Columbia, also Dr. L. B. Johnson of Morganza, Maryland, a classmate of Mr. Hazen.

Mr. Guy Woolford was particularly talented along the line of efficient and scientific office operations. The business progressed and the facilities were expanded gradually on a conservative financial basis. No outside capital was used and the company is still a closed corporation; the stock is owned by officers and a large number of key employees.

Guy Woolford, '89

There are branch offices throughout the United States and Canada and in a few foreign countries. The full-time personnel numbers more than 2,000. In addition there are part-time representatives in practically every community in North America and in the principal cities of most foreign countries.

The Retail Credit Company gathers and furnishes information on people for business purposes—such information being used by customers, mainly in connection with insurance and long-term credit transactions. Customers include practically all the life, fire, and casualty insurance companies in the United States and Canada; also a large number of manufacturers, distributors, and finance companies who operate nationally or sectionally.

Dr. Lewis Allen, M. D., '96, Physician And Horseman

'Tis a good doctor who has gained a reputation in the medical world, but to gain also national prominence in another profession is for an eminent Alumnus such as Dr. Lewis Allen, '96, of Northern Virginia. Not only is he a prominent physician in obstetrics, but he has carried on the traditions of Virginia as the land of thoroughbred horses.

Dr. Shipley, '02, Resigns; Dr. Aycock, '24, Successor

RESIGNS

Dr. Arthur M. Shipley, '02

APPOINTED

Dr. T. B. Aycock, '24

In recognition of his twenty-eight years of service to the City Hospitals of Baltimore, Dr. Arthur M. Shipley, '02, was tendered a testimonial dinner by members of the hospital and medical staffs. Dr. Shipley had recently rendered his resignation as Surgeon-in-Chief of Staff and in doing so had said, "For the good of the service and a younger man is needed."

Dr. Shipley, however, retains his position as Professor of Surgery at the University Medical School.

His successor as Surgeon-in-Chief of Staff for the City Hospitals is Dr. Thomas B. Aycock, '24, a prominent young surgeon of Baltimore.

Began In 1911

Dr. Shipley began his services with the Baltimore City Hospitals in 1911 and through his accomplishment in the surgical profession attained the position of Chief of Surgical Service. He now has been made Chief Consulting Surgeon and chairman of the Medical Advisory Board.

His achievements in the surgical field have been acclaimed far and wide. He entered the Medical Corps in the World War as a Captain, later attaining the rank of Major. He was the guest speaker at the meeting of the North Pacific Surgical Association in Spokane, Washington, in 1938. He also presented a post-graduate course at the meeting of American College of Surgeons held in Baltimore in 1939, and the Medical Association of North America. Recently he was elected to the Surgical Society of America.

Member of Fourth Regiment

His successor, Dr. Aycock, is having success come his way. He has been connected with the Medical School of the University since 1927 when he began as an assistant in Surgery and instructor in Anatomy. Today he is Clinical Professor of Surgery. Dr. Aycock became a member of the City Hospitals Staff as visiting surgeon in 1931 and by his splendid services in surgery he received the appointment as Surgeon-in-Chief of Staff. He is a member of the Fourth Medical Regiment with the rank of Major. His interest in the Medical Alumni Association has been constant. Since graduation he has served on the board and as secretary of the Association.

In July this year Dr. Aycock was invited to present a paper before the American Medical Association meeting held in San Francisco. Mrs. Aycock accompanied him on this trip across the country. Following the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Aycock toured the Pacific Coast, returning by way of Canada.

Dr. Lewis Allen, M. D., '96

Dr. Allen was born near Berryville in 1874. Attended the University of Virginia and later the University of Maryland Medical School, from which he graduated in 1896. His mother, Mrs. Robert Omen Allen, the former Miss Edith Howard, died in child-birth and so it was not only the search of a profession that led Dr. Allen to become a specialist in obstetrics. Following graduation he studied in Berlin, Vienna, Dresden, Munich and Leipsic. Afterwards he was an associate professor of obstetrics at the University's Medical School until 1910.

He returned to Berryville and began his medical career, which has done so much for Northern Virginia. At Blue Ridge Summit in Pennsylvania he was the attending physician at the birth of Wallis Warfield, the present Duchess of Windsor.

Thoroughbreds His Hobby

But perhaps Dr. Lew, as he is familiarly called, is as well known in equine circles. He inherited a natural love for horses. His father was a cavalry leader and his brother was a prominent horseman.

Dr. Lew has successfully carried on the traditions of thoroughbred breeding which was started by his great-grandfather, David Hume Allen, in 1810.

Not only has he upheld a century old tradition but at the same time has done more for Northern Virginia, than any other man through his practice of obstetrics.

The Lure of the East

BY ANITA PETERS BURLEIGH, '29

The Queen Mary leaves her berth without the tugboats which have always assisted before. It is some moments before the large ship swings around, just clearing the Italian Line pier and the Cunard Line platform, on which our friends are waving us farewell and bon voyage. Captain Irving's spectacular feat of taking the Queen Mary out under her own power will surely break the tugboat strike!

Farewell to New York, as the skyline fades in the distance—farewell to America, as we pass Miss Liberty!

London

We are bound for London—the London of fond memories, and of quaint St. Ethelburga's, the only Church to have withstood the London fire and the one in which we were married only a year ago. But London looks changed—her lovely green parks are scarred with bomb-proof shelters, and her people are grimly determined to face war if it should come. Our friends show us where anti-aircraft guns have been stationed on the apartment-house roof, and the small gas masks with which their children have been fitted. The old peace and repose still linger at Windsor Castle, Stratford-on-Avon, and Hampton Court, we are glad to find.

Paris

And now to Paris! We make the most of our time by taking in four night clubs the first night, and by exploring the gardens of Versailles to our heart's content the next day. How lovely the woods are in their vivid fall coloring as we wander through them to come unexpectedly upon a statue, a fountain, or an exquisite amphitheatre. And then we explore further by carriage when our feet begin to complain.

But we are anxious to return to Italy—the scene of our honeymoon. We awake early in the morning to catch a glimpse from the window of the Simplon-Orient Express of our favorite spot in Switzerland—lovely Montreux, set on the edge of the lake with the towering Alps above, and projecting out into the lake the medieval Chateau d'Chillon, wherein Bonnivard, as immortalized by Byron, was imprisoned.

Venice

As we hurry on to Venice we enjoy the high Italian Alps and pass inviting lakes. To see St. Mark's again at sunset, to pass in our gondola at midnight and hear enchanting voices floating down to us from the bridge overhead—this is Venice as it is and has always been!

Leaving Venice, we sail down the blue Adriatic, which becomes grey and less friendly as we approach Crete. We are told that the moon's total eclipse, which we watch from the sun-deck, may be responsible for our rough seas. However, not even now do we spoil our perfect reputation as sailors!

Egypt

The African coast emerges from the distant haze as our cruise across the Mediterranean nears an end. Fascinating Egypt and the East—what thoughts of the Arabian Nights and the Magic Carpet come back to us! And, indeed, this seems a make-believe world with its turbaned peoples, it conglomeration of tongues and colors. We must see everything—the intriguing shops in the Souks (or bazaars), the native quarters, the beautiful mosques with their priceless mosaics and prayer rugs and their romantic minarets. The Pyramids and Sphinx under the full moon, the Royal Tombs, the camels, the white sails on the Nile, these all appear to us as in a dream. We meet friends in Cairo with whom we had celebrated New Year's in Rome the previous year, and this helps to orient us as to reality.

Arabia

And then from Suez we embark upon the bluest of waters we have ever seen—the Red Sea. We pass the Sinai Peninsula on our left, and recall that this is where Moses and the people of Israel wandered for forty years in the Wilderness.

Football Squad Of 50 Gathers September 5

Maryland will start football practice on Tuesday, September 5, with a squad of approximately 50 aspirants that will include 17 letter men. The others will come from the 1938 frosh and the junior varsity of last fall.

Coach Frank Dobson, who will return from his vacation about September 1, again will have Jack Faber and Al Heagy, two Maryland grads, as his aides, with Al Woods, another former Terp athlete, as freshman mentor.

Maryland has above average material as far as Terp gridders go, but will be overmatched in manpower by every team it will meet, with the exception of Hampden-Sidney, which will be played in the opener at College Park September 30.

17 Letter Men Return

Most of Maryland's regulars doubtless will come from the following 17 letter men:

Ends — Francis Beamer, Frank Dwyer, Leo Mueller and Dick Shaffer, the last a reserve halfback last year.

Tackles — Bob Brown, Ralph Albarano, Bill Krouse, Bob Cochrane and Frank Blazek, who has been shifted from end.

Guards — George Lawrence and Edward Lloyd.

Center — Bob Smith.

Backs — Joe Murphy, Frank Skotnicki, John Boyda, Bob Brand, and Fred Widener.

George Gienger, guard, out most of 1938 with an injury; Pershing Mondorff, shelved early last fall with an appendectomy; Milton Lumsden, back, and Frank Heyer, guard, who won their way up from the jayvees; and Merle DuVall, quarterback; John Cordyack, back; Ralph Burlin, guard, and Jim Wharton, center, from 1st year's fall frosh, also will furnish some of the regulars and first-string reserves.

Mondorff, who won his letter in 1937; Gienger and DuVall, and possibly Lumsden, figure to be regulars or near-regulars.

The Lure of the East

The sea is calm and we should like to sail longer on its sunny waters. We land in Holy Arabia, the scene of the pilgrimages to Mecca and Medina. Before us is a city of white buildings four and five stories in height, and purplish mountains rising beyond the white sandy beaches which are strewn with lovely shells and corals. We shall select some of these mollusks for the Smithsonian Institute, as that museum is anxious to have a complete collection from the Red Sea. We are shown Eve's tomb, where the two hundred foot lady is said to have been buried. We have the rare opportunity of crossing by caravan to the Persian Gulf, stopping enroute at King Ibn Saud's Palace in Riyadh and later in his hunting encampment outside the city, where we are graciously granted an audience with His Majesty.

Alumni of Maryland

the year will give much encouragement to the officials of Maryland.

You can do much to encourage outstanding high school graduates from your community to attend the University of Maryland. Make it your business to know the local school officials, aid them in their guidance programs and assist in building a better local educational program. This will aid education generally. If in business where you use new employees with University training, give the Maryland graduates a chance.

Membership in the Alumni Association costs only $2.00 per year. You cannot afford not to belong. Help us build a larger, stronger and better Association. Take pride in your Alma Mater. Boost and continue to boost.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES W. SYLVESTER,
President.

Cover Picture

One of the important cogs on the football squad is that congenial, enthusiastic, optimistic and cheerful manager. He takes it all with a smile from victory to defeat, including the aches and pains. Next to the coaches he is the best psychologist on the field. His slogan is Keep on fighting, pals, and I will pick up the pieces. The gentleman who adorns our publication is "Reds" Miller, because his hair says so.

Alumni of Maryland

The call to the Maryland Terrapins for football practice brought awakening to loyal Alumni and a desire to see them in action again. The schedule for 1939 is interesting and while opposition will be strong, Maryland will, as usual, give every opposing team a real battle. It is reported that we will be overmatched in manpower but, with above average material, our coaching staff will do all in their power to develop a team that will "go places".

Make your plans to attend as many games as possible this fall. The team needs your support. Show by your attendance that you are alive and interested in the affairs of the University.

"Homecoming Day", on October 28, should be a banner day. Florida will meet Maryland. This means plenty of "fireworks" and will provide an afternoon of thrills and excitement. Thousands of our Alumni and their friends should be at College Park this year. Make it the outstanding day of all times and one always to be remembered.

Let us begin to look forward to the Charter Day Banquet in Baltimore on January 20, 1940. Plans are already under way for a big affair. With your support, we

HOMECOMING CALLS!

Old Grads Return Saturday, October 28

Probably no time of the year causes the oldest or the youngest grad to get the old familiar college thrill more than the fall. School starts, vacations are over, and the famous collegiate pastime, football, is on the threshold of another chapter in history-making.

It is this time of the year when practically every man takes pride in having a collegiate affiliation. And when you say "Homecoming", it is just like that extra pep talk to boost your enthusiasm. Here's your opportunity to turn back the pages of time and be in the atmosphere of youth again.

Florida Is Grid Opponent

The annual Terp reunion will be Saturday, October 28, at College Park, with the "'Gators" of Florida providing the gridiron opposition. In addition, the student body presents a day of entertainment similar to a Mardi Gras. The fraternities and sororities decorate their homes; some enter floats in a parade at the half-time of the game. Many of the Clubs participate in this most colorful spectacle. Then there's that traditional tug-'o-war between the ambitious Frosh and the sophisticated Sophs. After the game, the old grads mix and mingle, dine and dance with old pals and new friends. It is all a day of gayety with fellowship and friendship holding sway. The enthusiasm and hilarity begin Friday night at a pep rally and bonfire. The leader of the rally will probably be Sam Regester, '76, one of our oldest living Alumni. "Sam", as he tells the boys to call him, never misses any part of the program.

Among the prominent old timers will probably be Dr. W. W. Skinner and Parker Mitchell, of the first team which made history for the Old Liners. Also the members of the football team of twenty-five years ago will be on hand.

Every old grad should make his plans now to be present. Charles Sylvester, '08, and Don Adams, '28, presidents of the Alumni Association and "M" Club, respectively, will lead the return.

Traveling Terps Meet On Coast

During the summer a reunion of Traveling Terps was held in the Cadet Lounge at the North Island Naval Air Station in San Diego. Boy Slye, '36, and Sam Silber, '34, both Ensigns in the Navy Flying Corps, were hosts to Lieutenant and Mrs. Louis Ennis, '36 (the former Marjorie Higgins), Fredrica Waldman, '39, Audrey Bosley, '40, and Sarah Ann Vaiden, '40.

It was some meeting said Lieutenant and Mrs. Ennis, who visited the campus this summer. Lou, a Lieutenant in the Marine Corps, has been ordered to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where he will attend the Army Artillery School this year.

Arsenal—Perry P. Cowgill, '31, a graduate in Mechanical Engineering, now is with the U. S. Government and located at the Frankport Arsenal in Philadelphia.

Cator Woolford, '89

This picture appeared in the previous issue of The News as Guy Woolford, when it should have been Cator Woolford, the founder of Retail Credit Corporation. The News regrets the error.

Enrollment Climbing; 1100 Freshmen Enter

Even with the advance in scholastic requirements the enrollment continues to increase. Each year it goes up and the higher standard does not seem to stem the tide.

Again the new school year opens with a fifteen per cent. increase. More than eleven hundred freshmen have started their collegiate career. In addition, a larger percentage of upper classmen have returned, bringing the total enrollment to more than three thousand students at College Park. In Baltimore, professional schools will bring the entire University enrollment close to five thousand, the largest student body in the history of our University.

The new boys' dormitories were filled before negotiations began and the girls' dormitories, too, were filled quite early in the summer. Buildings were being rushed to completion to meet this increase which has been accomplished in the boys' dormitories and the Dining Hall. Every college had an increase in registration with the Arts and Science Department having the largest.

More than half of this number reside on the campus or in the vicinity of College Park. The fraternity and sorority houses in some cases have a waiting list for the first time in many years.

The old grads who were here in the days when there were only a few hundred students will behold a spectacle on Homecoming Day, Saturday, October 28. The campus is alive with many ambitious young people.

The Lure of the East

BY ANITA PETERS BURLEIGH, '29

(Concluded from August Issue)

Persian Gulf

On Bahrein Island we haunt the Souk for the famous Bahrein pearls, for the pearl fisheries are located here, and for brass coffee-pots and trays, and the lovely carved woods from the Kashmir.

We leave to sail up the Persian Gulf, and into the Shatt el Arab River, which later divides and forms the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. The banks of Iraq on our left and of Iran on our right are lined with date palm trees—for this is the center of the world's date industry. We learn that each tree is hand pollinated. The beauty of the palm gardens, the picturesque canals running inland from the river's edge, and the pink oleander blossoms reflected in the water along the shore made a surprisingly beautiful picture through which we sailed for a day.

At Basra we go ashore for a short visit before boarding the train for Baghdad. In our train compartment we are thankful for the fans which somewhat relieve the heat and dust as we speed across the sand. We learn that the stop made during the night occurred when we ran over a guard who evidently had fallen alseep on the track.

Magic Carpet

We soon find that Baghdad does not live up to its Magic Carpet reputation, but we do enjoy the bazaars where we indulge in some attractive Mosul rugs and the famous Amarah silver-work, which secret process, by the way, is being exhibited at the Iraq Pavilion of the New York Fair by the brother of our silversmiths.

The air-conditioned Nairn bus which takes us to Damascus crosses the Syrian Desert by night. We are given a box lunch at 8:30 and at 2:30 A. M. We are awakened for dinner upon our arrival at the wells. Distance in the desert is measured not by miles, but the distance between water-holes!

Damascus is indeed like an emerald, set among its green gardens and surrounded by mountains—some of which are still snow-capped. We visit the beautifully built Mosques with their courtyards of flowers and fountains, and stop at the tomb of Salahud Din, who led the forces of Islam in the Crusades. In the old city wall we are shown the window through which St. Paul escaped by being lowered in a basket. We spend a couple days in the Souk, where we add to our collection of Persian rugs, Oriental necklaces and bracelets, brass and copper ware, and old pistols and daggers sheathed in silver and semi-precious stones. What a shopper's paradise—where one can unearth veritable treasures in these old shops lining the bazaars!

By car we go to Baalbeck, where we explore the ruins of the beautiful temples of Jupiter, Bacchus, and Venus, set in the valley of Baal and hemmed in by the snow-covered Lebanons. We see the stones of the original Roman temple to Baal, built on this site 3,000 years B. C. Here is an opportunity to purchase some old coins found by the natives among the ruins.

Continuing toward Beirut we pass through fields yellow with grain which are being harvested by men in Arab headdress and veiled women. They are harvesting by hand—a few of them have sickles to assist them—and they look for all the world like the canvas of "The Gleaners" come to life. Here again, the snow on the mountains in the background makes an unusual contrast to the golden fields of grain.

At Beirut we run into old friends, as we have been fortunate in doing all along the way. We enjoy paddling or idly floating over the blue Mediterranean on the little individual canvas boats which our hotel furnishes us. Our terrace on which we tea-dance and dine overlooks the water, and at our favorite restaurant we throw coins over the rail and watch the boys dive for them. We are taken through the beautiful campus of the American University by two former graduates, and ponder upon the wonderful work this college has done throughout the Near East.

From now on we are on our homeward journey—but we look forward to it with much anticipation. We gaze at Mt. Carmel from our ship, but do not go ashore at Haifa because of the recent disturbances in Palestine.

From The Diamondback

Dear Alumnus:

You no doubt are aware that another college year is starting and with it all the activities and current events that are attached to your rapidly growing Alma Mater. Though you have lost your undergraduate standing, as an Alumnus you have gained a more vital position on the University of Maryland's records. In this capacity you owe it to the University and to yourself to keep posted in regard to current weekly news on the University campus. This can really only be accomplished through the semi-weekly paper, The Diamondback.

This publication is assisting in a special attempt to bring the Alumni closer to their Alma Mater and it can only succeed in this through your cooperation in subscribing. Being Old Liners, you are familiar with the paper and the service it renders. No salesmanship is necessary; our only purpose in contacting you is to offer you the means to satisfy that interest you have in regard to the University and student affairs.

Yes, you do receive The Alumni News, but The Diamondback offers you more current news and opens many fields of events that can not be covered by your magazine.

With the hope that you will desire not to lose contact with your Alma Mater, may we remind you that the subscription price for the full school year is two dollars ($2.00) and that subscriptions should be sent to:

Circulation Manager, The Diamondback, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

We shall hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely yours,

Ralph J. Tyser,
Circulation Manager.

Quaint Acres—In a contact with Quaint Acres, near Silver Spring, Maryland, a fruit and nursery farm, it was learned that H. W. Quaintance, '23, better known as "Phoebe", is a member of the firm. Also Mr. and Mrs. Quaintance have a family consisting of a boy and a girl. The girl is the older and goes by the name of Phoebe, while the boy has the name of John Altus. Mrs. Quaintance was formerly Miss Dorothy Davis of Eastern Shore.

Maryland Leases 1800 Acres From Government

Leasing 1800 acres from the Federal Government for recreational and educational purposes, the University of Maryland announced that "Browning's Tract", an area in Garrett County, was officially turned over to the school in a ninety-nine year lease on August 9.

Its primary use will be for a demonstration and field practice area in the teaching, research work, and investigating of forestry, engineering, the biological sciences, and wildlife management.

The tract will have facilities for picnicking, camping, swimming, winter sports, and other recreational activities.

Law—The firm of McNeill and Edwards, attorneys and counselors at law, announce the opening of their offices in the Heurich Building, 1827 K Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. Earl Edwards, '34, a member of Phi Delta Theta, got his LL.D. from National University in 1937. He married Martha Cannon, '35, a member of A. O. Pi.

Gov. O'Conor Will Head Dedication

Headed by Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, a full day's program has been planned for October 21, when the new livestock and dairy buildings and plant will be dedicated. The event is expected to attract the largest gathering of stockmen and dairymen ever assembled at the University.

The new facilities for service to this important phase of Maryland agriculture rank among the best of their kind in this country. The visitors on Dedication Day will have opportunity to inspect the new buildings and livestock, as well as hear addresses by officials and specialists of the University and from outside the State. A buffet luncheon will be served on the campus at noon.

Public Relations Man—Ralph Chase, '23, former manager of the county dispensary system, now is to be made public relations man for the new administration in Montgomery County, a position created recently by the Legislature. He resides at 435 Raymond Street, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

University Installs Air Course

Culminating a year's drive to secure flight training courses at the University, Dean Sidney S. Steinberg announced this week that the Civil Aeronautic Authority has approved Maryland's application and training will begin this semester.

The purpose of the program is to provide sufficient training to prepare a student for a private pilot certificate of competency. A full year's course will be offered in two parts, consisting of ground school and flight instruction.

Joslyn Acting Head Of Sociology

Dr. C. S. Joslyn has been appointed professor and acting head of the Sociology Department.

Serving with Dr. Joslyn is Dr. Logan Wilson from Harvard University who enters the department this year as an associate professor. Acting as an assistant professor is Mr. Robert N. Woodworth from the University of North Carolina.

THE LURE OF THE EAST

At Alexandria we disembark to see Pompey's Pillar and other places of interest missed on our first visit.

Our next stop is Athens, where we spend a marvelous day on the Acropolis. We find the Parthenon and Erectheum even surpass our life-long expectations of them—they are indeed superb! In the Olympic Stadium one of our friends—a former University of California track star—demonstrates how the discus should be thrown, putting to shame the modern as well as ancient Greeks!

Enroute to Naples we pass through the narrow Straits of Messina, at the toe of Italy, and watch the twinkling lights on the steep hillsides. We enjoy again Mt. Vesuvius, Pompeii, Herculaneum, and the unsurpassable Amalfi Drive—with lunch at the old Cappuchini Monastery. We do not land on the Isle of Capri this time, but pass close by and recall her brightly colored houses and the Blue Grotto, illuminated by its silvery blue water.

At Naples and later at Leghorn we see many Italian battleships and submarines in the harbor.

We drive from Genoa along the picturesque Italian Riviera, passing the Castle of the Crown Prince and stopping at the fascinating fishing village of Portofino to purchase lace from the women working in the sunny streets.

Near Marseilles we visit the Chateau d'If and are shown how the Count of Monte Cristo is supposed to have effected his escape from the prison island.

We pass Gibraltar, through the Gates of Hercules, and follow the Spanish coast for a distance, admiring the patchwork fields rich with grain, and straining our eyes to see any marks of the recent civil war left on the city of Cadiz. We gaze at the coast of Tangiers with a sigh, and know that we are really homeward bound for we have just been handed our customs declarations blanks!

Marines—It is now First Lieutenant Louis Ennis of the United States Marine Corps by recent promotion. A member of the class of '36, Lou is remembered for his powers on the gridiron and president of the Student Government Association. He was a lacrosse star and Colonel of the R. O. T. C. For his outstanding leadership he was awarded the Citizenship Prize and the Silvester Medal in his senior year. The best of success to you, Lou.

Salisbury—Bettie Harcum, '38, now is secretary to Dr. Phillip Insley, '30, M.D. '34, in Salisbury, Md.

Married—Roy C. Meinzer, '38, and Miss Shirley Dorothy Quesada of Washington were married July 25. Best man was David Mitchell, '39, and other Alumni were ushers—Keith Lawson, '38, Ray Pittman, '38 and Richard Lynt, '39. The newlyweds will reside at 1712 Hampton Blvd., Norfolk, Virginia. Roy is with the Portsmouth Navy Yard as a mechnical engineer.

Old Line Athletic Contributions

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Hampden-Sydney Clash Is Test For Terps

With the opening game with Hampden-Sydney at College Park, September 30, at hand, the Maryland grid squad is only fairly well set to tackle the Tigers, always one of the most capable small college elevens in the East. It will be the first time the Terps and Tigers have battled on the gridiron, although they have met in other pastimes.

Hampden-Sydney, with 17 letter men, enjoys the benefit of the experience of the game with Virginia at Charlottesville on September 23 for its visit to College Park. It is not such a heavy eleven, but is one of the fastest and versatile to represent the Tigers. It is said to be particularly well prepared for an aerial attack.

Smith Coaches Tigers

H. E. Smith, one-time Furman star, who has been assistant for a number of years, is head coach of the Tigers, Charlie Bernier, head coach for many years, having decided to devote his time to the athletic directorship.

Hampden-Sydney has 41 men on its squad, which is two more than the Terps can boast.

The Terps have lost Bob Smith, regular center, for the opener, but the veteran snapperback again is practicing. Jim Wharton, a 160-pound soph, is filling Smith's place but, unless injuries should remove others, the starting team for the inaugural otherwise will be veteran.

Training Two Teams

Coach Frank Dobson's plans call to keep two teams going as nearly intact as possible and with Smith and all others available for duty this pair of outfits line up as follows:

Beamer and Shaffer, ends; Brown and Albarano, tackles; Gienger and Lawrence, guards; Smith, center; Murphy, quarter; Mondorff and Skotnicki, halfbacks; Lumsden, fullback.

Mueller and Dwyer, ends; Krouse and Blazek, tackles; Morton and Lloyd, guards;

LOSSES FROM 1938 VARSITY

End—Nick Budkoff; Guard—John DeArmey; Center—Jim Forrester; Backs—Jim Meade, Charlie Weidinger and Fred Hewitt. Meade was a powerhouse for two seasons, but broke an ankle October 1, last fall; Budkoff played in only one 1938 game; Weidinger was a great passer and fine runner, while DeArmey, Forrester and Hewitt were clever reserves.

Terrapin 1939 Squad

Front Row — Gienger, Garrett, Vial, Dunn, Lloyd, Brand, Mueller, Rigby.

Second Row — Lawrence, Boyda, Murphy, Smith, Beamer, Skotnicki, Brown, Dwyer, Shaffer, Albarano.

Third Row — DuVall, McNeil, Heyer, Ulman, Cordyack, Bright, Blazek, Krouse, Morton, Abell.

Back Row — Hepburn, MacKenzie, Cochrane, Lumsden, Manager Miller, Hunt, Miller, Burlin, Wharton, Mondorff.

Hampden-Sydney Clash Is Test For Terps

Wharton, center; DuVall, quarter; Boyda and Ulman, halfbacks; Widener, fullback.

Gienger, Morton, and Lumsden, who are juniors, and Wharton, DuVall, and Ulman, who are sophs, are the only non-letter men on the first two elevens.

Passers And Kickers

DuVall and Mondorff have been doing the best passing, with Murphy and Boyda also throwing the ball. All four are kickers, with Mondorff and Murphy excelling.

Murphy is the speedster of these two combinations with Vernon Miller, Elmer Rigby, and Gene Ochsenreiter, three other fliers, on the reserve list. Rigby, though, has two broken bones in his hand and won't be available for a game or two.

There is plenty of weight and speed in the Terp squad but football experience is somewhat lacking.

ALUMNI FOOTBALL RALLY

RUTGERS - MARYLAND GAME
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.
SATURDAY, OCT. 21

Following the Rutgers-Maryland football game at New Brunswick, N. J., on Saturday, October 21, the New York Alumni Group will hold an Alumni Rally and Cocktail Party at the Woodrow Wilson Hotel, as announced by James Dingman, president. The hotel is located near the stadium. Chairman of the meeting is Malcom Rich, '23, with Don Kieffer, '29, as his able assistant.

The Philadelphia Group, headed by A. Moulton McNutt, '06, president, and John P. Mudd, '07, secretary, will join with the New Yorkers in promoting this affair.

For tickets in the Maryland section, Alumni are requested to write Rutgers Athletic Office, New Brunswick, N. J. On the day of the game go to the Maryland side and ask for tickets in the special section.

A record attendance is expected. Do not miss it.

Pair Of Grid Dates Still Uncertain

Two Maryland football dates still are somewhat undecided. It seems certain that the Washington and Lee tilt, booked originally for November 30 in the Baltimore Stadium, will be played December 2, if at all; it is likely that the Syracuse clash on the card for November 25 at College Park will be moved to the 23rd, the new Turkey Day date, and it has been decided that the Western Maryland battle, slated for the Baltimore Stadium on October 7, will be staged at night.

Maryland's policy is against night football as a general thing, and playing the Terrors under arcs, is in the nature of an experiment and will not lead to more than one such contest a season.

Virginia—Roy C. Meinzer, '38, a graduate engineer, now is located in Norfolk, Virginia, at 1712 Hampton Boulevard.

Grapevine News About Those We Know

"Look, Pop! It's a Homer!"

Not last week's game; not something that happened yesterday; not even a minute ago. But right now! Seeing things — miles away — at the very instant they happen! That's the new thrill that television now makes possible.

BUT television is destined to do more than this for us. The foundation is laid for a whole new industry—careers for artists; jobs for hundreds of engineers and thousands of skilled workmen making television transmitters and receivers; jobs for thousands more selling and servicing this new product and providing the raw materials required. These are important possibilities of television.

For more than 60 years, General Electric scientists, engineers, and workmen have been finding new ways for electricity to serve the public — in factory, farm, and home. The new products and services made possible by their work have helped to produce the steady rise in the living standards of the American people.

And right now, as television emerges from the laboratory to take its place among the accomplished marvels of this age of electricity, these G-E pioneers are once again creating, not only "More Goods for More People at Less Cost," but also MORE AND BETTER JOBS AT HIGHER WAGES.

G-E research and engineering have saved the public from ten to one hundred dollars for every dollar they have earned for General Electric

Cover Picture

On the cover is an etching reproduction of the historically famous Rossborough Inn. It is the oldest structure on the University of Maryland campus and has been restored to its original colonial architecture as built in 1795. Our Alumni do not remember this building as it is now because the old building had been reconstructed in 1888, but they will remember the location as that has not been changed. The changes that have taken place are pleasing to look at and every Alumnus will rejoice in seeing the old landmark properly restored.

All indications now point to the building being used as a historical museum. It will be furnished in period furniture many pieces of which have already been promised by Maryland families of Colonial fame. If any Alumnus wishes to make any contributions to this collection, please communicate with the Alumni Secretary, also if you hear of anyone who might be interested in adding to this collection.

Greetings! Alumni of Maryland

October 28, 1939, is the date for our "Annual Homecoming." Committees are at work and plans for the day include events which should bring you back to Maryland. For several years, there has been an increasing interest in this annual affair. Let us "go over the top" in a big way and let the world know that we are a part of the great University of Maryland.

Early on Saturday, the 28th, you should take a trip around the campus and become acquainted with its many marvelous building changes. Learn also of the educational

Homecoming To Present Terrapin Luminaries; Charley Keller, Guest Of Honor

Among the luminaries who will be present for the sixteenth annual Homecoming is Charley Keller, '36, recent baseball World Series hero. With him will be Mrs. Keller, the former Miss Martha Williamson, '37. Other dignitaries from the big show will be Bozey Berger, '35, of the Boston Red Sox and Jim Meade, '39, of the Washington Redskins. All will be on hand for the game and will attend the Mixer and Supper Dance where the Alumni will have an opportunity to meet them.

In addition to the present day heroes, there will be those boys who made history on the gridiron twenty-five years ago. The football team of 1914 will be honored guests of the day. They will be assembled in a special box behind the Terrapin's bench. These boys will get a close-up of the modern player who enters the game in a suit which he wears only for games. The boys of '14 recall their days when you played and practiced in the same outfit. Sometimes it was necessary to change uniforms among players when substitutions were made. But not today.

Homecoming Activities

Homecoming activities begin early in the morning. Registration is at 9 A.M. at the Rossborough Inn and the remainder of the forenoon will be for visiting the campus and seeing the new buildings. The fraternity and sorority houses have open house decorated in gala Homecoming fashion presenting a hospitable welcome to returning old grads.

Just before lunch the historic Paint Branch will be the scene of another Sophomore-Freshman Tug-o-war. Into the water will go one or the other, if the rope doesn't break. If the Frosh win, they shed the Soph's domination, but if the Sophs win another six weeks for freshman rules. So it is really a battle. Another event will be a cross country track meet with the University of North Carolina.

Returning grads will lunch between 12 and 1 P.M. in the Dining Room of the Rossborough Inn. Then the strains of band music will jog their memories that game time approaches for the intersectional tilt between the Gators of Florida and the Terps of Maryland. The Florida boys will be cheered on by their own 60 piece band and a cheering section of students, alumni, and Florida people.

Float Parade

At half-time a float parade sponsored by the student organizations will be presented. This has always been a very colorful spectacle.

Following the game, the Annual "M" Club meeting will be held in the University Library. At 5:30 P.M. the Annual Homecoming Mixer and Supper will begin in the Gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller will be guests of honor and will be glad to meet fellow alumni and faculty. They will remain through the evening for the dance which will immediately follow the supper and continue until midnight. Two orchestras, in a battle of music, have been engaged for the dance.

Frat-Sorority Open House

Practically every fraternity and sorority are having open house on this day. And in the evening a tea or supper will be held for their returning grads.

For the convenience of the ladies, the Girl's Dorms are available with ample rest room facilities and here those desiring to make any changes in dress, which is not necessary, as every event is informal, may do so.

The New Boys' Dormitories will be open for inspection and for the convenience of old grads. Special accommodations for both men and women are available in the University Gym.

Homecoming, Saturday, October 28, is a day of gay festivities and no alumnus should miss it.

Fund Trustees Hold Meeting

Recently a meeting of the Alumni Fund Trustees was held in Baltimore at which time tentative plans for a program were made. The meeting was called to order by Dr. F. B. Bomberger, '94, Chairman. Others present were: W. D. Groff, '00; A. C. Diggs, '21; and L. G. Mathias, '23. President Charles W. Sylvester, '08; past-president C. Walter Cole, '21; and G. F. Pollock, '23, secretary, also attended the meeting.

The first action taken was a motion passed to have the committee become an incorporated body. C. W. Cole was asked to draw up the papers.

A tentative program was discussed and the following items will be reported on at the next meeting: Student Loan, Scholarship, Student-Alumni Union, Silvester Memorial Library, and County Group Funds. If the aforementioned items are made a part of the plan, it will provide an opportunity to designate for what purpose their contributions are to be used.

Married—On October 20, Edgar Robert Kent, '34, a member of A.T.O. and Miss Marian Esther Mueller were married in Baltimore. Bob is in the air conditioning business in Baltimore and rumors have it that the newlyweds are to reside in the Northwood Apartments where several other Maryland Alumni can be found.

Ice Cream—A recent visit by George Heinie, '25, a member of Kappa Alpha, revealed that he now is located as Manager of the Southern Dairies in Charlotte, North Carolina. George was on his way to the World's Fair.

o

Married—Elmer Clark Stevenson, '37, a member of Alpha Gamma Rho and Miss Margaret E. Hammers of Hood College, Frederick, Maryland, were married on September 1, 1939. Elmer is a graduate assistant in Corn Pathology at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson are secretaries of the Presbyterian Students in the University and are living in the student-owned church at 731 State Street, Madison, Wisconsin.

Beta Kappa Chapter Kappa Alpha To Celebrate

As a part of the Homecoming day program the Beta Kappa chapter of the Kappa Alpha fraternity will hold their twenty-fifth anniversary of the installation of K. A. on the College Park campus. The chapter was originally Alpha Phi before becoming a chapter in K. A. Members of the original organization when they went national were J. B. Coster, W. T. Fletcher, J. B. Gray, Jr., R. T. Gray, and R. V. Truitt. Those of the present faculty who were members of the local order were Dr. T. H. Taliaferro, Dr. L. B. Broughton, Dr. E. N. Cory, and Prof. Chas. S. Richardson.

The chapter will have open house during the entire day and will finish off with a banquet at the chapter house following the football game. Letters have been sent out calling for the return of all old grads to a duel celebration, Homecoming and K. A.'s twenty-fifth anniversary in honor of the boys of old Alpha Phi.

Birth—Dr. and Mrs. Taylor P. Rowe of Richmond, Virginia, announce the arrival of Ann Gayle, weighing five pounds, seven ounces, on September 19. Dr. Rowe, better known by his schoolmates as "Massa" is a member of Delta Sigma Phi, class of '25. "Massa's" occupation is that of veterinarian in Richmond.

Engineering Jobs—There have been several calls received for engineers. If there is any one who might be interested in a change, please contact the Alumni or Engineering Office at once.

Teaching—Two graduates of the 1939 class are teaching in Washington County. Miss Anna Estella Jennings is teaching at the Brownsville High School and Miss Anna Lee Hammond at the Cascade School.

Married—George Knepley, '39, the stellar first-sacker for the Terp nine, lets it be known that he is married and has been for some time. Mrs. Knepley is the former Miss Edith Wilson.

RETIRES

Those Alumni who return for Homecoming will miss a familiar face among the faculty roster, Prof. Chas. S. Richardson. After forty years of service, during which time he loyally and unselfishly gave his service in behalf of the College Park Schools of the University, Prof. Richardson retires as a head of the Speech department. While he is no longer a member of the faculty his interest in the University causes him to frequently visit the campus. An Alumni event without "Chas. S." around would not seem natural, therefore, fellow Alumni you will not be disappointed as he has assured us of his presence on Saturday, October 28, the day for the Old Grads return.

Alumni And "M" Club Hold Joint Meeting

Following the opening football game a joint meeting of the Alumni and "M" Club Boards was held to make definite plans regarding Homecoming.

There was a splendid attendance and everyone was very enthusiastic about the Homecoming plan. Both organizations are putting their shoulders to the wheel for the best Homecoming we have ever had. "Don" Adams, '29, President of the "M" Club and Charles W. Sylvester, '08, President of the Alumni, shared the honors in leading the meeting.

Every member said they would be present all day to help meet and greet old grads.

A O Pi's Celebrate Fifteenth Anniversary

Homecoming this year will be a double event for sisters of Alpha Omicron Phi. Their fifteenth birthday anniversary is October 25; and to the campus this marks fifteen years of national sororities, as A O Pi was the first to come to Maryland.

At the time of installation, the charter members, headed by Betty Swenk, '25, met in the Ag Building in the textile lab of Mrs. Freda McFarland, their faculty member. The second year, a house was rented, and that was the beginning of sorority houses at Maryland. In 1929 the first of the present sorority houses was built on College Avenue by the A O Pi's. Students of the University, watching the progress of the building with interest, joked about the new hotel, for at that time thirty was an average number for fraternity groups.

This year many alumni of Alpha O Pi are shining up their pins and reserving the week-end for renewing friendships and looking over the changes fifteen years have brought. A committee of the presidents of classes is planning a full week-end to supplement University Homecoming plans. Those who arrive Friday will have dinner and a show in town. On Saturday there will be local alumni at the chapter house to greet those who arrive then. After luncheon on the hill, and the game, there will be a tea dance and a buffet supper at the house for the girls and their husbands or dates. In the evening those who don't attend the Homecoming Dance in the gym will play cards at the house.

Florida Sending Band And Cheering Section

For the Homecoming tilt the University of Florida's students and alumni are sending their band and cheering section to College Park. Those of the Palmetto State are cheering their boys on for all the victories possible for Florida.

The Florida State Society of Washington are naturally taking an active interest in the Gators' visit to the Nation's Capital. Several hundred people are expected to attend the game in a body with the band leading them in the cheering.

The President's Message

progress being made in each department of the University. We have much to be proud of at Maryland, our Alma Mater.

Attend the Maryland-Florida Game at 2:30 P.M. Root for Maryland to win, but win or lose, boost the team and support it. The games with Hampden-Sydney, Western Maryland and Virginia showed Maryland to have a fine spirit and plenty of fight and speed galore After the game, join in the "Mixer," enjoy a fine buffet supper and visit with your old friends. New acquaintances will be worth while, too. The dance at 9 P.M. will be an enjoyable affair for all. The Youth of the 1909 class will enjoy the affair fully as much as the boys and girls of 1939. Charley Keller, our World Series hero will be the guest of honor.

The University, in all its activities, needs the support of every Alumnus. Take off your coat, roll up your sleeves and go to work. Join the Alumni group or assist in forming local groups in all sections where such an organization is not now active. Tell us what we can do to help you in this venture. If Maryland is to go forward and become the kind of a University to which people of the State are entitled, you must aid the Board of Trustees and President Byrd in carrying out their plans. Our University should be just as fine as any other State University in America. We must provide for all our boys and girls who desire, who can afford and who can profit from a college education at the State University.

Yours for a greater University,

CHARLES W. SYLVESTER,
President.

Old Line Athletic Contributions

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Terp-Gator Grid Game Should Be Thriller

Old grads who return for the homecoming festivities on October 28 should see a close and highly interesting football game between the Florida Gators and the Maryland Terps. Both travel much faster than their nicknames might indicate and appear certain to provide a wide-open battle.

Florida will invade College Park with three victories and two defeats, the Gators outstanding accomplishment being a 7 to 0 triumph over Boston College in the Hub City on October 12. It was a distinct upset.

The Gator defeats, both by 12 to 0 counts, came at the hands of the University of Texas and Mississippi State, two of the South's leading teams and were no real blots on the Florida record.

Terps Have Power

Maryland, too, has been playing much good football with a squad that has the capabilities of "going to town," and the Terps should be ready for a real effort against the Gators.

There is power in the Maryland line, with Bob Smith, center; George Lawrence, guard; and Ralph Albarano, tackle, being the bulwarks of the forward wall but others also have the "stuff" physically and all are fighters. (Continued on Page 10)

Maryland Tennis Pair Gets Another Title

Allie Ritzenberg and Nathan Askin, Maryland's Southern Conference tennis champions, added another big crown when they took the Mid-Atlantic honors in the recent tourney at White Sulphur Spring, West Va.

They defeated Bill Rawlings and Walt Meserol of North Carolina in the final in four sets after dropping the opening set. The scores were, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, 9-7.

Ritzenberg reached the semi-finals in the singles where he was eliminated by Rawlings, who eventually took the championship.

FLORIDA COACH

JOSH CODY

Genial mentor who has been tutoring the Gators for four years and who also is athletic director. While at Vanderbilt he was all-Southern tackle and later helped coach the Commodores.

Game With Generals Still Is Uncertain

Maryland has at least four more football games — possibly five — this season after the homecoming clash with the Florida Gators but the contest with Washington and Lee still is hanging fire.

If it is played at all, it likely will be on December 2 with the Baltimore Stadium as the scene. It was booked for November 30, the original Thanksgiving Day, but when turkey day was shifted to November 23, it messed up matters.

Here are the other tilts:

November 4—Penn State at State College.

November 11—Georgetown at Griffith Stadium, Washington.

November 18 — V.M.I. at Norfolk (Va.) Stadium.

November 23 — Syracuse at College Park at 11 A.M.

There are $1.10 and $1.65 seats for all games.

1914 Football Stars Will Be Honored

Letter winners of the football squad of 1914 will be the guests of honor at the Terp-Gator grid game at Homecoming on October 28 at College Park.

President H. C. Byrd was serving his third season as coach of the Terps that year, E. W. Montell was manager and J. Edwin Bowland, captain.

Here is the way The Reveille, the year book, listed the starting line-up:

That there were "iron men" in those days was testified to by the fact that only a dozen letters were awarded.

Maryland (then the Aggies) won over Hopkins, 14-0; Washington College, 3-0; and St. John's, 10-0; but lost to Western Maryland, 13-20.

Catholic U., 6-0, and Penn Military, 26-0, were among other teams defeated.

Mess kicked a field goal with six seconds to play to win the Washington College game.

It is hoped and expected that a great majority of them will be on hand.

Freshmen Play Well Although Beaten

Maryland's freshman football team, coached by Al Woods, former Terp star, did well in its first game, although it was defeated by the George Washington yearlings, 21 to 6.

The young Colonials, boasting a squad of varsity proportions, simply were too good for the baby Terps.

Maryland's frosh squad, as usual, is made up mainly of nearby State and District of Columbia youths.

Kellers Will Be Honor Guests at Homecoming, October 28

Charley Keller, University of Maryland's sensational gift to the New York Yankees, and the hero and star of their victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the 4-game rout in the recent world series, and Mrs. Keller, will be guests of honor at the Homecoming festivities on October 28.

Mrs. Keller, who also attended Maryland as a freshman and sophomore, was Martha Williamson of Baltimore. The Kellers, who have a young son, now are living in Frederick.

Eventually Will Be Farmer

Charley, who went into professional baseball in the Spring of his senior year, 1937, came back after that season and got his degree in Agricultural Economics and when his playing days are over—a long time hence, we hope—intends to settle down on a farm near his native Middletown, Md.

He spent two years at Newark in the International League, which he led in batting both seasons, before going up to the Yankees, and now he is rated the outstanding rookie in the major leagues.

Charlie, who batted .438 and got three home runs, led the Yankee assualt against the Reds, and was responsible for 11 of their 17 runs, scoring the winning tally in the opener after hitting a triple. He batted .336 in the regular campaign to be second to Joe DiMaggio on the Yankee team.

Keller has feted at many places since his world series feats and was the guest of the Maryland student body on October 19 when he reviewed the Terps' fine R.O.T.C. brigade.

Still Modest, Bashful

He's still almost as bashful as when he reported to Maryland as a freshman and is considerably fussed over all of the honors paid him. He certainly is a credit to the University and to the great national pastime.

Keller, who also took a crack at football in his frosh year and starred as a basketball guard for three seasons, showed to be a baseball star in the making as a yearling, and under the tutelage of Burton Shipley in his two years on the Varsity ironed out the rough spots that made him a big leaguer.

Maryland's freshmen gridders still have three more games to play, as follows:

October 28—V.M.I. Frosh at Lexington.

November 10 — Georgetown Frosh at Washington.

November 18 — U. S. Naval Training Station at Norfolk, Va.

Cross Country Teams Register Clean-Up

Maryland's cross country team got off to a flying start by defeating Virginia and Washington and Lee in a triangular meet at Charlottesville October 14. Jim Kehoe, Tommy Fields and Mason Chronister, all Terps, tied for first, with Randall Cronin twelfth and Dick Sullivan thirteenth.

Maryland's freshmen also scored with Kihm, Devlin and Gross running first, second and fourth, respectively. Matthews and Merriken were the other Terps to complete the team score.

In the varsity meet, in which low score wins, Maryland had 31 points, Virginia 41 and Washington and Lee 48.

The leading two set a record for the difficult four-mile course — 8 21:29.

Men, every one of them,
Warriors of U. of M., our honor they'll uphold.
On toward the goal they're marching;
It will not take them long,
So, let's give a cheer
For the men we hold dear, and sing to them our Victory Song.

CHORUS

Maryland, we're all behind you; Wave high the Black and Gold,
For there is nothing half so glorious—As to see our men victorious;
We've got the team, boys, We've got the steam, boys
So keep on fighting, don't give in!

SHOUT

MARYLAND (Sing) Maryland will win!

U. OF M.

U. of M., U. of M., Keep the ball away from them,
Keep that pigskin a rolling along!
Up the field, down the field, Not an inch of ground we'll yield;
Keep that pigskin a rolling along!
Then it's WHIFF! WHAM! WHACK! Hear that Mar'land quarter-back
Shout out his signals loud and strong!
Where'er you go, You will always know, That that pigskin is rolling along.

SONS OF OLD MARYLAND

Sons of old Maryland
Old Maryland needs you!
Stand by your colors, boys,
And to them e'er be true!
Fight for old Maryland
Old Liners! Stand,
Defenders of the Black and Gold
Throughout the land.

Terp-Gator Grid Game

Pershing Mondorff, a scintillating all-around back; Mearle DuVall, one of the finest passers anywhere and who has other assets; and Joe Murphy, fleet 153 pounder, lead a backfield that packs enough speed and power to worry any defense.

Florida Team Young

Florida has a young, ambitious and fiery squad that is made up of 23 sophomores, 14 juniors and only three seniors and, naturally, is improving as the season goes along.

Maryland will be battling to get on even terms in their eighth meeting with the Gators, as Florida has won four of the past seven tilts, the record being as follows:

1927—Florida, 7; U. of M. 6
1932—Florida, 19; U. of M. 0
1934—U. of M. [illegible] Florida, [illegible]

Homecoming A Big Success; Many Old Grads Return

It was in 1923 when Byrd Stadium was officially opened and dedicated that the Homecoming event had its initial beginning. Since then it has been an annual affair when the favorite gridiron pasttime draws sport lovers back to the campus for a day of recreation and frivolity.

This year drew probably the greatest Homecoming crowd we ever had and the spirit and display of hospitality by the students drew many laudatory comments from returning old grads and visitors. The custom seems to be gaining in momentum and from one year to the next the crowd increases.

Houses Decorated

Each fraternity and sorority had open house and all reported a large return. Decorations added to their welcome as well as giving much color to the festivities of the day. Theta Chi and Alpha Xi Delta won first prize for fraternities' and sororities' decorations, respectively. Charles W. Sylvester, '08, president of the Alumni Association, headed the judging committee for house decorations, with H. C. Whiteford, '01, H. M. Costor, '09, Mrs. C. Walter Cole, and Miss Edith Ball as his members.

The festivities of the day began with registration at the Rossborough Inn, where the traditions of the Old Building, recently restored, caused much reminiscing to take place.

Sophs Win

At 11 A. M. the annual tug-of-war between the sophomores and freshmen was staged at Paint Branch, with the Sophs retaining their supremacy by drenching the yearling boys.

Later, the Tar Heels of North Carolina and the Terrapins of Maryland held a cross-country race, with the latter being victorious. Kehoe, Chronister, and Fields finished abreast for first place in fast time.

Noontime found the old grads enjoying lunch in the dining room of the Inn.

At 2:30 P. M. the highlight of the day was a football game between the 'Gators of Florida and the Maryland Terps, but for the Terps did not end well. At half time various student organizations presented a float parade which was very colorful. Despite a high wind the students stuck to their guns and came through. Kappa Delta, Women's A. A., and Sigma Alpha Mu won silver cups for the best floats. Judges were the Honorable W. P. Cole, '10, Hon. J. Milton Patterson, Hon. Emanuel Gorfine, and Hon. Millard Tawes.

Following the game the crowd scattered to the many fraternity and sorority houses and the Mixer in the Gym. After appetites were appeased, the Annual Homecoming Dance in the Gym was on, with a battle of music between Watson Powell and Don Lane of Washington. A large crowd of Alumni were on hand and the successful day drew to a close at midnight.

Partial list of those present, as many came later and did not register:

1888—H. B. McDonnell, College Park; H. J. Patterson, College Park.
1891—Warren L. Dent, Washington, D. C.
1893—H. T. Harrison, College Park.

Alumni of Maryland:

Our Annual Homecoming is now a matter of history, but it will long be remembered. It was one of the finest and best attended affairs that has ever been given. It was a pleasure to cooperate with the "M" Club in arranging the program of the day, and we all appreciate the spirit and enthusiasm which was shown by the student body.

The next big event is the Charter Day Banquet on January 20 in the Calvert Ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel. Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, a prominent dentist of Washington, has been selected to serve as general chairman. Dr. T. B. Aycock of Baltimore is the general vice-chairman. Committees have been appointed and are already at work to make this another record-breaking event. We expect to have a nationally prominent speaker for this occasion. Although the date is two months away, every Alumnus is urged to make plans to be present in Baltimore this year. Only with the full cooperation and support of the Alumni Association, can we hope to surpass former banquets.

There was a record-breaking crowd in the Byrd Stadium for the Maryland-Florida game on Homecoming Day. Our Terrapins showed plenty of spirit and fight but, unfortunately, the score was not to our liking. Let us continue to support Maryland as we did at that game. They are meeting some very strong teams and need all the encouragement we can give them as they battle up and down the gridiron.

Sincerely,

CHARLES W. SYLVESTER, President.

Bureau of Mines

The lectures are held on the fourth Tuesday evening of October, November, February, March and April. These speakers are outstanding members of the staff of the Bureau, selected because of broad and varied experience in fields of wide technical and public interest, involving fundamental and pioneering research. Although the lectures are arranged in connection with the new work of the University in chemical engineering, they cover a broad field of science, technology, and economics. There is no charge for admission. The general public is cordially invited.

Besley, '23, Elected President Of "M" Club

When the smoke cleared at the annual meeting of the "M" Club, held Homecoming Day, the Hon. A. Kirkland Besley, '23, "Kirk" to many of you—was president of the letter men's organization. Now the smoke was not about Kirk. It was quite an interesting meeting and one of the best attended in several years.

Besley's assisting officers are James W. Stevens, '19, a former lacrosse star and now a produce commission broker of Baltimore, and Dr. E. N. Cory, '09, former captain of the 1908 football squad, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Going back to the days before Besley graduated, many will remember the young, bashful and modest lad who was found as a baseball player on an intramural team. Persuaded to come out for the varsity squad, in no time he had a regular berth at shortstop. Then it was found out he was fast and football attracted his attention. A fleet-footed quarterback he turned out to be. His remarkable achievements in directing the team will be long remembered by his team mates and fellow students.

He resides near the campus, takes an active interest in the athletic developments and will undoubtedly carry on as in the days of old where his predecessor, Don Adams, '28, left off. Other members elected are found on page 3.

Livestock And Dairy Building Dedicated

Last month the new buildings of the Livestock and Dairy Departments of the University were dedicated before an audience of nearly two thousand visiting farmers of Maryland. A picture of the buildings is shown on the front cover page of this issue of the News.

An elaborate program was held during the forenoon when some of the University's prize stock were put on display. Many people visited and inspected the new buildings. With the completion of the buildings Maryland was placed among the best-

Gov. O'Conor, '20 Tapped By O.D.K.

Governor O'Conor and four student leaders were pledged to Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, at the University.

The four tapped for membership were Douglas Steinberg, College Park, club leader and business manager of The Diamondback, student newspaper; Joe Murphy, Carney's Point, N. J., star trackman; Merle Preble, College Park, cadet colonel of the R. O. T. C., and Frank Davis, Poolesville, Md., president of the junior class.

In an address on leadership, the Governor referred to a recent court ruling that a teacher cannot force a student to salute the American flag, and said:

"As long as organizations such as Omicron Delta Kappa play such a prominent role on your campus the University of Maryland does not need laws to compel its student body to stand up for what is right in life and for the tradition of the country."

Lynch, '25, D.D.S., Heads Charter Day Committee

Definite plans are already underway for the Annual Charter Day Celebration of the beginning of our University, Saturday, January 20, 1940, in Baltimore, Maryland.

Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, '25, D.D.S., a specialist in Washington, D. C., and a former associate of the famous Mayo Clinic, was chosen general chairman of the Alumni Organization Committee. The presidents of the Alumni organizations of the University, Dr. Arthur Hebb of Medicine, Dr. Harry Kelsey of Dentistry, Dr. Charles Austin of Pharmacy, the Hon. John E. Magers, '14 of Law, Miss Bessie Maston of Nursery, and Mr. Charles W. Sylvester, '08, of the College Park School, met with the subcommittee of the University's Public Function Committee, headed by Dr. J. Ben Robinson, '14, D.D.S., Dr. E. N. Cory, '09, Dr. T. B. Symons, '02, and G. F. Pollock, '23, to set up the organization committee.

Assistant to Dr. Lynch, and general vice-chairman, is Dr. Thomas B. Aycock, '24, M.D., Clinical Professor of Surgery at the University Hospital.

Other committee chairmen are to be chosen and will be named in the next issue of the Alumni News.

This annual celebration is attracting considerable interest and much emphasis is being given to preparations. General County Committees are being arranged and the attendance is expected to test the capacity of the Lord Baltimore Hotel. Write early for your reservation to Mr. W. M. Hillegeist, '12, Baltimore, Maryland, or the Alumni Office at College Park.

A general meeting of committees will be held the first part of December to get all phases well ironed out before the holidays. It is sure that the Program Committee will arrange a brief and concise program of few speeches, good entertainment. Dancing will follow the banquet to the music of a well-known orchestra. Plans are to begin the banquet at 7 o clock promptly, so make arrangements to be present early.

Don't forget the date — Saturday, January 20, 1940, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

Died—Dr. Leroy MacMurray, D.D.S., '14, died last July. He was a practicing dentist in Fernando, Florida.

Alumni Gather After Rutgers Game

Following the Rutgers football game, many Alumni from New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey gathered at the Roger Smith Hotel in New Brunswick to swap comments and get acquainted.

The gathering was sponsored by the New York group, of which James E. Dingman, '21, is president. He was ably assisted by Don Kieffer, '30, Fred Rakeman, '18, Malcolm Rich, '22, Sarah Morris, '25 and Lyman Oberlin, '16.

All of the names on the committee are not known to the writer, therefore, they have not been intentionally omitted.

More than one hundred old and young grads were present for this occasion. As Maryland now is scheduling athletic contests with Rutgers, more gatherings will take place in New Brunswick.

Carr And Don Entertain For Old Grads

Entertainment for returning old grads was generously presented by Carr Van Sickler and Don Shook, both of '27, now known as Carr and Don of the Madrillon Cafe of Washington. They lead an orchestra of their own with a piano duet. Stop by and see them, as Marylanders are always welcome.

Others to take part in the entertainment were Professor and Mrs. Harlan Randall in a duet. Professor Randall is director of music on the campus. Some of Professor Randall's proteges, the Glee Club Quartet, composed of Bill Arnold, Milton Cole, Jake Powell, and Charles Bechtold, gave a very entertaining selection of harmony numbers.

Following the entertainment, dancing began and the battle of music between the dance orchestras was on.

DINING HALL

The Dining Hall improvements are rapidly approaching the point of completion. The new furniture has arrived, which is very attractive.

With the enlargement of the building a spacious dining hall is now available and the staggered lunch hour will probably be eliminated during the next semester.

Keller Feted Many Times

Charley Keller, '37, World Series hero, was feted several times when he returned to Maryland soil. His home-town folks of Middletown held a homecoming party for him.

The citizens of Frederick held quite an elaborate banquet in his honor, of which Dr. H. C. Byrd, a former baseball star himself, and for many years a coach, was the principal speaker. Many notables in baseball and sports writers were among those to shower words of praise upon the Maryland hero. H. B. Shipley, '14, Keller's coach at Maryland, and J. Homer Remsberg, '18, Principal of Middletown High School, when Keller started to play, also spoke about the World Series hero. Gifts from prominent business houses in Frederick were presented to Charley at the banquet.

Many University of Maryland Alumni were present at the banquet, headed by Charles W. Sylvester, '08, Peter W. Chichester, '21, and G. F. Pollock, '23.

A week later Keller Day was held by the student body, at which time Charley was the honored guest at a special luncheon which was followed by a regimental review.

At the conclusion of the review the presentation of a trophy on behalf of the student body was made by Tom Coleman, president.

Charley returned again to the campus for the annual Homecoming.

Many words of praise and laudatory comments have been written and spoken about the former Terp which he fully deserves. We all wish for Charley continued success in his chosen profession.

AT PENN STATE GAME

When the Terps visited the Nittany Lions at Penn State, several Alumni dropped around the dressing room to say hello and wish the team success. First was Tom Holder, '22, now located at Rochester, N. Y. Then came Frank Hoffecher, Jr., '35, now with the Republic Steel at Youngstown, Ohio. Both came quite a distance to see the boys in action and, despite the loss of the game, they enjoyed seeing the fellows.

Teaching—Two graduates of the 1939 class are teaching in Washington County. Miss Anna Estella Jennings is teaching at the Brownsville High School and Miss Anna Lee Hammond at the Cascade School.

Wedding—Mrs. Raymond A. Pearson, widow of Dr. R. A. Pearson, former President of our University, announces the marriage of her daughter, Ruth, to Mr. LeRoy Eakin, Jr., on Saturday, November 4th last, at Avon, New York.

Rumors—Heard and Seen—There is a rumor on the campus about the Mercer-Miller combination. Frequently they have been seen together, Virginia and Alan. Now as to rumors concerning campus romances, you can make your own deductions. However, Alan is a senior but Virginia is a sophomore and naturally education will come first. Anyway, it's news.

Cooperative—Should anyone ask how well is Maryland represented in the Southern States Cooperative, here you are. In Baltimore, E. Wayne Fitzwater, '39.

Aviation—A show and a visit was made at College Park recently by Bill Theis, now a flying officer in the Naval Air Corps. Bill flew over the campus, did some turns and twists and gave the boys a treat of what a plane can do. At present he is stationed at Norfolk, Virginia, but is expected to fly to the Pacific Coast soon. With him he takes a wife.

Teaching—June Weber, '39, now is a teacher at the Powell Junior High School in Washington. June is a member of Tri Delt.

Married—John J. Gormley, '37, now Lieutenant Gormley, U. S. Marine Corps, and Miss Harriett McCall were married this summer. Mrs. Gormley is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. G. McCall of College Park.

Lectures On Engineering 1939-40

Rossborough Inn Furniture Wanted

Antique furniture needed for the Rossborough Inn. All items prior to 1810, unless otherwise stated.

Work is progressing toward the furnishing of the Rossborough Inn with period furniture. It is felt that many Alumni will have or know about a piece of antique furniture which they would like to loan or give for the Inn. Therefore, for your convenience, a list of the pieces which are desired are listed below. Any Alumnus who is interested in this restoration process who has or knows about any of the furniture desired, please communicate with the Alumni Office.

Grandfather's clock.
One-half dozen ladderback chairs in pairs (3 to 4 slats).
Three or four odd ladderback chairs (3 to 4 slats).
Several mahogany, walnut and cherry chests of drawers.
Several walnut and pine blanket chests.
Three small, square-legged stands, in mahogany and walnut.
One square- or turned-legged card table, in mahogany.
Three high-post beds, in hardwood (post not over 3 inches thick).
One Sheraton gilt mirror.
Two walnut or mahogany side or serving tables.
One Sheraton fancy settee and two similar chairs.
Old books printed in Maryland, or about Maryland, before 1830.
Old deeds of land in Prince George's County and Maryland.
Several bowback and combback Windsor chairs.
Low-post, soft or hardwood beds, with posts not over 3 inches thick.
One secretary desk (slant-top type).
One walnut or cherry corner cupboard (not over 36 inches from corner).
China and glassware, not later than 1830 (before 1800 preferred).
Large and small pewter plates, tea pots, bowls and candlesticks.
Brass and silver candlesticks with oval or square bases.
One flintlock Kentucky rifle.
One old violin (veneered fingerboard).
Flower prints and hunting prints, also early maps of Maryland.
One hour glass.
One liquor tester.
Several silhouettes (preferably of Maryland people).
Two oil portraits of Maryland origin.
One barometer.
Lanterns of all types, as well as whale-oil lamps.
Several candle moulds (large and small).

Thanksgiving Grid Game Makes Terp History

Maryland staged a unique football game, for it, when it lost a hot 10-to-7 battle to Syracuse at College Park on Thanksgiving Day (November 23).

Losing the Washington and Lee game, originally slated for the original Thanksgiving Day (November 30) in Baltimore, through President Roosevelt's action in setting back the holiday one week, Maryland played its first Turkey Day game in its history on its home field.

The Terps have played many times on Thanksgiving Day, including the long and great series with Johns Hopkins, but always on foreign fields.

Many Parents Expected

The game was set for the morning so that the students would stay over.

While neither team has measured up to expectations this year, they appear well matched and as both will be "shooting the works" in the finale, they should offer good holiday entertainment.

The Terps and Orange were playing their fifth annual game and the seventh in their football history with Syracuse.

In their first meeting in 1920, Maryland sprang a stunning upset, one of the biggest of the entire season by defeating Syracuse, 10 to 7, but the Orange vented its spleen on the Terps the next season to the tune of 42 to 0.

Start New Series In 1935

That ended their grid battles until 1935 when the present series, which comes to a close November 23, began. They played a tie in 1935 and Maryland, after winning in 1936 and 1937, took a crippled eleven to Syracuse last fall and was given a walloping.

Geary Eppley, Maryland's athletic director, played end, and Roy Mackert, head of the Physical Education Department, was at fullback in the 1920 triumph, while Rosy Pollock, Alumni secretary, was one of those to feel the sting of that 1921 defeat.

Here are the results of the past six games:

1920—Maryland State, 10; Syracuse, 7.
1921—Syracuse, 42; U. of Maryland, 0.
1935—Maryland, 0; Syracuse, 0.
1936—Maryland, 20; Syracuse, 0.
1937—Maryland, 13; Syracuse, 0.
1938—Syracuse, 53; Maryland, 0.

Terp Eleven Beaten By V. M. I., 13-0

Maryland took a trip to Norfolk November 18 to add another tilt to the long series with V. M. I. and, of course, had only limited time to get ready for the Thanksgiving Day clash with Syracuse. Maryland outplayed the Cadets but lost, 13 to 0.

The Terps went into the battle with the Keydets with only two victories against six defeats, the triumphs coming in the first pair of tilts of the campaign. Since then the going has been rough, but Maryland really has not been outclassed in any game and at least one or two might have been placed on the right side of the ledger but for mental or mechanical slips.

Here is the record:

Maryland, 26 Hampden-Sydney, 0.
Maryland, 12; Western Maryland, 0.
Maryland, 7; Virginia, 12.
Maryland, 12; Rutgers, 25.
Maryland, 0; Florida, 14.
Maryland, 0; Penn State, 12.
Maryland, 0; Georgetown, 20.
Maryland, 0; V. M. I., 13.

The November 11 loss to the strong Hoyas was not as one-sided as the outcome indicates and it possibly might even have been a scoreless battle had not two pieces of Terp strategy backfired and set up Georgetown's first two touchdowns. As it was, the Terp players put up a fine fight against heavy odds.

The victory enabled Georgetown to get on even terms in the modern series, which now stands 3-all.

Turkey Day Contest Completes Season

Maryland closed its football season when it met Syracuse at College Park on Thanksgiving Day (November 23) morning at 11 o'clock, as the Washington and Lee clash, scheduled for the original Thanksgiving Day (November 30) and then tentatively set for December 2, has been called off at the request of the Generals on account of the long wait between games and the uncertainty of the weather at such a late time.

The Terps and Generals had planned their Turkey Day affair to be annual and, with the schedule arranged two years in advance, some shifts will have to be made if they are to meet next fall on the holiday.

As matters stand, Rutgers is slated November 23 next fall, two days after the new Thanksgiving Day, and it is likely that this game may be played on Turkey Day. This is logical unless some change can be made to get Washington and Lee back on the Thanksgiving Day card.

As arranged, here is how Maryland's grid card for 1940 reads:

September 28—Hampden-Sydney at College Park.
October 5—University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.
October 12—University of Virginia at College Park.
October 19—University of Florida at Gainesville.
October 26—Western Maryland at Baltimore Stadium.
November 9—Georgetown University at College Park.
November 16—Virginia Military Institute at Lexington.
November 23—Rutgers University at College Park.
November 28—Washington and Lee at Baltimore Stadium.

It may be that the now open date of November 2 will offer a solution of the problem but settling things so that Washington and Lee and Maryland can resume their Thanksgiving series in 1940 may not be possible.

Cross Country Squad Gains Many Honors

Maryland's cross country team, which defeated Navy, Virginia and North Carolina, finished second in the Southern Conference championships at Chapel Hill November 18.

Jim Kehoe, Mason Chronister and Tom Fields, who finished abreast in first place in all of the dual triumphs.

Former Lacrosser Gets Around

An Old Line ace defense stickman and an All America lacrosser has really been getting around. Sam Silber, '34, now an Ensign in the United States Naval Flying Corps, has already seen a large portion of this world. He has flown across the Equator and zoomed over Sugar Loaf Mountain in Rio. He paraded across the City of Ponce in Puerto Rico, at the same time somebody was taking "potshots" at the Governor. Next he entered Haiti, where he climbed the highest hill and there saw the ruins of the Castle of Henri Christophe. While going through the Panama Canal aboard the aircraft carrier Yorktown, he stopped in Panama City and after a fling at roulette emerged the victor with $100. In addition, naval problems have carried him more than a thousand miles east of the coast. But now he is probably settled for a time in the beautiful Coronado in that lovely State of California. "Join the Navy and see the world"—and so did Sam.

BASKETBALL FLOOR SMOOTH

The basketball floor in Ritchie Coliseum has been done over in the style of Madison Square Garden of New York and now not only is good to look at but is ideal for playing purposes. Burt Shipley, the able mentor, and his charges are happy over the improvement.

Married—Theta Wonders, '36, now is Mrs. Steven Porter. The wedding took place in June. The newlyweds reside at 3516 W Place, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Woods Does Fine Job With Terp Frosh

Although the Maryland freshman gridders won only two of their five contests, Al Woods, one-time Terp grid ace and now agronomy instructor, has done a great job with the Little Terps.

Being used primarily to tune up the varsity, as imitators of the Maryland foes, the yearlings did not have a fair chance to do their best.

The material, as a whole, was not strong but the youngsters played sound fundamental football. They scored an upset in defeating the V. M. I. Frosh, 13 to 0, and later beat the Naval Training Station team at Norfolk, 27 to 0.

EIGHT GRIDMEN ARE SENIORS

Eight gridders—Franny Beamer, end; Bob Brown and Ralph Albarano, tackles; George Lawrence and Ed Lloyd, guards, and Persh Mondorff, John Boyda and Frank Skotnicki, backs—played their last football for Maryland in the Thanksgiving Day game with Syracuse.

SOCCER TEAM SCORES UPSET

Maryland's soccer team, coached by Stew McCaw, sprang a big upset and threw the State race into a triple tie by defeating the Towson Teachers, 4 to 1. It was Towson's first defeat in three years.

Married—Miss Mary Duke Warfield, '40, and Laurence L. Williams, '40, were recently married. Ralph I. Williams, '33, was best man. Among the ushers were Gustavus Warfield, '39. The newlyweds will make their home in Baltimore, where Laurence is in the department of occupational therapy of the Phipps Clinic at the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Lawyer—Hubert Arnold, '35, now is with the James Maxwell Fassett law firm in New York. He is located at 60 Wall Street. Arnold received his LL.B. last year from Duke University.

Alumni Board Held Interesting Meeting

Following the Georgetown - Maryland football game, members of the Alumni Board convened at the Lord Calvert Inn for the fall meeting. Several matters of importance were discussed.

A report was made about Homecoming Day, which was very pleasing to review. Practically everyone had attended and thought the occasion was very colorful.

The president gave a report on the results on arrangements regarding the Charter Day Celebration. An account of what has taken place to date can be found elsewhere in this issue.

A report was made to the Board by President Sylvester on the initial meeting of the Alumni Fund, Board of Trustees and the projects they are planning to sponsor. They are as follows: Student Loan Fund, Scholarship Fund, Student-Alumni Union, Silvester Memorial Library, and County Student Aid Fund.

The Board had made a definite request that more county meetings be held. Each Board member has agreed to attend at least one meeting and all, if possible.

Fellow Alumni of Maryland:

Every Alumnus of the University of Maryland should go to Baltimore on January 20, 1940. It is the One Hundred and Thirty-third Charter Day Celebration. A fine banquet and dance are to be held.

Hon. Paul V. McNutt, Administrator of the Federal Security Administration, will be our speaker. I had the pleasure of hearing him at the American Vocational Association Convention in Grand Rapids on December 7. More than a thousand educators and friends of vocational education enjoyed his talk. He has something to say and knows how to say it!

Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, a fellow Alumnus, will lend dignity to the occasion.

Hon. Harry W. Nice, former Governor of Maryland, as the toastmaster, is unsurpassed. Other features of the banquet this year will make it the best one yet held. I shall look forward to greeting you at that time.

Every graduate of the University should be an enthusiastic and interested member of our Association. He should know and appreciate what the University stands for. We can unify and amalgamate all graduates of the various schools into one huge Alumni Association. Let us, from College Park, participate in every University activity and work to the end that we may have a great and influential school—the kind which the people of Maryland will be proud of.

May I, at this time, calle your attention to the winter sports schedule. The program includes basket ball, boxing and indoor track. There are dates to suit your convenience and you owe it to the University to be present at as many of the affairs as you can possibly attend.

Cordially yours,

Chares W. Sylvester,
President.

General Chairman

Daniel F. Lynch, '24

Vice-Chairman

Thomas B. Aycock, '24

Governors and ex-Governors will be the leading figures in the Annual Charter Day Celebration of our Alma Mater on Saturday, January 20, 1940, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

His Excellency, Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, LL.B., Governor of Maryland, will be guest of honor and lead the parade of dignitaries.

The Hon. Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator and former Governor of Indiana, will be the guest speaker. Mr. McNutt, a graduate of the University of Indiana, has held many prominent offices during his rise to international fame. He was a teacher at his Alma Mater and later Dean of the Law School. Before his recent appointment as Federal Security Administrator, he was Governor-General of the Philippine Islands. After having been a university dean and then a governor, he should have knowledge and thoughts on State institutions which will be of considerable interest.

Toastmaster for the occasion will be our own graduate, the Hon. Harry W. Nice, '98, former Governor of Maryland, a jovial and humorous speaker.

Dr. Harry Clifton Byrd, '08, President of our Alma Mater, will be the official host and lead the celebration.

The directing head for this great occasion is Daniel F. Lynch, '25, D.D.S., a nationally known dentist. He is a man who has attained a position of high esteem among his fellowmen. He has accepted the chairmanship of this celebration with a great deal of interest and enthusiasm.

Dr. Lynch's first assistant is another Alumnus of prominent standing, Dr. Thomas B. Aycock, '24, Medicine, now Surgeon-in-Chief of Staff of Baltimore City Hospitals. He is also Professor of Clinical Surgery at the University Hospital and takes an active part in all Alumni activities.

Sharing the responsibility of directing the progress of the celebration are the presidents of the various Alumni Associations — Dr. Arthur Hebb, Medical; Dr. Harry E. Kelsey, Dental; Dr. Charles S. Austin, Pharmacy; Miss Bessie L. Maston, '20, Nursing; Mr. John E. Magers, '14, Law; and Mr. Charles W. Sylvester, '08, College Park Schools.

It was the above-named Alumni who met and unanimously selected and approved the sponsorship of this worthy endeavor. Alumni presidents have appointed members of their associations to serve on various committees and county organizations throughout the State.

This affair not only serves as a celebration but also as an opportunity for fellow Alumni to become better acquainted and unify our effort toward a greater University of Maryland. The general program will be a banquet, followed by a short speaking program, a dance, and get-together of old friends.

Last year the capacity of the Lord Baltimore Hotel was taxed and from the enthusiasm displayed by the committee members over the fact of having the Hon. Paul V. McNutt as the principal speaker, we will have the largest turnout ever. It is suggested that Alumni write direct to their own Alumni secretary for reservations with members of their own organization and faculty. Should members of the county organizations wish to make up a group of their own, it will be possible for them to reserve an entire table of eight or ten places by writing the Chairman of the Reservation Committee, Mr. Willard M. Hillegeist, University of Maryland, Baltimore, Maryland, as soon as possible. The cost of the banquet will be $2.50 per plate.

This is the annual get-together of all departments of the University which assembles Alumni, faculty and friends. It is your affair to make of it what you will. No Alumnus should miss this great occasion. Members of the committees on arrangements are as follows:

General Committee—Chairman, Daniel F. Lynch, '25, D.D.S.; Vice-Chairman, Thomas B. Aycock, '24, M.D.

Dinner Committee—Chairman, Leo C. Rettaliata, '18, Ph.G.; Daniel S. Sullivan, LL.B.; Arthur I. Bell, '19, D.D.S.; Miss Alice Elchenko, '34, R.N.; Howard I. Moss, '23, B.S.; Miss Miriam Connolly, Dietitian; A. T. Gundry, '94, M.D.; Lealon B. Wright, member of T. A. M. P. A.

Norfolk Alumni Entertain University Officials And Band

When the Terp football squad sailed down the Potomac to meet the Keydets of V. M. I. in the new Municipal Stadium of Norfolk, Virginia, they were met by city officials and a large gathering of Maryland Alumni, headed by Dr. Charles H. Lupton, '16, M. D., president and organizer of the University of Maryland Alumni Group of Tidewater, Virginia. Dr. Lupton also is a Lieutenant Commander in the Naval Reserve Hospital Unit, a member of the medical faculty of the Norfolk division of William and Mary College, and is a member of the Senior Surgical Staff of the Norfolk General Hospital.

Dr. Chas. H. Lupton, '16

The first event on the program planned to welcome the Old Liners was a reception and a luncheon, headed by Mayor Gurkin of Norfolk, who extended a welcome to the visitors. Dr. Hodges, Dean of the Norfolk division of William and Mary College, also gave greetings to the visitors.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, President and Alumnus of our Alma Mater, headed the official list from Maryland which also included Dr. L. B. Broughton, '08, Dean of the College of Arts and Science; Dr. J. Ben Robinson, '14, Dean of the Dental School; Dr. T. B. Aycock, '24, Professor of Clinical Surgery; Professor Geary Eppley, '18, Director of Athletics; Mr. H. T. Casbarian, '23, University Comptroller, and the University Band, led by the student cheerleaders. All were guests of the Norfolk Alumni Group.

Following the luncheon, the University Band led the parade at a municipal dedicatory program. At the game, several hundred Shriners joined the Band in putting on a colorful demonstration.

Several other Alumni in Norfolk, who took an active part in the arrangements, were Dr. B. Allen Lester, '05, Dr. J. P. Bradshaw, '20, and Mr. E. E. Wooden, '34. Mrs. Lupton must not go unmentioned as she was the right bower in making arrangements for this occasion.

Many other Alumni from Virginia and Maryland met at this spirited gathering.

School Of Dentistry, 1840-1940, To Hold Centenary Celebration

Original Building and Seal of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the First Dental School in the world

The first lectures on dentistry in America were delivered by Dr. Horace H. Hayden in the University of Maryland, School of Medicine, between the years 1821 and 1825. These lectures were interrupted in 1825 by internal dissension in the School of Medicine but were continued in the year 1837. It was Dr. Hayden's idea that dentistry merited greater attention than had been given it by medical instruction, and he undertook to develop this specialty as a branch of medicine. With this thought in mind he, with the support of Dr. Chapin A. Harris, appealed to the Faculty of Physic of the University of Maryland for the creation of a department of dentistry as a part of the medical curriculum. The request having been refused, an independent college was decided upon. A charter was applied for and granted by the Maryland Legislature, February 1, 1840.

"An act incorporating the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery."

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That a College of Dentistry be, and the same is hereby established in the City of Baltimore, to be known and designated by the name and style of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery."

The first faculty meeting was held February 3, 1840, at which time Dr. H. H. Hayden was elected President and Dr. C. A. Harris, Dean. The introductory lecture was delivered by Dr. Harris on November 3, 1840, to the five students matriculated in the first class. Thus was the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first and oldest dental school in the world, created as the foundation of the present dental profession.

In 1873, the Maryland Dental College, an offspring of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, was organized and continued instruction in dental subjects until 1879, at which time it was consolidated with the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. A department of dentistry was organized at the University of Maryland in the year 1882, graduating a class each year from 1883 to 1923. This school was chartered as a corporation and continued as a privately owned and directed institution until 1920 when it became a State institution. The Dental Department of the Baltimore Medical College was established in 1895, continuing until 1913, when it merged with the Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

The final combining of the dental educational interests of Baltimore was effected June 15, 1923, by the amalgamation of the student bodies of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and the University of Maryland, School of Dentistry, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery becoming a distinct department of the State University under State supervision and control. Thus we find in the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, a merging of the various efforts at dental education in Maryland. From these component elements have radiated developments of the art and science of dentistry until the strength of its Alumni is second to none, either n number or degree of service to the profession.

Naval Training

The Naval Reserve Aviation Base, Anacostia, D. C., announced recently that preliminary flight training classes will be continued through the fall and winter months. These classes are designed to provide elementary pilot instruction for eligible college men who desire to obtain commissions in the Aviation Branch of the Naval Reserve.

Requirements for admission are as follows:

(1) Must be male citizens of the United States.

(2) Must be between 20 and 27 years of age.

(3) Must be unmarried and agree to remain so for two years.

(4) Must be found educationally and physically qualified for training in accordance with prescribed standards.

(5) No mental examinations are given, but the applicants are given preference in the following order of educational standing. Official transcript of college record is submitted with the application, and is the criteria in adjudging educational qualifications:
  (a) Graduates of accredited colleges or universities.
  (b) Candidates who have completed two or more years of college, completing freshman mathematics and physics.
  (c) Those who have acquired substantially an equivalent knowledge by other means; and whose experience, training and aptitude for the service are sufficiently outstanding to render them particularly desirable.

Following approval by the Navy Department of an application, the applicant reports to the Naval Reserve Aviation Base, at Anacostia, D. C., which trains young college men from Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland. After a month of elimination training, at the end of which the student solos, he is given a commission as an aviation cadet in the Naval Reserve, and goes to the Naval Air Station, at Pensacola, Florida, where he takes the identical course provided for aviators of the regular Navy.

Grid Team Courageous In Losing Campaign

Maryland's 1939 football season was a disappointment in games won and lost but a tribute to the players for the great courage and spirit they displayed throughout the campaign, in which only two victories were scored in nine contests.

Labeled in advance one of the best-balanced squads Maryland has had in years and playing a lot of good football, the Terps had just enough things happen at the wrong time to prevent them from winning at least three of the games they lost, which would have been enough to have placed them on the right side of the ledger.

This was the second successive season that Maryland dropped seven of nine games after a great 8-2 record in 1937. In 1936, the first year Frank Dobson was head coach, the team won six and lost five, making his record as head mentor at Maryland 18 wins against 21 losses.

In 1935, with Jack Faber in charge and Dobson associate coach, the eleven won seven, lost two and tied two.

Faber also was head mentor of the 1934 team that won seven and lost three to recompense for the record of three wins against seven defeats in 1933 when he served at the head of a board that directed football. That was the season President Byrd got fully away from the game for the first time since he came back to Maryland in 1912.

That gave Faber and his cohorts a record of 17 wins, 12 losses and two ties over a three-year stretch. That's the story since the Curley Byrd coaching régime. We await future chapters.

Maryland's complete record this year follows

Maryland, 26; Hampden-Sydney, 0.
Maryland, 12; Western Maryland, 0.
Maryland, 7; Virginia, 12.
Maryland, 12; Rutgers, 25.
Maryland, 0; Florida, 14.
Maryland, 0; Penn State, 10.
Maryland, 0; Georgetown, 20.
Maryland, 0; V. M. I., 13.
Maryland, 7; Syracuse, 10.

Varsity Football Coaching Job Is Main Topic On Maryland Campus And Among Old Grads

Who is going to be Maryland's new football coach? was the question that was general on the Maryland campus and among the Terp Alumni when this way written. This query may be answered shortly but probably not before Rosy Pollock gets this issue of the "Bingville Bugle" to his subscribers.

It is hoped that everyone will be happy when Frank Dobson's successor finally is named and President Byrd has given assurance on the big points — that Geary Eppley will remain as Athletic Director, that there will be no change in the athletic policy of the University that has brought nation-wide admiration, and that he is highly gratified with the way other sports are handled by the present staff.

There is nothing surprising about this but it is nice to hear kind words now and then and we hope there will be plenty of them owing after the new football set-up is announced.

Maryland Boys Okay

With the going of Dobson, Col. Harvey Miller, the highly-efficient boxing mentor, is the only member of the staff at present who is a non-Maryland product.

In fact, Maryland boys — starting with Prexy Byrd, who has done some great quarterbacking as a player, coach and head of the University — have done all right by their Alma Mater.

To mention a few, there are Eppley, who is track coach and Dean of Men in addition to his task as Athletic Director; Burt Shipley, long-time successful coach of the basket ball and baseball teams; Bacteriologist Dr. Jack Faber, head lacrosse mentor and football and basket ball aide; Al Heagy of the Chemistry Department, able teacher in the same three sports; Charles LeRoy Mackert, all-time football great, who is doing an outstanding job as head of the Physical Education Department, and Al Woods, agronomy instructor, wh oengenders real football into none-too-promising freshman squads.

Plenty Of Examples

Then we might add the members of the Athletic Board, of which Eppley is chairman. Dr. Lev Broughton, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and State Chemist; Dr. Ernie Cory, football captain in 1908, the year after Byrd was the leader, and also a track ace, who now is State Entomologist and head of that department at the University; Dr. Bill Kemp, fullback and track man, who ranks among the topnotchers of the country in genetics and statistics, and Dr. Bill Supplee, football, basket ball and track notable and all-America end in 1923 in most experts' books, who is assistant professor in chemistry.

These are pertinent cases on the campus that come quickly to mind, but there are plenty of others scattered about to show that i is not a bad idea to rely upon those who have been tested in Maryland athletics.

P. S. — Rosy Pollock, Alumni secretary, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS and freshman baseball coach, also was a grid and diamond star in his student days at Maryland but, of course, he would not want this mentioned in his own publication.

Albarano And Murphy Slighted By Pickers

Maryland football folk have lost all faith in all-star teams since Ralph Albarano, 60-minute tackle for three years, and Joe Murphy, brilliant junior back, were not even mentioned in the selection of all-Southern Conference elevens.

Both received universal recognition in the Maryland-District of Columbia area where there are some pretty good grid teams and players, Murphy being hailed as the best all-around back in the sector.

Clemson Clash Is First Real Test of Quint

Coach Burton Shipley is wondering just how good is his Maryland basketball team after easy wins over Western Maryland and Randolph-Macon in the only pre-holiday clashes, and is awaiting a true test of his charges in the series of tough games that starts when Clemson, Southern Conference champion, is met New Year evening in the Coliseum in Baltimore.

Shipley still has to be convinced that this season's outfit has a chance to measure up to the 1938-39 squad that came strong in the latter stages of the regular campaign and was runner-up to Clemson in the title tourney. Maryland, in fact, broke even with Clemson, winning the regular season game, 45-35, and dropping the tourney final, 27-39, after George DeWitt, ace forward, had been lost on fouls early in the second half in the clash at Raleigh.

DeWitt and Adam Bengoechea, forwards; Charlie Weidinger, center, and Pershing Mondorff and Milton Mulitz, guards, all well-tested competitors, form the tentative first quint, with Bill Rea, another veteran, and Mearle DuVall, Bob Porter, Leon Vannais, Bernie Ulman and Ashton Garrett, sophs, appearing as the strongest supporters.

Weidinger, grid ace and baseball pitcher but a basketball roikie, was the sparkplug of the first two games, in which he scored 28 points.

Shipley will carry all 20 men who are at present on the squad unless some of them quit of their own accord and is counting on developing quite a few for next season who will not see much action in the 1939-40 campaign. He will need them as Weidinger, Mondorff, Mulitz and Rea will be gone.

Miller's Weeping Ends As Brown Reports

Coach Heinie Miller of the Maryland boxing team, who has had many weeping spells over the heavyweight situation, has thrown away the crying towels with the reporting of Bob Brown, agile 218-pound grid tackle. Brown apparently has everything it takes to make a winning collegiate scrapper.

Previously Miller had suffered two great disappointments by having no heavyweight, despite the fact that there were two high-class ones in school. First, Ralph Burlin, another football tackle, who was an ace 1939 Frosh scrapper, quit the fistic game to give all his time to his engineering studies, and then George Evering, who worked out for three weeks and gave every indication of filling the bill, decided he'd rather do something other than swap punches.

Engineering studies also cost Miller another clever boxer in John Cordyack, grid halfback, who showed as a freshman that he could hold his own in either the 165- or 175-pound class.

John Harn, 120; Bob Bradley or Charley Dorr, 127; Nate Askin, 135; Hotsy Alperstein, 145; Morris Roseman, 155; Newton Cox, 165; and Israel Leites or Vincen Hughes, 175, doubtless will provide the boxers in the first seven classes for the opening match with Duke at College Park on January 13.

Four of these are rookies — Harn, Alperstein, Roseman and Hughes, and Leites has had little experience.

Indoor Meet Program Same As For 1939

There will be no changes over 1939 in the events for the University of Maryland-Fifth Regiment invitational indoor games to be held in the latter's big armory in Baltimore on Saturday night, February 10.

Special events again will be topped by the featured Governor's Mile, which was won last March by John Munski of Missouri in 4:15, and the Oriole 660 and the Scholastic 660 will remain as topliners.

There will be seven events each for collegians and schoolboys, eight A. A. U. contests and four closed to members of the Maryland National Guard, as follows:

Collegiate — 70-yard sprint handicap, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, mile run, mile relays to be classified by the Games Committee, freshman mile relay, and the Mason-Dixon Conference sprint medley.

Scholastic — 70-yard sprint, 1,000-yard run, high jump, Maryland Interscholastic Association mile relay, high school open mile relay, Maryland County High School half-mile relay, and prep school mile relay.

A. A. U. Invitation — 70-yard sprint handicap, 70-yard high hurdles, 1,000-yard run handicap, 16-pound shot put, pole vault, high jump, two-mile run, miss and out, and mile relay.

National Guard — 70-yard sprint, 660-yard run and half-mile intercompany relay, all closed to the Fifth Regiment, and the half-mile relay for the Interregimental Championship.

High Schools will be limited to two entrants in the 70-yard sprint, the bar at the start in the high jumps will be placed at 5 feet 2 for shool boys and at 5 feet 6 in the open, and the open pole vaulters must make their first leap at 11 feet.

Entries close Monday, February 5, with Lieut. Roger Whiteford, secretary of the Games Committee, at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore.

Frosh Basketers Busy

Coach Al Heagy's freshman basketers will play a 15-game schedule starting with Western High at College Park on January 1 at 4 P. M. He has the least promising yearling squad to report in years at Maryland.

19 Freshman Gridders Awarded Numerals

Nineteen members of Coach Al Woods' freshman grid squad that did well to win two of three games have been awarded numerals. They are:

Ends—Earl Gumnick, Tom MacDonald, Mark Seward and Luther Conrad.

Tackles—Bill Eckman, Joe DePrimo and Lohr Dunlap.

Guards—Frank Maxson, John Sansone and George Pappas.

Centers—Al Ruppersberger and Herb Carhart.

Backs—Fred Bach, Harold Berry, Louis Chacos, John Gilmore, Ramon Grelecki, Herb Gunther and Joe Hoopengardner.

It was a light and inexperienced bunch, with only six of them weighing over 180 pounds, and Reginald Vincent, a tackle, who scaled 188 to be the heaviest, was out all season with a knee injury. A number of them, though, should be of real value to the varsity next Fall.

Trackmen Have Listed Busy Indoor Season

Maryland trackmen will take part in six indoor meets this season for the busiest season on the boards in years, and Jim Kehoe, Mason Chronister and some of the other stars already are in training.

Joe Muprhy, Southern Conference champion sprinter and outstanding back on the Terp football team, is resting a bit before taking up track work.

Maryland's indoor schedule:

Feb. 3—Millrose Games in New York
Feb. 9—Penn A. C. Games in Philadelphia
Feb. 10—Maryland-Fifth Regiment Games in Baltimore
Feb. 17—New York A. C. Games in New York
Feb. 24—Southern Conference championship meet in Chapel Hill, N. C.
Mar. 2—Catholic University Games in Washington.

Gridmen And Harriers Are Honored At Banquet

Maryland's football and cross country squads were given a banquet at the Hotel Shoreham in Washington on December 11 at which 23 gridders, three managers and six harriers were awarded "M"s.

It was a popular affair, as everyone brought his wife or best girl, speeches were barred and the evening was given over to entertainment and dancing.

Chief Tydings dropped in and in a few impromptu words praised the gridders for their ability, courage and spirit.

Those to receive grid letters were:

Ends—Francis Beamer, Frank Dwyer, Dick Shaffer and Leo Mueller.

Tackles—Ralph Albarano, Bob Brown, Bill Krouse and Ralph Burlin.

Guards—George Lawrence, Ed Lloyd, George Gienger and John Morton.

Centers—Bob Smith and Jim Wharton.

Backs—Frank Skotnicki, John Boyda, Pershing Mondorff, Joe Murphy, Milton Lumsden, Bernie Ulman, Jack Warfield, Mearle DuVall and Fred Weidener.

Manager Norman Miller and Harold Axtell, freshman manager.

Jim Kehoe, Mason Chronister, Tom Fields, Randall Cronin, Dick Sullivan, Bob Montgomery and Manager William McManus were the harriers rewarded.

Beamer, Albarano, Brown, Lawrence, Lloyd, Boyda, Skotnicki and Mondorff will be lost to the grid team and all got gold footballs for three years' service.

Manager Miller also got this award.

President Byrd and those intimately connected with athletics only were present in addition to the athletes.

Dobson Gets Position

Frank Dobson, who stepped out as Terp football coach directly following the close of the season after a five-year association with Athletics at Maryland, has been named grid mentor and athletic director at the Apprentice School of Newport News, Va.

Dobson now is on a visit to the Pacific Coast and will take up his new duties about the middle of February.

Before going west, Dobson was given a bon-voyage dinner in Washington. Among his gifts was a gold football from the Maryland Athletic Board.

Naval Training

proximately a year's training, the Naval Reserve aviator receives his "Wings", and is promoted to the rank of Ensign, and is sent to one of the Fleet squadrons. After three years of duty with the Fleet, the aviator may return to civilian life with a substantial gratuity, or may elect to remain longer on active duty, being promoted to junior grade Lieutenant.

During the four years of Naval Reserve duty, a young man may learn very thoroughly the essentials of a career in aviation, and the varied experience that the Navy offers in addition to the splendid training course is an inducement that is attracting a number of the finest graduates of our colleges in this District.

The results of the Aviation Cadet program, which has been in action for about four years, prove that it is a most desirable training for young college men. Those graduates of the training who have elected to return to civilian life have found little difficulty in obtaining good positions in the aeronautical industry. The Navy Department also helps the Reserve officer in this particular.

Full details may be obtained from the Commanding Officer, U. S. Naval Reserve Aviation Base, Washington (Anacostia), D. C.

This picture shows the Ritchie Coliseum where all indoor athletic events are held. This is also where the winter spectacle, All-University Night, is presented. More than two hundred students participate in the parade of extra-curricular events, plus a basket ball game and boxing match. The capacity of the building now is approximately five thousand for the boxing events. Plans are under way to increase the number of seats, as frequently every seat is sold for the double events. Every seat is a good seat and Ritchie Coliseum is one of the best sports arenas in the vicinity of Washington.

My Alumni Friends:

One hundred and thirty-three years is a long time, but that is the number of years which our Alma Mater has rendered such valuable and lasting service to the people of our state. As has been the custom for several years, our fellow Alumni members and their friends gathered at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore on January 20th, 1940, to celebrate in due fashion the founding of our great University and to appropriately recognize another milestone in its history of accomplishment.

A fine spirit of fellowship continues to grow between the various Alumni associations of the University. Let us each and every one endeavor to strengthen those bonds and look to the amalgamation and unification of all groups in the interest of a greater University of Maryland.

What was your New Year's resolution with regard to Maryland? Are you attending its various activities? Are you supporting and cooperating with our Alumni Association? Maryland needs you and our association wants your moral and active support and financial aid.

Alumni of Maryland, get in the stride and give at least a penny a day or a dime or a dollar to provide adequate finances in a proper way. Look now to the future!

The Annual Indoor Track Meet at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore on February 10 should interest you. It is a growing event and promises to be larger and better each year.

Fellowship Helps Celebrate Charter Day; Dental School One Hundred Years Old

Amidst a spirit of fellowship more than a thousand Alumni, faculty, and friends of the University gathered at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on January 20 to celebrate the 133rd observance of Charter Day. Also special observance was accorded the Centenary Celebration of the Dental School, which is the oldest in the world. Reservations were received from as far away as Texas, Massachusetts and New York. Several classes held reunions and faculty became "old pals" with returning grads.

Gov. O'Conor Guest Of Honor

His Excellency Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, LL.B., was guest of honor; Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, host. Former Governor Harry W. Nice, '99, LL.B., was his natural self as toastmaster. The Honorable Clifton A. Woodrum, Virginia Representative in Congress, was the guest speaker. Dr. J. Ben Robinson, '14, D.D.S., Dean of the Dental School, gave a brief history of the origin of dentistry and the Centennial Celebration. General Chairman for the occasion was Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, '25, D.D.S., of Washington. He was ably assisted by Dr. T. B. Aycock, '24, M.D., vice-chairman. Mme. Elvina Orlicz-Dresszer, widow of the former Air Minister of Poland, gave vocal selections.

Senators Present

Other prominent national and state officials present were Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10, LL.B., Senator George L. Radcliffe, '03, LL.B., Hon. Howard Bruce, of Baltimore, Acting Mayor Richard O'Connell, of Baltimore, Congressman Lansdale G. Sasscer, Congressman Thomas D'Alessandro, Speaker of the House of Delegates, Hon. Thomas E. Conlon, Dr. W. W. Skinner, '94, Chairman of the Board of Regents, Gen. Milton A. Reckord, and Hon. J. Milton Patterson.

Nice In Good Form

Toastmaster Nice was in his best form and kept the jovial spirit at a high level by his wit and humor. When introduced by the Chairman and receiving tremendous applause, he replied, "I appreciate the applause," and looking blandly at the ballroom ceiling "and I hope that it won't die before November of this year." It is rumored that Mr. Nice will be a candidate for the United States Senate in the fall election and this was probably his first public indications.

Byrd Praises Alumni

Dr. Byrd expressed his gratitude to the Alumni and faculty for the part they are taking in the progress of our Alma Mater. He gave assurance that the University was not heading toward over expansion by stating "fears had been expressed, not without some foundation, that our University was planning to expand to a size where the state could not afford to support it. We are going to meet such criticisms and definitely allay them for all time. We are working on a complete new program which will be released probably within the next six months. The Alumni and friends will receive this plan which will be open to criticisms, and we want them," continued President Byrd.

O'Conor Pledges Cooperation

Following Dr. Byrd, Governor O'Conor seconded his remarks and assured him of wholehearted cooperation. "The people of Maryland are ready at all times to cooperate," Governor O'Conor said. "Each and every act of Dr. Byrd's has been for the development of the University entirely within proper limits and within reason," the Governor concluded.

Congressman Woodrum Speaker

"American Frontiers" was the topic of the guest speaker, the Hon. Clifton A. Woodrum, Virginia Representative in Congress. Miltiary, economic and spiritual frontiers were the major fronts needing the serious and concerted consideration of the people. There is "only one peace argument, only one peace appeal that will make any impression on dictators — that is the fellow who has just a bit bigger gun," said Mr. Woodrum.

Much of the evening applause was going to Mr. Nice for his jovial wit and humor in remarks about speakers and others that Congressman Woodrum spoke of him as "Mr. Roastmaster," also that he had greatly enjoyed the "delightful and entertaining filibuster."

Dental Centenary Observed

Dr. J. Ben Robinson, a graduate of the Dental School and now Dean of the Dental School, gave a splendid review of dental history in observance of the Centenary Celebration, which will be held in March. A fellow graduate, Dr. B. Lucien Brun, is the general chairman of the celebration.

The Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S.J., President of Loyola College, pronounced the invocation.

A number of people prominent in the civic life of our state were present.

Out-of-Town Visitors

Several telegrams from well wishers were read. Congressman W. P. Cole, '10, in California at the time, did not forget the occasion. He telegraphed his wishes.

Groups from out of state were represented by Dr. Charles H. Lupton, '16, of Norfolk, Virginia; Mr. A. Moulton McNutt, '06, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Mr. Douglas Wallop, '19, of Washington, D. C. Dr. Arnold, D.D.S., of Texas, made reservations but was unable to attend. Dancing followed the banquet to the tunes of The Townsmen. Friendliness and genuine fellowship continued to make again an "old pal party" of the occasion.

Those who did not attend missed a good evening, so make your plans now to be present next year.

Green Keepers

When the annual meeting of the Green Keepers' Association was held at College Park, an Old Liner visited the Alumni Office, Alton Rabbitt, '37, now with the Department of Interior as supervisor of lawns. Alton married Estella Remley, '34, and they reside in Arlington, Virginia.

My Alumni Friends:

The All-University Night at College Park on February 17 will be a gorgeous affair and standing room will be at a premium. Get your tickets early and be sure of a seat.

Cordially yours,
Charles W. Sylvester,
President.

Prof. Metzger Dies While On Vacation

A friend long to be remembered has been called from our midst. Professor Jacob Elry Metzger died December 25 while on a vacation in Florida. Taken with a heart attack while driving, he reached the hotel but was immediately transferred to a hospital, where he died. He was accompanied by Mrs. Metzger. At the time of his death heart specialists from the University Hospital were making ready to fly to Florida.

Professor Metzger was Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station for the State of Maryland. He graduated from Pennsylvania State College in 1911, came to College Park in 1914, and organized the Department of Agricultural Education and Summer School. He was also supervisor of the Agricultural Department of the Maryland High Schools for the State Department of Public Instruction. Three years later he was made head of the Agronomy Department, also agronomist for the Experiment Station.

Made Director

In 1935 he was appointed Assistant Director of the Experiment Station and in 1937 was appointed Acting Director, as a successor to Dr. H. J. Patterson, retired. In 1939 he was made full director of the oldest established Experiment Station in the United States.

Professor Metzger was an outstanding man in his field, being well known locally and beyond the boundaries of Maryland. He was particularly interested in research and gave special attention to soils and agronomy. Many bulletins and articles were authored by him. His experimental efforts in the development of the "barbless" barley, gained for him noteworthy prominence in the national agricultural industry.

Went To South America

In 1930 he was United States Representative at the One Hundredth Anniversary of Natural Nitrates, held at Santiago, Chile, South America.

In addition, Professor Metzger kept active contacts with other university and civic matters. He served the University as a member of the Athletic Board and the Scholarship Committee for many years. He was a Past President of the Prince George's County Kiwanis Club and a member of the Mount Herman Masonic Lodge. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jane Butts Metzger, and a brother, Dr. Irvin Metzger, a resident of Pittsburgh.

On behalf of the Alumni Association, the News wishes to express sincere condolence to Mrs. Metzger, Dr. Metzger, and their many friends.

HOPKINS APPOINTMENT

During the past year a new professor was appointed in the School of Hygiene and Public Health at the Johns Hopkins University. The appointee to fill this position was Dr. Thomas Borne Turner, a graduate of our Medical School. Dr. Turner, who was born in Calvert County, Maryland, took his B.S. at St. John's College. From 1927 to 1932 he was Jacques Loeb Fellow and instructor and associate in medicine at the Johns Hopkins Medical School. In the latter year he joined the staff of the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation and for the past three years he has been assigned by the Foundation to the School of Hygiene and Public Health at Hopkins, where he has engaged in post-graduate teaching and research in syphilis. He assumed his new position on September first.

POULTRY BUILDING

The Poultry Department has moved into a new building which is equipped with numerous laboratories and several classrooms. Some chickens will be kept in the building for experimental purposes. One of the most interesting features of the new edifice will be an exhibition of eggs, not just ordinary eggs, but eggs that have taken prizes all over the state at one time or another. The collection of eggs is over four hundred in number. The dedication of the building took place July 26 when over 4,000 people flooded the campus to examine the Poultry Department, enroute to a World Poultry Convention in Cleveland, Ohio.

Alumni Board Member Marries

Miss Ruth Miles, '30, a member of A. O. Pi, and Mr. James B. Henderson were married December 27, last. Ruth is a member of the Alumni Board as a representative of the College of Home Economics. The newlyweds are residing in Baltimore.

Dr. Bay Succumbs To Heart Attack

Dr. Robert P. Bay, '05, an eminent Alumnus of the Medical School, died January 1, as the result of a heart attack. He was visiting a friend when taken and never regained consciousness.

Dr. Bay had long been an outstanding surgeon. At the time of his death, he was Chief of Staff at the Maryland General Hospital.

His Alma Mater was the beneficiary of his interest and enthusiasm for the advancement of the Alumni Association. He served a term as President of the Medical Alumni Association, was Professor of Oral Surgery, and was always active in the annual Charter Day arrangements. At the time of his death, he was serving as Chairman of the Reception Committee.

He had held the position of Chairman of City Charities and was interested in innumerable civic activities. He was active in numerous medical societies. He wrote a number of papers on medical subjects. Dr. Bay was a man's man, a good sport, a raconteur of much charm, with a legion of friends in all walks of life.

The loss of Dr. Bay was greater than a few words can express. His prestige in his profession was known far and wide.

Interment was made at Delta, Pa.

On behalf of the Alumni Association the News takes this occasion to express sincere condolence to his bereaved family.

Kappas To Celebrate Beginning Of Sigma Delta

On February 21, at the Kenesaw Apartments in Washington, D. C., Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority will celebrate the Twentieth Anniversary of the founding of Sigma Delta in 1920. Sigma Delta, with its colors of blue and gold and a white lily as its flower, was the local chapter before it became Kappa in 1929 on the campus.

For this celebration charter members of Sigma Delta, Alumnae and active members of Kappa Kappa Gamma will be present. Elizabeth Hook Day, '20, the first woman graduate of the College Park School, was the first President of Sigma Delta. Mrs. Day, along with Miss Wilette Bland, '21, Mrs. Letha Edmonds Clendaniel, '21, Miss Helena Avery, '22, Mrs. Huldah Ensor, '22, Mrs. Rebecca Tarbert Groton, '22, Mrs. Gladys Crowthers Briden, '23, Miss Herminia Ellis, '23, and Mrs. Audrey Killian Zulick, '23, will be charter members present at the occasion. In addition, Kappa is making an effort to have present all past Presidents of the Sigma Delta and Kappa Chapter. About 125 are expected to attend the banquet and an interesting program has been arranged, including a resumé of the activities of Sigma Delta Chapter, which will be of great interest to the active Kappa Chapter.

The Active Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma has forty-one members, and is headed by Tempe Curry, President, of Bethesda, Maryland.

Stock Judging Team Wins Eastern Contest

When the Eastern States Exposition was held at Springfield, Massachusetts, last fall, the Old Line team won first place in the Dairy Cattle Judging Contest. Their opponents were representatives from all state institutions in the East. The team also won first place in Ayrshires, third in Brown Swiss, third in Jerseys, fourth in Guernseys, and seventh in Holsteins. The members of the team were Mason Butler, from Dickerson, Maryland; William V. Redding and Robert L. Stevens, both of Street, Maryland, and Louis Ahalt, of Middletown, as alternate. Butler was high man in the Ayrshire contest. Redding and Ahalt are members of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Grapevine News About Those We Know

Oklahoma—At Fort Sill, Oklahoma, an Alumni reunion was held when Marjorie (nee Higgins, '37) and Lou Ennis, of the U. S. Marine Corps, entertained Bob Walton, '38, and Gordon Wood, of the U. S. A. Flying School from Fort Sam Houston, Texas. It seems that Bob and his friend, Lieutenant Wood, flew to Fort Sill on a week-end trip, looked up the Ennises, and the reunion was on. Lou, a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps, is at Fort Sill in the Artillery School. He is, however, being transferred to Quantico, Virginia, on February 1, for special training. Soon they will be visiting College Park.

Birth — Mr. and Mrs. William C. Needham announce the arrival of William Lovell, weighing eight pounds, eleven ounces, on January 6, at the University Hospital, Baltimore. He looks like a good halfback in the making! Mrs. Needham is the former Marion Parker, '36, of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Bill was in the class of '34 and a member of Phi Sigma Kappa. Both parents were well known for their work with the student newspaper, The Diamondback. The Needhams reside in the Northwood Apartments in Baltimore. Bill now is with the Associated Press in Baltimore.

Wedding-To-Be—Joseph N. Sanford, '28, son of Joseph W. Sanford, '08, and Miss Madeleine Dunne, sister of Miss Theresa Dunne, '32, will be married in February. # Old Line Athletic Contributions

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

FIVE MARYLAND ACES IN THIS PACK (left to right): Joe Murphy, sprinter; Alan Miller, 440; Jim Kehoe, 880; Mason Chronister, mile; Tom Fields, two miles. All hold Southern Conference indoor titles and Kehoe and Chronister have been competing with the best in big northern meets with success. Kehoe ran second to Glenn Cunningham in one 880 race, was third in a classy field in another, while Chronister did likewise in a mile which the great Kansan won. All will compete in Baltimore on February 10.

National Stars In Maryland-Fifth Regiment Meet

Bigger and better than ever! That is the outlook for the University of Maryland-Fifth Regiment Annual Invitational Indoor Track Carnival at the spacious Baltimore Armory on Saturday night, February 10.

Geary Eppley, Terp Athletic Director and chairman of the games committee, is enthused over the fact that the Governor's Mile, the headliner, and the A. A. U. two-mile event, feature of that section, already have enough stars listed to insure them of being great attractions.

Olympians Are Listed

Tommy Deckard, ex-Indianian and former Big Ten champ, and Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C., both Olympians and among the leading middle distance aces of the world, will run in both of these events.

Jim Davis of North Carolina and Mason Chronister of Maryland, Southern Conference outdoor and indoor champions, respectively, and Gerald Tarrant of Penn A. C., are among those who will help set a fast pace in the Governor's Mile.

Phil Graves, formerly of the New York A. C. and now a freshman at Georgetown, and Tommy Fields of Maryland, victor and runner-up last year, should force McCluskey and Deckard in the two-mile test.

Deckard Is Newcomer

Deckard will be new to the meet, but McCluskey spiced two other affairs. He won both the Governor's Mile and two miles in 1937 and in 1938 ran next to Norman Bright in the latter when the San Francisco ace set a great record of 9:08 for the event.

Chronister and Tarrant played a part in pressing John Munski of Missouri to a record 4:13.5 in the Governor's Mile last year. Chronister finished second and Tarrant fourth. Jim Kehoe, another Terp ace, who ran second last year, will step in the Oriole 660, another topline special, which was won last March by Bill Hendrix of North Carolina.

Battle For Trophies

There should be a merry battle for the intercollegiate and A. A. U. trophies, with stellar talent being provided for both by North Carolina, Georgetown, Navy, Vir-

Basketers Doing Much Better Than Hoped

Maryland's basket ball team, on a Southern jaunt for five games at the time this was rattled off the typewriter, was to resume its home battling with a game with Johns Hopkins in Ritchie Coliseum on February 3 in a twin bill in which the boxers also were to battle the powerful Virginia team.

The Terps' trip to Dixie included Conference games with North Carolina State, Clemson, the loop champion; South Carolina and Duke, and a non-Conference battle with Virginia on the way home.

Beats Some Good Teams

When the Terps hiked South they had won eight of eleven games and had taken four out of five they had played within the Conference, to be tied with Duke for second place. North Carolina was leading with a clean slate of five victories.

Conference wins had been scored over Clemson, Duke, Richmond and Virginia Poly, with Washington and Lee inflicting the lone defeat.

Rutgers and Georgetown were among the main victims in the contests outside of the Conference.

DeWitt Is Terp Ace

George DeWitt, a junior, has been the pace setter of the team. Mearle DuVall, a soph, and DeWitt's running mate in the forward jobs; Charley Weidinger, center, and Pershing Mondorff and Milton Mulitz, guards, are the other usual starters. All of the last three are seniors.

Burt Shipley and Jack Faber have done a fine job of coaching to get the Terps off so well, as the team at the outset did not figure to garner more than half its games.

Lack of capable reserves make the going tough, as most of the enemy are much better fortified in this way.

ENNIS IS HEARD FROM

John E. Ennis, who managed the varsity football team in 1924, now is located in San Diego, Calif., from where he sent in his subscription to the Alumni News.

Terp Ring Team Green But Gets Good Start

While the Terp boxing team, with the aid of a forfeit in the 135-pound class, won its opening clash with Duke, 5 to 3, the match indicated that Coach Harvey L. (Heinie) Miller would have to do some tall hustling if the Southern Conference championship is to be retained.

Nate Askin, Maryland's 135-pounder, who did not have to fight against Duke, is able to take care of himself and doubtless would have won his bout had a foe been presented.

Bradley Loses On Mistake

Bob Bradley, Maryland's ace 127-pounder, was the lad to have the hard luck. He was ahead by a big margin in the early stages of the third round when a cut over his eye caused Referee Charley Short to stop the bout and give it to the Duke man. However, under the new rules, Bradley deserved the verdict, as the code specifies that if a bout is halted in either the second or third rounds for such a reason, that the boxer leading at that time shall be declared the winner.

John Harn was impressive in winning in the 120-pound class, Izzy Alperstein showed much promise in scoring as a 145-pounder, and Newton Cox, 165-pound Conference champ, appeared greatly improved over 1939 when he took the title. Izzy Leites won the light-heavy bout, but must improve if he is to whip the men he'll meet in most of his future scraps.

Five In First Bouts

All-University Night Has Big Program

Catholic University in basket ball and Western Maryland in boxing will provide the sports competition in annual All-University Night, to be held in Ritchie Coliseum the night of February 17.

Extra-curricular activities on the campus, though, get the call over varsity athletics that night in a colorful program that will have the State of Maryland as its theme.

New Head Grid Coach Not Yet Selected

There had been no action as to a head coach of varsity football when this was typed. Spring practice is nearing and it may be that the tutors who are on the campus — Jack Faber, Al Heagy and Al Woods — will have to do this job at least. Faber and Heagy, however, have lacrosse to think about and unless someone is brought in within the next month, Woods may have to carry most of the task.

have the makings of topnotch boxers, despite their setbacks in their first varsity bouts.

Harn, Alperstein and Leites also were battling on the varsity for the first time, so considering this and the Bradley incident, Maryland did well to win at all.

Benny Alperstein and Ivan Nedomatsky, two Terp fistic grid greats who were graduated in 1939 and 1938, respectively, now are helping Miller and Maryland may be expected to improve greatly as the season goes along.

"Silk Stockings in the Morning? Imagine!"

SILK stockings a luxury? Not today, but they were 25 years ago. So was an automobile, and a telephone. An incandescent lamp—not half so good as the one you now get for 15 cents—then cost more than twice as much. And you couldn't buy a radio or an electric refrigerator for love or money.

These are only a few of the things we accept today as commonplace. We expect wide, smooth, well-lighted streets. We want automatic heat in our homes; we clean our rugs with vacuum cleaners. When we go to the dentist we expect him to use an electric drill; we accept without comment an X-ray examination as part of a medical check-up. Luxuries? Not at all; they're part of the American standard of living.

How did they become common in so short a time? Not by some sudden change in our wealth and habits. It was through years of steady work by American industry—scientists, engineers, and skilled workmen developing new products, improving them, learning to make them less expensive so that more millions of people could enjoy them. And so, imperceptibly, luxuries have changed to necessities.

More than any other one thing, the increasing use of electricity in industry has helped in this progress. For more than 60 years, General Electric men and women have pioneered in making electricity more useful to the American people have led in creating More Goods for More People at Less Cost.

Here you see the home of the first Dental School in the world. One hundred years ago two men who were eminent in the dental profession had the beginning of their dream come true. This building was located at 13 South Sharp Street in the city of Baltimore. It was then known as the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, but today it is a part of the University of Maryland Dental School. Graduates from this school are among the outstanding men in the dental profession. These graduates, as well as all dentists, will gather in Baltimore to celebrate the beginning of education in their profession, on March 18, 19, 20, next month.

My Alumni Friends:

The Charter Day Banquet is now a matter of history. It was a grand affair. The dinner was delightful, the speeches of high calibre and the attendance excellent. I wish to say "thank you" most earnestly to everyone who assisted in making this another outstanding event.

Look now to the Dental Centenary. Our Dental School is one of the finest in the world and its graduates are leaders in the profession, far and wide. Their Alumni Association is wholeheartedly back of all University activities and is certainly doing big things. The celebration which they sponsor this year will be another gorgeous chapter in the historical events of Maryland. Let us all support the celebration in any way we can.

On March 12, 1940, you will want to visit College Park to attend another evening of music. The program will present two nationally known artists, Frank La Forge, pianist, and Emma Otero, soloist, a coloratura soprano. This will be a real treat and you should make every effort to be present.

May 31 will be Alumni Day this year. I wish everyone reading this letter would plan to meet with us this year. Why not work, and I mean work, to get out at least 1,000 Alumni at our annual meeting? I am counting on YOU!

Chas. W. Sylvester, President.

Dental Education Was Started One Hundred Years Ago in Baltimore

The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, one of Maryland's many glorious firsts, occupies an important and interesting place in the history of dentistry. At the end of the 1939-40 session it will have completed its one hundredth year of service to dental education. The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, founded by Horace H. Hayden and Chapin A. Harris, represents the first effort in history to offer institutional dental education to those anticipating the practice of dentistry.

Dental Practice, 1800

Dr. Horace H. Hayden began the practice of dentistry in Baltimore in 1800. From that time he made a zealous attempt to lay the foundation for a scientific, serviceable dental profession. In 1831 Dr. Chapin A. Harris came to Baltimore to study under Hayden. Dr. Harris was a man of unusual ability and possessed special qualifications to aid in establishing and promoting formal dental education. It was Dr. Hayden's idea that dental education merited greater attention than had been given it by medicine or could be given it by the preceptorial plan of dental teaching then in vogue. An independent college was decided upon. A charter was applied for and granted by the Maryland Legislature February 1, 1840. The first faculty meeting was held February 3, 1840, at which time Dr. Hayden was elected President and Dr. Chapin A. Harris, Dean. The introductory lecture was delivered by Dr. Harris on November 3, 1840, to the five students matriculating in the first class. Thus was created as the foundation of the present dental profession the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in the world.

Journal Of Dental Science

Horace H. Hayden and Chapin A. Harris, the admitted founders of the dental profession, contributed, in addition to the factor of dental education, other opportunities for professional growth and development. In 1839 the American Journal of Dental Science was founded, with Harris as its editor. Dr. Harris continued fully responsible for dentistry's initial venture into periodic dental literature to the time of his death. In 1840 the American Society of Dental Surgeons was founded, with Hayden as its President and Harris its Corresponding Secretary. This was the beginning of national dental organization and was the forerunner of the American Dental Association, which numbers approximately forty-five thousand in its present membership. The foregoing suggests the unusual influence Baltimore dentists and the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery have exercised on professional ideals and policies.

EXCERPTS FROM

THE ANNOUNCEMENT (1840) OF THE BOARD OF VISITORS OF THE BALTIMORE COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY

"In announcing the incorporation of a college, organized with particular reference to instruction in Dental Science, the Board of Visitors deem it proper to state the considerations which have prompted its projectors to engage in the enterprise, and also to make known the general plan of instruction which it is proposed to pursue, and the requisites to be complied with by candidates for the honors of the Institution.

"A course of lectures will be delivered in each year, commencing on the first Monday in November and terminating on the last of February.

"Candidates for graduation who have attended two full courses of lectures in this College, or one course in some respectable medical college, and one in this institution, will be subjected to a critical examination by the faculty, and be required to defend a thesis on some subject connected with dental science; they will also be required to present one or more specimens of mechanical skill in preparing and setting artificial teeth, and likewise be expected to perform certain dental operations in evidence of practical qualification; and on being found competent, they shall receive the degree of DOCTOR OF DENTAL SURGERY.

"The charge for attending each professor, for each session, will be $30. Diploma fee, $30. Matriculation fee, $5.

"In presenting this brief exposition, the Board of Visitors admit their earnest desire to have the claims of this Institution to particular patronage justly understood. Interested as all are in the advancement of science, they would have none insensible to the merit which projected this novel and highly commendable scheme for elevating the character of a most useful profession and promoting the general good, and they therefore ask for the enterprise the liberal support of the medical profession and the public."

Glee Club

On March 3 the Men and Women's Glee Club will present a musical program at the Maryland Casualty Club in Baltimore at 4 P. M. The Clubs have presented several musicals in Montgomery and Prince George's Counties and will take an extended trip into the western part of the state in April. They will probably stop in Hagerstown, Frederick, Hancock, and Cumberland.

MARCH 18th, 19th, 20th

Baltimore

Dr. B. Lucien Brun, '05
General Chairman

Several thousand dentists and laymen from all parts of the country will come to Baltimore to attend the Dental Centenary Celebration to be held on March 18, 19, and 20. This celebration will be the most interesting and instructive meeting in the history of the dental profession. At this very significant meeting dentistry will pay tribute to the founders of Dental Education, Dental Literature, and Dental Organization.

During the mornings of the celebration there will be one academic and two general sessions at Ford's Theatre. These impressive exercises will coordinate the homage paid by other professions and groups to dentistry's contribution to humanity.

Honorary Degrees

On Wednesday morning, March 20, the University of Maryland will hold an academic convocation, impressive features of which will be the large and colorful academic procession and the conferring of honorary degrees. In this session universities, colleges and other educational institutions, as well as foreign, national and state dental bodies, will join in commemorating the founding of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in the world. Dr. Raymond A. Kent, President of the University of Louisville, will address the convocation on "The Relation of Dental Education to the University Program."

The program of Scientific Essays will be presented at the Fifth Regiment Armory during the three afternoons. This division will bring together fifty-four of the outstanding intellects of contemporary dentistry. The sessions will be presided over and addressed by men of international reputation, all chosen because of their known ability to speak authoritatively to the profession upon the subjects assigned to them.

Exhibits

During the three days there will also be a continual presentation of moving pictures provided by the leading schools and dentists of the country.

The division devoted to the historic and scientific exhibits will demonstrate a century of advancement in the art and science of dentistry. Grouped around a replica of the first dental college, one-third size, exhibits of the dental colleges, dental organizations, and public health institutions will show the evolution of dental materials, instruments, techniques, research and literature. The public will be admitted to this important centenary feature, which will be presented on the main floor of the Armory.

The Association of Dental Manufacturers will join in the celebration with a complete display of dental equipment showing interesting development of many kinds of dental supples, as well as the latest achievements in dental manufacture.

Cavalcade

The principal attraction of the activities arranged for the evenings will be an historical drama to be presented at Ford's Theatre. The drama will be a cavalcade

Dr. J. Ben Robinson, '14
Dean Dental School

Excerpts From Speech By Dean J. Ben Robinson

In the early part of the nineteenth century the preceptorial form of education existed to a large extent in medicine and exclusively in dentistry. Both professions placed greater emphasis upon what currently appeared to be a successful art of practice than upon fundamental sciences. Horace Hayden was one of the first dentists to recognize this error and to urge sound training in the biological sciences as a base for the development of a rational art of dental practice. This concept was the prime factor that led to the founding of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Hayden's unusual scientific ability attracted to dentistry an esteem that made possible his achievements in the educational field. He was self-educated in the basic medical sciences and he had mastered the dental literature of the past and had acquired unusual proficiency in the art of dental practice. He was made an honorary member of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland in 1810 and was licensed the same year by the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland to practice dentistry, the first such license issued in America; he was invited in 1823 to deliver a course of lectures on dental physiology and pathology to the students in the School of Medicine, University of Maryland. These lectures continued for three consecutive years, terminating because of the well-known rupture in the Faculty of the School of Medicine in 1826. This teaching experience in the Medical School convinced Hayden that because of the peculiar nature of dentistry's therapeutic measures its educational needs could not be satisfied by its becoming a part of conventional medical teaching and that an independent dental college would better serve dentistry's educational needs. In 1837 the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia conferred an honorary M. D. degree on Hayden, one of but two ever to be conferred on dentists by that institution; in 1840 the Medical School, University of Maryland, conferred on him the same degree — the only one conferred by it on a dentist. In 1840 Hayden achieved the founding of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and in the same year he headed a group that organized the American Society of Dental Surgeons. He served as President of the Baltimore College from 1840 until his death in 1844 and as President of the American Society of Dental Surgeons for the same period.

Hayden waas supported in his venture by Chapin A. Harris, one of dentistry's greatest contributors to dental education, organization and literature, Thomas E. Bond, Jr., one of Baltimore's most eminent physicians, and H. Willis Baxley, one of the most distinguished surgeons in America at the time.

These founders of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery were conscious of the aims and purposes of dentistry, were familiar with its exacting special requirements, and were masters of the intricate processes involved in dental service. The plan of education adopted by them to meet the needs of competent dental practice not only established the College permanently but laid the foundation for the present broad system of dental education. It was this concept that made it possible for the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery to persist down to the present, and it was the practical idealism of the founders that caused this plan of education to be adopted by other sections of the country and transplanted to other parts of the world. Today 43 dental schools, members of the American Association of Dental Schools, conform literally to the program laid down by these great leaders of one hundred years ago; and there are approximately 7,000 students in the dental schools of the United States and 63,000 practicing dentists who point directly to Baltimore as the source of their inspiration and achievement.

On March 18, 19 and 20, 1940, the dental profession throughout the world will come to Baltimore to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of dental education, dental journalism, and dental organization. Every dental school in the United States will join with the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in celebrating its one hundred years of effective and capable service to the profession and to society. The University of Maryland is proud of the unique and honorable record of the Dental College, and the latter is signally fortunate to be included among the many colleges of distinction that form the University.

Kelsey Leads Dental Alumni In Centenary Celebration

The President of the University of Maryland Dental Alumni Association will head several thousand graduates in the Centenary Celebration of the oldest Dental School in the world.

Dr. Kelsey is a man of wide experience not only in the practice of orthodontics but also in the conduct of scientific societies. He is a former President of the Eastern Society of Graduates of the Angle School of Orthodontia; the Southern Society of Orthodontists; the American Society of Orthodontists; the Maryland State Dental Association and the Association of Dental Surgeons of Baltimore.

After graduating from Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1896, Doctor Kelsey remained at his Alma Mater until 1925 as a teacher, being Professor of Orthodontia when he resigned. Dr. Kelsey has been honored by the Baltimore City Dental Society with a testimonial dinner in 1928. He is an honorary member of a number of scientific organizations and has contributed many articles dealing with theory and practice of orthodontia.

of American dentistry, with Horace Hayden as the central and coordinating character. Beginning in 1780 with a scene laid in a field dressing-station near Yorktown, and ending in 1940 with a scene in a modern dental office, the story of the rugged road American dentists have travelled will be told in twenty-five colorful and dramatic episodes. The blundering ignorance of the early itinerant practitioners; the leadership of the pioneers who accepted the challenge of skepticism and abuse; the worth and genius of the great characters who founded the elements of the dental triad of education, organization and literature — these features of dental progress form the highlights of the drama.

Entertainment

The plans for the entertainment of the centenary visitors should make their stay in Baltimore one of the happiest memories of their lives. These plans include golf and trapshooting matches, receptions, a tour of Baltimore, a drive to Annapolis, and a bridge luncheon for the women. A dinner dance will be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on the Tuesday evening of the celebration.

THREE MARYLAND TEAMS ARE OCCUPIED WITH TOURNAMENTS

Maryland athletes were tournament-conscious when this was written, with the boxers and tracksters in competition at Columbia, S. C., and Chapel Hill, N. C., and the basketers tuning for action at Raleigh, N. C., beginning February 29.

Coach Heinie Miller's scrappers were uncertain in defending the title won last year; the tracksters, minus Sprinter Joe Murphy, felt they would do well to retain the runner-up position gained in 1939, and the basketers did not appear formidable enough to reach the final as was done last March.

Boxing Team Formidable

Led by Newton Cox, defender of the 165-pound crown, Maryland sent a complete team of eight boxers to the Conference championship.

Cox had fought four times in the regular season, winning twice, getting a draw, and losing a disputed decision to Fenton Somerville of Virginia.

Three Grid Coaches

Jack Faber, Al Heagy and Al Wood, three Maryland products and faculty members, and long associated with athletics at College Park, jointly will handle the varsity football team. They now are conducting spring practice. This was decided just as the Alumni News went to press.

His main supporters were Bob Bradley, 127, unbeaten in four scraps; Nate Askin, 135, who had a clean slate with four victories and a forfeit, and Izzy Alperstein, 145, brother of the noted Benny, who had won four times and lost a close decision.

John Harn, 120; Norman Hathaway, 155; Izzy Leites, 175, and George Pyles, heavy, were other Terp aspirants. Harn had gained one decision, and lost four; Hathaway had a win, a draw, and a defeat; Leites had won 3 of 5 bouts, while Pyles registered a T. K. O. in his lone appearance of the season in Maryland's final match with Western Maryland.

Bradley, Askin and Cox all are clever boxers with a punch, as is Alperstein, but he lacks the experience of the other three. Askin doubtless was the smoothest worker in the tourney. Harn is the hard-luck scrapper of the team. Weighing only 112, he just was edged out in the four tilts he lost.

Maryland had only a 50-50 team record for the season, defeating Duke, 5-3, and Western Maryland, 6½ to 1½; drawing with Virginia, 4-4, and losing to Catholic University, 3½ to 4½, and to North Carolina, 2½ to 5½.

Titles, Records At Stake

Maryland sent 14 trackmen into 10 events in the Conference meet.

Four Maryland athletes and the relay team were defending titles and records. Alan Miller, winner of the 440 last year in

Baseball Has Problem; Stick Squad Strong

Baseball battery men are toiling and lacrosse players are wielding sticks as Maryland teams in these sports look to tough schedules. Both had great seasons in 1939, the stickmen gaining the national collegiate crown and the nine winning 15 of 19 games.

With Earl Springer and Pershing Mondorff left from last year and Leon Vannais and Max Hunt coming up from the Frosh, Burton Shipley should have fine pitching. His outfield with Hugh Keller, Fritz Maisel and Burton Culver as the leaders should be okay, too, but the infield is giving him the jitters. Stringer hurled 7 wins in 8 starts and Mondorff won 6 of 7 last spring.

Adam Bengoechea is the only infield regular left, with Eddie Johnson, Shorty Chumbris and George Knepley, a great trio, having passed out of the picture. Bill England, who played the outfield, is slated to be in the inner works, but Bengoechea is the only certainty. Dick McHale appears as the ace of the infielders to come from the 1939 yearlings.

Catcher appears ample with Bob Burns on hand again and aided by Merle DuVall, 1939 frosh receiver, and John Boyda.

Meade And Hewitt Lost

Jim Meade, all-America defense, and Rip Hewitt, ace attacker, were regulars lost from the title lacrosse team by graduation and Gary Todd, regular second defense, quit school. However, several good men will be gained from the 1939 frosh.

Two yearlings who showed unusual capabilities were Markland Kelly, who played in home, and Al Slesinger, second attack. Kelly, though, was an ace goalie as a scholastic player, and likely will play that spot. Several others showed marked possibilities and at least six should prove assets to the varsity.

Bill Bond, Jordan Sexton and Oscar Nevares, attack; Jim Heil, center; Milton Mulitz, all-America, Leo Mueller and Jack Mueller, defense men, and Jack Grier, goalie, are regulars and near-regulars who again are available.

It should take a lot of lacrosse to rob the Terps of their crown.

Maryland Teams

51 seconds; Jim Kehoe, victor in the 880 in 1:56.8; Mason Chronister, mile champ in 4:16.1 and the mile relay quartet, which scored in 3:29.3, held 1939 meet crowns and marks. Tom Fields, 2-mile ruler, also was defending, but he did not approach the record in his 1939 triumph.

Murphy, who won the 60-yard dash last year and also started the relay team to victory by running the first quarter, has been unable to get in trim for indoor running.

Maryland entries were:

60-Yard Dash—Kenneth Barnes, Elmer Rigby and Alan Miller.

440-Yard Dash—Alan Miller and Allen Warfield.

880-Yard Run—Jim Kehoe, Bob Condon, Randall Cronin and Bob Montgomery.

Mile—Mason Chronister.

2 Miles—Tommy Fields and Dick Sullivan.

Relay—Chronister, Kehoe, Warfield and Miller.

70-Yard Low Hurdles—Wylie Hopkins.

High Jump—Francis Morris and Wylie Hopkins.

Broad Jump—Francis Morris.

Shot Put—Charley Morris.

Basketers Exceed Expectations

Coach Burton Shipley's tossers did better than was expected in the regular season in winning 13 games and losing 8, as the squad did not look to be better than a 50-50 set-up when the campaign started.

George DeWitt, tall forward and all-Southern Conference last year, was the mainstay of the Terps, with Merle DuVall as his running mate. Others who were regulars as the schedule closed were Bill Rea, center, and Pershing Mondorff and Milton Mulitz, guards.

Others picked to make the tourney trip were Charley Weidinger, Gene Ochsenreiter, Adam Bengoechea, Leon Vannais and Arthur Woodward.

World Record Is Tied In Terp-5th Meet

Frank Fuller of Virginia and Marsh Farmer of Texas Tech tied the world 70-yard hurdle mark of 8.5 seconds and meet records galore were smashed in the Maryland-Fifth Regiment games in the latter's big Armory in Baltimore the night of February 10. Only a fair crowd saw the finest meet staged in this section in years, due greatly to a heavy downpour that started late in the afternoon and continued at night.

Tom Deckard of Indiana was credited with the second best performance in winning the 2 miles from Joe McCluskey, another Olympian of 1936, in 9:05.9, which may be a world mark for a flat board track.

Archie San Romani of Kansas won the featured Governor's Mile in 4:16.1, with Mason Chronister of Maryland third, and Sanford Goldberg of New York took the Oriole 660 from Jim Kehoe of the Terps by inches.

Georgetown won the collegiate point trophy with 22 points and captured the feature mile relay in 3.24, one of the new meet records, with Maryland in second place ahead of North Carolina.

Maryland Is Runner-Up

Maryland also was second to the Hoyas for the team trophy, with Tommy Fields winning the mile and Alan Miller finishing third in the 440, which he might easily have won had he not been pocketed.

Virginia carried off the A. A. U. section team trophy, with 9½ points to Passon A. A.'s 8, and Mercersburg nosed out Washington-Lee High, 6 to 5, for honors in the scholastic division.

Practically every event on the card was well contested and most every team in the meet got points.

Guy Motter, '05, LL. B., Heads Frederick Group

At the annual meeting of the Frederick County Alumni Group, Mr. Guy K. Motter, '05, LL.B., was elected President. Mr. Motter is a well-known and eminent citizen of Fredeick County and Frederick City. He was for some time an attorney-at-law and now is the Frederick City's postmaster. Mr. Motter is a past president of the American Legion, was the first president of the Frederick City Rotary Club, and now is secretary-treasurer of the Frederick County Agriculture Society. He is a very enthusiastic and interested Alumnus and under his guidance many things can be looked for in Frederick County.

Keller Present

Other officers elected at the meeting were Mr. Ransom R. Lewis, '19, as Vice-President, who is also a member of the general Alumni Board. The Secretary-Treasurer is Miss Anne F. "Nancy" Anders, '39, a member of Tri Delt. Members elected to the Executive Committee, in addition to the above named officers, are Dr. William E. Trail, '26, D.D.S., Dr. Charles F. Mullen, Mr. Ross Smith, '29, and Dr. B. O. Thomas, Jr. A very delightful meeting was held at the Catoctin Country Club at which Charley Keller was the guest of honor and was presented a silver plate by Mr. P. W. Chichester, '20, Vice-President of the general Alumni Association, on behalf of the Alumni for his contributions to the prestige of our Alma Mater. Others to speak at the meeting were Geary Eppley, Director of Athletics at the University, and G. F. Pollock, Secretary of the Alumni Association. Mr. Homer Remsburg, '18, President of the Group, presided. Following the talks a motion picture entitled "Touching All Bases," showing the highlights of the 1939 baseball season and prominently featuring Charley Keller, was shown to the Group. Such interest in the picture resulted in having it shown the following morning at the Middletown High School to the student body, where Charley Keller first began his school days.

Those Present

A buffet supper followed the evening program and good fellowship carried on for some time. Among those present for the meeting were Walter E. Sinn, Charles W. Poole, '36, C. Grayson Stevens, '36, James Zimmerman, '37, Charles E. Keller, Jr., '38, G. W. Algire, '30, Clarence C. Carty, '23, Peter W. Chichester, '20, L. P. Downin, '23, H. J. Kefauver, '00, Alvin Klein, '37, Ralph Kline, '23, Charles Remsburg, '26, Henry R. Shoemaker, '17, E. Eugene Thomas, Jr., '34, Philip Wertheimer, '29, Melvin H. Derr, '31, Dr. David H. Everhart, Dr. A. D. Flory, Dr. Noah E. Kefauver, Arthur Remsburg, Dr. Frank V. Swearingen, '24, Dr. George B. Crist, '14, Dr. Thomas C. Routson, '99, Amos A. Holter, '30, Charles Mc. Mathias, Mrs. Alexander Gow, Michael Lombardo, '37, Warren Evans, '36, Harold Remsburg, '24, Robert Remsburg, '30, Edward Storm, Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, '03, and Dr. J. Elmer Harp, '23.

OPERA STARS
COMING TO CAMPUS

EMMA OTERO

FRANK LA FORGE

Opera On The Campus; March 12, 1940

Under the auspices of the Music Department the University will again present outstanding artists in the persons of Miss Emma Otero, soprano, and Frank La Forge, pianist. Miss Otero comes to the Maryland campus from a successful season in eight European capitals and concerts in New York. Miss Otero's triumphal climax of her European tour was in Paris, where she was wildly acclaimed as a new sensation. Success followed her to America, where she appeared as soloist on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour.

She is a pupil of Mr. La Forge, as has been Lawrence Tibbett, Lily Pons, and many other outstanding singers.

The price of admission will be from fifty cents to one dollar and fifty cents, all seats reserved. Write the Alumni office for your reservation. Professor Harlan Randall, Director of Music, will be in charge of the program on arrangements.

Heagy Does Great Job With Frosh Tossers

Al Heagy, Maryland's freshman basket ball coach, turned in a great job in winning 8 of 14 games with the "least experienced" squad of yearling basketers ever to play for the Terps.

Some never had played before and several others had only a year in the sport and, in addition, the tossers lacked height and weight.

Women's Board To Hold Card Party, March 29

The annual card party of the Women's Board of the University Hospital for the benefit of the patients in the free wards, will be held at the Alcazar in Baltimore on March 29. This is the one and only appeal made by this organization each year for financial aid to assist in carrying on their great work in the Hospital. Just recently this philanthropic group of ladies gave $5,000 to the Hospital for the aid of the needy in providing additional laboratory facilities. Many words of praise could be written about their great work, but the greatest thing we can do for them now is to remember their appeal on March 29, with our wholehearted support.

Send your dollar to the Alumni Office for a ticket.

GREAT ATHLETES WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION AT MARYLAND'S FIELD DAY ON MAY 4

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND LIBRARY

JIM KEHOE

Elongated Terp from Bel Air, Md., who is one of the country's greatest half-milers. He ran consistently among the leaders in the big northern meets, winning one race in which he defeated the best in competition. He also is the Southern Conference champion, setting a new mark of 1:55.8 in the February games at Chapel Hill, N. C., though not pressed.

Kehoe's brother, Sterling, will run for Bel Air in the meet.

While Maryland's twenty-third annual Spring affair is mainly for schoolboys in a meet that offers 13 open interscholastic events and nine closed to county high schools of the State, there always are other attractions and one of them this year—the dual track clash between Virginia and Maryland—will present some of the Nation's best performers.

Here is the day's card:

1 P.M. — Start of track events in which the scholastic and dual meets will be run concurrently.

1 P.M.—Varsity tennis. George Washington vs Maryland.

2:30 P.M. — Varsity baseball, William and Mary vs Maryland.

In addition to the regulation open interscholastic events, two added features are a mile relay race for the Maryland Interscholastic Association teams and one of a like distance for the Washington High schools.

County school events are the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, the half-mile run, the 12-pound shot put, the broad jump, high jump and two sections of a half-mile relay. Division I is for schools with an enrollment of under 100 boys and Section II is for schools having in excess of that number.

FRANK FULLER

Virginia's great hurdler who stepped the 70-yard highs in the non-conference event in the Southern Conference indoor meet in February in the world record-breaking time of 8.4 seconds.

JOE MURPHY

Maryland's ace sprinter who holds both the Southern Conference outdoor marks for the 100 and 220-yard dashes of 9.8 and 21.4 seconds, respectively.

Cover Picture

With spring just around the corner, students begin to congregate on the front steps. Here you see students between class on the steps of the former Arts and Sciences building. The reason for saying former Arts and Sciences building is that the Colleges of Engineering and Arts and Sciences have switched buildings. The many new buildings and changes is all the more reason why every alumnus should return for the 48th Alumni Reunion to be held Friday, May 31, at College Park.

My Alumni Friends:

The Alumni Association, Faculty and student body of the College of Dentistry of the University of Maryland can well be proud of the Dental Centenary Celebration in Baltimore which attracted world-wide attention. They were not only the host, they were the wheelhorses and the power behind the scenes. It was a magnificent convention in every respect and one of the very finest ever held. Congratulations to our Dental friends.

This has been a month of great activity at Maryland. The concert, featuring Emma Otero and Frank LaForge, coloratura soprano and pianist, on March 12, was an attractive affair.

Our basket ball and boxing teams did very well in the Southern Conference meets, although they did not come out on top. There was stiff competition but they gave the very best they had every minute of the time. Well done, boys, and hearty congratulations.

Lacrosse, baseball, track and tennis events are now on the athletic schedule. Our teams look good and you may expect to hear good accounts of our boys. Give them your support, win or lose. Enthusiastic encouragement helps a lot.

And again let me urge you to come to our support financially. Why not a contribution to "Rosey" Pollock, Secretary, today? With adequate funds, our Association can aid the University in many ways.

Look forward to May 31, our Annual Alumni Meeting!

Cordially yours,
Chas. W. Sylvester, President.

Dental Centennial Attracts Over Six Thousand Dentists

More than six thousand dentists from all over the world assembled in Baltimore for the Centennial Celebration of the Oldest Dental School in the world. It was the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, now the Dental School of the University, which had its beginning February 1, 1840.

Brun General Chairman

The celebration was headed by the American Dental Association with Dr. B. Lucien Brun, '05, as general chairman. A general Alumni Reunion of Maryland Dental graduates was held on February 17 prior to the opening day, which was overwhelmingly attended.

Foreign Awards

At the Fifth Regiment Armory more than 500 educational exhibits were on display and clinics of every description were conducted during the three-day session. Two foreign awards were made at the concluding convocation.

On behalf of the University of Santo Domingo, Dr. F. M. Dimas-Aruti, D.D.S., '22, presented a plaque to the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery of the University of Maryland in celebration of the Centennial Celebration. Another plaque was presented by Dr. Jose R. Quirogh, chief of the Bolivian Army Dental Corps, on behalf of the Bolivian Government. Governor O'Conor received the plaques on behalf of the University of Maryland and said that the State feels highly honored to have within its borders an institution of such historical distinction, and appreciates the thought behind the presentation of the plaques.

Honorary Degrees

The honorary degrees were conferred on four leaders of dental research and education by Dr. H. C. Byrd, President of the University of Maryland. The recipients were:

Dr. Raymond A. Kent, President of the University of Louisville.

Dr. William J. Gies, of Columbia University.

Dr. Harvey P. Burkhart, Director of the Eastman Dental Clinic, Rochester.

Dr. Arthur H. Merritt, President of the American Dental Association.

For the last twelve years Dr. Burkhart has been in charge of the establishment of five $1,000,000 Eastman dental clinics in European capitals.

Dr. Burkhart received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science — just fifty years ago to the day and almost to the hour following his graduation from the Dental School in 1890.

Dr. J. Ben Robinson, '14, Dean of the Dental School, and many of his staff members and fellow alumni took an active part in the general arrangements for the celebration. Various fraternal organizations and alumni from other universities held reunion in Baltimore.

Governor Extends Welcome

His Excellency, Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, Governor of Maryland, gave the opening address of welcome. Other speakers on the program were Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore, Dr. William M. Lewis, President of Lafayette College, Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, and Dr. Raymond A. Kent, President of the University of Louisville.

Kelsey Leads Alumni

Dr. Harry E. Kelsey, '98, President of the Dental Alumni Association, was a grand host of a great celebration which comes once in a century.

A drama was presented depicting the early history of the dental profession, its obstacles, and how they were mastered by those pioneers of determination, Horace Hayden and Chapin Harris, founders of the first dental school one hundred years ago.

University Receives Portrait of Dean DuMez

At the annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association held in Baltimore last month, alumni, faculty, and friends presented a portrait in oil of Dr. Andrew DuMez, Dean of the School of Pharmacy, to the University.

Dr. Frank Black, '04, former President of the Pharmacy Alumni Association and general chairman of the University Charter Day Celebration in 1939, made the presentation on behalf of his colleagues. Dr. Byrd received the portrait on behalf of the University.

The following eulogy of Dr. DuMez was given at the presentation by Dr. Black:

Dr. Andrew Grover DuMez, a native of the State of Wisconsin, received his academic and professional education in the University of that State. After spending a number of years in graduate work and teaching, he went to the Philippine Islands on appointment by the Federal Government to organize the School of Pharmacy of the University of the Philippines. After completing this task, he entered the United States Public Health Service in 1917, where he served for nine years as Associate Pharmacologist. In 1918 he was appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury to serve as secretary of a committee to investigate the traffic in narcotics in the United States and, in 1925, he was appointed by the Secretary of State to represent the United States Army and Navy in public health service at the Second International Conference on Unification of Standards for Potent Remedies held in Brussels. The pharmacists of Maryland are very fortunate in that Dr. DuMez was appointed Dean of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Maryland on February 1st, 1926. Since he has been Dean, the following outstanding achievements have taken place.

He served as President of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and has served as Secretary of the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education. He has taken an active part in the affairs of the American Pharmaceutical Association, which he has served in many capacities. He has been a member of its Council for more than twenty years, Editor of the

"M" Club Spring Get-Together, May 1

In an endeavor to keep good fellowship alive, which is one of the great values of collegiate athletics, President A. Kirkland Besley, '23, of the "M" Club and his committee, are arranging a spring get-together of all former Old Line athletes.

On Wednesday, May 1, at the Beaver Dam Country Club in Prince George's County, at 7:00 P. M., the spring rally will be held. A bountiful buffet supper will be served and the tax is light — $1.00 per person. A minimum of short speeches, but lots of entertainment and plenty of time for confabs with old cronies, will be the order of the program.

Entertainment will include movies of the campus showing former and present-day athletes in competition with illustrations of various athletic contests, singing, etc. Bob Bradley, a star boxer of the Old Line squad, is also a "star" at the piano. The program will be informal and the rally is a fellowship get-together project. Call an old pal and bring him with you and if you know of a promising high school graduate, bring him as your guest!

More information will come by letter, but make the date at once.

Citizens Honor J. Andy Cohill, '09

At the annual dinner last month of the Hancock Chapter of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, James Andy Cohill, '09, was honored by being presented the Citizen's Award in recognition of his outstanding contribution in civic service. The dinner also marked the anniversary of Founder's Day.

Dr. Homer E. Tabler, former Chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, made the presentation and eulogized Mr. Cohill for his outstanding contributions to civic endeavors by coordinating the different clubs of Hancock into a public relation council. On several occasions, the University Glee Club has made appearances in Hancock, under the auspices of the civic groups.

Mr. Douglas M. Bivens, principal of Hancock, Maryland, High School, was toastmaster.

Sigma Delta, Now K. K. G. Have Birthday

On February 21, Kappa Kappa Gamma actives and Alumnae held a banquet in celebration of the twentieth birthday of Sigma Delta Sorority, the forerunner of Kappa at College Park. Two of the charter members and the first president were on hand for the occasion. Mrs. Elizabeth Hook Day, '21, first president, Ruth Mayers Melroy, and Mrs. Ruth Reppert Marsh, '23, were present. Other alumnae present were: Sarah Morris, Frances Wolfe, '25; Minnie Hill, Dorothy Young, Mrs. Louise Richardson Bowen, Mrs. Mary Riley Langford, '26; Mrs. Catharine Appleman Longridge, Mrs. Katharine Dawson Hill, '29; Mrs. Louise Marlowe Myers, Mrs. Louise Townsend Savage, Mrs. Alice Orton Bruen, '30; Mrs. Esther Hughes Lee, Mrs. Helen Farrington Larner, '33; Margaret Mayo, Mrs. Kitty Dennis Thomason, Mrs. Rosalie Grant Gaillard, '34; Mildred Chapin, '36; Jerry Schuh, Mrs. Janet Cartee Lohr, '37; Jean Dulin, Mrs. May Beggs Doeller, Kay Davis, '38; Nora Huber, Bernice Aring, Margaret MacDonald, Betty Barker, Laura Spehnkouch and Helen Reindollar, '39. Twenty-two active members were also present.

Miss Marie Mount, Dean of the College of Home Economics, and Mrs. Lula Hottel were guests of the sorority.

Alumni Attention Income Tax Notice

How many Alumni realize there is tax economy in gift contribution to the Alumni Fund? Under the Revenue Act of 1938 the taxpayer may still deduct the amount of a gift to an educational institution from his taxable income in an amount up to 15% of the net income. In the case of husband and wife, each may claim the deduction for separate gifts made by them up to 15% of their individual net incomes. The gift is also specifically free from gift tax.

Your Association is endeavoring to establish a suitable Alumni Fund for the future development of a greater University of Maryland. Write your Alumni secretary for more specific information.

Annual Alumni Reunion, Friday, May 31

We are rapidly nearing the half century milestone in the life of our Alumni Association. On Friday, May 31, the forty-eighth annual reunion will be held at College Park.

Charles W. Sylvester, '08, President of the Alumni Association will lead the returning grads for a gala day of renewing friendship and fellowship.

The general program will call for the gathering and registration of Alumni during the afternoon. Sightseeing about the campus and visiting among the faculty members will take place prior to the general or class lunch. At twelve noon the fifty year class flag raising will take place opening the general reunion of all five year classes, with their Presidents as follows: 1895, Dr. W. W. Skinner, 1900, W. D. Groff, 1905, A. A. Parker, 1910, Congressman W. P. Cole, 1915, P. N. Peter, 1920, George B. Hockman, 1925, G. Page Gardner, 1930, Albert B. Heagy, 1935, Tracy Coleman.

In the afternoon it is planned to have special lectures for alumni in the various Colleges with the idea of getting the alumni better organized by Colleges. Also a special entertainment program will be presented in the afternoon.

In the evening the Annual Alumni Reunion banquet will be held in the New Dining Hall with a curtailed speaking program, but with plenty of special entertainment. After the banquet all returning grads are invited to be guests of the University at the 78th Commencement Ball.

Marine Corps Promotes Former Terp Grid Stars

Several former athletic stars of the Terrapin squads moved upon the ladder to the rank of major in the United States Marine Corps by recent orders. Captains Thomas J. (Jack) McQuade, '24, Edward L. Pugh, '25, John (Pat) Lanigan, '26, and John Hough, '26, all members of one of Maryland's outstanding gridiron teams in history, entered the Marine Corps immediately following graduation. They have seen much of the world thru their foreign service assignments. McQuade and Pugh are in the Marine Flying Corps.

HAINES AND MITCHELL ON THE TRACK

Horses Win Championships For Haines And Mitchell

Classmates of 1896, Mahlon N. Haines and Parker Mitchell, attended the Pinehurst Meet, North Carolina, where their fast trotters and pacers won outstanding races. Both of them had champion honor horses for 1939. Haines of York, Pennsylvania, owned Pascha Volo, who won more races as a two-year-old trotter than any horse in the history of America. This colt won thirteen races out of eighteen starts and never was out of the money.

In 1939, Haines' stables won 50 races which is more than any other individually owned stable in America.

Haines' Stable

This stable had 16 trotters and pacers in Pinehurst and 11 in York. In 1940 they are looking forward to having another outstanding champion.

Parker Mitchell of Perryman, Maryland, owns Cleo Hanover, who one afternoon trotted a mile in 1:59½ and in 30 minutes came back and paced the same distance in 2:07. No other horse in America had ever done this on the same afternoon, according to all reports.

Outstanding Alumni

Parker Mitchell was the star football flying wedge center in the early nineties. Mahlon N. Haines was a star shortstop on the baseball team and winner of the competitive cadet drill in 1894. These men and their families have been friends ever since college days and both of them are greatly interested in the trotting horse game.

They are outstanding alumni and strong boosters for the University of Maryland.

Glee Club—A spring trip to the Eastern Shore plus an appearance at the New York World's Fair is the program for the University Glee Club. The Eastern Shore appearance will be at Cambridge on April 11 and Denton on April 12.

Decoration Day will find them at the World's Fair. They are one of the two Glee Clubs in the country which appeared with Fred Waring and nominated by him as worthy of an invitation to appear at the Fair.

New York—Word has been received that William F. Korff, '27, now is located in Schenectady, New York, where he is vice-president of the Carl Company Department Store. He married Miss May Belle Carl and they have one child.

Business School—Miss Marian Mayes, '39, of Baltimore, Maryland, is attending Strayer's Business College. Marian, a member of Alpha Delta, was a finalist in the "Miss Maryland" beauty contest last year.

Married—Stewart B. Shaw, '04, and Miss Mossie G. Bayless were married last month. Stewart is the marketing specialist of the University Extension Service. The newlyweds reside in College Park.

Married — Warner Taliaferro Smith, '39, and Miss Eula Grace Lewis of College Park were married February 24 last. The ceremonies were held in the St. Andrew's Church in College Park. The newlyweds will live in Upper Darby, Pennsylvania.

Civil Engineers, '34, Held Reunion In January

On January 13 last the Civil Engineers of 1934 held a reunion at the home of Bill Ross in Washington, bringing with them their wives or friends. One of the particular features of the meeting was the compiling of a bibliography of each member. This meeting was in commemoration of their first five years out. The following list is a result of the meeting. Those present were as follows:

Many Present

Joseph A. Bogan, with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation in Homestead, Pa. J. Paul Bowker, with the Public Roads Administration in Washington, D. C., and married Miss Lois Huffman. John T. Dressel is with the Public Roads Administration in Mt. Rainier, Maryland, not married. John C. Dye, with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation in Pittsburgh, Pa., married Miss Mora Lillian Plager. Stanley C. Lore is sales engineer for the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation in Philadelphia, Pa., married Miss Helen Krafthofer. George O. Ralston is Junior Patent Examiner with the Patent Office, Washington, D. C., and married Miss Ruth Jones. William H. Ross is with Bohen and Wright, Contractors, in Washington, D. C., and married Miss Eugenia Lawson. Howard C. Turner is construction quartermaster with the War Department at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and resides at University Park, Maryland. He married Miss Carolyn C. Carter. They have two children, Howard, Jr., and Carol Lynn. Harmon C. Welsh is aeronautical engineer at the Navy Yard, Washington, D. C., and lives in Hyattsville, Maryland. Thomas W. Wilson is attorney-at-law with H. L. Lohnes, Washington, D. C. He resides in Arlington, Virginia, and married Miss Anne Webber.

Four Graduates Set Up Novel Scholarship Plan

With two purposes in mind, four graduates have agreed upon a novel way to set up a scholarship fund. It will be twenty-five years hence but some young man has something to look forward to.

The four philanthropic minded young graduates are Leon Yourtee, '39, of Hagerstown, Jerry Hardy, '39, of College Park, Larry Hoover, '38, of Takoma Park, and Arthur Greenfield, '39, of New York. Their purpose is to see some one or more deserving young men secure a university education without having to endure the same impediments "as we have met".

Divide Earnings

The plan is to pool five percent of their annual taxable income. This will be divided five ways. Each member of the pact will receive one-fith and one-fifth will go to the scholarship fund for the next twenty-five years. Jerry Hardy will be trustee.

At present three are employed and one is taking graduate work in dramatics. Arthur Greenfield is at the University of Southern California for graduate study. The others, however, have no worry about Arthur. They expect him to "crash" the movies any day. Larry Hoover, former editor-in-chief of the Diamondback, is employed as a sports writer in Washington, D. C. Leon Yourtee, a campus dramatic star, is a civilian engineer in the United States Army in Panama, and Jerry Hardy, former editor of the Old Line, is with the Nation's Highway Safety Commission in Washington.

The young men are to be congratulated for a novel idea that has merit!

Engineering Alumni Plan Spring Reunion

As the result of several get-togethers of Engineering Alumni during the past winter, plans for a spring reunion have been made. On April 20 all engineering graduates will convene at the University Dining Hall at 7 P.M. for the first reunion of engineers.

An interesting program is being arranged with a minimum of speeches and plenty of time for a good bull session!

Those on the committee who gave birth to this idea are: Joe Deckman, '31, John Bell, '32, Sam McGlathery, '33, Bell Ross, '34, Henry Chick, '35, John Firmin, '36, Joe Harris, '36, Phil Firmin, '37, Joe Bennett, '38, and Tom Wharton, '39.

Write any one of the committeemen for your reservation or contact the Alumni Office! Don't put it off as a crowd is expected!

Senator Tydings, Congressman Cole, and Dr. Byrd are some of the engineering grads expected to be present.

A. O. Pi Alumnae Held Spring Meeting

On March 12, last, the monthly meeting of A. O. Pi Alumnae in the vicinity of Washington was held at the apartment of Mrs. William Henderson, financial advisor. The program included much about A. O. Pi in the Mid-Western and Pacific groups, also a talk on flowers by Mrs. Amelia Gude Thomas of Gude Brothers, florists. Mrs. Thomas is the wife of Branson Thomas, K. A. of 1921.

Cecil County Group Plan Alumni Meeting

On Friday, April 5, at 8 P.M. in the chapel of the Tome Town School, the Alumni Group of Cecil County will hold a meeting. G. F. Pollock, Alumni Secretary, will be present to talk on the University activities and plans for 1940-41. Also to show motion pictures of the campus development as well as student activities and athletic contests.

The committee urges every alumnus in the county to be present for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with your fellow alumni and to work together for a greater University of Maryland.

Net Squad Expecting Another Big Season

Phil Burkom, a junior from Baltimore, is the most improved player on the Maryland tennis team that is scheduled to open its season by entertaining William and Mary at College Park on April 4.

His skill in the doubles has been especially pleasing to Coach Les Bopst. The netmen got a good start by working out in Ritchie Coliseum.

Allie Ritzenberg and Nathan Askin, the Southern Conference and Middle Atlantic collegiate doubles champions, of course, are the No. 1 and 2 men on the team, with Jack Phillips, another senior, next in line.

Burkom is a junior, as are three others—Jim Hardy, Jim Burnside and Charlson Mehl and Harry Baugher and Doyle Royal, a pair of sophs, have added strength.

Bopst's charges won 7 of 10 matches last year and should approximate that record this season.

Four Baseball Stars Are In Final Year

Four of the bright lights on Maryland's baseball team are seniors — Pitchers "Lefty" Earl Springer and Pershing Mondorff; Adam Bengoechea, second base, and Hugh Keller, outfielder.

Fine Spirit Is Shown In Football Drills

Maryland's football squad, consistently hitting around 60, is displaying unusual enthusiasm and keenness in its spring drills under Jack Faber, Al Woods and Al Heagy, the trio of former Terp stars, alumni and faculty members.

The gridders say that Faber and Woods are not half so tough on the football field as they are in their bacteriology and agronomy classes, respectively. Heagy, in the Chemistry Department, does no teaching.

One big factor in the practice in addition to the fine fellowship between the coaches and players, is that all of the men on the field get into action. When the divided squad is not running plays against each other, each of the three mentors takes a group and keeps it busy and interested.

Right now double-wing back running plays and passes from this formation are being stressed to later be blended with the single-wing set-ups.

The gridders were due to finish on March 30 and their scrimmages showed plainly that the work on the attack had borne fruit.

Clever Little Gridder

Joe Hoopengardner, freshman from Hagerstown, has proved the best little rookie back in Maryland's spring grid drills. He is fast and rugged and can take it.

Nine Facing Problems At Short And First

Maryland's baseball team was hiking South on an Easter when this was written, to play North Carolina March 23, Duke twice the following Monday and a finale with Virginia on the way home.

The odds were all against Coach Burton Shipley's charges on the trip, as cold weather and a soggy field kept the squad from rapid advancement, and the Terps had to meet rivals who had prepared longer and under much better conditions.

The team appeared pretty well fixed, except for first and short, where no men of outstanding caliber have shown. Loss of George Knepley, Eddie Johnson and Shorty Chumbris from the 1939 infield left too many gaps to fill in one year.

Shipley's tentative batting order at the outset was as follows:

Fritz Maisel or Bill England, right field; Adam Bengoechea, second base; Newton Cox or Arthur Rudy, first base; Hugh Keller, left field; Dick McHale, third base; Burton Culver, center field; Leib McDonald or Jim Wharton, short; Bob Burns or John Boyda, catcher.

All are leftovers except McHale and the sophomore shortstop rivals.

Lefty Earl Springer is the most advanced of the pitchers, but Pershing Mondorff and Charley Woodward of the vets also are ready, as are Lefty Leon Vannais and Arthur Woodward, sophs. Max Hunt, a husky and capable soph, only recently over from the grid drills.

Mearle DuVall, catcher, and Ashton Garrett, first base candidate, also were late in coming from the grid squad. Both are sophs. DuVall should prove especially valuable.

Nine Stick Starters From Baltimore

Twenty of the 24 members of Maryland's intercollegiate lacrosse championship squad are from Baltimore or vicinity, three are from the District of Columbia, and the other is from Hanover, Pa.

Nine Baltimore boys started the opening game against Mount Washington at College Park on March 23.

LATE BULLETIN

Maryland lost both its lacrosse and baseball openers, but showed strength despite defeats. The lacrosse team bowed to Mount Washington, 3-8, and the nine, although getting 16 hits to North Carolina's 8, dropped a 11-inning game, 7-8. Snow prevented the twin bill with Duke March 25.

Track Team Worrying Over Field Events

With such fine runners as Joe Murphy, Kenneth Barnes, Alan Miller, Gene Ochsenreiter, Whitey Miller, Jim Kehoe, Bob Condon, Mason Chronister, and Tommy Fields available, stress in Maryland's track workouts is being placed upon the hurdlers and field events men. Murphy also is a fine broad jumper but Gordon Kluge in the javelin and Bob Porter in the high jump right now appear as the only other sure field events point-getters.

Maryland's opener is slated with Virginia Poly at Blacksburg on April 6.

Shortage of hurdlers has caused Swede Eppley to decide to test Condon and Whitey Miller in these events.

Charley Morris, shot putter and discus thrower, also should improve and place in many meets; Ralph Albarano should help with the shot, and Francis Morris may be counted upon to score often in the high and broad jumps.

Elmer Rigby, sprinter; Jack Warfield and Randall Cronin, in the 440; Bob Montgomery, in the half; Ted Stell and Dick Sullivan, in the mile; Wylie Hopkins, in the high jump and hurdles; Bill Tilley, in the broad jump, and Bob Moseley, in the weights, are sophs who should chip in with some scoring.

State Provides Most Of Diamond Squad

Maryland's baseball squad, like the lacrosse outfit, practically is a State combination. Twenty of the 23 men Coach Shipley plans to carry are Marylanders, two are from the District of Columbia, and Pennsylvania provides one.

Good Lacrosse Outfit Has Tough Beginner

Maryland's biggest lacrosse task of the season will be history by the time this is read, as Mount Washington was down for the opener on March 23, and the Terps, unlike last season when they were keenly prepared and upset the clubmen, 11-1, were not tuned for the affair.

Pre-game dope was that the Terps were in for a rough afternoon from the revenge-seeking Mount Washington veterans, who put the shoe on the other foot this year by getting the extra preparation.

It was a battle of champions as Maryland holds the collegiate crown and Mount Washington is the ruler of the club realm.

The Terps follow with games with Dartmouth, Harvard and Loyola of Baltimore that they figured to take in their stride before making a trip to West Point to play Army on April 17. They all are tough from then on.

Maryland's tentative first team contains: Mark Kelly, goal; Bill Graham, cover point; Leo Mueller, point; Milton Mulitz, first defense; Jack Mueller, second defense; Bill Cole, center; Jim Heil, second attack; Oscar Nevares, first attack; Jordan Sexton, out home; Bill Bond, in home.

This is an all-letter wearing set-up, with the exception of Kelly, a soph.

Jack Grier, goal; Fred Widener and George Lawrence, defense, and Chick Allen, attack, all letter men; Jack Garrett, a leftover, and Soph Al Slesinger, attack, offer clever reserve strength.

It is an excellent outfit, once it gets in top trim, and will be a tough combination for any college rival to lick.

Successful Mat Squad Led By Paul McNeil

Paul McNeil, Maryland's 175-pound wrestler, won his thirty-third straight bout as the Terps closed their season by defeating Lafayette. McNeil is a lineman on the football squad.

The Terps had a fine season, winning 6 of their 7 matches, the only defeat coming at the hands of a powerful Rutgers outfit.

In addition to Lafayette, the Terps beat Gallaudet, Haverford, Hopkins, Duke and Davidson.

Portrait Of Dean DuMez Presented To University

Year Book, and, at present, Editor of the Scientific Edition of the A. Ph. A. Journal, and, last year, he was honored by being elected to the office of President.

In view of these accomplishments, the faculty and alumni of the School of Pharmacy and friends decided to have a portrait painted of Dr. DuMez and to present it to the School of Pharmacy of the University of Maryland. Dr. DuMez has won a place in the hearts of his many friends and he has played a very important part in building our Alumni Association to the position which it occupies today.

Cover Picture

Shows some of the trees on the oldest part of the campus. The oaks on the hill are always a memorable sight to the returning old grads. This section of the campus has not changed for over fifty years. The view from this spot looks onto new developments and a rapidly changing campus. The oaks "On the Hill" beckon your return on Friday, May 31.

My Alumni Friends:

May 31, 1940, is the date of our 48th Alumni Reunion. A fine program is being planned for your pleasure. The fifty-year class will be in the center of the spotlight, surrounded by the five-year classes. This will be a gala occasion and you cannot afford to miss it.

Plan to arrive at College Park by at least twelve o'clock noon and remain for the 78th Commencement Ball. Prove to the world by your attendance that no University in the land has more loyal, interested or enthusiastic Alumni. Meet and visit again with your friends. Friendship is, I believe, the most valuable asset any of us can have. Do we fully appreciate and enjoy it?

A real attraction is on the schedule of events. Our President, "Curley", realizing our attachment to and interest in the Rossborough Inn, has arranged for the formal opening of this good, old, and well-known historic landmark. We do love it and of all the cherished spots on the campus, it is the one place where we can meet with a feeling of welcome and joy of the occasion. May it ever be the favorite meeting ground at College Park for all Alumni. For many of us who remember it years ago, we are grateful for the opportunity to have a part in its formal opening this year. Let us have a banner crowd to gather there.

We want you to attend the business meeting of the association. There are many matters of importance to come before us, including some changes in the constitution which are outlined elsewhere in this issue

Forty-eighth Alumni Reunion For All; Rossborough Inn Officially Opened; Special Five Year Reunion Classes

In the spring of the year an alumnus's thoughts naturally turn to the old campus "On the Hill," its wide open spaces, green grass, and rolling landscape. Such thoughts always bring many old grads back to the campus to live those collegiate days over again, reminiscing and hobnobbing about this and that with old pals.

Various haunts will be visited, the tower in Morrill Hall, the Library, the Dorms, the Varsity Grill, Joe's and back to the frat houses for a spell.

A new attraction will be presented this day which has old traditions, the Rossborough Inn, erected in 1798, for many a year a roadside inn and social center, will be officially opened. Architectural changes in earlier years took away its original graceful lines, but today you will behold a restored colonial structure in all of its eloquence and beauty. Period furniture and landscaping add to the atmosphere of this historic inn. The alumni will be the first to view the restored historically and traditionally famous landmark.

New Administration Building

Alumni will first assemble in the New Administration building, located in the rear of the Rossborough Inn. Here you will register and get your instructions for the remainder of the day. A spacious foyer in the new building provides an elegant place for the registration of old grads.

Alumni Day is for every alumnus with extra emphasis placed upon the return of the five-year classes. Those who will lead the Alumni Day class parade are:

1895—Dr. W. W. Skinner
1900—W. D. Groff
1905—A. A. Parker
1910—W. P. Cole, Jr.
1915—Richard Dale
1920—George B. Hockman
1925—Page Gardner
1930—Albert Heagy
1935—Tracey Coleman.

In addition, those classes, like 1892, 1908, 1921, and several who always have an annual reunion, will be on hand.

Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting special reorganization plans will be presented as well as amendments to the constitution. Special amendments will increase representation on the General Alumni Board for the various colleges. Opportunity for organization of alumni by colleges and their electing representatives to the Board will be presented. A revision in the tenure of offices and the forming of a council to represent each and every school and college in the University is to be presented. The business meeting will not be unduly long, but will be interesting. Great plans are being made to have more alumni represented in the affairs and development of our greater University of Maryland.

No alumnus should miss the Alumni Reunion, as each alumnus makes the day a success for fellow alumni.

Friday, May 31st—from morning 'til night.

Crothers To Reside In Cecil County

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Crothers are moving to Cecil County, Omar's home ground. Omar is an attorney-at-law and a double graduate of Maryland. He first finished at College Park in '29 and then graduated from the Law School. Football was his sport in which he gained fame as an All-Maryland guard. Omar and Hamilton Whiteford, '26, are law partners in Baltimore. Mrs. Crothers was formerly Miss Margaret Jefferson of the Eastern Shore.

K. A. Minstrels

Director of the twentieth annual Cotton Pickers' Minstrels, by the Kappa Alpha Fraternity was Flo Small, '37, former star in dramatics on the campus. Flo was assisted by Bernie Ulman, the fleet gridiron halfback.

Robert Bradley, Maryland star 125-pound boxer, was at the piano for the musical numbers.

Alumni In Cecil County Plan Group Organization

On a recent visit to Port Deposit, Maryland, the Alumni Secretary, G. F. Pollock, met with an Alumni Committee where plans were made for a county organization. Miss Sarah Jack, '35, will act as temporary chairman and secretary. Others on the committee are George Morrison, '31, of Tome Institute; Miss Alice Taylor, '30, now teaching; Ralph Beachley, '22, high school principal at North East; Miss Margaret Jack, '39, substitute teaching; Dr. William G. Jack, '06, physician; Miss Catherine Roe, '36, and Wilson Dawson, '35, teacher at Tome High School.

Mr. Cumming, principal of Tome High School, where the meeting was held, also attended the meeting. His son, William K. Cumming, now is a student at College Park.

Motion pictures of the recent campus developments and a football game were shown. There was considerable enthusiasm and interest in organizing a group in Cecil County.

U. S. Marines—Lieut. Fairfax Walters, '36, now in the Aviation Corps of the U. S. Marines, stopped by the University on one of his flying trips, to pay a visit. He now is located at Quantico, where there are several more Old Liners stationed. Lieut. Col. Bernard Dubel, '17, Lieut. Col. Galen M. Sturgis, '17, Major C. T. Bailey, '23, Major Ralph Lanigan, '26, Major Edward Pugh, '25, Major John Hough, '25, Major Joseph Berger, '25, and Lieut. Louis Ennis, '37. Walters indicated an alumni meeting would probably be held there sometime in the near future before transfers will be in order. Practically all of them expected to attend the "M" Club rally on May 1.

of the News. We look forward to some changes which will surely stimulate greater interest in the work of the University.

I shall expect you at College Park on Friday, May 31.

Cordially yours,

Charles W. Sylvester,
President.

CELEBRATING 25TH REUNION

1915

Class Of 1915 In 25th Reunion Spotlight

From all indications the members of 1915 will return to the campus on Friday, May 31, in numbers sufficient to make all classes envious of their reunion loyalty and spirit. Richard Dale and C. H. Buchwald are a committee of two in charge of the reunion.

Their faces are somewhere in the class picture on this page; see if some of the old-timers can find them. Anyway, you will see both at College Park on Alumni Day.

The class reunions will be for the purpose of compiling a then-and-now book on the class activities during the past twenty-five years, as well as prophecies for the next twenty-five.

Sigma Nu—A call has been sounded for all good Sigma Nus to assemble at the chapter house for their annual alumni meeting on Saturday, May 4, the date of Maryland's big field meet.

The active boys of Delta Phi are planning a big reunion for their older brothers. "Rip" Hewitt, top mogul, assures a good time for all.

Dinner will be the first part of the program, followed by a few short talks and a business meeting and lots of time for a general fellowship get-together.

Publication Banquet

J. Marshal Mathias, '35, former Editor of the Diamondback, will be toastmaster at the annual University Publications Banquet, to be held Friday, May 3, at the Manor Club. Joe now is a reporter for the Washington Post.

The introduction of new staff members and the annual tapping of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, will be the high lights of the evening.

Officers Installed

For the ensuing year, Orville Shirey of Cumberland and a student in the College of Arts and Science, will be editor of the Diamondback. Head of the Terrapin, student yearbook, is David Johnson, a student in Agriculture, who hails from Takoma Park. Charles Ksanda, head of the Old Line, is from Washington and a student in the College of Arts and Science.

Other Diamondback appointments are Lois Kemp, of Baltimore, Women's Editor; Judsson Bell, of Aberdeen, Business Manager; Turner Timberlake, of Magnolia, as Sports Editor. The Terrapin adds Lida Sargeant, of Silver Spring, as Women's Editor, and Gerald Prentice, of Hyattsville, as Managing Editor. New offices of the Old Line staff are Margaret Wallace of Bethesda as Women's Editor; George Kephart, of Takoma Park, as Business Manager; Walter Kerwin, of Washington, as Art Editor, and Neal Hathaway, of University Park, as Associate Editor.

Home Economics Alumnae To Organize

Alumnae of the College of Home Economics are invited to spend Saturday, May 18th, at the University. There will be plenty of time given for thorough inspection of the new Home Economics Building and the equipment. The meeting, beginning at 11 o'clock, will include reminiscences, an informal discussion of family and professional success, and plans for the organization of an alumnae group.

Carolyn Chesser, '30, Director of Home Economics at the Electric Institute of Washington, will be chairman of the alumnae committee for the day. Luncheon will be served in the Home Economics Building at 1 o'clock, followed by a style show. A news letter with details of the program will be sent to all alumnae before the meeting. It will be appreciated if all the alumnae will spread the news of the meeting of May 18th.

The open house program is under the supervision of Dean Marie Mount, College of Home Economics.

Student Grange Celebrate Twenty-fifth Anniversary

On May the second one of the oldest student organizations, the Student Grange, celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary. One of their founders and first faculty adviser of the organization, Reuben Brigham, '08, now with the information department of the U. S. D. A., will be the principal speaker.

Dr. H. J. Patterson, former Director of the Agriculture Experiment Station, later Dean of the College of Agriculture, now retired, and one who was largely responsible for the early beginning of the Grange and its continued perpetuation, will be the honored guest.

Master T. Roy Brookes of the State Grange, will present a twenty-five year certificate of loyalty for continuous membership to a prominent alumnus and faculty member.

All former members of the Student Grange are cordially invited to attend. Call Arthur Hamilton, Greenwood 3800, for your reservation.

The Shadow Of A Man

(By the Late Dr. House)

Before leaving his home in College Park for a tour in the midwest and the Pacific coast in the summer of 1938, Dr. Homer C. House assembled and arranged for publication all poems which he wished to appear under the title, "The Shadow of a Man." Death made his untimely call while on this trip, on August 28, 1938, leaving the compiled work to be completed by Dr. House's friends.

The book has been published, and the News takes this occasion to thank Mrs. Lillian Chase House, widow, for her thoughtfulness in presenting the Alumni Association with a copy. Many of Dr. House's former students we are sure would be interested in having a copy of this book. Any one desiring same can write the Alumni Office. The cost is $2.25 per copy.

The following is an excerpt from comments:

"This posthumous collection represents the rich harvest of a lifetime — the rich reaping of a thinking, feeling man of our own time. Compressed into stunning poetry, Homer House has bequeathed to us something more tangible than his shadow; a book that is more of him than many of his closest friends knew."

Student Government Elects John Reckord, President

When the final count was made, John Reckord, of Baltimore, a major in the College of Commerce, was elected President of the Student Government Association. John is a nephew of Major General Milton A. Reckord, commander of the Maryland National Guard.

Vice-Presidency of the Student Government went to Norman "Reds" Miller, in the College of Agriculture, from Prince George's County. Miss Barbara Boose, of Washington, a major in the College of Education, won the office of Secretary-Treasurer.

President of the Men's League went to Robert Meyer, of Baltimore, a major in Agriculture. The Women's League top honor was won by Carolyn Gray, of Poolesville, of the College of Education.

Vice-Presidency of the Women's League went to Mary Virginia Bolden of the College of Education, from Oakland, Maryland. Doris McFarland, of Cumberland, and a student in Home Economics, won the position of Secretary, while Martha Rainalter, also of Cumberland and the College of Home Economics, won the Treasurership.

Tom Coleman, retiring President of the Student Government, announced there are 99 nominations for the various class offices; elections to fill these offices will be held later in the year.

Correction—The News regrets the error in the note about Mr. and Mrs. George R. Heine, '25. First, George's middle initial is R. and Not B. as was printed. Mrs. Heine was formerly Miss Margaret Schwartz. Both attended the Southern Conference Boxing Tournament at Columbia, South Carolina. They live at Florence, South Carolina, where George is manager for Southern Dairies.

Three Prominent Dental Alumni Die

In recent weeks the Dental Alumni Association has suffered the loss of three prominent members.

Dr. Orem Henry Gaver, '18, D.D.S., for many years an outstanding member of the faculty as professor of Physiology. At the time of his graduation he was awarded the Magna Cum Laude. He immediately began work as an instructor in clinical dentistry and later became superintendent of the Dental Clinic.

One Of Fifteen Children

He was a member of a family of fifteen children and the first to die. Five of his brothers are University graduates and one sister. His brothers were: Gaither C., '21, Ph.G.; Paul G., '24, Ph.G.; Herman S., '26, Ph.G.; Grason W., '22, D.D.S., and Leo J., M.D., '39. His sister, Norma, now Mrs. Daniel W. Justice, was in Nursing, '21. Dr. Gaver's son, Orem, Jr., now is in the predental class at the University.

Dr. Gaver was an active fraternal man and there was no one more interested or loyal to the Alumni Association than he. He was a past president of the Maryland State Dental Association and a member of the Anne Arundel County Board of Education. Dr. Gaver died March 28.

Dr. Rossmann

Another Baltimorean and prominent dentist was Dr. Louis Rossmann, '15, D.D.S., from the oldest dental school in the world, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, now a part of the University's Dental School. Lou, as his fellow alumni called him, was much interested in athletic endeavors and took an active part himself, especially in golf. He was one of Baltimore's star amateurs.

He was a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners and at the time of his death, he was president of the Board. He was a member of the Maryland State Dental Association and an active alumnus. He took a very active part in the Dental Centennial held recently in Baltimore. Dr. Rossmann died April 2, 1940. He is survived by his widow.

NEW FRAT HOUSE

Sigma Phi Sigma

Sigma Phi Sigmas Show Off New Home

A new fraternity house graces the surroundings in College Park. The Sigma Phi Sigmas have an elaborate new home, located one block off of College Avenue, toward the Stadium. Picture above.

It is a splendidly arranged house and the construction was supervised by one of their own engineers, George O. Weber, '33, president of his class.

The doors are open, with a general welcome to all Alumni to visit them on Alumni Day.

Engineers Held Successful Reunion

Success was the result of the first annual reunion banquet of the Engineering College Alumni held Saturday, April 20, on the campus of the University. One hundred and twenty engineering Alumni were enthusiastic over the splendid return and results of the meeting. Herschel H. Allen, '10, now with the Griener Engineering Company in Baltimore, was toastmaster. Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, President of the University and a graduate of the Engineering College, was principal speaker. His talk was quite inspirational and enlightening on the general aims and policies of the University. "Alumni are to become more of a definite part in the University developments, know more about what is being done and to have a kener insight in the University accomplishments, because it is our Alumni who carry the benefits of the University's teachings to the people of our states," said Dr. Byrd.

Other speakers were J. Hanson Mitchell, '98, first graduate of the College of Engineering; Dr. T. H. Taliaferro, former Dean of the College; Professor S. S. Steinberg, now Dean of the College, and C. V. Koons, '29, Engineering Representative on the Alumni Board.

Many of the old-timers were present for the affair. J. Darby Bowman, '02, James H. Anderson, '04, C. A. Warthen, '08, and Grover C. Day, '08.

Much credit is due the steering committee, headed by John Firmin. Other helpful members were Joe Deckman, '31, John Bell, '32, Sam McGlathery, '33, Bell Ross, '34, Henry Chick, '35, Joe Harris, '36, Phil Firmin, '37, Joe Bennett, '38, and Tom Wharton, '39.

Plans are now under way to so perfect an Engineering College Alumni Association which will make this reunion an annual occasion.

Among those present were:

1940—E. Kent Bebb, William H. Watkins.
1939—William B. Davis, T. P. Wharton, Jack Hollbrook, Herbert P. Hall, John P. Smith, Jr., Eugene F. Mueller, Jr., Henry W. Jones, L. H. R. McGill.

1937—Robert J. McLeod, Wright G. Calder, Philip Firmin, Harold L. Kelly, Jr., John W. Heiss, Herman W. Berger, Jr., C. F. Jones, George E. Gilbert, Doran S. Platt.
1936—Peter F. Hilder, Roy F. Bartelmes, R. F. Hardie, H. Melvin Steen, Fred H. Minke, Lyle F. Parrott, Andrew B. Beveridge, Harry Bryan, Richard E. Volland, Joseph M. Louis Park, J. S. Rimmer.
1935—Charles H. Ludwig, Allan M. Thomas, Jr., Tracy C. Coleman, Clinton G. Light, Jr., E. Austin Davis, Henry M. Chick, Edward S. Barber, Joseph H. Pyles, K. F. Baldwin, C. T. Foltz, Harding Zimmisch.
1934—A. C. Layman, J. Paul Bowker, Stanley C. Love, John T. Dressel, A. Van Reuth, Howard C. Turner, G. O. Ralston.
1933—Norman B. Belt, L. Melvin Roberts, Stanley D. Shinn, Samuel E. McGlathery, Charles T. Mothersead, Roger Peed, Wm. P. Starr, Charles E. Kitchin, George O. Weber, Howard M. Biggs, Robert E. Dunnine, Lewis G. Phillips, John M. Bowie, William Taylor Fulford.
1932—C. V. Whalin, Jr., C. W. Bogen.
1931—F. L. Holloway, Kenneth S. Kessecker, John Mitton, Joseph H. Deckman, Robert C. Horne, Theodore A. Mowatt.
1930—W. H. Fifer, Charles A. Willmuth.
1929—Julian U. Bowman, C. V. Koons, Jay V. Hall, Jr.
1926—J. B. Lilts, R. S. Caruthers, Frank W. Rothenhoefer.
1925—H. R. Aldridge.
1923—H. J. Toodvine, A. G. Wallis.
1921—H. R. Peddicord.
1918—M. O. Pyle.
1911—H. Roland Devilbiss.
1910—Herschel H. Allen.
1908—C. A. Warthen, Grover C. Day.

Dr. McCooey was a sport enthusiast and himself had been quite a participant during his school and college days.

The News takes this occasion to convey its sincere condolence to the bereaved family and friends of our fellow alumni.

Action Galore Assured on Field Day, May 4

Maryland's annual Field Day, the twenty-third such affair, at College Park on May 4, is big doings for the Terps in the immediate future, although the track, tennis, baseball and lacrosse outfits constantly are offering attractive contests.

All of the varsity Spring teams will be seen in action that day, except the stickmen, who will play the previous afternoon at Princeton in a game that will go a long way toward deciding the disposition of the national collegiate title the Terps now hold.

Here is the home card for May 4:

10 A. M.: Tennis—Freshmen vs. Tech High.

1 P. M.: Tennis—Varsity vs. George Washington.

1:30 P. M.: Annual interscholastic meet, with 13 open events, and seven events and two relays closed to county high schools; also special relay races for Maryland Interscholastic Association and Washington public high schools; Varsity meet with Virginia to be run concurrently.

3:30: Baseball—Varsity vs. William and Mary in a Southern Conference clash.

Washington-Lee High and Bel Air High are the defending team champions in the open and county high school events, respectively.

Maryland will be favored in all its events, except the track meet with Virginia, hurdlers and pole vaulters giving the Cavaliers the edge. Frank Fuller, one of the world's greatest hurdlers, heads the Virginia team, while such ace runners as Joe Murphy, Jim Kehoe, Mason Chronister, Alan Miller, Tommy Fields and others are Maryland's strength.

Including all of the teams, more than 500 athletes will be seen in action during the day.

"Baby" Of Ball Team

Maryland has an extremely youthful ball team, with Leib McDonald, Soph infielder from Sparks, Md., being the "baby" of the squad. He is only 18.

ELEVATES TENNIS

LES BOPST, '17

Associate State Chemist, who gets a lot of pleasure out of building up the net game at Maryland. His 1940 team, which has been hampered by the unusually bad weather, scored 9-0 shutouts over William and Mary and Temple in the first two matches. It then lost to Duke and beat Virginia.

Terps Make Strong Bid In Penn Carnival

Maryland had Joe Murphy in the 100-yard invitation and five relay teams listed in the University of Pennsylvania carnival that was staged at Philadelphia on April 26 and 27, but it was not certain that they would run in all of them.

The Terps were entered in the mile, two miles, four miles, sprint medley and the distance medley and, while the competition was tough in all events, they figured they might bring home at least one championship.

Maryland's runners for the various events were:

Joe Murphy, Kenny Barnes, Alan Miller, Vernon Miller, Jack Warfield, Gene Ochsenreiter, Mason Chronister, Tom Fields and Bob Condon.

Three Tough Contests Ahead of Stickmen

Maryland's lacrosse team was about to step into the tough end of its schedule by meeting Princeton in the latter's field in Tigertown on May 3 when this was written. Games with Navy at Annapolis May 11 and Hopkins at College Park a week later will complete the card.

After losing to Mount Washington, 3-8, with a team which was not prepared for the test on account of the fact that Jack Faber and Al Heagy, the lacrosse mentors, were with the stick squad only two days before the game by reason of being occupied with the gridmen in Spring practice, the Terps scored six straight collegiate victories.

Maryland had little difficulty in disposing of Dartmouth, Harvard, Loyola of Baltimore, Army, Rutgers and Penn State in that order. The closest tilts were with the West Pointers and Rutgers, both beaten, 6 to 2.

While the Terps are good this season, they have not yet shown quite the class that brought them the collegiate crown last Spring, and right now Princeton and Hopkins, both high in manpower and finesse, are favored over the champs.

Maryland and Navy rate more nearly on a par, with the Terps probably having a slight edge.

All three games, though, should be fine battles, no matter how they result.

Brothers Playing Ball For Varsity, Frosh

Outfielder Frederick Maisel and Pitcher Lefty Leon Vannais of the varsity nine both have brothers on the Terp freshman squad.

Phil Vannais is a catcher and Bob Maisel is another outfielder.

The Maisels, who are from Catonsville, are sons of Fritz Maisel, ex-Yankee third baseman and later manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

Winter Sports Squads Honored At Banquet

Maryland's Athletic Board honored its varsity winter sports teams at a banquet at Indian Spring Country Club on April 26 at which letters were awarded.

Stanley Scherr, Baltimore lawyer and chairman of the Maryland Athletic Commission, and Paul Menton, sports editor of the Evening Sun, were the principal speakers.

President H. C. Byrd, athletic officials and leaders and coaches were among those present, in addition to the members of the various teams.

Those rewarded follow:

Varsity Basket Ball — *Adam Bengoechea, *Pershing Mondorff, *Milton Mulitz, *Bill Rea, George DeWitt, Gene Ochsenreiter, Charley Weidinger, Mearle DuVall, Leon Vannais, Arthur Woodward, and Manager *George Heil. Francis Beamer received gold award.

Varsity Boxing — *Nate Askin, *Newton Cox, *Israel Leites, Norman Hathaway, Josh Hughes, Isadore Alperstein, Bob Bradley, John Harn, George Pyles, Manager *James Healey and *Robert Wilson, Freshman manager.

Varsity Rifle — *W. C. Jensen, *T. W. Riley, *R. W. Laughead, *F. G. Carpenter, A. E. Imus, R. L. Hodges, J. C. Marzolf, L. H. Haskin, H. D. Fugitt, Manager *J. M. Marzolf and *S. M. Whalen, Freshman Manager. Enos Ray got gold award.

Wrestling (Minor Letter) — Robert T. Ayres, Henry J. Rockstroh, Wilfred A. Council, William Watson, Paul McNeil and Bill Krouse.

Soccer (Minor Letter) — Edward J. Daugherty, Edgar Faulkner and Arthur Rudy.

Varsity gold awards go to Seniors who have been on the squad three years and who have won their letter at least once.

Basketers Are Golfers

George DeWitt, Maryland's all-Southern Conference basketer, is playing No. 1 on the Terps' golf team. Bill Rea, another member of the quint, also is on the team. The sport is getting varsity recognition at Maryland for the first time.

Coaches Are Gratified With Grid Drills

Maryland's Spring football practice was pleasing to the coaching triumvirate of Jack Faber, Al Woods, and Al Heagy.

Most of the time was spent in trying to locate tackles, the big problem for 1940, and in testing out new offensive tactics that will be employed next Fall. Good progress was made in both phases.

George Gienger, fast 200-pounder who played guard last Fall, showed aptitude at tackle, and others also gave promise in the position.

Jack Gilmore, a triple threat, and Joe Hoopengardner, were Soph backs to display unusual promise.

An odd angle to the drills was that they were finished without a center. Bob Smith, 1939 regular, did not report on account of a knee operation in December; Jim Wharton, his understudy, went over to baseball; Frank Blazek was taken ill, and Charlie Ruppersberger, of the yearlings, was hurt nearly a week before the sessions were over. John Cordyack, a blocking back, took over the last few days.

Frosh Riflemen Sweep Their Eight Matches

Members of Maryland's Freshman rifle team, which completed the season with a clean slate in eight dual meets, were among the yearlings of three squads to be awarded numerals for competition in winter sports.

Frosh boxers and basketers also were rewarded, the complete list being:

Basket Ball — Joe Bauman, Richard Cleveland, David Fetters, Irving Floyd, Dick Greer, Irving Gordy, James Horn, Robert Johnson, John Provost, Phil Vannais and Henry Thompson.

Boxing — Judson Lincoln, Henry Benson, Matthew Mazzonetti, Dave Galliher, Edward Jacques, Ramon Grelecki, Carl Twigg, Paul Mattix, Lester Schlup and Herb Gunther.

Rifle — Paul Newgarden, George Newgarden, R. H. Rivello, U. A. Geller, W. A. Schack, R. C. Davis, W. A. Reith, R. H. Benson, R. D. Rands and R. E. Bullard.

Hardest Games Remain For Baseball Team

Hampered by rain and ground conditions for almost half of its schedule, a capable Maryland ball team still has the thorniest part of its path to travel.

The team, which won four of its first seven tilts it was able to play, starts a telling list of 11 battles when Duke invades on April 29, seven of which will be staged at home.

Here are the remaining games:

April 29—Duke.

May 2—Washington and Lee; 4—William and Mary, 3:30; 8—Georgetown at Washington; 10—Virginia; 11—Georgetown, 2:30; 13—V. M. I.; 16—West Virginia; 17—Washington and Lee at Lexington; 18—V. M. I. at Lexington; 20—George Washington at Griffith Stadium, Washington.

All home games for which time is not given start at 4 P. M.

Maryland has four fine pitchers in the veterans Lefty Springer and Persh Mondorff and Max Hunt and Lefty Vannais, Sophs, but the weather kept them from getting the needed action, and, of course, the whole team was retarded for the same reason.

Freshmen Start Well With Four Triumphs

Maryland's Freshman aggregations got off on the right foot by winning the first four events in which they took part.

The yearling lacrosse team beat St. Paul's, 5 to 3, and City College, 9 to 3; the rookie ball team shut out Rockville, 5 to 0, Dick Cleveland holding his old mates to a lone hit and swatting a homer himself, while the frosh tracksters stepped on Central High, 76 to 46.

The baby netmen were kept from making a start by weather conditions.

In all, the yearlings had 25 events listed, but so far two ball games and a tennis match have been rained out.

The stick squad appears to be strongest of the frosh aggregations and the only one likely to have a clean slate.

IN SENATORIAL RACE

SENATOR RADCLIFFE, '03

Senator George L. Radcliffe, '03, LL.B. from our Law School, enters the Senatorial race in Maryland for the second time. His first try was successful, when he was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1934. He was born and raised on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, has been a successful lawyer and has taken an active part in civic endeavors. Senator Radcliffe has been an active Alumnus. He served as Toastmaster for the One Hundred and Thirty-second Annual Charter Day Celebration. Both Senators from the State of Maryland at the present time are fellow Alumni. Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10, is senior Senator.

My Alumni Friends:

This has been a happy year for me. As your President, I have enjoyed my close association with members of the Alumni Board. Furthermore, it has been a real inspiration to mingle with the members of the Association at the various Alumni and University functions during the year. We have a live group and they should "go places" in the interest of Maryland University in years to come.

A large crowd at the 48th Alumni Reunion on May 31, 1940, will bring my year as your presiding officer to a joyous close. The Order of the Day, as outlined in the April issue of the Alumni News, indicates a lot of interesting activities with never a dull moment. Come out, "oldsters" and "youngsters." You will enjoy every minute of the whole day. We need you and you need us, "Believe it or not." Really, you cannot afford to miss the fun on Alumni Day.

Looking to the future, our Alumni Association has been planning a long-time program of worthwhile activities. It has several projects definitely outlined and committees have been at work for some time. These include plans for endowment funds to be used for specific purposes and the reorganization of the Alumni Association on a large and extensive scale. These undertakings call for the united effort and support of all our Alumni members. This is a real challenge and a most worthy one. Ladies and Gentlemen, now is the time to come to the support of your Alma Mater.

Sincerely yours,
Charles W. Sylvester,
President.

An Eventful Reunion Planned For Old Grads, Friday, May 31

Opening of Rossborough Inn — A Real Alumni Dinner — Little Jack Little At The Ball

All thoughts now turn to that day in the year when old grads meet on the campus to recall the happiest days of their lives. This day will be Friday, May 31, for the College Park graduates of the University. Many new buildings to show off and the best of all, the restored Rossborough Inn will officially be opened on this day. Many Alumni traditions surround this historical building. Once upon a day this building was a social center; again it will become a place of social splendor with a colonial environment and Southern hospitality. Don't miss the opening.

Class Of 1890

An eventful day has been arranged for returning Alumni. First they register in the New Administration Building (see the map) which is near the Rossborough Inn. The front of this new building faces a new part of the campus and other new buildings. At 12 noon the class of 1890 will raise their flag as the honor class of the day. Capt. Richard C. M. Calvert is expected to be present for this occasion. Following the flag raising an Alumni Luncheon will be held in the Dining Hall which will be followed by a short meeting. It is needless to remind you of the opening of the Rossborough Inn at 3 P. M.

Efforts will be made to have the reunion classes arrange contests in soft ball beginning at 4 P. M. At 6 P. M. the Annual Alumni Dinner will be held in the University Dining Hall at a cost not to exceed $1.25 per person. Only one speech and that will be by Congressman W. P. Cole, '10, on the future building. A special entertainment program is being arranged which will be to the liking of everyone.

Singing At Ball

KATHLEEN QUINN

Commencement Ball

Those who attend the Alumni Dinner will receive invitations to the Commencement Ball beginning at 9 P. M. in the Gym-Armory, at which the well-known and nationally popular Little Jack Little will furnish the music. This in itself is an outstanding feature of Alumni Day.

Special accommodations for the ladies have been arranged for in the Girls' Dormitories when those who wish to change their dress for the evening may do so. Also this same arrangement for men has been made in the Men's Dormitory. The dress for the entire day, for Alumni, is informal.

Those Alumni who wish to have reservations for overnight stay are urged to write in advance. This will be made for them as near to the campus as possible and at a reasonable rate.

Commencement Exercises will be held

Tau Beta Pi Engineering Frat Elect Three Alumni

At the recent Spring initiation of Tau Beta Pi, the national honorary engineering fraternity, the University of Maryland Chapter added to its membership three prominent engineering Alumni who would have been eligible for membership in the fraternity had there been a chapter here during their undergraduate days.

The three new members are:

Herschel H. Allen, '10, Civil Engineering, Vice-President, J. E. Greiner Co., Consulting Engineers, Baltimore, Md.

James G. O'Conor, '12, Electrical Engineering, Manager of Foreign Operations, Standard Oil Co., New York, N. Y.

John C. Sterling, '16, Mechanical Engineering, Superintendent, Machine Shop Division, Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Newport News, Va.

NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Spring Reunion Of "M" Club Well Attended

Recalling football games, track races, basket ball contests, boxing matches, baseball and lacrosse encounters was the spirit of the Spring reunion of the "M" Club, held May 1. Many of the old-timers were present and enjoyed the reminiscing.

Under the supervision of Zuke Supplee, '24, a most interesting program was presented, including short talks, wrestling and boxing demonstrations and moving pictures of the past football games.

Dr. Louis R. Burnett, director of health and physical education in the Baltimore schools, was the principal speaker. He emphasized the value of concerted effort on the part of Alumni in assisting their Alma Mater toward greater athletic programs. "Your interest will influence many a young man in our state to attend the State University," said Dr. Burnett.

Exhibitions

Dr. Charles Leroy Mackert spoke on the physical developments at Maryland, presenting exhibits in parallel bar and horse gymnastics. Mr. W. R. Douglas, coach in wrestling, explained the finer points in the game and also had two of his prize boys demonstrate the various holds. Ivan Nedamotsky and Bob Bradley put on an exhibition bout with Ivan frequently stopping to explain the attack and defensive points.

Dr. A. "Kirk" Besley, '23, President of the "M" Club, opened the program with welcoming remarks and introduced some of the old-time luminaries: Dr. Bomberger, '94, Ed Powell, '13, Dan Jenifer, '04, Sidney Stabler, '10, E. N. Cory, Joe Berger, Ed Pugh, Tony Hough, Pete Schrider, Austin Diggs, Eddie Semler, Bottle Hall, Matly Mathias, Tater Clark, Omar Crothers, and many others.

Tracksters Present

The iron men of the cinder path who brought so much glory to Maryland at the Penn Relays were present in toto. They were met in person as well as shown in action on the movie screen. Kehoe, Chronister, Miller, Condon, Ochsenreiter, Fields.

Concluding remarks were made by Geary Eppley, '18, Director of Athletics. The Committee on Arrangements consisted of Zuke Supplee, Knocky Thomas, Jimmy Stevens, Tater Clark, and Rosey Pollock.

Many high school and prep school prospects were guests at the banquet and various Alumni from Baltimore and Washington. More than fifty boys were present and nearly a hundred old-timers.

Watts, '04, Elected Pres. Of Construction Co.

At the annual meeting of the James Stewart Construction Co., in New York, Harry D. Watts, '04, former executive vice-president, was elected president.

Harry, better known by his classmates as "Major Harry," a native Marylander, went with the Jas. Stewart Co. in 1924, at which time he was made manager of its southern operations. Later he was transferred to New York as vice-president and became executive vice-president in 1937.

The company has handled more than $300,000,000 in building throughout the United States, Canada, Japan, and Russia. Quite a lot of the World's Fair buildings for foreign exhibits were constructed by this company.

Harry Watts was an outstanding student leader in his college days. He was head of the cadets, captain of football and tennis champion. Excerpt from the Reveille of 1904: "His college career has been one most remarkable in athletics, military, and social lines."

On behalf of the Alumni Association the News extends congratulations to Harry Watts.

Birth—Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Brookhart announce the arrival of Clinton, Jr., on April 30. Mrs. Brookhart was formerly Miss Dorothy Roop. Clinton, '38, now is working on the bridge across the Potomac at Morgantown, Maryland. The Brookharts reside at White Plains, Maryland.

Student Grange Honor Geary Eppley

At the twenty-fifth celebration of the founding of the Student Grange on the campus of the University, Professor Geary Eppley, '18, was fittingly honored with a certificate of fidelity for his twenty-five years of continuous membership and services in the Grange.

The first four to be initiated in the local Grange beside Geary Eppley were Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, Homer Remsberg, '18 and W. K. Gregg, '18. The original charter members were W. N. Kishpaugh, '17, R. S. Dearstyne, '17, Henry Shoemaker, '17, W. D. Gray, '17, D. J. Howard, '17, G. M. Merrill, '17, W. R. Gemeny, '17, W. P. Williams, '17, N. S. Stabler, '17, D. Gilpin, '17, J. V. Stubbs, '17, W. H. Carroll, '18.

Arthur Hamilton, faculty advisor, was general chairman and many Alumni from various sections of the state were present. Among them were Dr. T. B. Symons, '02, later Secretary of the State Grange; Homer Remsberg, '18, former Chairman of Executive Committee of the State Grange; John Drawbaugh, '20, Paul Walker, '19, Paul Poffenberger, '35, Paul M. Galbreath, '29, Mrs. Mary Ingersoll Jenkins, '32, Arthur Ahalt, '31.

Dr. H. J. Patterson, former Dean of the College of Agriculture, Past Master of the State Grange, and the one who was responsible for the establishing of the Student Grange on the campus was the guest of honor. Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, one of the first initiates in the Grange, gave the greeting address.

Reuben Brigham, '08, special assistant, Extension Service, United States Department of Agriculture, and first Secretary of the Student Grange, gave a resumé of its early history. He also presented to the chapter a book containing the minutes of the first meeting, of which he was secretary.

Mr. T. Roy Brookes, Master of the State Grange, made the presentation to Geary Eppley. Henry Shoemaker, '18, County Agent of Frederick County, was toastmaster.

the following day, Saturday, June 1, at 11 A. M. to which Alumni are invited. A luncheon on the campus follows the exercises.

Class Reunion

The parade and class reunion will be led by the boys of 1890, who will raise their flag as the honor class on Alumni Day. Capt. Richard C. M. Calvert is expected to be present for the occasion.

Chairman of the Board of Regents, Dr. W. W. Skinner, will lead the boys of 1895. Dr. Skinner was quarterback on the first football team to make collegiate history at College Park. This was in 1892.

W. D. Groff, of 1900, is the outstanding Alumnus for not having missed an Alumni Day since graduation. "Billy" will lead his class on their fortieth reunion and it is sure that he will be present if it is within his power.

From the Eastern Shore comes the leader of 1905, Dr. A. A. Parker of Pocomoke. "Ape" as his fellow classmates call him, is a former President of the "M" Club and always takes an active interest in Alumni affairs.

Congressman W. P. Cole, President of 1910, with the able assistance of Col. O. H. Saunders, will have their members out in full force.

Twenty-Fifth Reunion

The twenty-five-year honor class is 1915. Here "Dick" Dale and C. H. Buchwald are rounding up the fellows for a big time. Dick and Buck make a good team and the latest reports indicate nearly a 100 percent return.

From Griffin, Ga., the first word about the class of 1920 has been received. Ted Bissel and family said plans are to be present for the 20th reunion. George Hockman and Pete Chichester are pushing plans for the near-home boys.

Maryland Retains National Collegiate Lacrosse Championship In Stirring Victory Over Hopkins And Track Team Adds Laurels As Sports Season Ends

A brilliant and fitting climax to Maryland's spring sports season came May 18 at College Park when the lacrosse team retained the national crown it had gained in 1939 by defeating a powerful Johns Hopkins outfit, 7 to 6, a thrilling battle.

The Terps proved their real championship caliber in a stirring uphill battle after they had trailed 0-4 with eight minutes of the second period gone.

At the same time the track team added to its season's laurels in spectacular fashion by scoring 58 points with 15 men to finish second to North Carolina's 65 in the Southern Conference championship meet at Williamsburg, capturing six individual titles and the relay race.

The ball team, one that was not up to Maryland's standard, also gained its measure of honors by defeating V. M. I. on the same day to finish on the right side of the ledger in the Conference with 5 wins against 4 defeats.

The nine did well in a rebuilding year to take 11 of its 20 games, measuring fully up to pre-season expectations.

REVIEW NEXT MONTH

A complete review of the year in sports will be given in the June issue of the Alumni News. The Terps have done all right — in fact, brilliantly — despite a few rough spots.

The tennis team, well-balanced and probably the best Maryland ever has boasted, won 8 of its 9 matches, scoring shutouts in five of them and winning two others by 8—1 counts.

The track team won only 3 of 5 dual meets, but its three brilliant triumphs in the Penn Relays, in which it captured the championship of America tests in the distance medley, two miles and four miles, earned the Terp runners national fame.

The Maryland array of runners doubtless were tops in the East and South but strength in the field events and hurdles were lacking or a clean slate would have been easy.

Joe Murphy did the unusual by winning the 100 and 220 in the Conference meet for the second successive year, his times being :09.9 and :21.6; Alan Miller took the 440 in 48.8; Jim Kehoe stepped home ahead in the 880 in 1:54; Mason Chronister garnered the mile in 4:17.7; Tommy Fields set a new meet mark of 9:38.6 for the two miles, and the relay team of Jack Warfield, Kehoe, Gene Ochsenreiter and Alan Miller scored in 3:20.8 without being pressed.

Kehoe and Fields ran second and third to Chronister in the mile, Ochsenreiter was second to Alan Miller in the 440 and the latter gained fourth in the 220. Chronister was third and Ochsenreiter fourth in the 880.

Fifth place and a point in each were taken by Kenny Barnes in the 100 and Warfield in the 440.

Maryland got its only two points in the field events when Charley Morris and Francis Morris finished fifth in the dis-

Maryland Will Face Some Difficult Football Problems Next Fall
But A Versatile Team That Will Battle To The Finish Is Assured

While it is early to talk about football next Fall, it is a subject in which the old grads, students and others are interested at all times, and the outlook for 1940 may be discussed now with at least a fair measure of the proper appraisal.

Maryland's greatest problem will be to find a pair of tackles to fill the shoes of Ralph Albarano, the Terps' best in years, and Bob Brown, another exceptional performer. George Lawrence, guard, and John Boyda, husky fullback, also were great losses.

The Terp material, in addition to being generally inexperienced, is light, only five on the squad reaching 190 pounds. With few exceptions the squad is made up of Maryland and nearby District of Columbia boys and they have not had the testing competition on which scholastic gridders of other sections are developed.

Maryland Men At Helm

Maryland's grid destinies are in the hands of an alumni-faculty triumvirate of John E. (Jack) Faber, '26; Albert Heagy, '30, and Al Woods, '33, as joint coaches. They took over in Spring practice and the sessions worked out smoothly and apparently to great advantage. Never has the spirit of any Terp squad been finer and regardless of the season's outcome, a battling, versatile team that will play up to its ability seems assured.

Faber was head of a board that handled the team in 1933, was head coach in 1934 and 1935 and had a record of 17 wins, 12 defeats and 2 ties when he turned the job over to Frank Dobson in 1936 and became the latter's assistant. Dobson stepped out at the close of the 1939 campaign. Heagy and Woods have both handled the freshman and aided with the varsity.

Faber, a Ph.D., is associate professor of bacteriology; Heagy is in the Chemistry Department, and Woods is an instructor in agronomy. Faber also is head coach of lacrosse, with Heagy as aide and both help with basket ball.

Fifteen Letter Men Left

Maryland will go into the 1940 campaign with 15 letter men if all of them return next Fall, but only three were regulars last Fall.

Letter men due to return are: Dick Shaffer, Frank Dwyer, and Leo Mueller, ends, who saw about 50 percent action; Bill Krouse and Ralph Burlin, who were reserve tackles; George Gienger, regular, and John Morton, guards; Bob Smith, regular, and Jim Wharton, centers, both of whom were out of the last two games because of injuries; Joe Murphy, Mearle DuVall, Bernie Ulman, Fred Widener, Milton Lumsden and Jack Warfield, backs, with only the first named as a regular.

Owing to the scarcity of experienced tackles, Gienger was shifted from guard during the Spring practice and showed enough to be kept in the new position.

Smith, a great center when in trim, was bothered all last year with a bad knee and underwent an operation during the winter, leaving his status uncertain as he was not able to take part in the Spring drills.

How They May Start

If a team had to be lined up right now, it probably would be made up as follows:

Shaffer and L. Mueller, ends; Krouse and Gienger, tackles; Morton and Max Hunt or Frank Heyer, both of the latter 1939 reserves, guards; Wharton, center; DuVall, Murphy, Ulman and Widener, backs.

This outfit lacks a heavy-duty back like Boyda, is not fortified in forward passers and the tackle play is uncertain.

Reginald Vincent, tackle; Lohr Dunlap, cus and broad jump, respectively.

Kehoe and Chronister have been signally honored by being invited to run in the 880 and mile, respectively, in the classic Princeton meet at Tigertown on June 8 and both, of course, have accepted.

Both ran on all three of the winning relay teams at the Penn carnival and both made better times for their favored distances in a dual meet with Army than they did in winning Conference titles. Kehoe stepped the half in 1:53.8 and Chronister did a 4:16.6 mile against West Point at College Park on May 11.

Stickmen Show Gameness

It was the lacrosse game at home, though, that packed the biggest kick, with more than 3,000 fans watching the Terps display their fortitude to win. Here is how one writer sized up the game in his opening paragraph and his words are very expressive:

> "Tougher than a two-bit steak and as game as a four-round preliminary boy, Maryland spotted Johns Hopkins four goals in their lacrosse match at College Park, then got up off the ground and kicked the stuffing out of the Blue Jays to score a 7-6 victory and bag its second straight national collegiate title."

It certainly was a game comeback in which the entire team functioned in an efficient fashion, with Jack Mueller, second defense, being the sparkplug with four goals.

Only Eleven Terps Play

That Maryland was ready for the fray was emphasized by the fact that only 11 Terps figured in the hot battle and they were fresher than the Blue Jays at the finish.

Here is the battle array and figures on the game:

| Position | Hopkins (6) | Maryland (7) |
|---|---|---|
| G. | Passano | Kelly |
| P. | Tolson | L. Mueller |
| C. P. | Shawn | Graham |
| F. D. | Kaestner | Mulitz |
| S. D. | Penniman | J. Mueller |
| C. | Williams | Cole |
| S. A. | Enders | Heil |
| F. A. | Thomas | Slesinger |
| O. H. | Spilman | Nevares |
| I. H. | Nanee | Bond |

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hopkins | 3 | 1 | 0 | 2—6 |
| Maryland | 0 | 3 | 4 | 0—7 |

Scoring — Maryland: J. Mueller (4), Bond (2), Slesinger. Johns Hopkins: Williams, Nance (3), Spilman, Thomas.

Substitutes — Maryland: Sexton. Johns Hopkins: Swerdloff, Josnell, Nicholson, Wallaee.

Married—Miss Elinor Broughton, '38, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Dr. Walcott L. Etienne, '32, member of Alpha Tau Omega were married May 4 at the Episcopal Church in College Park. A reception was held in the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house.

Miss Margaret Holmes was maid of honor and Mrs. Winton Wood (nee Nancy Norment, '38) and Mrs. Paul Peffer (nee Lois Kuhn, '39) were bridesmaids. Mr. Dorion Etienne, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Winton Wood, '31, Paul Peffer, '38, and Barnett Broughton, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Dr. Etienne is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Medical Corps. The newlyweds will reside in Baltimore, where Dr. Etienne is employed.

Page Gardner, of Middleton, Md., with the aid of many classmates, is making good progress on rounding up those boys and girls of 1925.

Calls have been sounded from the campus by Albert Heagy to his classmates of 1930. It is their 10th anniversary and many of his classmates are helping on the reunion committee.

Tracy Coleman, President of 1935, expects the first five-year reunion to be a good start. A good-sized committee is expected to be on hand for the greetings and the place is the Engineering Auditorium at 2:30 P. M.

guard; Luther Conrad, who was used both at guard and blocking back in the Spring drills; John Gilmore, Louis Chacos, and Harold Berry, fair-sized backs, and Joe Hoopengardner, a scat back, may brighten the aspect of things in the September drills. They appear as the most promising rookies.

Maryland has a tough nine-game schedule and in at least seven of the games will be outclassed in material, Hampden-Sydney and Western Maryland being the exceptions and the latter will be fully on a par with the Terps in assets.

Here is the 1940 card with last year's score given in parentheses:

Sept. 28—Hampden-Sydney at College Park (26-0).
Oct. 5—Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. (Did not meet.)
Oct. 12—Virginia at College Park (7-12).
Oct. 19—Florida at Gainesville (0-14).
Oct. 26—Western Maryland at Baltimore (12-0).
Nov. 9—Georgetown at College Park (0-20).
Nov. 16—V. M. I. at Lynehburg (0-13).
Nov. 23—Rutgers at College Park (12-25).
Nov. 28—Washington and Lee at Baltimore. (Did not meet.)
This date is not definite.
